The present facilities need to be evaluated to determine the most cost effective plan to present to the tax payers. I am aware that the present school board is in that process now and I believe I can be useful as firmer decisions are made. It almost goes without saying that energy conservation must also be a part of any building replacement or renovation program. I appreciate the value of school identity and would support the maintainence of neighborhood and community schools.

The educational goals of the district should be to help equip graduating students with the practical skills needed to manage a household income, to encourage healthy work habits and to provide a sound academic foundation for advanced college or vocational training. To achieve such goals, teachers are obviously important and must be dealt with fairly in the process of setting appropriate levels of compensation.

As a board member I would be willing to serve in the area of negotions if the board chairman should so designate. I have participated in management and labor relations training programs, including the University of Alabama management institute, since receiving my Bachelor's degree from the University of Minnesota in 1965.

Just as I am sure my fellow candidates do, I urge all eligible voters to vote in the May 20 election.

the Thief River Falls region for the Foundation for Health Care Evaluation. As manager I assist 15 area hospitals in monitoring and assuring quality care of Medicare, Medicaid and Title V patients.

Our schools have problems that concern me and all the other parents and residents of this district.

Drugs have been sold, smoked and consumed in our school for some time. The school is finally doing what it should have done at least two years ago. Why didn't they deal with it sooner?

Teachers are disillusioned and dissatisfied. There has been talk of bad faith and unfair labor practices. Why can't there be more cooperation among teachers, administration and the school board?

"All of a sudden" the fire marshal forbids use of part of the high school and there was a scramble to get class rooms to use. "All of a sudden"? The school has been on waivers and waivers don't go on forever. Why wasn't something done sooner?

The buildings in our system are getting very old, are not energy efficient and may soon need to be replaced. It takes much time and effort to get a bond issue passed. Why haven't they kept up with a well-planned program?

I would like a chance to deal with these and other problems. With the experience I have had, I believe I can bring a clear-headed way of anticipating and handling problems that are the board's concern.

system become more difficult and complex. This is clearly shown in at least two areas.

First, we have seen state aids increase dramatically over the years. This has benefited our school district, but it has also given the state a great deal of control over our system. Oftentimes this control is exercised by people who do not understand the unique needs and problems of a rural district such as ours.

I would like to see us work with the state department of education and the legislature to show them that we in rural areas have unique difficulties which need to be addressed.

For example, I would like to work with the state to show them that we need to have a state-aid formula which takes into account the fact that our students are separated by greater distances that those in metro areas.

Secondly, it seems that once we had a school system which was supported by all the members of the community. Everyone — parents, teachers, students and the school board — were all pulling in the same direction. Today it seems that we have different factions going in different directions and our children's education suffers.

I would like to play a part in bringing us back together, focusing on the needs of our children. I believe that teachers, students, parents and the school board all have valid concerns and we must all work together to better our school system.

GREG PRIBULA
FOR SCHOOL BOARD
The school district is not a separate entity. It must listen to, cooperate, plan, and work with the other agencies in the community to fulfill its purpose of a quality and complete education.
The impact of school board policies and decisions reaches far beyond the confines of the school district. Downtown businessmen, taxpayers, parents, city planners, and real estate owners are all affected by our school board and its decisions.
The ability to listen, reason, and plan using fairness in judgement is a requirement for a school board member. I have these qualities.
Remember . . . A good leader is a good listener. Let your voice be heard. Vote for GREG PRIBULA in the School Board Election on May 20th.
I believe in:
Energy Conservation . . . Sometimes it is necessary to spend money to save money (i.e. insulation, windows, common heating plants, etc.).
Planning For The Future . . . We cannot wait to start planning for a new facility until the existing facility is condemned. Planned obsolescence is not planning, it is avoiding the issues. We cannot afford to avoid the issues.
Bargaining In Good Faith And Honesty . . . . If you need a 20¢ per hour salary increase, ask for 20¢, not $1.50 (hoping to get 20¢). Also, if you can afford to give a 20¢ per hour raise and they ask for 20¢, settle the contract! What price can be put on morale and good working relationships? Remember our children are the beneficiaries.

Baseball Dates Are Changed

Dates have been changed for the 1980 North Half Region 8AA high school baseball tournament, it was announced last week by Detroit Lakes activity director Del Mollberg, tournament manager. Instead of being played Tuesday and Thursday, May 20 and 22, the games will be staged Wednesday and Friday, May 21 and 23.

Reason for the change, wrote Mollberg, was because of a time conflict with school board election day. There can be no games played after 6 p.m. that day.

First round tournament games at Detroit Lakes' Washington Park will feature the No. 3 seeded team vs. No. 6 at 2 p.m.; No. 4 vs. No. 5 at 4 p.m.; and No. 2 vs. No. 7 at 6 p.m. The first place team gets an opening round bye in the seven-team affair.

Then on Fri., May 23, it'll be No. 1 vs. the 3-6 winner at 1 p.m.; the 4-5 winner vs. the 2-7 winner at 3 p.m.; and the championship game at 6 that night.

Rankings must be submitted to Mollberg by Friday of this week. It's apparent that Moorhead, despite a 1-0 loss to Thief River Falls earlier this spring, will be the No. 1 seed and Park Rapids will be No. 7. Order of finish for the others is a complete toss-up. Detroit Lakes could get the No. 2 seed and Thief River Falls, loser of six straight games against North Half Region 8AA opponents since the Prowlers' shutout of Moorhead (including a 17-0 loss to those same Spuds) may be headed for a No. 6 positioning. That leaves Crookston, Bemidji and Fergus Falls left to fill the middle of the order, and quite possibly in that sequence.

Far from being settled, that could have Thief River Falls and Crookston opening the tournament next Wednesday with the winner facing Moorhead in the Friday semifinals.

The North Half Region 8AA champion will play host to the South Half Region 8AA winner (Alexandria, Melrose, St. Cloud Apollo, St. Cloud Tech, Brainerd, Little Falls, Cold Spring Rocori and Sauk Rapids) in the 1980 Region 8AA championship game Tues., May 27.

Otters Eye Central Lakes Conference

Bruce Bakke, sports editor of the Fergus Falls Journal, reports that Fergus Falls may be headed to the Central Lakes high school athletic conference.

In a recent column Bakke said that Cambridge and Elk River are likely to leave the current Central Lakes line-up in favor of competition closer to the Twin Cities, with Fergus Falls and Cold Spring-Rocori the probable replacements.

However, that bit of information was refuted by Brainerd athletic director Ron Stolski, who told Jim Wallace of the Brainerd Dispatch that such a report was completely untrue.

"That's a lot of conjecture," Stolski told Wallace. "It's true that Cambridge and Elk River have expressed concern about the amount of travel, but no more than Willmar, Alexandria or us."

Current Central Lakes Conference members are Cambridge, Elk River, Brainerd, Little Falls, Willmar, Alexandria, St. Cloud Tech and St. Cloud Apollo.

Fergus Falls, of course, would be interested in some type of conference affiliation because of the announced plans of Crookston and East Grand Forks to leave the Northwest Athletic Conference football competition after the 1980 season. The Pirates and Green wave are leaving because of declining enrollments that officials say create a mis-match against larger-size NWAC members Fergus Falls and Bemidji, Class AA football school playing in a Class A size conference.

Thief River Falls, Bemidji and Fergus Falls could stay together in a three-team conference, but it would become a Class AA league, and the Prowlers want no part of that. You could find Thief River Falls, Crookston and East Grand Forks getting together for a three-team Class A conference, though. The winner of such an arrangement would get a post-season state playoff berth, but trying to pick up seven nonconference opponents would be a real chore.

Miscellaneous

+Mark Larson, a freshman from Thief River Falls, was a member of the Concordia college track team this spring. He ran the 5000-meters at the MIAC conference meet at Macalester in St. Paul over the weekend.

+Subject of an artificial ice plant for the Red Lake Falls arena will be determined by city voters following a presentation by Mike LaPlante of the Blue Line club to the Red Lake Falls city council last week. No election date has been selected yet.

Prowlers Start Tournament Play Tuesday

Ranked No. 1 throughout the season in the state Class AA poll, the Lincoln high school tennis team will have an opportunity to prove the pollsters — in this case, the state tennis coaches association — right beginning Tuesday when the Prowlers start what they hope will be three weeks of post-season tournament competition.

Team portion of the 1980 North Half Region 8AA tennis tournament will be played Tuesday at Crookston beginning at 8:30 a.m. The seven-team affair will feature Thief River Falls, Bemidji, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Moorhead, Fergus Falls and Detroit Lakes.

Individual matches — two singles and two doubles entries from each school — will be played at Crookston Thursday beginning at 10 a.m.

The North Half Region 8AA playing dates were changed from an original Thursday-Friday schedule to allow for a rain day.

Tuesday's North Half team winner will meet the South Half champion in the state tournament-qualifying Region 8AA finals Tues., May 20, at 4 p.m. at Brainerd.

Thief River Falls' team line-up will likely have Bill Jury, No. 1 singles; Mitch Rustad, No. 2 singles; Paul Koppang, No. 3 singles; Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins, No. 1 doubles; Bill Holmes and Mark Lundin, No. 2 doubles.

In Thursday's North Half Region 8AA individual competition, the top four singles and top three doubles finishers will move on to the Region 8AA finals Wed., May 21, at 9 a.m. at Brainerd. Top two finishers in both singles and doubles at Brainerd will join the team champion in the 1980 Class AA state tennis tournament May 28-31.

Thief River Falls' line-up for the individual competition isn't set yet, said Olson, but could have Jury and Rustad playing singles, with Bjorkman-Collins and Koppang-Holmes making up the doubles teams.

A CLOUD OF dust was raised when Bemidji's Craig Erhart stole second base during Thursday's Northwest Athletic Conference high school baseball game played in Thief River Falls. Second baseman Tom Drury of the Prowlers put the tag on Erhart in the top of the first inning. A passed ball moved him to third base and he scored on an error after leading off the game with a walk. Bemidji won the game 4-2 after beating the Prowlers 4-1 earlier in the year.

Golf Team Nears End Of Schedule

Bemidji, Moorhead and Fergus Falls will be the stops this week for the Lincoln high school golf team as the Prowlers near the end of their 1980 regular season schedule.

Thief River Falls, after showing well last week at Grand Forks Friday and at Roseau Saturday, will be in Bemidji Tuesday, Moorhead Friday and Fergus Falls Saturday. All three have 9:30 a.m. tee-off times. Fergus Falls' meet will double as the Northwest Athletic Conference tournament.

Final regular season meet on the Prowlers' schedule will be the Thief River Falls invitational Mon., May 19. The Region 8AA meet will be played Wed., May 21, at Fergus Falls.

At the Grand Forks Country Club Friday the meet doubled as the Eastern Dakota Conference tournament and Grand Forks Red River was an easy 29-shot winner with a four-man 293.

Thief River Falls came in at 322, Fargo South and Fargo Shanley 328, Grand Forks Central 330, Grand Forks Red River junior varsity 333, Grafton 340, East Grand Forks 343, Wahpeton and Fargo South 344; Valley City 349, Jamestown 360, Crookston 361, Larimore 374, West Fargo 375 and Warren 386.

Top four golfers in the medal standings were all from Red River as Todd Schaefer shot a 71, Al Thompson 73, Jeff Sande 74 and Dean Barness 75.

Thief River Falls' Dave Geatz was close behind with a 76. Rest of the Prowlers included Mike Anderson with an 80, Wade Hoppe 82, Bob Fitzgerald 84, Tony Loeffler 84 and Jon Onkka 84.

A winner at Roseau Saturday, Thief River Falls shot a five-man 319, followed by Roseau 333, Greenbush and Stephen 341, Lake of the Woods 344, Warroad 350, Roseau junior varsity 362 and Hallock 374.

Top three medal places went to Thief River Falls golfers as Fitzgerald shot a 75, Jeff Imgrund 78 and Hoppe 80. Completing the Prowlers' team score, Dave Geatz and Jeff Storhaug finished with 86's.

Jim Merritt set a Minnesota Twins baseball record by pitching 13 innings against New York on July 26, 1967.

Seating capacity for Minnesota Twins baseball games at Metropolitan Stadium in Bloomington is 45,921.

Otters Sweep Prowlers 7-6, 10-9

Offense was featured Friday when Fergus Falls swept a 7-6, 10-9 Northwest Athletic Conference high school baseball doubleheader from Thief River Falls.

"We hit the ball harder than we have all year," mentioned Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell, "but the rest of our game fell apart."

The double setback kept the visiting Prowlers winless in five NWAC starts and dropped them below .500 for the first time this year at 6-7. They'll complete their regular season schedule this week, hosting Middle River today (Monday), entertaining Roseau Tuesday and traveling to Crookston Thursday. All three games have 4:30 p.m. starting times.

A Saturday Crookston-Fergus Falls NWAC doubleheader was rained out, and no new make-up date has been announced. The Pirates remain unbeaten in conference play but still trail Bemidji in the pennant-deciding points column. Crookston will be at Bemidji Tuesday before hosing Thief River Falls Thursday.

North Half Region 8AA tournament play starts May 21.

Fergus Falls came back from a 5-2 deficit with a five-run sixth inning, then held off a Thief River Falls challenge in the seventh to win the doubleheader opener 7-6.

Thief River Falls had a five-run inning of its own in the second to take command early. The Prowlers banged out six hits that inning, including a two-run home run by sophomore Kevin Sanders to complete the scoring.

But Fergus Falls, after getting two in the fourth, duplicated Thief River Falls' effects in the sixth with a five-hit barrage, including four-in-a-row, to go ahead 7-5. And those four consecutive hits were followed by three straight walks.

An RBI single by Jeff Ulrich in the top of the seventh pulled the Prowlers to within 7-6, but they left the typing run at second base and the potential winner at first.

Another late inning rally, this one in the bottom of the seventh inning, lifted Fergus Falls to a 10-9 NWAC sweep.

Home runs by Jeff Ulrich and Kelly Gutterud helped stake Thief River Falls to a 9-6 lead going into the bottom of the seventh. But eight Otters went to bat in the bottom of the inning, producing three runs and the win, the game-winner scoring on a two-out, bases loaded walk.

Tennis Team Completes Perfect Regular Season

Using ten different players, the Lincoln high school tennis team completed an unbeaten regular season schedule Thursday with wins over Mahnomen and East Grand Forks in a triangular on the Thief River Falls courts.

The Prowlers finished the afternoon with 8 points, East Grand Forks had 6 and Mahnomen 1.

Juggling his line-up, Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson used both Paul Koppang and Mitch Rustad at No. 1 singles; Dale Nelson and Bill Holmes at No. 2 singles; Jack Oseid No. 3 singles; first Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins, then Nelson and Mark Lundin at No. 1 doubles; Rick Engelstad and Brent Schmitz at No. 2 doubles.

That left Bill Jury, the No. 2-ranked Class AA tennis player in the state, on the sidelines.

The victory completed a 1980 regular season schedule for the Prowlers that saw them win three dual meets; take seven triangular outings; and capture four tournament titles, including the Northwest Athletic Conference crown.

Post-season North Half Region 8AA tournament play starts Tuesday (team) and Thursday (individual) at Crookston.

Track Schedule Ends This Week For LHS Teams

Boys and girls track teams at Lincoln high school will complete their 1980 regular season schedules this week, then compete in the 1980 North Half Region 8AA meet Saturday at Moorhead.

Both Thief River Falls teams were scheduled to run today (Monday), with the boys competing in the Grand Forks invitational and the girls traveling to Roseau. Both meets had 4 p.m. starting times.

A Tuesday dual against Warroad was added to the boys' schedule, with the event beginning at 3:30 p.m. on the Thief River Falls track.

Both Lincoln squads were at East Grand Forks Friday. The host Green Wave took the boys portion of the meet with 188 points, followed by Crookston 91, Thief River Falls 68, Climax 52, Warren 47, Red Lake Falls 36 and Fisher 9.

Crookston won the girls team title with 128 points, followed by East Grand Forks 109, Mount St. Benedict 108, Thief River Falls 44½, Warren 43½, Red Lake Falls 28, Fisher 2 and Climax 1.

The combination boys and girls North Half Region 8AA track and field meet will begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Alex Nemzek Field on the Moorhead State University campus. Top eight individual qualifiers and top four relay teams will move on to the 1980 Region 8AA meet Sat., May 24, at Moorhead.

Lumberjacks 4-2 NWAC Winner Over Prowlers

Bemidji scored three times in the top of the second inning Thursday in a Northwest Athletic Conference high school baseball game against Thief River Falls. Given the same opportunity in the third, the Prowlers didn't, and as a result the Lumberjacks left the fairgrounds diamond here with a 4-2 victory.

Leading 1-0 on the strength of an unearned run in the first inning, the Lumberjacks started the second when Gaylen Nagle drew a lead-off walk and Howard Orgon singled over second base. Tom Buckanaga laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt — the first of four for the well-trained visitors — to advance both runners. Consecutive two-out, opposite field base hits by Craig Erhart and Terry Batchelder scored three runs.

Erhart, a left-handed batter, drilled one down the left field line to score Nagle and Orgon. Then the right-handed hitting Batchelder, the designated hitter, dropped a bloop single into short right field to score Erhart from first base.

Thief River Falls could have gotten those runs back in the third. But didn't And lost.

A throwing error by shortstop Mark Schmitt put lead-off batter Tom Drury on base to start the Prowlers' third. It looked like he might score from first when sophomore Kevin Sanders drilled a double into the right-center field gap. But he was held up at third with no outs. However, he had rounded the bag, and had to hustle back to third when Bemidji threw behind him. In doing so, Drury became entangled with Thief River Falls coach Cornell, directing things from the third base coaching box, and was an easy out as he tried to crawl back to the bag.

The next batter, Dave Odegaard singled to left field and stole second, putting runners at second and third. But Jeff Ulrich and Mark Harder — the Prowlers' No. 3 and No. 4 hitters — both struck out to end the inning. In fact, Bemidji lefthander Bryan Hickerson, who four-hit the Prowlers in an earlier 4-1 victory, struck those two out six times Thursday, finishing with 12.

"The coach lost the game," confessed Cornell afterwards. "We hit the ball harder than they did, but we didn't score any runs."

Thief River Falls had scored a run in the second when Mark Schmitke tripled to right-center field and scored on a two-out single to left by Paul Drees.

The Prowlers got another run in the sixth when Odegaard led off with a single to short left, Ulrich walked and freshman designated hitter Jim Hallamek hit a two-out-RBI single through the left side. But even that inning the Prowlers wound up leaving the bases loaded after Drees beat out an infield roller for a single.

Thief River Falls started in shaky fashion when Erhart led off the first inning with a walk, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on an error. Dave Kays, catching in place of Jim Nyland, who missed the game with a sore toe, hustled to cover a passed ball with Erhart on third. But his toss to Ulrich, the pitcher who was covering the plate was off the mark, allowing Erhart, who had gone back to the bag, to trot home.

"We didn't play well," admitted Cornell. "As the game went on we played better. But at the beginning of the game we didn't play very well at all."

The victory sent Bemidji into the weekend with a 7-5 record, 3-1 in the NWAC. The Lumberjacks can come up with a conference pennant Tuesday when they finish their 1980 NWAC schedule by hosting Crookston.

Northland Golfers Win Brainerd Title

Four Northmen shot between 75 and 79 Thursday as Northland community college claimed first place honors at a seven-team invitational golf meet hosted by Brainerd at Madden's Resort.

Northland won it with a 311, a 22-stroke edge over runner-up Hibbing. Willmar finished one shot behind Hibbing with a 324. Rest of the field included Mesabi, Fergus Falls, Brainerd and Rainy River.

Greg Johnson led the Northmen with a medal-winning 75 on the par-72 lay-out. He shot rounds of 39-36 for a two-shot edge over Dan Culbert of Mesabi, Jon Noack of Fergus Falls and Trent Nelson of Willmar. They all finished at 77.

Rest of the Northland scores included Dave Hanson with rounds of 38-40 for a 78, Charlie Boyer 40-39 for 79 and Jeff Reese 42-37 for a 79. Kurt Klosterman's 89 did not count in Northland's team score.

It was the third victory of the season for coach Al Adams' Northmen in five starts. They were scheduled to face the Bemidji State University junior varsity today (Monday) in a 1 p.m. dual at Bemidji before closing out their 1980 regular season schedule by playing host to the Northland Invitational Thursday at 12 noon on the Thief River Falls Country Club golf course. But that invitational might be turned into a dual against Bemidji since teams are reluctant to travel this far north to play.

The 1980 combination MJCAA state and NJCAA Region 13 golf meet will be played Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20-21 at Monticello.

Northwomen Finish Season With 7-17 Mark

Doubleheader sweeps over division pennant winner Itasca and area rival Crookston highlighted the final week of the 1980 Northland community college softball season.

The busy eight-game week began Monday with 9-6, 6-5 losses to Fergus Falls. The Northwomen edged Itasca 9-6, 6-5 Wednesday and went to Crookston Friday to take 24-4, 8-3 wins. The season ended at home Saturday with 15-4, 14-10 losses to Brainerd.

Coach Deb Jacobson's Northwomen finished the season 7-17, but won three of four games against Itasca, the division winner with a 7-5 record. Brainerd and Fergus Falls shared second place at 6-6 and Northland finished in the cellar at 3-9.

A special Brainerd vs. Fergus Falls playoff game will be held today (Monday) to see who will join Itasca as division representatives at the 1980 Minnesota community college state softball tournament, scheduled to begin Thursday at Austin.

ELEVATED TO No. 1 singles Thursday against Mahnomen's Greg LaVoy, Thief River Falls' Paul Koppang used a backhand to return a shot during the triangular event that also featured East Grand Forks. Koppang won 6-0, 6-0 during the Prowlers' 4-1 victory over Mahnomen that was duplicated with a 4-1 victory over East Grand Forks to complete a perfect unbeaten 1980 regular season schedule for the Prowlers.

LHS Softball Team Handed Two Setbacks

Wadena and Glenwood outscored Thief River Falls 33-4 Saturday in girls high school softball action at Wadena.

The defending state Class A champion Indians broke open a 4-1 ball game with a 12-run fifth inning that produced a 16-1 victory over the Prowlers in the opener of the three-team event. Glenwood ran up a 17-3 decision over Thief River Falls.

"We stayed with Wadena for four innings," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Sharon Stuass. "But our hitting hasn't helped us out a bit. You can have all the defense in the world, but if you can't hit the ball you won't win many games."

Fielding its first interscholastic softball team, Thief River Falls finished a brief 1980 regular season schedule winless in four games. Only other outing for the Prowlers was a 13-1, 17-1 doubleheader setback in Alexandria back on April 26.

Thief River Falls will compete in the 1980 Region 8AA softball tournament Wed., May 21, at St. Cloud. Three 4:30 p.m. first round games that day will feature Little Falls vs. Sauk Rapids, Brainerd vs. St. Cloud Apollo and Thief River Falls vs. St. Cloud Tech. Top seeded Alexandria receives a first round bye.

Semifinals and championship game will be played Fri., May 23, with the semifinals at 4 p.m. and the title game at 7.

Northmen Take 4-Game Series From Bottineau

A four-game weekend sweep at Bottineau pushed the Northland community college baseball record to 11-5 — the most wins ever by the Northmen — heading into the final week of the 1980 season.

Northland beat Bottineau 6-5, 6-2 in a Friday doubleheader and added a 14-6, 13-3 twinbill sweep Saturday to push its nonconference record to 8-0 for the year.

The Northmen will end the season against Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) opponents this week, visiting Fergus Falls Wednesday at 1 p.m. and closing at home against Crookston Saturday at 12 noon. Both Northwest Division outings are doubleheaders.

The 11 wins betters the nine victories posted in 1973 when Northland began the sport at the school with a 9-6 record — which still stands as the best season ever for the Northmen. Only other winning season for a Northland baseball team was a 6-5 rain-shortened 1974 campaign.

NCC 6, Bottineau 5

Northland, after blowing a 5-3 lead in the bottom of the seventh, came up a 6-5 nine-inning winner in Friday's series opener.

Joe Kraska led off the ninth for the Northmen with a single up the middle. Dan Parent walked and Kraska stole third, scoring on the play when the catcher's throw sailed into left field.

Bottineau out-hit Northland 8-7 and the Northmen committed five of the game's nine errors. But Tony Smith picked up the win after replacing starter Bruce Williams with two outs in the seventh.

NCC 6, Bottineau 2

Vince Parker struck out 12 Bottineau batters and scattered four hits to pitch Northland to a 6-2 win and a Friday sweep.

Northland managed just four base hits, too, but Bottineau pitching served up eight walks and five wild pitches.

The Northmen scored twice in the top of the first when Lonnie Serfling singled, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. Tony Smith walked and he, too, scored on a wild pitch.

More Bottineau pitching problems led to three Northland runs in the top of the seventh as the Northmen broke open a tight 3-2 game, made close on Robin Schultz' two-run home run in the fourth for the losers.

NCC 14, Bottineau 6

First three batters in the Northland line-up — Morice Hendricks, Lonnie Serfling and Tony Smith — collected two hits apiece to lead Northland to a 14-6 triumph to start Saturday's action.

Northland broke a 2-2 deadlock with seven runs in the second inning and tacked on four more in the third to go ahead 13-2.

Bottineau out-hit Northland 11-10, but Smith struck out 10 batters while walking just two, and the losers picked up five of the game's seven errors.

NCC 13, Bottineau 3

Vice Parker broke out of a batting slump with a perfect 4-4 performance at the plate to lead Northland to a 13-3 ten-run rule win in the series finale.

Dan Parent and Lonnie Serfling had three hits apiece in Northland's 16-hit attack. It was a 2-2 ball game until Northland scored four times in both the third and fourth innings.

Joe Kraska got the win, limiting Bottineau to five hits while striking out five and walking three. Bottineau topped the error charts 4-1.

Coldest home game starting temperature at a Minnesota Twins baseball game was a chilly 32 degrees on May 2, 1967 against New York.

Nancy Harris Is Top Golfer In NW Minnesota

Nancy Harris continues to make headlines in area girls high school golf action. The Roseau senior was a double winner last week, taking medal honors in the Thief River Falls invitational Monday with an 81 and winning the Roseau invitational Friday with an impressive 74.

Fosston took team honors here with a 406, followed by Crookston 410, Roseau 415, Mahnomen 421, Bagley 463, East Grand Forks 473, McIntosh-Winger 475, Thief River Falls 476, Red Lake Falls 485 and Hallock 592.

Anette Haugstul of Fosston had a 93 and Sue Thompson of East Grand Forks finished with a 94 to trail Harris in the Thief River Falls medal standings.

For the host Prowlers, Kathy Walker shot a 100, Sue Gere 122, Mary Beth Dondelinger 125, Tammy Bergan 129, Patty Meyer 133, Julie Melander 154 and Mary Geatz 163.

Roseau won its own invitational Friday with a 375, followed by Fosston 379, Crookston 397, Moorhead 402, Bagley 418, McIntosh-Winger 439, Red Lake Falls 431, East Grand Forks 442, Thief River Falls 450 and Hallock 522.

Mary Pelowski of International Falls had an 84 and Lori Dolden of Moorhead had an 86 to finish 2-3 behind Harris in the medal race.

Walker led the Prowlers with a 94 while Gere shot a 116, Geatz 118, Bergan 122, Meyer 133 and Melander 154.

The Prowlers, despite cutting some 40 strokes off their team score from the start of the season, still trail the field.

"We're improving," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Sylvia Sjoberg, "but so is everybody else."

Final two regular season starts of the year for the Prowlers this week will find them at Mahnomen today (Monday) and at East Grand Forks Thursday. Both teams have 10 a.m. starting times.

The 1980 Region 8AA girls golf meet will be played Mon., May 19, at Alexandria.

Modern Emphasis On Natural Areas

by David M. Maxfield
Smithsonian News Service

If your neighbor's grass is greener and flowers brighter, landscape architects and horticulturists have important advice for you: "Don't change a thing!"

Resist the temptation to run out and buy even a single seed or shrub, they say, and turn your attention instead to analyzing your property's possibilities and drawbacks. Consider how to make better use of your land, whether for sports, rest, entertaining, flower or vegetable gardening.

Begin by surveying the soil quality and drainage, the path of the sun, areas of shade, wind patterns, protected spots (bulbs could be planted there and they would flower before anything else in the spring), wet and dry patches and existing major features such as trees and terrain levels.

Also not to be overlooked are the "social features" of the property: the views from inside the house and the degree of privacy from the neighbors, walks and streets. This step will help you decide where later to locate fences and screening plants.

Ideally, the survey should take a full year so that seasonal changes can be observed, recommends James Buckler, the Smithsonian Institution's horticulturist. But if the budding gardener has the urge to plant something right off, he suggests putting out a few annuals, perhaps marigolds or salvia, to give some color while work continues on a master plan. This might also be a good time to relocate that rusting jungle gym blocking your dining room view. "It's a matter of cleaning up first before thinking of permanent planting," Buckler says. "This can often make a major difference."

When deciding how each part of your property will be used — always the key to successful landscaping — consider that outside areas fall into three basic categories: service, the place where bikes, garbage cans and garden tools are stored; private, the areas to be used for family activities, and public, those little-used yards that are basically for "show." Like the house itself, each section of a well-conceived landscape will have a specific purpose.

In recent years, there has been a shift in the importance of and space allocated to private and public areas. Many people still spend the most money and effort on the yards in front of their houses, but this hold-over from the Victorian era is beginning to fade in priority. For everything from swimming to reading, Americans are now turning to freshly designed backyards, once barren spots occupied by clothes lines and a few stray lawn chairs.

Not only has life moved away from the old front porch social center, but landscaping concepts have changed as well. "Naturalism" is the key word today. The focus is on simple, informal plantings that are easily maintained — perhaps ferns and a few perennials rather than roses and elegant camellias; ornamental grass rather than manicured bushes and hedges.

"Gardens that are magnificent to look at are not necessarily good to live in," Buckler says.

Roots of this naturalistic trend are long and deep, however, with runners of influence from Japan and China, England and most recently California.

Until about the middle of the 18th century, European gardens, particularly those laid out by Italian and French masters, were excruciatingly rigid and contrived, culminating at Versailles in vast geometric gardens planted along a central axis stretching as far as the eye could see. For a while, the English flirted with this scale and formality, but the customary symmetry and topiary (bushes clipped into animal and geometric shapes) lost much of their following by the early 1700s. Landscape critics, among them the poet and gardener Alexander Pope, found it all just too boring.

Change came in the form of the English landscape garden, an ancestor of today's naturalistic style. Sweeping lawns, meandering streams, rolling hills and belts of green trees were features that caught England's attention until the Victorian taste for exotic plants and formal plantings changed the scene again. But the landscape movement did not disappear altogether, showing up, for example, in New York's Central Park, where Frederick Law Olmstead allowed the land's terrain and natural features to guide his planning.

Then, in California during the 1930s and '40', another branch of naturalism, this one interpreted in many of today's American gardens, took firm hold. Borrowing from English, Spanish and Oriental concepts, the late architect Thomas Church planned around the idea that gardens are for recreation. His gardens required little upkeep; the natural terrain was retained and emphasized wherever possible; decks and patios replaced grass lawns, and plants were located for practical purposes, to tie functional areas together. The garden, in short, really was not for gardeners.

For the 1980s, Smithsonian horticulturists as well as private landscapers suggest that a naturalistic landscape might include these elements:

Perimeter Planting. By placing shurbs and trees along the edge of your property, privacy is achieved and a framework for the inerior area is created. This is a useful alternative to old-fashioned "foundation planting," where masses of plants were located around the house to make it appear as though they "belonged" to the environment — generally an impossible task. "The majority of houses," Buckler says, "are overplanted today because of that approach."

Shapes. Let forsythia and other shrubs grow naturally (allow room for them) rather than pruning them into large balls, a look horticulturists now consider contrived. Naturalistic gardens also rely on curvilinear shapes that add interest and adventure compared to straight lines, so plan walkways and borders with this in mind.

Ground Covers. Plant evergreens such as ivy, periwinkle and pachysandra that are relatively easy to maintain, unlike grass. You might also try placing ferns in one area of the garden where they can grow in what Buckler terms "controlled neglect."

Energy Savers. By planting shade trees at the south line of a property and evergreens along the north, both heating and cooling costs can be pared somewhat.

Alternative plants. Ornamental grasses that have a soft color, loose structure and that billow in the breeze offer a welcome alternative to overused shrubbery. They look best in small clumps or at the end of a stretch of other plants. An added dividend, landscapers say, is that they look great in the winter when they dry to tan and golden tones.

Flowers. Perennial flowers such as day lilies and daisies are longlasting and colorful. They relieve what many have found to the monotony of the low-maintenance, evergreen garden, in which an occasional azalea or rhododendron is thrown in for seasonal color.

But in planning any garden, Buckler says, decisions on which flowers to plant should be the last step. He offers potential gardeners some other advice:

+ Don't let a plant or shrub dictate your landscape — "you'll never be pleased or satisfied."
+ If you can't afford the entire landscape design you've planned, concentrate first on the private areas that you acutally will use; leave the public parts till last, and then plant those simply.
+ Consider a cycle of planting that will provide color throughout the year.
+ Select plants to meet an overall garden plan and its conditions. "If you love crotons, but the light is bad, or soil not right, you'll need to consider other possibilities," Buckler says.
+ Rather than installing elaborate outdoor lighting systems, plant beds of white flowers that will show up at night (other colors will not).
+ And avoid planting too much, because there's just no such thing as a work-free garden.

Energy Survey Can Cut Home Energy Use

Most Minnesota homeowners will be able to get an individual home energy survey for $10 or less through a new program being planned by the Minnesota Energy agency and the state's largest utilities. A public meeting to discuss the plan is scheduled May 12 at 9:30 a.m. in the small hearing room on the seventh floor of the American center building, 150 East Kellogg, St. Paul.

The program, called the Minnesota energy conservation service (MECS), is the result of a federal law requiring most gas and electric utilities to offer their customers help in reducig their energy needs for space heating, air conditioning and heating water.

Some of the benefits of the program include: (1) An individial survey or audit of the home with specific recommendations for energy improvements; (2) help in arranging loans to make the recommended conservation changes; (3) a list of contractors approved by the energy agency to do installation work and other modifications; and (4) a warranty on products used to make the improvements.

Officials estimate energy use on homes can be cut, depending on type of home, anywhere from one-third to 50 per cent as a result of MECS measures.

An MECS home energy survey, which can cost no more than $10 by state law, will analyze costs and potential savings of a variety of energy conservation and renewable energy resources measures. Energy auditors will make suggestions on whether or not to increase ceiling, wall and floor insulation, to install clock thermostats and on how to make heating and air conditioning systems more efficient. Also, auditors will give estimates for solar and wind equipment wherever possible.

Advance copies of the Minnesota energy conservation service plan or additional information can be obtained by contacting Al Lessik at 612-297-2117.

County Board Proceedings

Official Proceedings
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
April 24, 1980

Pursuant to adjournment the County Board met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 A.M., April 24, 1980.

Members present: Hoffman, Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

Chris Twomey, Director of the Occupational Development Center with facilities in Thief River Falls and in the City of Crookston presented the annual request for support for the Center. The request was for 30 cents per capita the same amount as in past years. Mr. Twomey reviewed the past year activities and spoke of the various kinds of contracts and of the progress evident in the participants in the programs. The request was discussed and it was determined that a determination should be made as to whether this program could qualify for Social Service funds coming from the State in the new Block Grant procedures.

Mr. Twomey then spoke of the O.D.C. needs as they relate to the building. The newly acquired building (the former Gamble Robinson Bldg.) has been refurbished to fit the needs of the Center and at present has a $14,000 deficit in the building fund. The budget for remodeling was on target for almost all of the program except for a roof problem that came to light on the North end and where a wall actually partially collapsed and had to be rebuilt.

Approximately $10,000 has been pledged by various doners leaving a $4,000 deficit that the County is asked to participate in or pick up entirely. The Board took the matter under advisement.

The Board then proceeded, to hear proposals for some problems that the Board is faced with that 3 Architect firms have been asked to make proposals on. The items under consideration are:

1. Energy study of all County buildings
2. Staff House improvements at the Oakland Park Nursing home.
3. Study of feasibility of and proposed use of the Oakland Dormitory
4. Barrier Free remodeling of Courthouse along with study of need for expansion as a part of the procedure.

The firm of Reike Carroll Muller Associates, Inc., Architects and Engineers, represented by Joe Benson, Engineer and Bill Henemuth, Architect reviewed the above proposals and asked questions with the intention of responding by the May 6th Board meeting with specific proposals for the four areas that the Board has asked about. The Energy programs of the State and Federal Government were clarified for the Board. A proposal for the Energy study was before the Board but was laid over to be considered on May 6.

John Madson of the firm of Patch Erickson Madson, Inc. presented credentials and asked questions about the four areas that need answers and agreed to present written proposals to be considered at the May 6 meeting.

Commissioner Grabanski did not attend the afternoon session.

The Board then took up the bids that were laid over from the April 8th meeting for purchase of a tilt-type trailer. The bid of the Itasca Equip. Co. in the amount of $4,720.00 was the lowest bid and is the bid of a custom builder, and the trailer will be built to the specifications called for in the advertisements prior to the call for bids. Moved by Stenberg seconded by Hoffman that the bid of Itasca Equip. Co. be accepted as the lowest and best bid and the Chairman and Auditor be instructed to proceed with purchase of said trailer in the amount of $4,720.00. Motion declared unanimously carried.

The Engineer advised the Board that the proposed improvement of County State Aid Highways 7, 12 and 13 was ready for letting a Contract except for four parcels of land that easements had not been obtained.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Koop who called for its adoption:

WHEREAS, The Pennington County Highway Department proposes to reconstruct and improve portions of County State Aid Highways No. 7, 12 and 13, known as State Aid Projects No. 57-612-03, 57-613-01, 57-607-04 and 57-607-05, located between State Highway No. 1 and County State Aid Highway No. 3;

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Hoffman and upon call for vote was declared unanimously approved and adopted by those Commissioners present.

Restrictions On Roads Are Lifted Today

Spring road restrictions for trunk highways in northern Minnesota will be lifted today, according to Mn-DOT district engineer, Bob Wolfe. The lifting of restrictions in this area (Zones four, five and six) will complete the lifting of restrictions statewide, Wolfe said.

Some roads in the area will remain posted year around, due to their deteriorated condition or to posted bridges located on the highway. These roads will have signs stating the proper weight limits. Highways having no signs stating the posted load limit may carry the normal legal load limit of nine tons per axle, subject to other restrictions.

Those trunk highways in District Two designated at 10-ton experimental seasonable posted routes may carry the load limit of 10 tons per axle effective the same date (May 12). Those trunk highways in District Two designated as 10-ton emergency routes last fall may carry only the normal legal load limit of nine-tons.

Road restrictions are being lifted about a week earlier than normal due mainly to the unseasonably warm and dry weather experienced this spring. Persons needing information on roadway restrictions should call the Mn-DOT maintenance offices at Bemidji (218-755-2942) or Crookston (218-281-3503).

"Everybody is Somebody in Thief River Falls"

Published Twice A Week

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES 15c

Volume 69 (USPS 627-360) Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Wednesday, May 14, 1980 Number 39

LIVING ROOM STUDIO is used by Jim Hoks of Thief River Falls on the infrequent occasions when he is able to find time to pursue his hobby of painting. Hoks is president of the Thief River Falls community arts council, sponsor of the regional art show to be held this week at the Falls Mall in Thief River Falls.

Hoks Is Artist In Arts Council Post

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Many people appreciate art but few are those who have the ability to create it. Jim Hoks, president of the Thief River Falls community art council, uses his art talent in his work every day and still paints as a recreational pursuit. Sometimes, however, he finds his arts council duties keep him away from his own art efforts.

The community arts council is host this week to the regional arts show which will take place Thursday through Saturday at the Falls Mall in downtown Thief River Falls. From the show, 30 works will be selected for tour of Region I with displays to be arranged in 10 different communities in the region.

Last night Hoks was working with members of Boy Scout Troop 59, for which he serves as scoutmaster, preparing the show area and transferring pictures from their storage point at Mr. Duane's to the show gallery in the mall.

A 1970 graduate of Warroad high school and the retail floral program at the Brainerd area vocational-technical institute, Hoks began work at Hall's Floral in 1971 and three years ago became an owner-manager when the business was incorporated. He took a course in water color and oil painting at Bemidji state university between his junior and senior years in high school, and has since taken nine or 10 painting and drawing classes at Northland community college here.

TO BE DISPLAYED at the North Country Auto showtime to be held Saturday and Sunday at the Thief River Falls sports arena will be this 1940 Plymouth coupe restored and customized by Frank Hickerson of Bemidji. Frank is a brother of Jerry Hickerson of Thief River Falls. The car was named one of the five most outstanding Mopars at the state show in St. Paul in 1979 and will be among more than 70 vehicles on display during the show here. Hickerson's car was featured recently in Street Rodder magazine.

Scripture reading and selections by the high school choir under the direction of David Morken will be included in the service.

Liquor Committee Will Study Construction Site

Following a seven to one vote during last night's Thief River Falls city council meeting, in which area businessmen gathered to voice their opinions on the municipal liquor store issue, the matter was referred to the liquor committee for further consideration.

"I personally am in favor of the highway 59 site," alderman Ambrose Wysoski stated. His views as finance committee chairman, he said, were that the present Red Owl complex would not be a suitable site for the liquor store because of the safety hazards created by its downtown location.

Finance committee members alderman Clayton Restad and Wysoski spoke in favor of the highway 59 site, while alderman J. J. Womack and Mayor Bob Carlson were in favor of a possible downtown location for the facility.

Duane Walton of Mr. Duane's in Thief River Falls brought before council members a list of 30 people in support of the downtown location.

"Comprehensive plans call for city developments to be placed in the city's business district," he said. "The location of the liquor store at its present site is not central to most citizens. We could put good use to the building and parking lot already situated in the downtown area by placing the liquor store there."

Don Grabanski of the Model Barber shop spoke in opposition to the highway 59 site by stating that, "a municipal building should be sited to the best availability of the community."

Dick Bjorkman of Bjorkman's clothing store joined other businessmen with his feelings in favor of the downtown location for the facility. "I would like to see the facility downtown," he said. "I believe we could save in the neighborhood of 25 per cent of the costs by using a present building rather than to build a new facility."

"It would cost less to use the downtown site," alderman Dr. Don Goodrich said. "Since we already would have a building for the facility we wouldn't have to go out and finance a new building. It would be fiscally irresponsible to spend monies for a new one when the economy is as it is. On the cost basis, I personally favor the downtown location."

Statement offered by alderman Bill Penning to the situation included the solution of a referendum vote by the people.

"The council can't see to make a decision on the issue; maybe the people can," he said.

Mayor Carlson spoke in favor of the downtown location rather than the highway 59 site because of his "concern with the downtown area," he said, and reminded council members not to lock their decision in on the Red Owl site for the liquor store if other sites are available.

Following the introduction of a resolution by alderman Milan Borsheim and a second from alderman Ole Engelstad, and a roll call vote of seven "yes" votes and one "no" vote

Architect Reports On Lincoln HS Alternatives

Architect Ken Skold presented the Thief River Falls board of education with analysis figures Monday evening which show anticipated costs ranging from $5,678,460 to $9,853,970 to solve school district building problems. At the heart of the problem are the closing of several areas of the Lincoln high school complex due to fire code violations and the necessity for renovation to provide for full access by the handicapped.

Skold's figures did not include site costs, furnishings or fees and are based on current cost estimates, he said. He recommended a five per cent contingency amount be added to cost estimates, and furnishings and fees could add another seven to 10 per cent to the cost total.

The board met Monday evening in the Lincoln high school library which was nearly filled for the presentation of the architect's report. Skold showed that the existing program of Lincoln high school with an enrollment of 1,200 students requires 132,515 square feet of space — a figure which increases to 158,935 square feet of space with agriculture, business education and industrial arts programs added. Those programs are now housed in the vocational area of the school district service center.

To accommodate the existing program, an addition of 43,180 square feet would be needed beyond the space available. If the three course areas mentioned were to be included, an addition would have to total 69,600 square feet.

The architect outlined the existing building, most of which, except for the vocational areas built in 1956, was constructed in 1938. Areas being vacated were built approximately 60 and 70 years ago.

Skold sketched several possible means of adding to the building in his presentation to the board. Further discussion on the building situation will take place at the board's first meeting in June.

At the board meeting approval was also given to the contract with the Thief River Falls education association which was arrived at through an arbitration process. Also approved were contracts with confidential employees and district aides. The TRFEA contract covers the 1979-80 and 1980-81 school years while the other two contracts extend through 1981-82.

A special session of the board was held Tuesday morning at which the salaries of the food service supervisor and swimming pool supervisor were set. Another special session was set for Thursday morning in an attempt to reach final agreement on salaries for the business manager and superintendent.

Next meeting of the board will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday due to the Memorial day holiday on the regular board meeting date of May 26.

In other action Monday

Suspension, No-Smoking Program Enforced At LHS

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

The no-smoking program now enforced in the city of Thief River Falls for those under 18 somewhat stemmed from the law prohibiting the use of tobacco by children.

"Juveniles can't be fined or jailed for a misdemeanor," stated Ken Froschheiser, Thief River Falls police chief.

During a recent state police chief's association meeting, legislation was requested to either change the present law to make it enforceable or to do away with it completely, he said.

Consequently, work projects have been set up for those caught not abiding by the no-smoking law. These are not fines and the county board feels there is no problem with them, Froschheiser said.

"We have received public complaints concerning the students smoking around Lincoln high school in the past," he said. "As a result, we got together with the courts and they said they would assist us in setting up a program that could be enforced."

When students under 18 are caught smoking in the vicinity of the high school, they are given a written citation and are brought to the law enforcement center where their parents are called. They are then brought back to school with a date having been set for their appearance in court — with their parents. During the court session, the students' work assignments are given them, Froschheiser said.

School Board Candidate Views

Interest in the Thief River Falls school board election heightens as the May 20 election day approaches. The largest field of candidates in the memory of local residents has participated in several public events, including a meet-the-candidate program sponsored last night by the local chamber of commerce.

The 11 candidates have been scheduled for appearances on local radio and cable television as well as invited to present their qualifications and viewpoints through articles in the Times. Six of the candidates were featured in the Monday edition and the remaining five present their views today.

Election will be held Tuesday from 4 to 8 p.m. with polling places at four locations for the first time this year. Residents living in the previous St. Hilaire school district will vote at the St. Hilaire elementary school. Those living south and east of the Red Lake river will vote at Franklin middle school.

Lincoln high school will be the polling place for residents of the area west of the Red Lake river while the area vocational-technical institute will be the place for voting among residents living north of the Red Lake river and east of the Thief river.

Absentee ballots may be obtained from the school district service center office until 24 hours before the election, or until 4 p.m. Monday. Three candidates are to be elected and will take office July 1.

I am a candidate for reelection to the board of education of School District 564 because, after six years on the board, I am still concerned about the education that my children and the other children of this district will receive. My concern is presently concentrated in being able to offer the facilities and courses which will provide the best quality education for the students within this district within the funds made available to the district through state, federal

I filed for election to the school board because I saw and felt a dissatisfaction within the school district and community with the direction, policies and lack of foresight and planning of the school board. I believe in and have received a quality education and it is our obligation to offer a quality education to the students of School District 564.

I grew up on a farm near Alvarado, and graduated valedictorian of the class of 1971. In 1971 I graduated from Moorhead state university with a BA in social services. While at college I was involved in numerous

As a candidate for board member of School Dist. 564 I wish to bring forth some of my feelings of what should be done for the betterment of the education of our children in Thief River Falls.

First of all, I am a native of Roseau county, attended elementary school there and high school at the agricultural school at Crookston. I got married in 1956 and moved to Thief River Falls and have been a resident and farmer in this community ever since.

I have four children, two boys and two girls. My oldest son has graduated from the Thanks again, Mr. Editor, for this opportunity to write an article to the voters of our school district.

It was six years ago that I wrote my first article for the Times and my history has not changed too much. My wife, Shirley and I have been married 31 years, have raised six children, and now we have been blessed with two grandchildren. Raising a family is something like managing a bank. I consider our children as investments and grandchildren as dividends. We are proud of the education our children have received here in

Diane Keck And James Johnson Wed At Zion

Miss Diane Keck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Keck of this city, became the bride of James W. Johnson, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Warren, at a ceremony on March 15 at 2:30 p.m., at Zion Lutheran church, Thief River Falls.

Rev. James Mattson officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist and accompanist was Mrs. Phyllis Dalager. During the ceremony, Beverly Potucek of Warren, a friend of the groom, sang "You Light Up My Life," "Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Forming the chancel setting were two floral arrangements of red roses and pink carnations, backed by candelabra with cranberry colored tapers, greenery and burgundy bows. Burgundy colored satin bows marked the pews.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in an ivory organza gown accented with Venice lace fleurettes and pearl trim. The molded bodice with an overlay of Venice lace embroidered with pearls, featured a high neckline and full bishop sleeves, gathered into pointed lace cuffs, trimmed with pearls. Her full skirt, attached at the dropped waistline, featured a self train edged with Venice lace. To complement her attire, she wore coordinating lace and pearl cap-styled headpiece complemented by a tiered fingertip veil with each tier edged with lace fleurettes. She carried a cascade of pink silk carnations, red roses, lilies of the valley and babies' breath, accented with ivory streamers.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Donna Wachsmuth of Greenbush. Other attendants were Darlene Pagnac and Caroline Johnson, sisters of the groom. Their gowns of dusty rose qiana were fashioned with long, full sleeves and full skirts. At the V-neckline, they wore pearl pendants, gifts from the bride. Each attendant carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations, white daisies, red roses and babies' breath, backed by ivory lace and burgundy streamers.

Serving the groom as best man was Randy Hill of Warren, a friend. Groomsmen were Dale Pagnac, a brother-in-law of the groom, and Tom Wachsmuth, a brother-in-law of the bride. The groom and his attendants, together with the bride's father, wore burgundy tuxedos with ruffled shirts. Their boutonnieres were red roses and babies breath.

Ushers were Scott Bergdahl of this city and Rodney Jorgenson of Warren.

The mother of the bride was attired in an aqua floor-length gown topped by a matching long-sleeved jacket. The groom's mother wore a light aqua gown fashioned with a long-sleeved bloused top. Their identical corsages were of red roses and babies' breath.

A similar corsage was also worn by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Petrina Geving, who was honor guest at the wedding. Sue Johnson, sister of the groom, was the bride's personal attendant.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Jorgenson of Argyle as host and hostess. Ruth Beaudry of Warren, a friend of the bride, was at the guest book as Mr. and Mrs. Dale Coto of Oklee, also friends of the bride, served the punch.

Centering the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake iced in white, decorated with pink roses, and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Eunice Hanson and Mrs. Elaine Benson. At the coffee service were Mrs. Carol Bennitt and Mrs. Leone Jorgenson. Waitresses were Julie Hanson, Connie Bennitt and Faye Satkunam. Stacy Bergdahl and Karl Jorgenson were the gift bearers.

Hoks Is Artist In TRF Arts Council Post

Jim explained. "Understanding color is a basic of art and composition in arrangements requires an artistic touch. We handle art in our everyday lives much more than we realize, even to the selection of clothing or furniture. I personally like art that is an expression of the artist, whether it is presented in realism or abstract fashion."

Hoks has shown his paintings at the 1979 regional art show and at local art in the park events sponsored by the arts council. He also has a painting in the student art display at Northland community college, has completed some works for individuals, and will have a painting he is working on at the present time displayed with the work of Warroad area artists at the nursing home in Warroad.

Joining the arts council in 1976 to work with students in the schools through the art adventure program, Hoks is serving his second term as president. He said the council is hosting the regional arts show to provide a chance for area artists to show and sell their work and for the public to see and buy locally-produced art objects. Artwork at the show need not be for sale, he said, but sponsors have been obtained for purchase awards in addition to the opportunity for private purchase.

Hoks is enthusiastic about providing exposure to art to the community and especially its young people. His early interest in art through drawing in grade school led him into the florist business, he said, and he now serves as chairman of the advisory board for the Brainerd AVTI retail floral program.

"I think young people interested in art . . . if they can express themselves in art in any way . . . should seek an area of employment where that art talent can be used and developed. It takes an unusual talent to make a living on creating and selling art objects, but art talent can be expressed in design, architecture, interior decorating, textiles and many other fields.

"An artist must have a natural understanding of his or her subject. He or she must see in the mind's eye exactly what is to be put down on paper or canvas. The technique can be taught but the ability to use that technique is in the mind and eye of the artist. An awareness of art creates an awareness in other things."

Community involvement as well as the pressures of business have kept Hoks away from the easel for several months. In addition to his scoutmaster and arts council duties he is a member of the Kiwanis, Jaycees and Elks organizations.

"Bachelors are supposed to have all kinds of free time," he chuckled. "Believe me, it doesn't always work out that way!"

Hoks said he hopes the community will turn out to visit the show and enjoy the efforts of area artists, perhaps even finding a work or two that they would like to purchase for their home or office.

"Last year, I even bought one that I liked myself," he said.

FLOWER ARRANGING is an art form for Jim Hoks, an owner-manager in Hall's Floral corporation in Thief River Falls. Knowledge of color and form is necessary for artistic arrangements, he said. President of the Thief River Falls community arts council, Hoks encourages young people with art talent to enter fields where they can use art as a means of expression.

Forest History Center Plans Sun. Program

As winter snows began to melt in the deep pine woods of northern Minnesota and the streams and rivers began to swell with the run-off, lumberjacks weary after a long winter of cutting, began to trudge homeward. As they did, a new crew of woodsworkers began to assemble. These men, called "river pigs," were to drive the logs down the northern Minnesota rivers to waiting sawmills.

The drive began as soon as the river was free of its mantle of ice. River pigs — dressed in layers of heavy woolen clothing to protect themselves from the icy water and armed with pike poles and calked boots — pushed, poled and pried the logs down-river. As the logs raced downstream, the work and danger increased with each mile. Rivers, fed by smaller creeks, sped on and became choked with the logs of hundreds of logging camps.

To keep the logs moving, the men worked long hours — often around the clock, eating four meals a day to maintain their strength, rubbing their bodies with grease to repel the numbing coldness of the water. Men rode the logs downstream. All too often, the logs halted, stopping at rapids or falls, and formed huge jams which blocked the rivers, forcing the river pigs to attempt the dangerous job of breaking the jam. When broken, the logs lurched forward propelled by the pent up force of the water, crushing everything in their path including some of the luckless men. Those who survived the drives of long ago became part of the legend of Minnesota logging history.

On Sunday, May 18, visitors to the forest history center's 1900 logging camp in Grand Rapids will have the opportunity to meet one member of this elite crew of old-time river pigs. Cecil Winegarner of Palisade will be on hand to explain his experiences as a cook on such a river drive during his youth.

Visitors will have the opportunity to visit with Winegarner, aided by other members of the Aitkin county historical society learn more about the dangerous and exciting days of log driving and ask questions about days long gone by. Winegarner will host his informal program at the logging camp, once at 1 p.m. and again at 3 p.m., explaining river driving and answering questions. Each program will be preceded by a film on log driving, "the Last Log Drive".

For further information, please contact the forest history center in Grand Rapids. It is open from May 15 through October 31, seven days a week, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Large groups are encouraged to obtain a reservation for conducted tours. Families and individuals are welcome at all times. There is no admission charge.

Obey all traffic laws and drive with extra care when operating tractors on public roadways. Check lights, tires, hitch, load and slow-vehicle emblem before entering a public roadway.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Well, our city fathers have done it again!

Instead of using funds to repair our pitiful streets or building an overpass or underpass, these people have decided to install traffic lights on four corners of Pennington and First street. We are also going to have the First street bridge widened!

I'm certain that the traffic coming from north Pennington will appreciate the traffic signals; there is no north Pennington. South Pennington comes to a dead end. You may turn left or right but going straight ahead will put you in the middle of a grocery store. But, this nonexistent traffic coming from north Pennington will still have traffic lights.

Ah, but now the traffic coming from south Pennington! You are about to see some of the finest planning on the installation of traffic signals possibly in the whole world.

Of course, our city fathers can't take all the credit for this. They were helped im*measurably by the state and* county.

Yes, these three forces have, presumably, gotten together and decided the traffic lights should be placed . . . in the middle of the sidewalk!

In the middle of the sidewalk you say! Why don't they install a hanging traffic signal right over the middle of the intersection? Ah, you aren't thinking. Now they have three extra signal lights and what are they going to do with them? Possibly look for another dead end street to place them on! But, with the city's luck, there might not be a sidewalk to put them in.

The state law says that there shall be no parking within 30 feet of a traffic signal. Do you realize that all the downtown parking in the vicinity of traffic signals is in violation of this law?

Do you think the city will have to repaint all the curbs in these areas in order that the citizens will comply with this ordinance? They will probably have to put up signs stating this law in some degree or another.

No, they will probably be so thunderstruck with the new signals on Pennington and First street that they will move the existing signals . . . and put them in the middle of sidewalks.

First street bridge will probably be closed. What is going to happen to the grocery store that is located in this area? There also happen to be three apartments in this store. Are the residents going to have to fight traffic across Third street and then double back to get to their homes?

What if the city installed traffic signals on the sidewalks of our councilmen's homes and businesses?

The railroad tracks are a block away from the grocery store. State law says there shall be no parking within 50 feet of the nearest rail. Then you have a driveway. Further down is a cross walk. And then, our new traffic light, in the middle of the sidewalk.

Gentlemen, there can be no parking on the south side of First street. How is this grocery going to survive this needless waste of money our city fathers are proposing?

If you think it's a mess waiting for a train at the rush hour now, wait until they close the First street bridge.

The two owners of this grocery store appeared at a council meeting and advised the city that their business would be jeopardized by the installation of lights and the widening of the bridge.

The city council wisely decided to have a special meeting to discuss this matter. At the special meeting, it was decided to have another special meeting!

At the recently concluded special meeting, May 7, the council barred the public and the press for 20 minutes while they held a secret vote. They voted against small business and for the traffic signals.

The only good part about this is that the new traffic lights will be tied in with the Soo Line's computer. What does that mean, you ask? It means when you have stopped in a long line for a freight train, the traffic lights will be . . .red!

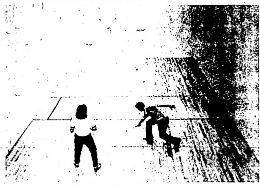
St. John Church To Install Rev. Ken Wittenburg

Rev. Kenneth Wittenburg will be installed as assistant pastor of St. John Lutheran church in Thief River Falls during the 10:30 a.m. worship service on Sunday. Rev. Barrie Henke will perform the rite of installation.

Rev. Wittenburg, who served as full-time pastor at St. John church from April of 1976 to February of 1977, is presently retired from the army chaplaincy program and resides with his wife Betty near Park Rapids. He will be serving at St. John church about two days a week, with special emphasis on visitation, commuting from Park Rapids.

Members of the church will host a pot-luck dinner following the service to welcome the new assistant pastor and his wife.

LOBBY AREA of the new T.R.F. Racquetball, Inc., building in Thief River Falls includes comfortable seating and a display area for sale of clothing and equipment. Locker room areas are located off the lobby at the back of the above photo and include saunas as well as access to a whirlpool. In the approximate area from which this photo was taken there will be a folding door which will create a room for ladies' aerobic exercises.



T.R.F. RACKQUETBALL, INC. is now open and owner Tom Ritchie invites the public to stop out and view the facility on Greenwood street, east of the Country Acres apartment complex. The photo above shows one of the courts in use during the past weekend. Four courts are available and memberships may be obtained at the lobby.

36 Take Part In Walkathon For Hospital Week

Twenty-nine of the 36 registered participants completed the 15-mile course when a walkathon was held Saturday to open national hospital week activities in Thief River Falls, according to Henry Holte, committee chairman.

An estimated total of pledges is $1,600, which will go toward the purchase of a new ambulance for use by the hospital in the community. David Bennor was named outstanding individual with pledges of $238 from 106 sponsors. Special mention was also given to Alf Lokken, longtime employee of the hospital, who contributed a generous amount toward the ambulance purchase.

Appreciation was expressed by the committee to Steve Young and members of the Medical Explorers scout troop who assisted in the walkathon.

Other activities planned for hospital week is a baby photo guessing contest for hospital employees with photos displayed of the hospital's department heads, administration, board of trustees and medical staff. First, second and third prizes will be awarded for the most accurate guesses.

A recognition dinner for all employees was scheduled today, as well as an appreciation tea for all hospital employees, sponsored by the ADRN students from Northland community college.

Participants in the walkathon who completed the 15-mile course were Darrin Summer, Jim VanSchaick, David Bennor, Lori Bentow, Glenda Bentow, Charlie Bedard, Dean Prestegaard, Dan Severson, David Summer, Gloria Merck, Diane Rausch, Don Johnston, Jan Stocker, Mike Melby, Deanna Larson, Peggy Bergsnev, Darleen Melvie, Orlette Gjerde, Freda Hemmesch, Deloris Spencer, Norman Peterson, Tammy Keon, Vicki Hipsher, Carol Altepeter, Annette Barth, Becky Ulrich, Cecelia Swenson, DeLayne Swenson and Steve Young.

Other participants included Helen Toren, 12 miles; Chris Okland, Laurie Trochmann and JoAnne Golightly, 11 miles; Matthew Holte, 10 miles; Susan Ulrich, five miles; and Mrs. Steve Young, who pushed a baby stroller three and one-half miles.

City Liquor Committee To Study Site

(from alderman Goodrich) to refer the issue to the liquor store committee, the resolution passed.

A group of businessmen appeared before council members on another issue — this one not on the agenda for the evening — concerning "sandwich boards" or "V-shaped" signs placed by businesses on sidewalks for advertising purposes.

Presently, an ordinance states that this type of sign cannot be placed on sidewalks, and a violation of the act is a misdemeanor, according to Duane Holland of the Thief River Falls police department, and Jack Quinlivan, city planner.

"The question has been raised as to the city's liability if businesses place the signs on sidewalks," Quinlivan said.

"My recommendation is to abide by the standing ordinance," alderman Womack said. "A safety problem could result if all businesses placed the signs on the sidewalks."

Following the introduction of a resolution by alderman Womack, and a second from alderman Milan Borsheim, it was resolved to instruct the chief of police to send letters to the seven known violators of the ordinance informing them that the city plans to abide by the standing ordinance. A roll call vote resulted in unanimous favor of the resolution.

In further council action, Mick Gjovik appeared before council members with the request for a resolution from council to approve preliminary plans for the purchase of industrial revenue bonds or mortgage notes financing in the amount of $300,000 for the construction of a pop shop - gas station convenience store on the corner of Dale street and Highway 59 in Thief River Falls (near site of present liquor store).

Following the introduction of resolution by alderman Borsheim, preliminary plans were approved for the facility.

In planning commission recommendations, council members moved to accept the commission's recommended denial for the request of a variance by Cook Sign company to relocate the Arctic Cat billboard on the fairgrounds property. Present ordinance permits the placement of the billboards in industrial zones only and this area is public-zoned property, Quinlivan said.

Also, a unanimous council decision was made to submit the re-design of highway 59 south to the Minnesota department of transportation for consideration. The design illustrates a full urban section with frontage roads and limited entrances to highway 59.

Design followed from the proposed highway 59 SE improvement plan brought before council members by the planning commission at an April 22 meeting, in which it was resolved that the design would be reconstructed to include a four-lane highway on highway 59.

Council members also accepted the planning commission denial of a request from Walt Thomas of the Dairy Queen, Al Kimbrough of Al's Repair and Dr. Phillip Bruno, chiropractor, for their request for zoning changes from R-2 (residential) to C-2 (highway commercial) which could permit them to make additions to their present facilities, if the need ever arises.

In finance committee recommendations, council agreed to purchase a sound system at the arena outright at a cost of $9,800 from Marcraft, Inc. of Thief River Falls, with an agreement for maintenance cost payments of $540 a year.

Airport runway length issue followed from a special city council meeting recently in which Lawrence McCabe, commissioner of aeronautics of the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn-DOT) in Minneapolis appeared at the meeting with his recommendation to construct a 2,500 foot sod cross-wind strip at the airport — the minimum needed at the present time which would accommodate light aircraft — and later extend the strip to approximately 4,000 feet. The construction would not affect Ray Oen — who plans development in the area — at all, he informed council members.

Previous request by Oen called for a permit to develop housing in Zone B north and east of the proposed cross wind runway strip. A portion of Oen's land lies in one of the zones designated for the runway. No formal action was taken on the issue at the special meeting. During last evening's meeting, alderman Goodrich moved to accept the recommendation by McCabe.

It was resolved to approve the 1980 street improvement project plans and to advertise for bids at 2 p.m. June 17. Approximate total project cost is $900,000. Projects include street repair service line insulation, Greenwood street, Oakland park bridge and bridge extension, First street widening (Main-Horace) Greenwood street (Crocker-Freeman's First addition), Greenwood cemetery-water; Kendall avenue, Columbia and Jerome, Cardinal avenue, Cardinal drive, and Oriole avenue, alley from Second to Third between Main and LaBree and storm sewers.

Hearing date for proposed improvements on downtown parking was set for next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the city auditorium. Next regular city council meeting will be May 27.

Celebrate MN. Tax Freedom Day Sunday

Sunday, May 18 is Minnesota's tax freedom day, according to calculations made by the Minnesota taxpayers association which show that this is the day when the average Minnesota worker owes no more taxes if, from the beginning of the year, every dollar of income was used as fast as it was earned to pay federal, state and local taxes.

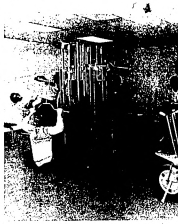
Minnesotans will be "celebrating" tax freedom day a week later than most other taxpayers nationwide. Due to a 13 per cent higher state and local burden, Minnesotans must remain on the job for another week. Average U.S. worker celebrated tax freedom day on May 11 of this year.

U.S. tax freedom day is based upon calculations made by economists of Tax Foundation, Inc., a nationally recognized research organization. Other figures supplied by the tax foundation show that an average worker nationwide will spend more than one-third of the year or 35.8 per cent of all earnings to pay federal, state and local taxes. A half century ago a worker could earn enough in 42 days to pay all taxes. Today, a worker must spend more than 131 days to achieve that result.

According to Don Paterick, executive director of Minnesota Taxpayers association, "Another way to look at a worker's tax burden is from an eight-hour day viewpoint; average; Minnesota taxpayers are working for the federal government for one hour and 55 minutes, and for state and local governments for another one hour and four minutes each eight-hour day. Average taxpayers don't start working for themselves until well after the morning coffee break and just before lunch rush."

Two hour and 59 minute tax bite in a working day is the largest budget item for an average worker. More work time is spent earning money for taxes than for the three basic necessities of life — food, clothing and shelter. Eight hour work day breaks down as follows:

Taxes, total federal, state and local — 2 hours 59 minutes; housing and household operation — 1 hour 29 minutes; food and beverages — 1 hour 01 minute; transportation — 41 minutes; medical care — 29 minutes; clothing — 22 minutes; recreation — 19 minutes; all other (private education, savings, etc.) — 40 minutes.



EXERCISE ROOM with some of the weight training and exercise equipment in place is part of the T.R.F. Racquetball, Inc., facility located on Greenwood street east of highway 59 in Thief River Falls. Membership in the club is now being sold and the public is invited by owner Tom Ritchie to stop out and view the new facility.

Jacobs Sells Stock Shares In Airline

Republic Airlines has announced that it has agreed to acquire the 1,060,000 shares of common stock owned by Irwin L. Jacobs. The purchase price is $6.50 per share, 25 cents per share over the closing price of $6.25, the day before the sale. Jacobs is the chief executive officer of Arctic Enterprises, Inc.

Hal N. Carr, chairman of the board of Republic, indicated that acquisition of the block of stock, at this time, fits well with Republic's plans and needs. With substantial capital expenditures scheduled over the next two years, Carr noted, available tax credits will again permit use of tax funds to contribute Republic shares to the employee stock ownership plan.

Carr also stated that a portion of the shares could be used for the Airwest acquisition. As previously announced, the purchase price of Airwest includes Republic convertible debentures. If these debentures are converted at the $15 conversion price, Carr said, the shares being bought now at $6.50 could be issued to cover conversions involved in the Airwest transaction.

Jacobs, a Twin Cities businessman, disclosed ownership of this five per cent interest in Republic stock in the 13-D report filed in March of 1980 with the securities and exchange commission.

Durenberger Bill To Help Small Business

Saying that the Carter-Mondale administration has "turned its back on small business," Senator Dave Durenberger has introduced a bill to encourage development and expansion of small businesses.

Durenberger's five-point legislation would reform the federal tax code and enable small business owners to accumulate capital for growth. The bill would reduce corporate tax rates, with the maximum benefit going to small businesses; reduce the maximum tax rate on savings income from 70 per cent to 50 per cent; make it easier for heirs of family businesses to qualify for an extension of estate tax payments; remove the $100,000 cap on the amount of used equipment that qualifies for the investment tax credit; and establish a 10 per cent tax credit for investment in the original issue stock of a small business.

Durenberger said his bill is based on the recommendations that came out of a January White House conference on small business. "The administration has all the fanfare of a White House conference, but then drops the ball when it comes to following through on substance," said Durenberger.

"It's not surprising that a lot of small business owners expressed the fear that the recommendations of the White House conference will end up like the recommendations of so many other government conferences — printed, praised and filed away. These recommendations deserve a far better fate.

"Society asks small businesses to carry a huge burden. They provide 50 million jobs; 99 per cent of the new jobs created in the economy every year are in small businesses. They produce 43 per cent of our gross national product.

"Yet, federal tax policies make it almost impossible for small businesses to save the money they need to expand, build new markets and stay competitive. These businesses have been forced to operate on the slimmest of margins. Their margin between success and failure disappears when small businesses bear the brunt of an administration choosing to fight inflation with interest rates alone. The real burden of high interest rates is falling on businesses 'unfortunate' enough to have inventories or 'unfortunate' enough to be small. Not surprisingly, small business bankruptcies are rising at a dramatic rate," said Durenberger.

Durenberger's bill is the companion to legislation introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Bill Frenzel.

Check Before Digging Near Phone Cables

Northwestern Bell is asking anyone planning to do any sort of digging or excavating near buried telephone cables or wires to call the company before starting work.

Al Bacon, company manager, points out that buried telephone cables and wires can be damaged by the "do-it-yourselfer" using a shovel to plant a tree or a post hole digger to build a fence as well as by operators of bulldozers and backhoes working in major construction projects. Frequently, the home handyperson cuts off his or her own service, or that of a neighbor.

There are signs along major cable routes, but they only indicate the general location of the cable. Buried wires serving homes could be located almost anyplace in the front or back yards.

"Any disruption of telephone service is an inconvenience at best and is extremely serious if the phone is needed in an emergency," the manager said. "In many cases this could be prevented if people would call us a couple of days before starting to work."

Those wishing help in locating buried telephone cables or wires should dial "0" and ask for Zenith 2345. The phone company will determine if it is necessary to dispatch a technician to determine the exact location of the facilities.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Once more it's Legion auxiliary Poppy Days, May 22 and 23, in our city. As poppy chairman this year, I would like to review again the significance of the memorial poppy. As our volunteers greet you on the street with the familiar flowers and ask you to wear one in honor of our war dead, remember that we purchased these flowers from the living victims of our wars.

With materials we furnish, they construct the poppies. The wages they receive are often the only earnings for many of these hapless men, who derive much satisfaction from helping their families in this way. What you, the remembering public, donate for your poppy is used exclusively to aid local veterans and their families. It's your way of saying "thank you" for the great sacrifice that men have made, some of them their very lives.

We are moved to dig deeply, to be generous to their cause. The dedicated people who approach you on Poppy Days are all unpaid volunteers. They will appreciate your cooperation deeply.

A poem I wrote some years ago sums up my own deep feelings about Poppy Days and why we have them. It was inspired by a short movie about Flanders Fields, a cemetery in West Belgium mainly, where wild poppies wave in silent eloquence over so many of the graves of our hero-dead. We hope it will give an added dimension to your understanding of the memorial poppy.

In Memoriam

Silent are the hillsides now,
That once in the soft, sweet spring
Erupted with the bursts of shells, the silence shattering.
Like wheat before the reaper and grass before the scythe,
In the springtime of their lives, our youth bled their young lives away.
Silence lives here, with the birds wheeling steeply overhead
In unending, close communion with our sleeping hero-dead.
And the slope glows red, on fire with the poppies' scarlet glow,
Spreading a cloak of glory on the battlefields below!

DeeAnn Huotari Plummer Girls State Delegate

Mary Westlake

DeeAnn Huotari, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Huotari of Plummer and a junior at Plummer high school, has been chosen to represent her school at the 34th annual Girls State session June 8-14 at the college of St. Catherine, St. Paul, sponsored by American Legion auxiliary unit 623 of Plummer.

Alternate selected if the delegate is unable to attend is Mary Westlake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Westlake of Plummer.

Girls State is a practical application of Americanism and good citizenship. Over 470 girls will attend the session where they will be given the opportunity to live together as self-governing citizens. They will be informed of the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities as American citizens in order that they may better understand and participate in the functioning of their government, and to help them grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which they must assume when they become adults.

Private Motor Carriers May Be Inspected

Safety is a key factor in new legislation permitting the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) to inspect and tag private motor carriers (truckers) for driver and safety violations, according to Commissioner Richard P. Braun.

The law affects manufacturers, producers, dealers or distributors transporting their own products in vehicles weighing more than 10,000 pounds. Until now, only "for-hire" motor carriers were subject to state motor carrier rules and regulations.

"It's estimated that 24,000 private motor carriers use Minnesota highways. That's nine times the number of "for-hire" vehicles," Braun said. "We think this new law is going to significantly reduce some common hazards to all motorists."

The law allows Mn-DOT motor transportation representatives to issue citations for violations of driver qualifications, maximum hours of service of drivers, and safety of operations and equipment.

Brule Employee Of Year At RLF Hospital

St. John's hospital employees in Red Lake Falls, as a part of national hospital week, selected as their annual "employee of the year" Mrs. Leone Brule.

A luncheon was conducted in her honor Monday and at that time she received an engraved plaque.

Brule is head of the medical records department and is responsible for numerous duties such as transcribing of patient records, filing and keeping statistics.

She graduated from Lafayette high school in Red Lake Falls and attended Bemidji state university for one year. She worked at St. Francis hospital for two years, then returned part time in 1968 and worked in the medical records department until St. Francis closed. She then began part time work at St. John's hospital in the records department.

Search For Mn. Teacher Of The Year Continues

Search for the 1980 Minnesota teacher of the year (ToY) has been narrowed to six men and five women. These honor roll teachers represent a variety of disciplines in Minnesota elementary and secondary schools.

The 11 honor roll teachers have been selected from 33 teachers of excellence, who, in turn, had been selected from 182 nominees representing 164 school districts. Teacher of the year will be named at an open-to-the-public luncheon the first Sunday of the Minnesota state fair, August 24. None of the final 11 are from this area.

Seventeen-member judging panel includes representatives of large and small public institutions that prepare teachers, nonpublic schools, media, students, the judiciary, ethnic minorities, business and industry, school boards, teachers, parents, and the lay public. Minnesota state fair and the Minnesota education association (MEA) cosponsor the 17th annual ToY program.

Pilot Clinics Offered By NASA Speaker

Space research helps make aviation safer, according to Calvin Pitts, National Aeronautics and Space administration researcher.

Pitts will give a free program this month called "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Moon" at pilots' educational clinics offered by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT).

Human engineering in the cockpit, crash worthiness, eliminating engine noise, experimental general aviation design and airfoils of the future (for example, wings) are some of the topics Pitts will cover.

Co-sponsored by Mn-DOT and the federal aviation administration, the illustrated talk will be conducted as follows:

May 16 — Rochester, Central junior high auditorium, 7-10 p.m. (also sponsored by the Flying Dutchman, Inc.); May 20 — Anoka, Anoka senior high auditorium, 7-10 p.m.; and May 21 — Duluth, Central high school auditorium, 7-10 p.m. (also sponsored by Duluth Aviation, Inc.).

Highway Travel Increase Noted During 1980

Inquiries at travel information centers, an indicator of the volume of travel on Minnesota's freeway system, have increased by an average of 14 per cent during the first quarter of 1980 over the same period last year, according to the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT.)

R. Douglas Olson, Mn-DOT's travel information centers coordinator, said this year's milder winter weather and the greater availability of gasoline appear to be the primary factors in the highway travel increase.

Based on the first quarter's indications, Olson predicted the trend toward increased highway travel will continue during the summer months if current gasoline availability and seasonably mild weather conditions prevail.

During the first three months of this year, motorists made 12,253 inquiries — 1,507 more than last year — at the state's five travel information centers.

Despite that increase, Olson notes that these figures for 1980 are still three per cent below the level of inquiries made in 1978.

Mn-DOT operates travel information centers on interstate highways at Albert Lea, Moorhead, at Thompson Hill near Duluth, at Dresbach near LaCrosse, Wi. and at Beaver Creek on the Minnesota-South Dakota border.

The centers, which are staffed by Mn-DOT employees, provide road condition, weather and tourist information to the traveling public.

New Film On Weather At Omnitheater

ATMOS, a new omnimax film about weather, opened May 13 at the Science Museum of Minnesota's William L. McKnight-3M omnitheater.

Opening with a time-lapse shot of a cloud formation and rainfall, ATMOS goes on to describe the changes that have occurred in the earth's weather and how scientists document these changes.

Columbia ice fields in the Rocky mountains provide the setting for a segment on research being conducted on glaciers. Paleoclimatologists studying the cores of these glaciers have found evidence of what the climate was like half a million years ago.

Audience will also travel to Palestine, Texas, to witness the early morning launching of weather balloons, sent up to register present atmospheric conditions and measure the effects pollutants have on the atmosphere.

Co-produced with the national film board of Canada, ATMOS marks the first joint production venture involving the Science Museum of Minnesota, the Detroit science center, the Reuben H. Fleet space theater in San Diego, and the Alpha cultural center in Monterrey, Mexico. Film premiered in San Diego on April 1.

Science museum's omnitheater is a domed space theater which projects 70-millimeter film through a single fish-eye lens onto a spherical dome, creating a three-dimensional effect.

ATMOS will be the fourth feature presentation to be shown in the omnitheater. Like its predecessors, it includes a prologue produced locally by the science museum.

Omnitheater shows are offered daily except Mondays in matinee and evening performances. From Memorial day to Labor day shows will also be held on Mondays. For showtimes and ticket information call 221-9400.

Courage Center Opens Area For Speech Help

People who cannot speak because of a physical disability now have the opportunity to try a variety of devices at Courage center that will help them to "talk." A newly-opened communication resource center will permit people to try speech and hearing aids to determine which is suitable; however, equipment will not be sold by the center.

Some of the devices available for people who can't speak are computers with print-out and talking capability, electronic communication systems and scanning boards with pictures and Bliss symbols for children. The center also serves the needs of deaf or hard of hearing people with devices such as baby cry signals, alarm clocks, doorbell ringers and alarm systems.

A grant from the Otto Bremer foundation, St. Paul, is being used for equipment purchase. Specially equipped telephones for use in the center have been donated by Northwestern Bell telephone company.

Objectives of the communication resource center are to provide evaluation, training, recommendation and, when necessary, equipment modification. In addition, the center will help people learn about other devices available in the community, and, where feasible, clients will be assisted in obtaining funding for buying the recommended aids.

A professional team consisting of a certified speech and language pathologist, audiologist, physical therapist and Courage center's rehabilitation engineer will work together to recommend, and adapt the equipment for the specialized needs of each individual.

Referrals will be accepted from any source. Any person, regardless of disability, will be accepted for the initial evaluation. The program is a fee-for-service basis, but applications for adjusted fees are available.

For referral or additional information contact Dolores Gillette, intake coordinator, at (612) 588-0811 ext. 152 or write to her at Courage Center, 3915 Golden Valley Road Golden Valley, Minnesota 55422.

Tennis Line-Up Altered

In a major surprise, Lincoln high school tennis coach Whitey Olson has elected to team Bill Jury with Paul Koppang for a doubles entry in the individual portion of the North Half Region 8AA tournament Thursday at Crookston.

The Prowlers won the North Half Region 8AA team title Tuesday with a familiar line-up that had Jury at No. 1 singles, Mitch Rustad No. 2 singles, Koppang, No. 3 singles, Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins at No. 1 doubles, Bill Holmes and Mark Lundin at No. 2 doubles. That line-up will play the South Half representative in the state tournament-qualifying Region 8AA championship match Tuesday at Brainerd.

But for individual post-season competition — which features two singles and two doubles entries from each school — the Prowlers will go with Rustad and Holmes in singles, and doubles teams of Jury-Koppang and Bjorkman-Collins.

It seemed logical that Koppang would drop into doubles from his accustomed No. 3 singles position, but the move of Jury to doubles, which elevates Rustad as the Prowlers' top singles performer in the individual competition, was a surprise. And Holmes finds himself back into singles where he performed as a regular at No. 3 last year, but has played nearly all of the 1980 season at No. 2 doubles with Lundin, the odd-man out in the individual rotation.

Jury, ranked as the No. 2 Class AA tennis player in the state throughout the year behind Chris Coombs of Edina West, has played No. 1 singles for the Prowlers for the past four years. He was a Section 8 runner-up as a freshman in 1977 to Brace Helgeson of St. Cloud Tech, he won a Section 8 title as a sophomore in 1978 and was a winner again as a junior in 1979 when the event became the Region 8AA meet.

"We think that combination has an excellent chance of going a long ways," said Olson when asked why Jury will play doubles with Koppang, an addition to the team this year as a transfer student.

"The team comes first," explained Olson. "Our primary purpose is to get the team through. We look at the individual part of it as secondary."

Even with Jury playing doubles, the Prowlers have the top two seeds in singles for the North Half Region 8AA tournament, and barring any upsets, Rustad and Holmes could be ranked right with St. Cloud Apollo's Casey Merickel, the No. 3 ranked player in the state behind Coombs and Jury, in the Region 8AA seedings. And Rustad, who has played behind Jury for four straight years, could be a top challenger at the state level, even though he has been ignored by the coaches' association ratings this spring.

"We know Mitch can play with anybody in the state," offered Olson. "We know he should be ranked in the top five in the state right now."

Prowlers Need AA Wins

Thief River Falls will be trying to notch just its second win of the 1980 season over a Class AA size school Thursday when the Prowlers close out their regular season high school baseball schedule with a 4:30 p.m. game at Crookston.

Coach Charlie Cornell's ball club will take an 8-7 record into the contest, but that includes a 7-0 finish against smaller area Class A competition and just a 1-7 effort against larger Class AA schools.

Thief River Falls' unblemished mark against the Class A schools includes wins over Red Lake Falls 8-1 and 6-3, Bagley 14-4, Roseau 2-1 and 4-0, Mount St. Benedict 12-0 and Middle River 6-2.

The Prowlers' lone win against Class AA opposition was a 1-0 upset of Moorhead here back on April 28. Thief River Falls Class AA defeats have come at the hands of Bemidji 4-1 and 4-2, Moorhead 17-0, Fergus Falls 7-6 and 10-9, Grand Rapids 8-5 and Crookston 6-5. With the exception of Grand Rapids, those are all teams the Prowlers could be meeting next week in the North Half Region 8AA tournament at Detroit Lakes.

Still, the Prowlers could be a factor. Even though Thief River Falls is winless in five Northwest Athletic Conference starts, all five losses are by a combined total of just eight runs, including three one-run losses to Fergus Falls and Crookston.

Thief River Falls has shaken off a two-year batting slump; the Prowlers have three capable pitchers in Jeff Ulrich, Kelly Gutterud and Wayne Huseth; and they play well defensively. If the Prowlers can just capitalize on their scoring chances, they could be among the challengers at the North Half Region 8AA tournament next Wednesday and Friday, May 21 and 23, at Washington Park in Detroit Lakes.

WINNER TUESDAY IN the team portion of the North Half Region 8AA high school tennis tournament at Crookston, Thief River Falls will advance to the Region 8AA championship match Tues., May 20, facing the South Half representative at 4 p.m. at Brainerd for a berth in the 1980 Minnesota Class AA state tennis tournament. Thief River Falls team members include, front left to right, Paul Koppang, Tom Bjorkman and Mark Lundin; back row left to right, Bill Jury, Bill Holmes, Mitch Rustad, Jack Oseid and Mark Collins. Missing at the time of the picture was Dale Nelson. Individual portion of the North Half Region 8AA tournament will be played Thursday at Crookston beginning at 10 a.m., with the Region 8AA individual matches scheduled Wed., May 21, at Crookston.

North Half 8AA Tennis Title Won By Prowlers

A pair of identical 4-1 wins over Fergus Falls and Moorhead gave Thief River Falls the title Tuesday in the team portion of the North Half Region 8AA high school tennis tournament played at Crookston.

The top-seeded Prowlers received a first round bye in the seven-team affair while Fergus Falls eliminated Detroit Lakes 3-2, Crookston ousted Bemidji 4-1 and Moorhead blanked East Grand Forks 5-0.

In the semifinals Thief River Falls beat Fergus Falls and Moorhead handled Crookston by 4-1 scores, with the Prowlers matching that outcome in the finals against the Spuds.

"The kids played steady tennis," said Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson.

Singles players Bill Jury, Mitch Rustad and Paul Koppang, along with No. 2 doubles tandem of Bill Holmes and Mark Lundin, won everything in straight sets yesterday.

At No. 1 doubles, the Prowlers' Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins lost a pair of three-set decisions to Jim Sorlie and Scott Dently of Fergus Falls and Doug Mithun and Pete Tofte of Moorhead.

The tournament title advances the Prowlers to the 1980 Region 8AA championship match Tuesday at 4 p.m. at Brainerd. There the Prowlers will meet the South Half Region 8AA representatives for a berth in the Class AA state tennis tournament. The South Half team matches will be played Thursday at Brainerd, with St. Cloud Apollo leading the list of entries that also includes St. Cloud Tech, Alexandria, Little Falls, Brainerd, Sauk Rapids, Cold Spring-Rocori and Melrose.

Individual portion of the North Half Region 8AA tournament will be played Thursday at Crookston, beginning at 10 a.m. Top four singles players and top four doubles finishers will advance to the Region 8AA tournament where they'll be matched against their South Half counterparts Wed., May 21, at Brainerd. The South Half individual matches will be played Friday this week at Brainerd. Top two singles and top two doubles finishers in Region 8AA will join the team champion in the state tournament field May 28-31 in Bloomington.

Lincoln Golfers Wrapping Up Regular Season Play

The 22-team event featured Bemidji at 389, Alexandria 408, Thief River Falls 409, Fosston 411, Detroit Lakes 412, Grand Rapids 413, Ada 425, Moorhead and the Bemidji junior varsity 427, Roseau 428, International Falls 431, Little Falls and Brainerd 432, Wadena 435, East Grand Forks 436, Crookston 440, Fergus Falls 441, Bagley 451, Mahnomen 461, Walker 467, Park Rapids 475 and Cass Lake 497.

Thief River Falls' five team-counting scores included Wade Hoppe with a 78, Bob Fitzgerald 79, Dave Geatz 82, Tony Loeffler 85 and Jon Onkka 85. Jeff Imgrund shot an 86.

"Hoppe, Geatz and Fitzgerald have been taking turns shooting in the 70's for me," noted Thief River Falls coach Jack Boyer, "but they haven't been able to do it all together. We've got to get those three guys going together. If we can do that, we'll be tough to beat."

Last stretch of regular season competition for the Prowlers includes the Moorhead invitational Friday, the Northwest Athletic Conference meet at Fergus Falls Saturday and the Thief River Falls invitational Monday. All three meets start at 9:30 a.m. The 1980 Region 8AA meet will be played Wed., May 21, at Fergus Falls.

"It looks like we're starting to jell now," acknowledged Boyer. "It'll be between Bemidji, Alexandria, St. Cloud Tech and Thief River Falls," he predicted for the Region 8AA team title.

Fitzgerald has been the Prowlers' leader most of the year. "He's been fairly consistent," mentioned Boyer. "He hasn't had a bad day."

Hoppe struggled at the start, but yesterday's 78 continued his steady improvement. "Wade started with a 90-86-82, now he's down to 78," pointed out Boyer. "It looks like he's coming around. It was like a baseball game for him, he had to work his way out of a slump."

"Geatz," said Boyer, "is hitting the ball well, but he can't seem to drop his putts in. That was our problem today (at Bemidji), we couldn't drop our putts."

Prowlers Will Run In North Half 8AA Event

Boys and girls from Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Bemidji, Crookston, Moorhead, Park Rapids, Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls will compete Saturday in the North Half Region 8AA high school track meet at Alex Nemzek Field on the Moorhead State University campus.

It's a new arrangement for area runners who have began post-season competition at four-team sub region events for the past three years.

The meet starts at 10:30 a.m. with the field events — pole vault, long jump, high jump, shot put and discus — and the preliminary running events — 100 meter hurdles for girls, 110 meter high hurdles for boys and the 100 and 200 meter dashes.

Finals of the 3200 meter run will be held at 12:10 p.m. Following a lunch break the rest of the final will get underway, starting with the 100 meter hurdles for girls at 1:30 p.m. The final event, the 1600 meter relay, will start at 5:45.

Top eight individual finishers in each event, along with the top four teams in each relay race, will advance to the 1980 Region 8AA track meet, scheduled to be held Sat., May 24, at Alex Nemzek Field. The North Half qualifiers will be joined at the state tournament-qualifying Region 8AA meet by competitors from the South Half schools: Brainerd, Little Falls, Sauk Rapids, St. Cloud Tech, St. Cloud Apollo, Cold Spring-Rocori, Melrose and Alexandria.

Top two individuals and the first place relay teams at the Region 8AA meet will earn spots in the Class AA state track meet, scheduled to be held May 30-31 at Bloomington Lincoln high school.

Lincoln Boys Track Season Is Completed

Lincoln high school boys track team completed its 1980 regular season schedule with a pair of meets earlier this week, running in the Elks track-o-rama at Grand Forks Monday and hosting Warroad in a Tuesday dual.

Grand Forks Red River won Monday's multiple team event with 110 points, followed by Mayville-Portland and West Fargo 58, Langdon 57, Fargo Shanley and Grand Forks Central 56, East Grand Forks 54, Climax 40, Larimore 30, Edmore 18, Thief River Falls 17, Fisher 2, Finley-Sharon and Grafton 1, Midway and Northwood 0.

Thief River Falls place winners included Steve Hvidsten, third in the 110 hurdles in 16.86 and third in the 300 intermediate hurdles in 43.98; Keith Grochow, fourth in the high jump at 5-8; and Bruce Johnson, sixth in the 1600 meters in 4:40.

Warroad out-scored Thief River Falls 89½ to 77½ Tuesday.

The Warriors featured triple winner Tim Pearson who won the 100-yard dash in 11.5, took the 220 in 24.8 and claimed the 440 in 54.5.

Keith Grochow was a double winner for the Prowlers with a 5-6 high jump and a 9-6 pole vault.

Thief River Falls also won three relay races as Mark Broadwell, Steve Hvidsten, Kevin Grochow and Greg Ness ran the mile relay in 3:51; Jerry Kertz, Terry Johnson, Lon Aune and Steve Kruta ran the medley relay in 4:11; and Rob Jorstad, Scott Kezar, Jay Knutson and Tom Koppenhaver ran the 440 relay in 52.0.

Schedule
Thurs., May 15 — TRF at Crookston.

Kelly Gutterud and Wayne Huseth combined for a seven-hit shutout while Kevin Sanders and Jeff Ulrich drove in two runs apiece Tuesday as the Lincoln high school baseball team closed out its 1980 home schedule with a 4-0 victory over Roseau.

Thief River Falls, 8-7 for the year, will try to notch its first Northwest Athletic Conference victory Thursday when the Prowlers close out their schedule with a 4:30 p.m. game at Crookston. The Pirates lost a 4-1 decision at Bemidji Tuesday, assuring the Lumberjacks of at least an NWAC title tie this spring, their eleventh conference pennant over the last 12 years. Crookston and Fergus Falls still have an NWAC doubleheader to get in — time permitting.

Tuesday's game here was for the most part a series of missed opportunities for both teams as they left 23 runners stranded on base. Thief River Falls loaded the bases without scoring in the second and third inning and Roseau did likewise in the third. The Rams' top of the first was the only 1-2-3 inning of the afternoon.

Thief River Falls, after loading the bases with nobody out and failing to score in the third, finally broke the string of frustration with two runs in the fourth. Tom Drury, who reached base on a fielder's choice, made it to second when the Rams' Alan Desrosier messed up a potential double play ball hit by Sanders, and both runners moved up a base when pitcher Dave Goos tossed the ball into center field trying to pick Drury off second. Ulrich came through with a two-out ground ball single through the left side of the infield for two runs.

The 2-0 edge was doubled to 4-0 the next inning when Jim Hallamek walked and Paul Drees beat out an infield single to start the fifth.

Huseth, who replaced Gutterud on the mound to start the fourth, put down a perfect sacrifice bunt to advance both runners and they scored when Sanders stroked a long double into the left field corner.

Thief River Falls beat Roseau 2-1 earlier this season.

Lake Agassiz Softball Meet Slated June 1

Annual Lake Agassiz men's slow pitch invitational softball tournament will be played Sun., June 1, in Thief River Falls.

Entry fee for the ASA-sanctioned event is $40. Tournament manager is Dennis Bendickson, 225 So. Spruce, Thief River Falls. For additional information call 681-6922 or 681-2181.

Northmen Will Host NCC Meet On Thursday

A scaled-down version of the Northland community college invitational golf meet will be staged Thursday on the Thief River Country Club course beginning at 12 noon. It's the only home appearance of the year for the Northmen, but it'll be a small field because teams are reluctant to drive this far to compete in a meet, said Northland coach Al Adams.

Northland was a 311-317 loser to the Bemidji State University junior varsity in a Monday dual at the Bemidji Town and Country Club.

Gary Johnson of Northland was the day's top performer with a one-under-par 71 over the 18 holes. He turned in rounds of 36-35. Tom Zieman of Bemidji, who graduated from International Falls high school after playing for a year in Thief River Falls, was one shot back at 72.

Rest of Northland's four-man team score included Dave Hanson, 38-42 for 80, Charlie Boyer 38-42 for 80 and Jeff Reese 43-43 for 86.

Thursday's meet here will close out the 1980 regular season schedule for the Northmen who will golf in the combination MJCAA state and NJCAA Region 13 meets Tuesday and Wednesday next week at Monticello.

TRF Softball Season Opens On Tuesday

Softball got an early jump on summer in Thief River Falls Tuesday as the men's slow pitch softball association began its 1980 season with four doubleheaders.

Tom Ronchetti hit two home runs to lead Schumacher's Tireland to a 16-4 win over Lon's Restaurant & Pub; Ken Kesterke homered as Great Northwest Agency defeated The Club 11-6; and the E. T. Bees put just three base hits to good use in knocking off Sparby-Johnson 11-3.

Elsewhere, First Northwestern Insurance routed Dallmann Athletic 13-1, Hardees edged Consumer's Co-op 8-7, Thorp Loan-KKAQ drubbed Lon's Restaurant & Pub 12-2 and Dallmann Athletic outlasted Thorp Loan-KKAQ 13-12 in eight innings.

DNR Funds Go State Counties For Land Use

Payments totalling nearly $5 million have been sent to Minnesota counties by the Department of Natural Resources in compliance with legislation taking effect for the first time, it was announced this week.

Under the legislation, the department is required to compensate counties at the rate of $3 per acre for all lands acquired by the DNR for conservation purposes and which were taken off the tax rolls.

Counties receive other payments for state owned lands within their boundaries. The compensation rate on lands not removed from the tax rolls by state acquisition is 37½ cents per acre and on tax forfeited lands administered by the county it is 75 cents per acre.

The seven counties receiving the largest payments in lieu of taxes in the most recent allocation were St. Louis, $924,878; Koochiching, $559,413; Itasca, $371,524; Aitkin, $278,136; Beltrami, $264,786; Cass, $258,364; Hubbard, $229,077.

Under the law, 40 per cent of the payments the county receive must be used to reduce property taxes.

THE BALL BOUNCED away from Middle River second baseman Scott McKeever as Thief River Falls' Jim Hallamek legged out a first inning double during Monday's high school baseball game played on the fairgrounds diamond. Hallamek, a freshman designated hitter, lined a sharp drive just inside the bag at third base for an RBI hit and turned it into a double on the play during the Prowlers' four-run first inning. Thief River Falls went on to win the game 6-2.

Prowlers Strike Early In 6-2 Win Over Skippers

Thief River Falls struck early, banging out five base hits — including three doubles — in the first inning and scoring four runs that provided the Prowlers with a 6-2 high school baseball win over Middle River Monday on the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

It was the first baseball meeting between the two teams since 1953, but it was a good match-up. The Skippers, 8-4 going into the game, are recognized as a Region 8A contender. And outside of the first inning they played the Prowlers tough.

Kevin Sanders started it with a lead-off double to left field in the bottom of the first. Then after two outs, the Prowlers cracked four consecutive base hits for the four runs as Mark Schmitke singled to center field, Mark Harder dropped a double into left field and Jim Hallamek put one inside the third base bag and legged out a double.

"Thief River Falls has a good ball club," mentioned Middle River coach Steve Holmes afterwards. "They came out hitting."

Left-hander Monte Peterson, the only senior in the Middle River line-up, was roughed up at the start on the mound, and Holmes admitted that wasn't anything new.

"He's always been a slow starter," noted Holmes. "He's a good pitcher, but if he has trouble it's always at the start of the game."

"We hit the ball," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell. "I thought we played well."

Eleven Thief River Falls base hits pushed the Prowlers' total to 31 hits in their last three games. Youth served the Prowlers Monday as Hallamek, a freshman designated hitter, went 3-for-3 with two doubles and an RBI, and Sanders, a sophomore rightfielder, went 3-for-4 with a double, a triple and an RBI.

Middle River closed the gap to 4-2 with single runs in the second and fifth innings. Gene Kaml walked in the second, went to third on Steve Bengston's single to right and scored when Thief River Falls pitcher Jeff Ulrich was called for a balk on a pick-off play. Peterson reached base on a two-out error in the fifth and later scored when Delray Ness put on opposite field single into left.

Thief River Falls iced it, though, with two runs in the sixth as Kelly Guttered reached base on an error and scored on Sanders' triple to deep left field, with Sanders scoring on the second of three sixth inning errors for the Skippers.

Post-season play for both teams starts next week. The Prowlers will compete in the North Half Region 8AA tournament at Detroit Lakes beginning Wednesday while the Skippers play in the District 32A tournament, scheduled to start Monday.

The Skippers' tournament chances? "It's really hard to say," confessed Holmes. "We're so up and down. We've beaten some good teams and lost to some others we should have beaten. District 32 has more balance this year than its had for several years. If Huglen (injured Roseau standout Mark Huglen) comes back, it'll make a big difference."

State Parks Will Feature Open House

All Minnesota state parks, with one exception, will be holding open house on Sun., June 1. It will be the one day in the year when visitors may enter in a vehicle without paying an entrance fee.

The one exception to the June 1 observance will be Forestville state park in southeastern Minnesota which will be holding open house on May 10.

Admitting visitors in vehicles to the parks without charge one day a year is authorized by state law. This year's June 1 date will coincide with state park and recreation week June 1-7 as proclaimed by Governor Quie, and also with national park and recreation month; designated as the month of June this year.

DNR state park officials said the free entrance will offer many persons who might otherwise not visit a park a chance to drive in and enjoy the scenic and recreation opportunities available and to view the improvements made in facilities during recent years.

Although entrance to the parks will be free during the open house day, the usual charges will be made for camping, boat rental and other services.

The U.S. Department of Labor obtained commitments from employers to repay $9.3 million to victims of illegal employment discrimination during the 1979 fiscal year.

Ontario Places Boat Limits On Lake of the Woods Anglers

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources warns anglers that the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources just announced that it has placed a "boat limit" of 18 walleyes on non-residents using Ontario waters of Lake of the Woods.

A news release from the Ontario agency says, "In any boat on these waters where three or more non-residents are angling the aggregate number of walleyes that may be taken and possessed by such non-residents is 18."

Purpose of the new regulations, says the news release, "is to reduce the total angling catch of the walleye in Lake of the Woods, where the walleye fishery is showing signs of stress from over-exploitation."

The DNR also reports that it has prohibited angling in certain locations in northeastern Minnesota.

This action was taken, said officials, to protect concentrations of spawning walleyes.

Latest word from the DNR is that fishing will not be allowed until May 24 in the following places:

+All of Rat Root lake in Koochiching county and that portion of the Rat Root river between Rat Root lake and Black Bay.

In addition, fishing will be prohibited until May 31 in the Cross river from Gunflint Lake to the bridge at the Gunflint Trail.

Earlier the DNR announced that a part of the St. Louis river scheduled to open May 3 would be closed to fishing until May 17.

It appears that some other locations, where fishing has often been delayed in recent years, will be opening on schedule on May 17 thanks to an early warm spring.

Fishing Contest Sponsored By St. Paul Paper

Saturday is the Minnesota fishing opener and the starting gun for the world's largest fishing contest, sponsored for the 28th year by the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press.

Once again the focus is on family fishing fun in the heart of one of the world's finest fishing areas, with $23,000 worth of merchandise prizes to add to the enjoyment of the catch.

During the 17 weekly contests which begin Sat., May 17, and continue through Sun., Sept. 14, the newspapers will award 266 merchandise prizes. Sunday midnights will be the dividing lines between the weekly contests.

Every fish entered during the 17 weeks will be eligible at the close of the season for the super sweepstakes drawing, which will award the biggest single prize of all—a complete fishing package consisting of a 16-foot boat, electric start outboard motor and a trailer. This prize package is valued at more than $4,000 and will provide years of fishing enjoyment.

Largest muskie, northern, walleye, crappie, sunfish and bass entries of the season will each earn a grand prize 7.5 h.p. outboard motor.

All prize packages include a depth finder, refreshment holder, lures, sinker selection and a personalized champion's award certificate. In addition, first prize packages include wildlife prints, fish and game forecaster, one-year subscription to Field & Stream magazine and a reel; second prize packages include a one-year subscription to Minnesota Sportsman magazine, fish & game forecaster and a rod.

Nearly 500 resorts, bait shops, boat landings and sport shops will receive big fish headquarters certificates in 1980 for their part in making available official entry blanks (supplied by the St. Paul Dispatch - Pioneer Press) for the winning fisherpersons.

Official announcement of prize winners is made each week in the sports pages of the St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press.

Official entry blanks — which must be used — list all rules on the back of each blank. They may be obtained at resorts, sports shops and bait shops which display the green, white and black "world's largest fishing contest" posters. Judges of the contest recommend that anglers get their entry blanks before they leave for the lake or river. Tuck a few in your tackle box.

To be eligible, the fish must be legally caught in Minnesota, its boundary waters or any of the 24 western Wisconsin counties listed on the back of each entry blank.

Individuals may enter as often as they wish, but only one entry per fish. No more than one member of an immediate family will be eligible for any first, second or third prize. Additional winning-size fish will win honorable mention awards.

Northland Tennis Team Enters MJCAA State Tennis Tourney

Winless in seven dual meet decisions, the Northland community college tennis team will compete in the 1980 Minnesota state junior college athletic association (MJCAA) state tennis tournament Friday and Saturday at St. Cloud.

"Northland's season to date has been somewhat frustrating," mentioned first-year coach John Helley, pointing to a shortage of players, a crowded springtime activity schedule at the school and eligibility problems that struck down several players.

Northland losses this spring have come at the hands of Willmar 6-3 and 6-3; Brainerd 6-3 and 6-3; Fergus Falls 5-4 and 5-4; and Hibbing 5-4.

Helley listed his MJCAA state tournament line-up and described the players in the following manner:

No. 1 singles — Chris Kays, "most talented; No. 2 singles — Mike Kertz, "most consistent; No. 3 singles — Terry Beich, "most wins; No. 4 singles — Julie Easton, "strongest, most endurance and prettiest; No. 5 singles — Greg Torfin, "most willing to learn and participate; No. 6 singles — Russ Sparby, "most dedicated and most humerous."

Trap League Scores Are Reported Mon.

Four 25-straights and three matches decided by one bird highlighted the second week of 1980 Thief River Falls trap league shooting Monday at the Marshallton Gun Club.

Turning in perfect scores were Warren Hanestad, Peterson-Biddick; Mert Wilson, Wilson Brothers; Jim Heckroth, Marshallton Gun Club; and Duane Holland, Northern State Bank.

Holland's straight lifted Northern State Bank to a 117-116 win over Hartz Wholesale while Pizza Hut edged Hible's Standard Station 117-116 and Sjoberg Cable TV got by Miller Insurance 117-116.

Elsewhere it was Peterson-Biddick 114, H & B Oil 81; Wilson Brothers 117, Thune-Upham 97; The Times 118, Marshallton Gun Club 112; Pepsi-Cola 103, First Northwestern State Bank Southside 100; Arctic Spirit 111, Northland Realty 107; Triple J Trap Co. 117, KKAQ 108; Viking Varmints 118, Service Master 116; and Arctic 119, Auto Body Repair 113.

New Spawning Area Built By Mille Lacs Lake

A 350 acre northern pike spawning area near Lake Mille Lacs is finally a reality after more than 15 years of efforts by the Department of Natural Resources and Isle Sportsmen's club, it was announced recently.

"The project would not have been accomplished without the cooperation and continued interest of the Isle Sportsmen's club," said DNR fisheries manager Richard Hassinger of Brainerd. "Their continued efforts have kept this project alive over the last 15 years."

The project began in 1964 with installation of a water control structure in the culvert by the highway department. The control structure was operated for a year before it was found out additional land had to be acquired. This year the land acquisition was finally completed so that the spawning facility could resume operating.

It is planned to install stop logs this spring, backing up a pool and flooding vegetation for spawning, said Hassinger. If too few northern pike enter the area from Mille Lacs, additional broodstock will be added to the impoundment.

After the eggs hatch and the young of the year northern pike begin to move downstream to Mille Lacs, the dam boards will be removed to allow the small fish to enter the lake.

"The project should contribute considerable numbers of northern pike to Mille Lacs Lake," Hassinger said.

Cheerleaders, along with springtime athletes in track and baseball were also recognized at the banquet. Marshall County Central principal Dave Kragness served as master of ceremonies.

TAGGED OUT BY Thief River Falls catcher Jim Nyland after being picked off third base by pitcher Jeff Ulrich, Middle River base runner Gene Kaml nevertheless scored in the second inning of Monday's high school baseball game played here when Ulrich was charged with a balk on the play. Thief River Falls first baseman Mark Schmitke ran in to back up the play at the plate. The Prowlers beat the Skippers 6-2.

LHS Suspension, No-Smoking Program Starts

Work projects include such things as cleaning windows, washing cars or cleaning ditches. Assignments are set up through the probation office, the Pennington county sheriff's department, the Thief River Falls police department and the courts.

Working areas are periodically patrolled to make sure the students are doing their assignments.

In some cases, identification of the students have to be checked before they are issued a written citation, since some students at the school are 18. And, if identification cards are not available, the police department can check the validity of a student's age through computer cards.

Since the program began April 1, approximately 24 students have been arrested," according to Jim Haugen, juvenile officer of the Thief River Falls police department.

"We have received mainly favorable comments from the public concerning the program," Froschheiser said. "Even some of the students who are not connected with the program think it is a good one. But there are still problems with some of the laws. There should be violations charged against persons who sell cigarettes to those under 18. But with vending machines this is almost impossible. And, I feel it would be an unfair enforcement to retailers in the city.

"Eventually we plan to have a genuine enforcement all over town," he said.

The program is a cooperative effort between the police department and the school district, he emphasized.

In conjunction with the no-smoking program enforced in the city by law enforcement members, Lincoln high school has begun an in-house suspension program to keep students in school.

This program was begun approximately three weeks ago, according to Terry Soine, assistant principal at Lincoln, and will be evaluated at the end of the year by Frank Hamerlinck, principal of the school, Soine, and by staff members, to determine whether or not it will continue.

Students are recommended to the in-house suspension room by referrals from either himself or Hamerlinck, Soine said.

A definition in a recent school bulletin has explained "In-House Suspension" as "a type of suspension for normal classes that is housed and supervised within the school building. Eligibility for this suspension is a result of any violation of school policy, disruptive and incorrigible misbehavior. Referral and time in in-house suspension will be determined by Mr. Hamerlinck and Mr. Soine."

"The program is initiated by the school and is enforced within the school," Soine said.

Students in the in-house suspension are allowed two bathroom breaks during the day, and they either bring their noon lunch, or a lunch is brought to them as they are not to leave the room or speak to another student while confined to the room.

"We have as many as four in a room right now," Soine said.

An aide delivers daily assignments to them which they work on throughout the day.

"The students are still in school; it's just that they are not in the classrooms," Soine said.

A certified teacher stays with the students at all times. They are not counted as absent and are kept in school during regular school hours.

"We have encountered situations where some students want to be in the rooms to catch up on their homework," Soine said. "The idea is not a new one, although it is defined by different schools as different things. I feel it is one of the better things we've tried.

"At the end of the year, pros and cons of the program will be studied. If it has not proved to be successful, we'll try something else," he said.

and local taxes.

I am married to the former Ruth Brodin, a lifelong resident of Thief River Falls. We have a son, Baird, who attends school in this district, and also have a daughter, Anna Marie, who the district is now responsible to educate.

My qualifications begin with the fact that I have been a member of the board of education of School District 564 for six years. During this time, I have served as clerk and I have been chairman of the board of education for the past four years.

In light of the extremely complicated issues which have faced boards of education in the past few years and presently face the board of education of School District 564, there is a need to retain experienced people in positions on the board of education. This experience makes it possible for the board members to deal more knowledgeably with problems that they have experienced in the past.

I have practiced law in Thief River Falls since 1968, when I received my J.D. degree from the University of North Dakota law school. I also hold a B.A. degree in business administration from Bemidji state university. Presently I am a member of the Thief River Falls Camp of Gideons International and a member of the Evangelical Covenant church of Thief River Falls.

I believe that it is important to look at the positive aspects of education which have been seen and experienced by the students in School District 564. In the past few years this school district has added substantial new facilities to the area vocational technical institute to provide students with better facilities in which to study and obtain their education. It has also been possible for this district to provide a program in the middle school for children who are mentally handicapped. It has also been possible for this district to add a program this past year to provide for supplemental education for the academically able student. These are just three of the many positive things that have transpired within this district in the past few years.

If we, as residents of School District 564, are going to provide the education we want our children to have, there must be a continuing effort on the part of the citizens in the school district, teachers, administrators and board members to plan and program for this education. Each step of this planning process must be taken separately and we must continue to unite for the best interests of the students on this school district in providing them with a quality education.

organizations and held offices in many of them.

I was president and secretary of a dorm council, president of the inter-dorm council and the Minnesota State College and University Residence Hall association. For two years, I was music coordinator for the college. I was also appointed by the president of the university (one of two students state wide) to negotiate a state-wide food service contract.

I came to Thief River Falls in 1976 and served as the director of the Pennington county youth resource center until 1978. For the past two years, I have been employed as a technical writer for Arctic Enterprises. I am married and have one son and am an active member of St. Bernard's church. I am a past president of the local Toastmasters club and have recently been appointed area 3 Governor for District 12. I am also a registered basketball official and have officiated high school and college basketball since 1973. Many of the candidates have mentioned that they are concerned about a specific problem or two in the school district. We, in the past, have had board members who are concerned, very concerned, about specific problems and concerns and have worked diligently to solve those problems. But what has happened as a result is that they have blinded themselves to the total current and future needs of the school district. Also, in the past, some board members after being elected, and much to my dismay, felt it was their school district and have pursued their own interests and not our school district and pursued our interests.

I am close enough yet far enough removed from the school district to maintain objectivity in my work on the school board. I will work diligently to preserve the total seeds (both present and future) of our school district.

Some of my concerns are: Adequate facilities, school discipline, the drug problem, cutting of important programs, teacher morale, a balanced budget, energy consumption and negotiations. I will also listen to and work to resolve our concerns. Here is how I stand of some of the issues:

(1) The Lincoln building issue should not be an issue in 1980. It should have been an issue in 1970. Planning must occur before condemnation. In addition to Lincoln, the next school board must look at Knox, Northrop and St. Hilaire and plan for the future.

(2) When negotiating salaries, we must remember that we are sealing with people and not only numbers. My previous experience in negotiations should be an asset to the board.

(3) The drug problem is not new to our area, but a lack of foresight and action has promoted it to an issue in 1980. Purely, drug education does not solve the problem.

(4) Energy consumption means dollars spent. Are you aware that the amount of fuel used to heat our buildings went up almost 20 per cent in the last year? Add to that the fact that the price of fuel has gone up and we have a major concern which the board must look closely at.

If elected, I will be firm and honest at all times and I will work diligently for our total district needs, both present and future.

hope to be able to work cooperatively with the board and school staff for the benefit of the students. The children's benefit should be the first priority in decision making.

There are many issues facing our schools at the present time. I do not claim to have all the solutions, however, I feel I can do a good job of taking a look at the options available and together choosing the best option to solve a problem.

I care about our schools and the children in them. As a member of the school board, I would, to the best of my ability, make decisions that would be in the best interest of the children.

Thief River Falls AVTI agricultural management department. My second son is attending AVTI in Thief River Falls and taking up carpentry. One daughter is in Franklin middle school and the other in first grade at Washington school. My wife is a graduate of Lincoln high school. At present she is a housewife but she has taught school for several years.

I have felt there has been a growing lack of harmony between the board of education, administration, teachers and the employees of School Dist. 564 for several years. For the betterment of the education of our children we are going to have to strive for stronger communications between school board members and employees. I believe that all contracts should be settled by the fiscal year and not drawn out for months.

Maintenance is a major item to all school property and buildings. For example, while I was supervisor of transportation, the buses passed state inspection with a 99.92 per cent perfection. I felt we had a very good maintenance record.

I feel the maintenance of buildings is a big issue. To cut down the high cost of building today we must keep the buildings we have in a sound condition.

If I am elected I will work toward honesty to employees and show the taxpayer where their dollars are being spent. Taking all this into consideration, I hope it will bring about better understanding, better communications and better working conditions for the education of our young people and the building of a stronger community.

Thief River Falls.

I see some very important issues coming before the board of education in our district in the near future. I will list a few for you and they are not necessarily ranked as to their importance.

Housing of secondary students is a major issue. We see new facilities for law enforcement and law violators, we see new housing for the fire department, also a new face lifting of our county courthouse. I don't deny these improvements for very necessary functions of our community, but we better take a good look at Lincoln high school. Remodel of rebuild is the question. If reelected, I would push for a conclusion to this critical issue.

I would feel remiss as a board member if the voters were not first given an opportunity to vote on a new building. I would give leadership as to the site, costs and design. I believe this is an issue to be decided by the voters. To completely renovate and remodel the present building is another alternative. To update to energy and handicapped specifications and codes will take more planning and costing, if such a decision were to be voted in. A great many questions needs to be answered before either issue is brought to the voters.

For the past two years, I have been very involved in the area of special education. This portion of the district's curriculum provides services for the education of the handicapped students in our district. I feel our education of the handicapped in our district is second to none in this geographic area of any district in our state.

Our program is presently supervised by the Northwest Regional Interdistrict council. There are presently both positive and negative views on this method of service to our students. The school board is on record and is advertising for an accredited person to come in and coordinate all of our special education programs. I am very much in favor of this. When the administration of this district can put in place a superior method of special education or equal to what is now in place, I will vote for it.

We must maintain and upgrade programs with opportunities for all children. I am in favor of these programs as long as the needs of the children are met and the requirements of federal and state laws are upheld. If any voter would like to talk to me, I am available at 681-7331 or 964-5530. Please go to the polling places and vote on May 20. Thank you.

1. The proposed 1980 levy would be in an amount equal to 1 mill times the most recent adjusted assessed valuation of the taxable property of the District, which when applied to that valuation would raise $20,759.00 in the first year.

3. The estimated net unappropriated fund balance in the operating funds of the District on June 30, 1980, is $201,513.00.

All persons desiring to give testimony for and against the proposed levy may appear and be heard by the School Board at the time and place stated above.

Dorm Rates To Increase At U Of M Campus

It will cost a little more to live in dormitories next year on the University of Minnesota Twin Cities campus. Room and board rates for the eight dormitories will increase from $58 to $62 per quarter.

Chuck Lawrence, associate director of university housing, said the residence hall system is self-supporting and receives no money from the legislature. Rate changes reflect the impact of increases in payroll, food, fuel and electricity costs, he said. Last year the rates increased by six per cent.

Lawrence said that while the rate increase is 9.78 per cent jump, payroll and fringe benefit costs are expected to increase about 10 per cent. Fuel and gas are predicted to cost 22 per cent more during the year and electricity and water are each likely to go up 20 per cent.

Although food costs are expected to rise as high as 12 per cent, the housing office budgeted only an eight per cent increase because of savings expected through a food cost control program, he said.

Rates at all dorms include 21 meals per week. Rate for a double room, the choice of the largest number of students, will be $657 a quarter. Other dormitory rates will range from $636.50 a quarter for a triple room in Sanford hall to $831 for a single room in Middlebrook hall.

Spring occupancy in the 4,557 dormitory spaces is at 99 per cent, Lawrence said.

CCC Program Remains Under Ag Committee

The Senate Wednesday adopted an amendment authored by Senator Rudy Boschwitz which will keep the Commodity Credit corporation price support program under agriculture control.

The amendment was adopted during consideration of the 1981 budget resolution. Earlier in the day, Boschwitz met with the agriculture committee in special session to garner support for the measure.

"Transferring control of this program from the agriculture committee to the appropriations committee was not even debated in the budget committee," Boschwitz said. "It was added as a technical amendment by the staff to the committee. That supposedly simple amendment would be a disaster to the nation's farm program.

"There is no way that the appropriations committee can estimate in advance the participation in the farm program and the price levels for which support loans would be made," Boschwitz said. "The program would fail completely if we were to require farmers to make a commitment on set aside acres and then fail to meet the commitment made by the federal government to make the loans," he said.

"The amendment will maintain agriculture committee authority to set the loan rates for those participating in the voluntary set aside program," Boschwitz said. "This means that farmers who apply and qualify for the program as authorized will be assured of receiving their loans. That assurance could not be made if the appropriations committee was given control of the program."

Drought Could Affect Area Farms, Gardens

Prolonged dry spell of the last three weeks is a mixed blessing for farmers, according to Donald Baker, a University of Minnesota soil scientist.

"Soil moisture generally is short in the seedbed," Baker said, "but farmers have seldom had such good weather for planting. Normally, because of adverse weather, they have all they can do to get things done before it's almost too late to get the crop in," he said.

Nevertheless, the drought that was in its fourth week last week has prompted some northwestern Minnesota farmers to halt planting of shallow-rooted small grains in extremely dry areas.

"I suspect that in any area with coarse or light-textured soil, things are going to be really desperate," Baker said. "A dry spell is especially threatening to crops and vegetation with roots close to the surface. In many cases a few more days (without rain) is about the limit for some of this stuff."

But in the southern one-third of the state, sub-soil moisture is in good supply, Baker said. "Once the seedling gets into the moist sub-soil, I don't think there will be any problem. It can carry on for quite awhile before additional rain is required." Southern Minnesota corn is seeded more deeply than most grains.

Dry weather systems from the north and west continue to bring arid conditions across Minnesota. Many farmers are equipped with irrigation equipment which can supplement rain, but, as Baker pointed out, it costs money for electricity to power giant sprinkers, and takes fuel to pull them into place.

"Under the current margins that farmers are up against (due to relatively low grain prices), any time they can save money and let nature help them, that has to be good," he said.

Meanwhile, for the backyard gardener, it's still fairly early for spring planting of most vegetables, said Mike Zins of the agricultural extension service. It is easier in town to counter dry weather conditions with a garden hose on most small plots. Zins advises a good soaking right after seeding.

"It isn't quite as critical in the preparation and the planting as it is later on," Zins said. "There's probably adequate soil moisture down in the ground unless dirt is sandy and doesn't retain water well," he said.

Zins advises the home gardener to proceed with planting on schedule. "The plants really don't take a lot of moisture until they get a little leaf surface. Things that were planted earlier, say peas and radishes, may require additional watering if it's really dry. We usually look at about an inch a week."

Established plants such as trees and shrubs, "should be okay," Zins said, unless they were planted as recently as last fall. "I would give them a good drink of water," he said. "But anything that has bee in the ground for a year or two and has an established root system should be all right. Anything that's been transplanted this spring should be watered heavily every few days."

OUR TRADITIONS

Father's Day

Modern American fathers can thank Mrs. John Dodd for Father's Day, devised to thank her father for bringing her up.

It has been traditional to particularly honor your father on the third Sunday in June since 1910. In that year, Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Washington, arranged a special church service for her father, a Civil War veteran who had devotedly raised six motherless children.

The idea became increasingly popular—particularly among fathers—until today, dads are showered with gifts: ties, cologne, slippers, fishing gear, and much more. One gift many people are pleased to receive is a good Kentucky Bourbon. Part of the pleasure is that it's a gift that can be shared. One popular Bourbon is I. W. Harper Gold Medal Kentucky Bourbon, created in 1872 and enjoyed in 80 countries.

In other countries—among the Ainus of Japan, and in parts of Africa, for instance—Dad would have his special day right after his child was born. He would take to his bed immediately and stay there for periods ranging from a few days to a month. Then a mother would return to her daily chores as soon as possible.

The reason for the father's behavior? It was believed that the newborn child was affected by whatever the father did. If the father worked, hunted, chopped wood or rowed a canoe during the first days of his child's life, the baby might be dangerously weakened by all that strenuous exercise.

Logically then, concerned fathers would follow the safest course and do nothing.

Fathers in this country wouldn't want to take life so easy right after the child's born. They're too busy handing out cigars.

Sunlamps May Harm Eyes, Say MN. Physicians

With the first hint of spring in the air, many people are eager to get a head start on that summer tan under sunlamps — at home, at health clubs or in the fashionable new "tanning huts."

However, serious damage to your eyes can result from even short exposure of the eyes to these sunlamps without adequate protection, according to the Minnesota Association of Ophthalmology (MAO) — medical eye physicians.

"Your eyes are quite vulnerable to the concentrated ultraviolet radiation from sunlamps," says Raymond C. Croissant, M.D., Minneapolis, MAO president. "Looking directly at a sunlamp, even for a few seconds, can result in a painful condition known as photokeratitis. This causes the eye to burn and feel sandy or gritty under the lid. Medical treatment is necessary."

A longer direct exposure can actually scar the cornea of the eye and could permanently impair vision.

Ophthalmologists regularly treat significantly more patients with burned eyes in the spring, when getting started on that tan is fashionable, notes Dr. Croissant. "Many of these eye injuries are serious. All are avoidable through simple precautions."

The federal food and drug administration (FDA) reports more than 8,000 persons were treated in hospital emergency rooms alone in 1979 from sunlamp-related injuries. Most of these injuries were skin burns and eye irritations. The FDA has also established new safety requirements for sunlamps — in homes or in tanning huts, health clubs and spas — which mandate protective goggles, among other provisions.

"Only these goggles can properly shield the eyes from severe burns and vision damage," says Dr. Croissant. "Sunglasses can not handle such concentrated ultraviolet radiation and, certainly, cotton balls do not do the job."

One of the ophthalmologists' biggest problems comes when people refrain from using the goggles because they don't want a white ring around their eyes, on an otherwise evenly tanned face.

"The alternative may be serious vision damage, or puffy, burned eyelids," warns Dr. Croissant. He suggests, "Eye make-up can cover the whiteness. But be sure these cosmetics are removed before the next session under the sunlamp. The FDA says some cosmetics contain oil which can cause special sensitivity to radiation."

Some medications can also increase sensitivity to the radiation, Dr. Croissant notes. "So don't hesitate to check with your physician before using a sunlamp if you are taking medication or believe you may be particularly sensitive to ultraviolet."

Some experts consider one minute in a tanning hut equal to upwards of an hour in outside sunlight. "So, above all, use a sunlamp which comes with clear instructions recommending distance and exposure times.

Picture Pretty

Pretty as a picture, isn't she? She looks "downright" angelic. Yet, five minutes from now, she may be a little bundle of fury!

Children change faster than the wind. They haven't learned to hide their feelings. But while grown-ups may present a better camouflage to the world, there are few of us without inner conflicts. And these conflicts can be serious.

It would be a lonely world if we had to keep all our problems to ourselves.

We don't. God never intended that we should have to solve all our difficulties single-handed. Remember, He established His church on earth for US. In that Church we will find understanding fellowship, and the faith to work out our own destinies.

Take your problems to Church. Pray that you will find a solution to them. Talk them over with your minister. And what seems a maze today may become a straight road tomorrow.

Advance Planning Can Lower Tax Bill

If you earned more than $25,000 last year, your tax bill was probably the biggest bill you paid all year. If you want to lower this year's tax bill, now is the time to start planning for it.

Tax planning is impossible without well-defined personal financial goals: knowing exactly how much you earn and spend, and having a clear idea of how you plan to use your money in the future.

Minnesota society of certified public accountants advises you to keep up to date on your finances because a good deal of your spending has tax ramifications. Bills, receipts, appraisals, and cancelled checks should be kept in a simple, handy and orderly system. Set up a record book with current totals broken down into the categories on your federal income tax return. If you stay organized throughout the year, CPAs say, it won't be such a chore to prepare your 1980 federal income tax return.

Begin now by filling out a Form 1040 with your 1980 anticipated income, deductions, exemptions and credits. Tax rates for 1980 will probably be unchanged, so figure out what your tax bill is likely to be.

To reduce your taxes you can lump every available deduction into this year, or you can defer as much of your income as possible until future years — or you can do both this year. That might make next year's tax bill correspondingly higher, but you will have had the use of the money in the meantime. For instance, if you lump deductions into alternate years, you might be able to get, say, $4,000 of deductions in odd years and $2,000 in even years. This way, you idemize deductions in the odd years and deduct the zero bracket amount ($3,400 for a joint return) in even years. Otherwise, you would have $3,000 of deductions in each year and would never get any tax benefit from them.

Think about deductions first. If you will need a car in the future, buy it in the year when that substantial sales tax deduction will do the most good. To add to the usual medical deductions, perhaps you can prepay 1981 medical expenses for an elderly parent in a nursing home.

In planning deductible contributions, remember that a $1,000 contribution lowers your tax burden by $500 if you are in the 50 per cent marginal tax bracket. If you donate appreciated property, your contribution may cost even less, so ask your tax advisor whether it is better to sell the property and contribute the proceeds to charity, or to give the property itself.

The "points" paid on a secured mortgage or home improvement loan are deductible in the year paid, so if you plan to buy a home this year, you may want to pay this amount by separate check rather than having the bank withhold it from the loan proceeds.

If you pay estimated state income taxes, you may want to pay the final installment in December instead of January, so it will be deductible on your 1980 federal income tax return. This can also apply to accelerated payment of accrued property taxes, although you cannot deduct tax payments made to a mortgage company and held in escrow (until they are paid to the taxing authority).

There may be deductions to consider in all plans you make during the year, CPAs say. Can you possibly combine a vacation with a tax-deductible business or house-hunting trip? Will you change jobs this year? Do you plan to support a foreign student in your home? (You may be able to claim expenses of up to $50 a month as a charitable contribution.) If deductions will not be substantial this year, consider postponing payment of some bills, until next year when the deductions will mean bigger tax savings.

Now take a look at exemptions for the coming year. Are you supporting a parent who does not qualify as a dependent because he earns more than $1,000 from interest or dividends? Perhaps that parent will consider transferring his funds into tax-exempt bonds, so that you can claim him as a dependent. If you have a multiple support agreement with other members of your family and you alternate the exemption for a parent each year, plan with them ahead of time as to who would most benefit by the exemption this year.

What about credits for child care, energy-saving home improvements and political contributions? Like deductions, credits can be ganged up — and remember, credits are subtracted directly from your tax bill while deductions reduce your total income before the tax is figured. Thus, credits mean more money in your pocket.

If your year is likely to be limited in deductions, credits or exemptions, plan to reduce your tax bill by deferring some of your income. The most obvious way, if you qualify, is to invest some of your income in an Individual Retirement Account or a Keogh Plan. Interest on municipal bonds is tax-exempt so you may want to invest money there, depending upon your marginal tax bracket. Ask your tax advisor about gifts, trusts, and interest-free loans to family members, and see if you can transfer the tax burden to their lower income tax bracket.

It has been estimated that three out of four families pay more federal income tax than necessary, so it pays to plan ahead for your tax bill. Always keep your current financial situation in mind, CPAs say, and keep abreast of constantly changing tax regulations, so that you will know how to make decisions and choices that will affect your tax picture — in your favor.

DANDY DINNER FOR NEWLYWEDS

If meat and potatoes are your specialty, try making them "extra special" with Lipton Cup-a-Soup! "Dandy Dinner Steak" is just perfect for the two of you. Instant soup mixes take the guesswork out of seasoning the chopped steak and make a temptingly easy mushroom and wine gravy. A terrific go-together is stuffed baked potatoes. For a flavor twist, add an envelope of instant cream of mushroom or onion soup mix when mashing the potatoes. You will both agree it's a dandy of a meal!

DANDY DINNER STEAK

- 1/2 pound ground sirloin or ground beef
- 1/4 cup soft bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
- 1 envelope Lipton® Onion Cup-a-Soup
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 envelope Lipton® Cream of Mushroom Cup-a-Soup
- 1 cup water
- 2 tablespoons dry red wine

In medium bowl, combine ground sirloin, bread crumbs, parsley, instant onion soup mix and 2 tablespoons water; mix thoroughly. Shape into 2 oval patties.

In medium skillet, brown patties until done; drain. Add instant cream of mushroom soup mix blended with remaining water and wine. Bring to a boil, then simmer covered 10 minutes. Makes 2 servings.

Proper Plowing Helps Control Weeds In Corn

Farmers growing corn in no tillage and reduced tillage fields should still mold board plow every three to five years for better weed control, according to Dr. James Parochetti, a USDA pesticide specialist.

By moldboard plowing no tillage and reduced tillage fields, he says, farmers can keep perennial weeds in check, reduce weed seed populations on the soil surface, and get better performance from the wider variety of preplant and preemergence herbicides available for conventionally tilled corn.

Some weeds, Parochetti says, particularly fall panicum, yellow nutsedge and resistant redroot pigweed, are becoming "increasingly difficult" to control in no tillage and reduced tillage fields.

"Research has shown that higher weed seed populations require higher rates of herbicides for good weed control," he says. "To correct this costly situation, corn growers should moldboard plow their fields every three to five years to bury weed seeds below their germinating zone."

If weed seeds are left on or close to the soil surface, a large percentage will most likely germinate the following year, Parochetti says. Unplowed fields are subjected to extremely heavy weed pressure.

Chisel plows and heavy discs will also bury weed seeds, Parochetti says, but usually not deep enough to stifle germination or assist herbicide performance. Most weeds seeds germinaten the top inch of soil.

Parochetti says that moldboard plowing — preferably in the fall if soil erosion is not a problem — will provide better control of perennial weeds by breaking up the plants' roots and root-like repeoductive organs. Common perennial weeds found in corn fields today include johnsongrass, quackgrass, yellow nutsedge, hemp dogbane, milkweed, bermudagrass, bromesedge and brambles.

Fall plowing, Parochetti says, will make perennial weeds more vulnerable to winterkill — especially johnsongrass. "The reduced vigor of the perennial grasses will make them more susceptible to preplant treatments of herbicides," Parochetti explains.

Moldboard plowing helps to mix the soil," he says. "In no tillage and reduced tillage fields, organic matter content increases and soil surface pH decreases. Both factors can have a dramatic effect on herbicide performance."

Manure applications and several years of continuous no tillage or reduced tillage corn can increase organic matter levels on the surface. Most herbicide labels call for higher rates if organic matter is above three per cent. Plowing will mix the organic matter that accumulates on the soil surface.

"While an increase on organic matter on the soil surface can be advantageous — from the standpoint of the field's fertility and moisture-holding capacity — it can have a negative effect on herbicides," Parochetti observes. "Soil sampling and adjusting herbicide rates based on organic matter in the soil top two inches of soil can be helpful in obtaining good weed control."

Farmers are encouraged to consult their state cooperative extension service for official 1980 weed control recommendations.

Views On Dental Health

BABY BOTTLE TOOTH DECAY

From a dental point of view, nursing babies from bottles can cause problems. Dentally-speaking - what's the worst thing you can do to a baby? Stick him in his crib with a bottle at nap time and let him fall asleep with the bottle in his mouth. Milk or juice in the mouth and on the teeth turns to acid and causes teeth to break down rapidly. Many babies who sleep with a baby bottle develop severe tooth decay, often in their front teeth. The problem is not the bottle but what's in it. The sugar in the milk, formula, or fruit juices causes the decay. Sometimes, these teeth become so decayed they cause severe pain and may break off or have to be pulled.

During the day, the baby swallows these drinks quickly, so there is no damage to the teeth. But during sleep, the liquid pools behind the baby's teeth and keeps them bathed in sugar for hours.

One solution is to give baby the last feeding before bedtime. If your baby is still using a bottle when his teeth begin to appear, let him use it for short periods of time awake or sitting up. If he is using a bottle as a pacifier, put water in the bottle...

Most Cataracts Connected To Aging, Dr. Says

Cataracts, probably the most common eye problem for older people, can be treated to improve vision. However, cataracts can also cause blindness if they are allowed to become "over-ripe," according to Raymond C. Croissant, M.D., president of the Minnesota association of ophthalmology — physicians specializing in medical eye care.

A cataract is a cloudiness in the lens of the eye which blurs and decreases vision. Most cataracts are small and do not seriously impair vision. Dr. Croissant says people who have this small impairment often can have vision rated at 20-30 or better.

"Other cataracts are larger and located in the center of the lens. These cataracts present more serious problems and may have to be surgically removed," Dr. Croissant says.

Most cataracts are simply due to aging. However, trauma, drugs and some diseases may also cause cataracts. "We will all develop cataracts if we live long enough," Dr. Croissant notes.

The most common symptom of cataract growth is a gradual reduction of vision. People with cataracts may find they need frequent changes in their eyeglass prescriptions.

Dr. Croissant says, "We should know what cataracts are not. A cataract is not cancer, nor an infection. Cataracts are not painful and are not associated with redness, mattering or tears in the eye."

There are no medications which will eliminate or slow the growth of cataracts, he explains. Limiting the use of the eyes, such as by reducing the amount of reading or television-watching, also will not retard cataract growth.

"The only treatment for cataracts is surgery," Dr. Croissant says. If failing sight from cataracts significantly affects the enjoyment of a person's life, then cataract surgery is usually indicated.

"Delaying surgery can be harmful if the cataract becomes over-ripe," Dr. Croissant adds. "A very dense, over-ripe cataract can cause problems such as inflammation and glaucoma, and may lead to blindness. Your ophthalmologist will tell you if he or she is concerned about the development of this problem."

In cataract surgery, the clouded lens is either partially or entirely removed. In the case of partial removal, pieces of affected lens material are taken out, leaving the back wall of the lens intact. If the entire lens must be removed, this is done either in one piece or in several smaller pieces.

"When the cataract is removed surgically, the eye is usually made very farsighted," Dr. Croissant notes. "The operated eye will not see clearly without the aid of glasses, a contact lens or an intraocular lens."

Glasses worn after cataract surgery are usually quite thick. They magnify objects about 30 per cent and reduce peripheral, or side, vision. A contact lens can give more natural vision with excellent side vision, but not everyone can wear contacts. In some cases, the ophthalmologist may be able to implant a plastic intraocular lens into the eye at the time of surgery. This replaces the natural lens that was removed.

For more information on cataracts and other eye problems, a brochure called "Seeing Well As You Grow Older" is available free of charge. Send requests along with a stamped, self-addressed return envelope to the Minnesota Association of Ophthalmology, 1575 University Ave., St. Paul, MN 55104.

Understanding Your Child

Most parents welcome ways to encourage their youngsters to be more polite. One method is to make sending thank you notes less of a "thankless" job and more fun for the children.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE DOLL

One thing that can help encourage note writing is a gift that comes with its own thank you note. An adorable new line of dolls and toys, manufactured by Kenner, does just that.

These charming new playthings are modeled after the Strawberry Shortcake characters created by American Greetings Corp. Four adorable dolls, all scented to match their name, are currently available. They include: Strawberry Shortcake; Blueberry Muffin; Huckleberry Pie; and Apple Dumplin' on Tea-Time Turtle. All the dolls have removable hats, clothing, plus their hair can be combed with the special Strawberry-styled comb that is included with each doll.

Two play sets are also now on the market. These are the Strawberry Shortcake Snail Cart and the Strawberry Shortcake Berry Bake Shoppe.

The Berry Bake Shoppe is where Strawberry Shortcake and her friends "grow" strawberries and can make desserts. The Snail Cart doubles as a form of transportation and a place to hold a "happy" picnic.

BERRY BAKE SHOPPE

All these toys come with special "B" berries on their packages which youngsters can collect and exchange for Strawberry Shortcake jewelry.

May Impeach Student Body Head At U of M

Student body president at the University of Minnesota is threatened with impeachment May 13, only a few days before her term expires.

Her detractors charge that Sue Gjemse, a 23-year-old College of Liberal Arts students, has neglected her duties and has skipped recent committee and general assembly meetings of the all-campus council (ACC), over which she presides.

Gjemse also has been charged with violating council rules by writing, endorsing and cashing a $375 stipend check in advance payment for spring quarter duties. The ACC president is paid $125 a month. Furhter, she is accused of abusing her expense account at the university's Campus Club.

Rules committee of the ACC has called for Gjemse's resignation, which she has refused to submit. They now call for her impeachment, which may be taken up at the next ACC general assembly meeting Tuesday. If, on the basis of subsequent debate, the ACC decides to impeach Gjemse, the matter would go for a hearing to the Twin Cities student assembly (TCSA), which would make a decision whether to "convict" her of any wrongdoing.

Gjemse has refused to discuss specific charges with the "Minnesota Daily," the university student newspaper, and could not be reached at her campus office at home by the University news service. However, in a full-page opinion piece published in the Daily May 7, Gjemse said she is "divorcing" herself from student government after May 15 when new elections are held.

Active in student government for four years, Gjemse said she is frustrated and disillusioned by "about 30 people who hand around 240 Coffman (ACC-TCSA offices)." She characterized them as professional student politicos who promote "interoffice factions and conspiracies. . . detracting from anything worthwhile that student government could accomplish."

ACC devotes its time to providing services such as book swaps, senior yearbooks, and teacher evaluation surveys. The other arm of student government, TCSA, over which Ghemse does not preside, takes positions on and lobbies for students issues and provides 72 representatives to the student-faculty university senate. That body is overseen by a speaker.

ACC accounts for about 85 per cent of the current $69,000 student government budget. (Student fees totaling $63.35 per quarter support 23 campus organizations.)

In her opinion-page piece, Gjemse protested a new constitution, which next year will merge TCSA and ACC into one body — the Minnesota student assembly. She said the change will further dilute the power of the presidency, while at the same time strengthen a five-member student senate committee, which is not directly elected by the student body, but wields considerable clout.

She said in the article that committee members want her to step down because she missed two meetings which she said conflicted with other engagements she had. Gjemse said she had excused other members of the committee, which she chairs, for similar reasons.

"Attitudes such as those of the rules committee and certain hacks fail to make me feel the least bit guilty," Gjemse wrote. "It is far easier for the ACC rules committee to cry they had no leadership, than to admit they gave little support to any leadership there might have been. I'm willing to accept blame, but only with the added comment that my co-workers are far from blameless."

Any impreachment proceedings initiated next week will be virtually academic because of the pending election of a new government, according to Bob Wertz, staff person for ACC-TCSA. Under the current constitution, the ACC must first vote to impeach Gjemse before TCSA takes final action on alleged neglect of office charges. The TCSA meeting, however, is scheduled for Tuesday at 3:15 p.m., before the 7 p.m. ACC meeting — the final meetings of the year for both bodies. Nevertheless, some senators are insisting that Gjemse pay back about $125 in lunch bills they say she shouldn't have charged.

Common Sense Tips

MICROWAVE OVENS

The microwave oven is truly a product made to fit today's busy lifestyles. This new concept in cooking has made it easier for the homemaker to prepare balanced meals for the family—and do it in far less time than previous cooking equipment.

Here are some tips from the home economists at Whirlpool Corporation to help you understand more about microwave cooking.

It's called cool cooking—because the heat is produced directly in the food as microwaves are absorbed. As a result, extra heat does not build up in the oven cavity nor is it generated into the kitchen area as in conventional cooking. However, some foods that are high in sugar or fat content can reach very high temperatures. This heat from the food may be transferred to the utensil, making it very hot to touch. So, it's wise to keep pot holders handy for use when removing dishes from the microwave oven.

Gift Ideas for Men

A BARBERSHOP SHAVE AT HOME

Many modern Americans consider it a sharp idea to shave the old-fashioned way. That's the idea behind the new line of professional-style Barbershop shave products. The ceramic mug is oversized, wide-mouthed and barrel-shaped. The shave soap—a king-size cake molded of natural ingredients and skin conditioners—comes in herbal, musk and regular scents. And the brush, made of natural bristles with a man-sized solid beechwood handle, is ideal for whipping up a generous, hot lather.

Made by Franklin Toiletry Co. of New York, and available at gift shops and men's wear sections of leading department stores, Barbershop shave products make ideal gifts for Dads, grads and anyone who wants to enjoy the nostalgic feeling of shaving the Barbershop way.

Priorities For Justice Act Are Approved

Statewide priorities for implementing the justice system improvement act (JSIA) during 1981-83 were approved by the Minnesota crime control planning board (CCPB) at a meeting of board members March 27.

Priorities are based on a statewide analysis of crime and delinquency problems as well as criminal and juvenile justice needs within Minnesota, according to CCPB executive director Robert J. Griesgraber.

Under the JSIA, the CCPB is required to publish the priorities and make them available to affected criminal and juvenile justice agencies, citizen, community and neighborhood organizations and local governments three months prior to submission of funding applications.

According to draft guidelines of the law enforcement assistance administration (LEAA), which administers such funding to the state through the CCPB, the tentative deadline for applications from local and regional planning units and the judicial planning committee is June 20, Griesgraber said.

Grant applications for individual projects at the local level would be due next fall and the individual state agency grants would be due next January, he added.

Program that has provided what is commonly known as LEAA funds throughout Minnesota has been reauthorized and restructured for four years by Congress under the JSIA.

Purpose of the priorities is to indicate those problem areas of greatest concern in Minnesota and to provide guidance for the submission of applications for funding over the next three years, Griesgraber said.

Basically, the priorities adopted call for improvements in Minnesota's criminal justice system, with several of them specifically zeroing in on the juvenile justice system.

In addition to the CCPB's statewide problem analysis, the priorities are based on priorities submitted last fall by local and regional criminal justice advisory councils, the judicial planning committee, legislature, governor's office and members of the CCPB.

Areas identified as "high priority" by the CCPB, but not listed according to priority, are:

Consolidation of rural law enforcement services; improved investigation services for urban law enforcement agencies; improved caseload management in Minnesota trial courts; uniform personnel policies and standards for non-judicial court personnel;

Improved court records management; improved fiscal management of the state court system; uniform statewide juvenile court rules and procedures; alternatives to secure detention for juvenile state offenders; victim witness assistance;

Uniform formal restitution policies and procedures for adult and juvenile offenders; improvements in Minnesota's public defender system, especially for juveniles; improved chemical dependency screening and services in local jails; alternatives to residential treatment for non-dangerous juvenile offenders;

Statewide research on probation services; improved jail treatment programs and standards compliance; training for criminal justice system personnel; revision of the juvenile code; improved coordination, communication, training and knowledge in the area of family violence;

Coordination, communication and training between law enforcement and prosecution agencies; centralized legal research for county attorneys; better coordination between and information about juvenile justice-related agencies and services, and statistical and evaluative systems to measure project performahce.

In addition to the "high priority" areas identified, there are 13 "medium priority" and eight "low priority" areas designated for future LEAA funding in Minnesota, Griesgraber said.

Escort Service At University Well Received

An average of seven women a night have used the new safety escort service on the University of Minnesota Twin Cities campus since it opened for business February 21.

By February 29, 43 women had used the service, which is operated by the university police department from 6 p.m. until 2 a.m. during the school week.

Six assaults on campus between July and mid-December raised the concern of campus officials and students, and prompted the organization of the trial program, which will be evaluated after six months.

Nine men and one woman have been hired to escort callers from one campus location to another, said Lt. Claude Jarvis, director of the program. Three escorts are on duty each night from Monday through Friday, and can be reached in their office in Coffman union garage by dialing 376-WALK.

Men as well as women will be escorted if they wish, but so far only one man has called and that call was "probably a set-up," Jarvis said. "The monitors talked to him for a long time and finally agreed to escort him, but when they got to his location, he wasn't there."

The service is not meant for groups of people walking across campus, Jarvis said, but pairs of women will be escorted if there aren't too many other priority calls for the service.

The monitors will do more than just walk the caller from one place to another, Jarvis said. For instance, those who ask for an escort to a bus stop will be taken to the stop, where the escort will wait until the bus arrives or until there are other people at the stop, he said. Likewise, security monitors who accompany a woman to a parking lot will wait until she has started her car.

Several other steps have been taken to increase security on campus, Jarvis said. University police have increased the number of patrols of campus parking lots, and shrill alarms have been made available to university hospital employees. The hospital provides a van escort service from the hospital to a nearby parking ramp.

"Lighting on campus could be a lot better, but the energy crunch has not done anything for it," Jarvis said. Campus lighting needs are currently being studied, he said.

Escort programs similar to the University's have been operating at other colleges for some time. The University of Wisconsin at Madison began its program in 1973. There, a volunteer organization, the women's transit authority, uses university vehicles and provides transportation for women on campus from 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. seven days a week.

Jarvis said he hopes that eventually the Minnesota program will be taken over and operated by a similar volunteer organization.

"Cancer Answers" is a weekly column sponsored by the Red River Valley Medical society, the Red River Valley unit of the American Cancer society and the Thief River Falls Times. Questions may be mailed to the editor, Thief River Falls Times. All questions will be answered, and those of a general interest will be published in "Cancer Answers."

Dear Cancer Answers:

I have been taking a medication for high blood pressure for two years with excellent results. Recently I heard a news item that an ingredient in this medication, reserpine, might cause cancer. Is this true, and if so, should I quit my medication?

W.R.

Dear W.R.:

You should continue taking your high blood pressure medication until your doctor suggests otherwise. Discuss with your doctor the risks versus the benefits of the medication in your case.

The National Cancer Institute has conducted studies on laboratory rats and mice to determine if reserpine is a carcinogen (cancer-causing agent). These studies show the drug does cause breast cancer in female mice but not in male rats. The studies also show it causes genital cancer in male rats and mice. However, there is still no proof that reserpine causes cancer in humans.

Studies of the medical histories of people who have taken high blood pressure medication containing reserpine have not shown an abnormally high number of cases of cancer. A few of these studies, however, did find slightly more cases of breast cancer among women taking reserpine.

On the other hand, the risk of uncontrolled high blood pressure is well known — a much greater likelihood of heart disease and stroke. So, in this case, the risk of developing cancer from taking reserpine seems to be minimal while the risks of serious health problems from not taking medication to control high blood pressure are great.

What DES-Exposed Mothers or Sons Should Do

What To Do: Recommendations for DES-Exposed Mothers —

If you have no symptoms, you should have a yearly medical examination, the same examination that all women should have periodically if they are over 20, or younger if sexually active. This checkup includes:

+ A pelvic examination of the reproductive organs, with a Pap smear;

+ A breast examination, beginning with a physical examination of the breasts, followed by X-ray mammography under the following conditions:

+ No mammography if you are under age 35;

+ Mammography if you are between 35-39 and have a personal history of breast cancer; or if you are between 40-49 and have a personal history of breast cancer or immediate relatives with a history of breast cancer. If you are over 50, mammography may be considered for the annual examination.

+ Practice monthly breast self-examintion+, and report any lump or out-of-the-ordinary appearance promptly to a physician. Remember that 80 per cent of all breast lumps are NOT cancerous.

+ Report any unusual discharge or bleeding from the vagina PROMPTLY to a physician.

The lack of information on the long-term effects of estrogens requires caution in the use of oral contraceptives and other estrogens. Indications against their use, and various warnings and precautions including adverse reactions, must be listed in a package insert by the manufacturer. Ask your physician to discuss with you possible hazards of this form of contraception. As other patients, DES-exposed mothers should be followed closely by their doctors if they choose oral contraceptives. Other standard means of contraception can be used.

Postcoital contraception with estrogens ("the morning-after pill" consisting of a large amount of DES twice daily for five days), should be used for a DES-exposed woman only after she has been fully informed about possible hazards and if she and her physician judge that no alternative is acceptable. Use of DES as a morning-after pill is approved by the FDA only in emergency situations of rape or incest.

DES or DES-type drugs should not be used to dry up milk in breasts of new mothers who do not breast feed their infants. Postmenopausal replacement estrogens should be used only after carefully considering alternative methods with your physician. Your preference and the physician's judgement should be discussed.

Recommendations for DES-Exposed Sons —

Have an examination by a physician who will check for reproductive and urinary abnormalities (such as undescended or underdeveloped testicles).

These conditions may require medical followup or corrective measures. Physicians have found no unusual risk of cancer in DES-exposed sons. But undescended testicles may increase the risk of cancer of the testicles if the condition is not corrected whether or not the boy or man has been exposed to DES. This cancer is rare under any circumstances.

For further information write to DES, National Cancer Institute, Office of Cancer Communications, NIH-SH, Bethesda, MD 20205.

+ FOOTNOTE: Ask your physician or his-her nurse to teach you how to breast self-examination, and write for a free booklet on breast self-examination to the above address.

Dear Cancer Answers:

Someone told me I could get cancer from using cleaning solvents. Is this true? Is there any kind that's safe or that's particularly bad? What about solvents containing carbon tetrachloride?

Martha

Dear Martha:

Although it's unlikely that occasional exposure to cleaning fluids will cause cancer, regular use of these products can be a health hazard.

Carbon tetrachloride was once an important ingredient of many cleaning solvents. It has been banned from use in cleaning products for nonprofessional use because it can cause liver damage.

The liver is part of the body's filtration and purification system. It removes impurities including substances that could cause cancer, from the blood. A damaged liver is less effective than a healthy liver in filtering out these potential disease-causing impurities.

You should discard any bottles of carbon tetrachloride you may still have in your home. To protect yourself when using cleaning fluids of any kind, always use rubber gloves. If possible, do your cleaning outdoors, and try not to inhale the fumes (wearing a cloth or paper mask may be helpful).

If you are interested in further information about other ingredients in cleaning solvents, you can telephone the Consumer Product Safety Commission's toll-free number, 1-800-638-8326. Also, you might find The Household Pollutants Guide a helpful reference. It is available in a paperback edition published by Anchor Press-Doubleday.

THE WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS TEACHERS

Henry Ford taught the world the way to adapt the conveyor belt and assembly line to automobile production.

William Teacher, it's said, taught what superior Scotch can taste like.

Some of the great teachers of the past are known for the things they taught, and others, for their pupils. Still others are known for not really being teachers at all!

A famous teacher of the fifth century B.C. was philosopher Aristotle. He invented logic as a systematic discipline and was tutor to Alexander the Great.

In our own century, a great teacher was Henry Ford, the American industrialist who was regarded as "the apostle of mass production." Ford showed mechanical aptitude at an early age, and in 1879 left his father's farm to work as an apprentice in a machine shop.

His next job was with the Edison Company as a machinist and engineer. By 1892 he had built his first automobile, and in 1899 he launched the Detroit Automobile Co. He organized the Ford Motor Co. and in 1908 designed the Model T. By adapting the conveyor belt and assembly line to automobile manufacture, he was soon able to outdistance competitors and become the world's largest auto producer.

A teacher of another sort was William Teacher, the Scotsman who in the 1800s founded the family and firm that today makes about 50 million bottles a year of Teacher's Highland Cream Scotch. Teacher and his sons started a still-followed tradition of tasting not only the Scotch itself but the single whiskies from which it is blended four times a week.

Many less well-known Scotches alter the rich taste of true Scotch with less expensive and flavorful grain whiskies and so are timid-tasting. Teacher's, however, is considered assertive, and the company has grown and progressed partly as a result of using more expensive malt whiskies than most any other Scotch.

Eli Whitney, another great "teacher," was an innovator who taught the interchangeability of parts. Though best-known for inventing the cotton gin, he built a firearms factory near New Haven, Conn., in 1798. The muskets he produced there, with methods similar to modern mass industrial production, were the first to have standardized, interchangeable parts.

And where would we be today without Clarence Birdseye, who taught the world about quick-frozen foods? A scientist from Brooklyn, it was on an expedition to Labrador for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in 1914 that he noticed something the Eskimos knew: fish caught in the ice froze stiff the instant they were exposed to the air. When they were defrosted and cooked a week later, they were still good— as good-tasting as if fresh caught. The same method worked for caribou steaks.

There's much to be said for our most inventive teachers!

Rural Development Policy Announced

Small community and rural development policy was announced by President Carter in December with the U.S. labor department responsible for improving employment and training activities in small towns and rural areas under the policy.

The department's activities under the program will include:

(1) Rural job creation — A new agreement sets a goal of placing persons eligible under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) in 20 per cent of job openings created by Farmers Home Administration grants and loans under the Community Facilities and Business and Industry Loan Program.

(2) Government contract preference — Rural areas eligible for government contract preference because of high unemployment, under Defense Procurement Order No. 4, will receive special attention.

(3) Youth careers — Programs to help young people in career decisions, and to increase employment opportunities for youths, will receive special support.

(4) Training programs — Efforts to train farm workers for skilled jobs in agriculture, as well as for nonagricultural jobs, will be stepped up. Priority will be given to farm worker youths under the interagency Agricultural Entrepreneurship Agreement, involving four federal agencies.

(5) Aid for Indians — Employment and economic development opportunities for Indians on reservations will be improved through coordination of CETA programs with economic development programs of five other agencies.

(6) Large-scale construction — As part of a White House initiative for area development from large-scale construction, a cooperative effort will be carried out involving major construction projects in four areas. Another cooperative effort will be carried out with the Tennessee Valley authority, the state of Tennessee and various other private, federal and local groups to develop unconventional gas resources in three rural counties.

This will be part of a wider demonstration effort to assure local residents jobs from area and economic development projects.

(7) Environmental programs — Agreements involving the environmental protection agency to train disadvantaged rural residents will be fully implemented and monitored. Training opportunities will be in operation and maintenance of rural water and waste treatment plants.

(8) Weatherization projects — More public service job openings will be created in weatherization of buildings to conserve fuel, where existing CETA resources are now insufficient to match energy department funds for materials.

(9) Joint projects — Joint projects will be implemented between the labor department's employment and training administration and other labor department agencies, including the office of federal contract compliance programs, bureau of international labor affairs, bureau of labor statistics and women's bureau.

The women's bureau has already developed a number of demonstration projects to help low-income rural women gain access to employment and training opportunities and has co-sponsored a national conference on rural women and hearings on employment problems of low-income rural women.

In all these programs, employment opportunities for minority group members, women, youth and the economically disadvantaged will be stressed.

Food Odor Causes Cancer Patients To Refuse To Eat It

by Alice Tibbetts
'U' M News Service

Doctors treating cancer patients often must treat an added affliction — their patients rapid weight loss and malnutrition caused by a refusal to eat certain foods.

Some foods, particularly beef and pork, become less palatable and even offensive to many cancer patients.

Recent research at the University of Minnesota by Professors Zata M. Vickers of the food science and nutrition department and Athanasios theologies of the medical school shows that a patient's aversion to certain foods is influenced by food odors. Vickers described their research recently at the American Cancer society science writers conference in Daytona Beach, Fl.

Until recently, most such research has examined the relationship between food aversions and the intensity and concentration of tastes — sweetness, saltiness, sourness, and bitterness. Many taste experiments have been conducted, but results have been quite varied, according to Suzanne Nielsen, a graduate student in food science and a researcher on the project. The shift to studying the influence of odors on food aversion is a redirecton of the taste experiments, Vickers said.

Vickers and Nielsen tested cancer patients to determine if those with food aversions found common food odors less pleasant than did healthy control subjects and other cancer patients without food aversions. A total of 133 patients with a variety of cancers and 60 healthy control patients participated in the study. The ages of the cancer patients ranged from 18 to 83 with an average age of 53.

Each patient judged the odors of 10 separate foods, which were placed in amber glass bottles and covered with netting so the patients could not see the food. Foods were judged for pleasantness and intensity using a scale of positive numbers for pleasantness and negative numbers for unpleasantness.

Researchers concluded that food aversions in the cancer patients studied were liked to the odor of certain foods, and that patients receiving chemotherapy were not more likely to develop food aversions than were patients who had never received chemotherapy or had discontinued it. Although it was never proved, it had generally been assumed that food aversions were caused by chemotherapy, Nielsen said.

If odor is at the root of food aversion, the next step is to determine why only certain odors are consistently unpleasant to cancer patients and if the aversions are chemically based or learned, Nielsen said.

One hypothesis holds that cancer tumors produce peptides that transmit messages to the brain, influencing a patient's perception of odors, Nielsen said. On the other hand, aversions to certain kinds of food can be learned, and such learned aversions are very common, Vickers said. "If you eat a pizza and get sick three hours later, you will blame the pizza," she said.

The foods most often offensive to cancer patients are high protein red meats, particularly beef. Unfortunately, however, high protein meats are the foods patients need the most, but once they develop aversions, patients avoid them, Nielsen said. Since many cancer patients are in their 50s and 60s, they are used to eating a steady diet of meat and potatoes. Instead of altering their diets to keep up their health after they develop an aversion to high protein foods, they may simply quit eating altogether, Nielsen said.

At University of Minnesota hospitals, patients with food aversions are served a variety of foods, according to Beth Hansen-Robinson, a senior oncology dietitian. Patients are also given supplements and between-meal foods like eggnogs, instant breakfasts and liquid soy supplements.

Cancer patients find fish and chicken more palatable than red meats but a wide menu selection of these foods is not possible at the hospitals, Hensen-Robinson said. Alternative high protein foods such as peanut butter, cottage cheese, and yogurt are offered instead.

The hospitals also provide a training program for family members and the patient in food preparation and the use of nutritional supplements. "We recommend that the patients' families cook pleasant-smelling foods like bread and cookies during meals so patients don't lose their appetities from the smell of other foods being served," Hansen-Robinson said.

Fiscal year 1978 marked the 40th anniversary of the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), which established the principles of nationwide minimum wage, hours of work, overtime pay and child labor protection. The law is administered by the U.S. Department of Labor's Employment Standards Administration.

ENERGY UPDATE

SE₂ BRINGS BALANCE TO ISSUES

Dr. Miro Todorovich

The public arena is an unfamiliar, not-too-comfortable working area for scientists and engineers.

Still, almost 1,000 of them, banded together as members of SE₂ (Scientists and Engineers for Secure Energy), have "gone public," in the words of Professor Miro Todorovich, Columbia University. Seven of the group are Nobel Laureates.

They're an activist group, appearing as intervenors in hearings, doing testimonial ads in newspapers and making television appearances, all designed to support the continued development of energy sources, especially nuclear power.

"We are citizens as well as professionals," explains Todorovich. "And we are concerned about the well-being and future hopes of our society."

SE₂ wants to correct much of the misinformation that surrounds the technical aspects of the national energy debate. Formed in 1976, the organization initially concentrated upon "trying to bridge the gap between the knowledgeable and sometimes prestigious scholar, scientist and engineer and the decision makers in all branches of government."

That led to SE₂ members appearing as "friends of the court" in some proceedings, testifying at hearings in this nation and abroad, providing behind the scenes comment to television and movie critics about anti-nuclear theatrical productions ("China Syndrome," for instance).

They've argued the case for an American breeder reactor in Congress, supported spent fuel reprocessing (which they believe is technically feasible and can be done safely) and provided discussion in various forums about outstanding nuclear issues.

SE₂ recognized that wasn't enough. The organization has to reach the American public with its message: that use of existing technology offers one solution to the energy problem confronting the nation.

Individual members of SE₂ now are featured in newspaper advertisements. That's a completely uncharacteristic move by the men involved. They're not seeking personal exposure. They're much more comfortable in their laboratories or classrooms, exchanging viewpoints occasionally through the pages of scholarly publications. So far, the ads have appeared in New Jersey newspapers only, but a booklet is being prepared that can provide a wider audience for their comments.

While SE₂ members may not feel totally comfortable with their new posture, they feel it is essential if they're to bring objective understanding to the energy decision making process.

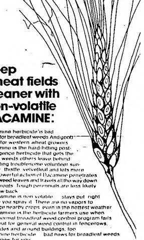
Keep wheat fields cleaner with non-volatile DACAMINE:



Dacamine herbicide is bad news for broadleaf weeds And good news for western wheat growers.
Dacamine is the hard-hitting post-emergence herbicide that gets the tough weeds others leave behind including troublesome volunteer sunflower, thistle, velvetleaf and lots more.
The powerful action of Dacamine penetrates waxy weed leaves and travels all the way down to the roots. Tough perennials are less likely to grow back.
Dacamine is non volatile ... stays put right where you spray it. There are no vapors to damage nearby crops, even in the hottest weather.
Dacamine is the herbicide farmers use when their normal broadleaf weed control program fails. It's great for general weed control in fencerows, roadsides and around buildings, too.
Dacamine herbicide ... bad news for broadleaf weeds. Good new for you.

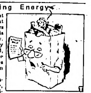
HOW SUPERMARKETS SERVE THE PUBLIC INTEREST

Husbanding Energy



Supermarkets are fighting the good fight when it comes to holding down energy usage—and costs!

The second most frequent category of questions that supermarket customers ask—the first, of course is prices—concerns energy. They want to know why supermarkets are so cold, whether energy could be saved by keeping the stores open fewer hours; why open freezer cases are used.

These are sensible questions. For the average store, the Food Marketing Institute estimates, energy costs about one percent of sales—about $900 a week. Refrigeration systems in general—display cases, freezers, and backroom walk-in coolers—take about half of that.

Paradoxically, if supermarkets set their air conditioning at 75 degrees or above, they would actually increase their total energy costs. That's because the frozen food cases would have to work harder to maintain the temperatures that are essential to keep food frozen.

For much the same reasons, shorter hours wouldn't help because refrigeration has to continue whether the store is open or closed.

Surprisingly, open refrigerated cases are quite energy-efficient for large-volume items like frozen juice—while the glass door cases (which lose energy each time the door is opened) work best for smaller volume, specialty items.

Most of the important reductions in supermarkets' energy costs come from design changes for new stores. But existing stores can't be replaced overnight, so supermarkets are seeking ways to achieve many smaller savings through better energy management all along the way.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Just recently I was the guest of WJLA-TV here in Washington for a debate with Mark Green, the organizer of Big Business Day and the principal associate of Ralph Nader. Things got lively when Mr. Green was asked to name a good corporation and replied, "Give me a year and I'll think of one." The interviewer asked me what I thought of Green's remark and here's what followed:

Dr. Lesher: Well, about the same that I always think about whatever he says or Ralph or some of the socialists who are in their little cadre; people who would like to see this country turn toward socialism rather than return to private enterprise. In fact, we would have ignored this day except that as long as he's going to focus on business, we thought we ought to put some facts on the table. People are tired of the negatives that they spout all the time: it's time to tell people about the eighty-two million jobs that we create, the three million new jobs every year in business — big and small business — the fact that business pays most of the bills in the form of taxes as well as contributions to education and to charity, and the fact that contrary to what they put out all of the time, business is not owned by a handful of fat cats; business is owned by twenty-five million Americans directly as shareholders as well as another fifty million Americans who have indirect ownership.

Now, one final footnote which makes the day really humorous. These so-called self-appointed policemen held a rally on Capitol Hill today, and they violated the law of the land by trying to charge admission to a public house, to the House of Representatives, and they were called down for it, and I understand that they probably had to put out a news release a little bit later. That's the kind of responsibility or irresponsibility that's speaking up on behalf of this attack on big business. I think the American public is tired of it; we want to bring the country together, and proceed toward a much more positive future than the recent negative past.

Interviewer: Mr. Green, what about that? Were you selling tickets to the House of Representatives?

Green: You know, more importantly, Dick, you've got to intellectually grow up, and stop the economic McCarthyism of the 1950s. You know we're not socialists . . .

Lesher: Did you do that?

Green: . . . please let me finish, I let you speak. To just try and smear an alliance of hundreds of labor and consumer and community and environmental groups as socialists shows you deal in abstractions rather than the facts. We had a panel today. The woman who runs the Love Canal Homeowners Association was to attend. Two days ago, her daughter started hemorrhaging. They live near the chemical waste dump site there. You have to start delivering, not abstractions, but you have to explain how will you discourage those kind of poisonous dumps around the country. How will you discourage the price-fixing in this country which the Department of Justice official recently said is very prevalent? What did you do when four hundred companies were admitting pay-offs abroad? Now, please, stop abstractions about big government and explain what the Chamber of Commerce is doing to make sure that big business fulfills its fundamental responsibility which is involving shareholders more in the corporation — you know they're now excluded, shareholders are a fiction in terms of corporate governance — and, in terms of delivering on the jobs and information that you promise, but often don't produce.

Lesher: Oaky, let answer, Mark. Let me tell you what we've been doing. We helped to pass the paws that protect the environment. You know as well as I do . . .

Green: You opposed those laws. They were passed despite you, Dick, not by you.

Green: The Chamber is pro-Environmental Protection Agency?

Lesher: . . . let me finish, I let you finish. Now, let me tell you. You know that every abuse that you're talking about is punishable under present law. You're using that sort of thing for demagoguery because your movement has failed repeatedly to get anything through the Congress. You've been shot down by the American public and by the American Congress. Those things you're talking about are punishable under law. The Love Canal disaster is being examined in the courts as we sit here. As far as overseas payments go, the U.S. Chamber has encouraged all corporations that do business abroad to construct a corporate code of conduct, and most of those corporations have done so in recent years. The fact of the matter is you've done nothing except carp about it and try to bring negativism on the corporate community in America. I think you are doing a disservice to the American way of life, and let's face facts, you are associated with a lot of socialists.

The Wisdom of Big Brother, II

Who says bureaucrats can't make things happen? Just before the President presented his latest anit-inflation plan (I keep forgetting, is this his fourth or fifth?), the entire federal bureaucracy erupted in frenzied activity.

Fearing an imminent hiring freeze, waves of agency heads began to scramble, trying to fill all the empty slots in their departments. At the Department of Justice, for example, workers reported their superiors had put aside all their normal activities to concentrate on hiring new employees.

Surveying this explosion of patriotic anti-inflationary spirit, one government personnel officer remarked with indifference: "It's a normal bureaucratic action in a situation like this."

We Take a Licking: They Keep Right on Sticking

Question: If the government wants to do away with Saturday mail delivery, how can it justify its proposal to increase the cost of postage stamps to 20 cents?

Answer: To pay the sotrage charges.

Question: But isn't there any way to straighten out the postal service?

Fun, Frolic and Fraud in Fat City

UPI reporter Don Lambro knows a thing or two about waste in government. In 1975, he catalogued many of his horror stories in a book, "The Federal Rathole." The book stirred up such a storm, and was so popular, that Lambro was soon asked to research and write another.

His latest work is titled "Fat City: How Washington Wastes your Taxes." Lambro says: "Things are a lot worse than I thought." He estimates that government loses up to $50 billion a year on fraud, abuse and mismanagement and wastes another $50 billion on nonessential programs.

In chapter titled "Cutting the Government: Jimmy Carter's Broken Promise," Lambro looks into Mr. Carter's claim to have abolished 760 federal agencies. He finds only a dozen agencies of little significance or cost have been eliminated. All the rest have been merged with and hidden inside larger programs and continue to function.

Do You Speak Regulation?

Gene Burton, dean, School of Business and Administrative Sciences at Fresno State University, has come up with some interesting statistics.

When Jesus wanted to instruct his disciples how to communicate with God, he taught them the Lord's prayer, which contains 56 words.

When Abraham Lincoln wanted to reunify Americans under one government, of the people, by the people and for the people, he made his Gettysburg Address, which contains 268 words.

And when the Founding Fathers wanted to tell the world the colonies could no longer remain subordinate to Great Britain, but must become sovereign and free, they wrote the Declaration of Independence, which contains 1,322 words.

The questions is: If all those great men could communicate those great thoughts, with those few words, why do bureaucrats need 27,000 words just to regulate the sale of cabbage? Maybe Ralph Nader knows.

Latest Bulletin from the Energy Front

The Department of Energy, which has been blasted by the House Operations Committee for its "abysmal record in saving energy," remains undaunted. It has requested a 17 per cent increase in its travel budget, presumably so it can travel to more places and give more speeches on the need for more Americans to conserve more energy — by traveling less.

LABOR-SAVER BREADS

Growth to the convenience food industry is an indication that time- and labor-saving meals have considerable appeal for modern cooks. And the sales of small appliances, such as food processors, appear to confirm it. How much time and work new products save is actually up to the user. Savvy cooks may not be tempted to change their ways, but adventurous cooks seem to welcome innovations. One of the recent ones is making yeast bread in a food processor.

Most food processors make a single loaf of bread, which is fine for small households. The accompanying recipe, for Sour Cream Herb Ring is an example of how little effort it takes to prepare distinctive yeast rolls and bread. Today, measuring of ingredients takes more time than mixing and kneading. In less than two minutes of mixing the dough is kneaded and ready to put aside to rise.

Unlike the making of cakes, cookies and casserole dishes that take time to prepare and bake, yeast bread doesn't require constant attention from the cook. Once it's mixed and kneaded, it does its own thing. It can be quickly shaped after one rising so the cook is free to perform other kitchen tasks. The aromatic blend of herb and sour cream flavor makes the following recipe a superb accompaniment for soups and salads and summer meals.

HERB SOUR CREAM RING

Makes 1 loaf

2-3/4 cups unsifted flour
5 tablespoons Fleischmann's® Margarine
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram leaves
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
1/4 teaspoons dried oregano leaves
1 package Fleischmann's® Active Dry Yeast
1/4 cup warm water (105°F.-115°F.)
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup milk

Food Processor Preparation

With metal blade in place combine flour, 3 tablespoons margarine, sugar, marjoram, thyme and oregano in bowl; process 5-10 seconds to combine. Dissolve yeast in warm water; pour through feed tube. Add sour cream and begin processing. Pour milk through feed tube in a fast stream until ball forms, about 10-15 seconds. Continue processing for 60 seconds to knead dough.

Carefully remove dough from processor bowl. Shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down. Divide into 10 pieces and shape each into a ball. Arrange balls in a circle in a greased 6-1/2 cup ring mold. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour, 10 minutes.

Melt remaining margarine; pour over dough. Bake at 375°F. for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Remove from pan and cool on wire rack.

The Cost Of All Energy Is Rising

Of course, there's nothing new in that remark. Everybody knows it—commuters, manufacturers, truckers, homeowners who heat with electricity, propane, oil, gas or wood. It even costs more to start up the family barbeque.

Your local gas company would have you believe that NATURAL GAS always was, and always will be, the cheapest way to heat your home.

THIS IS A CRUEL HOAX!

They're spending millions to convince you to stake your future, your livelihood, on a switch to gas heat. Here are the facts.

- The price of natural gas will change twelve times this year!
A lot of people think gas rates are pretty stable while heating oil prices seem to change all the time. Fact is, all gas bills contain a charge that mostly goes unnoticed. It's called the FUEL ADJUSTMENT, and it changes every month. If your utility company had to pay more for gas this month, you would, too. It's their way of selling you expensive gas while they advertise low rates. Right now, federal regulations are being lifted which will allow prices to skyrocket. What does that say about the stability of low gas prices?
- Natural gas is being IMPORTED that would cost the homeowner $1.14 a gallon if it were heating oil!
Canada, Mexico, and Algeria may not be OPEC countries. But, with the prices these "friendly" nations are demanding for the gas they supply us, you'd have to pay well over a dollar a gallon if it were oil, to get the same heating value you enjoy today. The Gas Association tells us our reliance on imports will triple in the next few years.
- Homeowners who switch to gas will be caught in the middle . . . held hostage to justify additional imports of expensive natural gas . . . in the shortage that is sure to come. .

A GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATION PROVED IT: Your Independent Heating Oil Dealer's profits are fair and reasonable. He's a good neighboor, working in your interest to keep energy costs down.

So stick with us . . . get the whole story . . . and remember,
YOU'RE SAFE WITH OIL HEAT

AUTOMOBILES showing evidence of countless hours of restoration and customizing were on display at the Thief River Falls sports arena Saturday and Sunday during the North Country Auto Showtime sponsored by the Prairie Schooners and Street Wizards auto clubs of Thief River Falls. More than 100 cars were entered in the event and over 3,000 people paid admission to the sports arena to view and discuss the vehicles on display. Many other vehicles entered were exhibited outside.

Party Arranged To Explain TRF Pageant Plans

To give area girls who will be between 18 and 26 years of age on Labor day an opportunity to have questions about the Miss Thief River Falls pageant answered, a Pepsi party will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Northland community college commons.

Jane Olson, Miss Thief River Falls of 1979, will attend and talk about some of her experiences during the past year.

"We want to invite all girls who might be interested in the pageant this year," stated Mrs. John Tofte, one of the organizers of the event. "This is an informal meeting and those attending will be under no obligation to enter the pageant."

Any girl interested in being in the pageant but unable to attend the Wednesday evening party is asked to contact Nancy Tofte at 681-2133, Marlene Essig at 681-7264, Marijo Nabben at 681-3840, Carolyn Schmitz at 681-6143 or Diane Paulson at 681-2235.

All contestants in the pageant will receive $50 scholarships this year, with Miss Thief River Falls to receive an additional $750, first runner-up $325 and second runner-up $150.

CUSTOMIZED VEHICLES, including decorative and imaginative paint jobs, were on display at the North Country Auto Showtime held in Thief River Falls Saturday and Sunday. This entry was by Richard Carlson of Moorhead. Shown with the entry are three of the "TRF Cargirls" who added to the show with their own decorative effect as well as assisting with ticket sales and collection and the awarding of prizes to the winning exhibitors.

Legion Poppy Sale Thursday And Friday

"To show that we are a caring community, grateful for the freedoms won for us by the sacrifices of our service men and women in all the wars," is the reason stated by Flora Mercil, local American Legion poppy chairman, for the memorial poppy days each year.

The Legion poppy sales drive will be held Thursday and Friday of this week.

"Wearing a memorial poppy pays silent tribute to those who have died to defend us, and show our awareness of the problems of many of the living veterans and their families," Mrs. Mercil stated.

"All the monies raised locally are spent locally for veterans' services. Everyone connected with the drive is a volunteer. Disabled veterans hand craft the poppies, designated as the official memorial flower, thus earning for themselves wages that often are their sole means of earning money. This earning power gives many hours of labor to their hands and a sense of satisfaction to their hearts, knowing they are contributing to their families' needs, in many cases."

Bouquets of a dozen poppies are displayed in local churches during the Memorial weekend, distributed to those churches which request them. The flowers are then returned to the auxiliary to be used in decorating the year 'round," Mrs. Mercil said.

Food Service Course Set

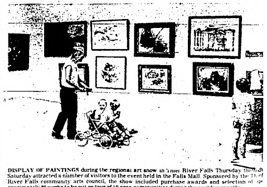
Clean-Up Days Are Proclaimed At Goodridge

Mayor David M. Brown of Goodridge has proclaimed Thursdays of May 22 and 29 as clean-up days for the city of Goodridge, and encouraged residents of the city to participate in the campaign.

"Our garbage hauling contractor has agreed to take extra trash within the limits of his trucks on those two Thursdays," Dr. Brown said. "These are our regular garbage collection days and will give our residents an opportunity to dispose of accumulated debris and items which are no longer of use."



DISPLAY OF PAINTINGS during the regional art show in Thief River Falls Thursday through Saturday attracted a number of visitors to the event held in the Falls Mall. Sponsored by the Thief River Falls community arts council, the show included purchase awards and selection of approximately 30 works to be put on tour of 10 area communities during the next few months.

11 Candidates On Ballot In TRF School Election

Eleven candidates will be on the ballot Tuesday as Thief River Falls school district voters go to the polls from 4 to 8 p.m. to elect three members of the School District 564 board of education for three-year terms.

Filing for the office are incumbents Larry McDowell and Robert Sorvig along with Jon Bolen, Elaine Borsheim, Merle Carlson, Gary C. Erickson, Bonnie Folkedahl, Sue Fredeen, Greg Pribula, Roger Shaffer and Russell Sorteberg.

Attention is called to the change in voting procedure which results in four polling places instead of three in the Thief River Falls district. Polls will be located at the St. Hilaire school for the previous St. Hilaire district, at Franklin middle school for the area south and east of the Red Lake river, Lincoln high school for the area west of the Red Lake river and at the area vocational-technical institute for the area north of the Red Lake river and east of the Thief river. (See map in this issue).

Polling places in Franklin, Lincoln and St. Hilaire schools will remain as in prior years. Voters using the area vocational-technical institute are advised that voting booths will be set up in the visitors lobby with doors on the southwest corner of the new addition. Voters may use the driveway along the south side of the AVTI and community college and the area designated as a "No Parking" area may be used for voter parking.

With interest running high due to pertinent issues in the district and the number of candidates on the ballot, a large turn-out is expected for the election. The record vote in School District 564 was set in 1971 when 2,170 ballots were cast. That total was nearly matched in 1978 when 2,150 went to the polls as a maintenance levy was on the ballot and was defeated. Incumbent Ken Murphy received the new record of votes cast for a single candidate that year with 1,223 votes.

Last year with six candidates on the ballot there were 943 ballots cast as Ken Wiebolt and Wally Grovum were elected as new board members. This year the good weather which has allowed most farm field work to be competed is expected to increase the election turn-out. Absentee ballots may be obtained through today at the school district service center.

At Marshall county central district the polls will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. with polling places in the schools at Newfolden and Viking and at the Holt city hall. Candidates include Mark Carlson, Daniel Olson and incumbent Tom Yutrzenka.

Local agencies participating in the display are the Occupational Development center, the Falls Developmental Achievement center, Minnesota division of vocational rehabilitation, School District 564, Association of Retarded Citizens, Camp Sunshine, Minnesota Epilepsy league and the United Way.

Purpose of the display is to give local citizens an opportunity to talk with area service providers in an effort to help everyone better understand what services are available for area handicapped citizens. Free coffee and donuts will be available throughout Friday. The general public is encouraged to come into the totally accessible mall and view the variety of displays as well as talk with representatives of the individual agencies about their services.

In conjunction with the display, mall merchants will be simulating handicapped conditions and carrying on their daily routine business. The LaBree avenue mall merchants are anxious to demonstrate the total accessibility of the mall and other businesses for handicapped individuals.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Deer Park Club Judges Flower Arrangements

Colorful array of flower arrangements made an eye catching display at the Deer Park garden club meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Jessie Anderson in Erie. Members brought the arrangements which they had made and described flower creativity. Group members judged each for balance, design, originality and color harmony.

Ethel Wiseth presided at the meeting. Members answered roll call by stating what new varieties they will plant. Progress report on the marigold seedlings for the park was also given.

Lois Swanson reported on the tree and shrub telelecture that was held at the courthouse meeting room; and Mrs. Wiseth quizzed members on trees and shrubs.

Committee report was presented by Helen Chervestad and Dorothy Svanjord on the plans for the Garden club's 20th anniversary.

Elva Fiedler read the letter she wrote asking the Goodridge elementary school children to be more concerned for the beautification and care of the Lion's Park flower plots, trees and shrubs. Motion was made and carried to send the letter.

Open discussion followed on the vegetable sculpture contest for area elementary children which will be held at the Goodridge fair on August 30 with prizes to be given by the Deer Park garden club. Special prizes will also be given for the largest tomato and zucchini squash and for the longest cucumber.

Members present were Lauretta Stucy, Marion Marquis, Dorothy Svanjord, Elva Fiedler, Helen Chervestad, Lois Swanson, Luella Peterson, Ethel Wiseth, Theodora Anderson, Mary Kusmak, Florence Morrison, and Edna Appelman. Guests were Mildred Hovet and Loraine Watne.

Next meeting will be held June 3 at 8 p.m., at the home of Ethel Wiseth with roll call answered by describing a wildflower. Topic will be the Iris. A film on flowers will be shown.

Campanula Club Studies Defense Planting Ideas

"Plant Defense Mechanics," was the topic discussed at the meeting of the Campanula garden club held May 13 at the Bernice Knutson home. Mrs. Marie Fischer led the topic listing plants that complement each other and those that repell insects and diseases.

President Geneva Overum presided at the meeting that began with the reading of the club creed and May poem. The nine members present answered roll by naming helpful garden insects and bugs. In the phenology reports given, it was noted that the gardens were planted and the early perennials were in blossom.

The planting of the flower plots on the courthouse lawn was discussed and the flower show plans were tabled until a later meeting. During the social hour, lunch was served by the hostess. She also presented each member with tomato and cauliflower plants.

The meeting concluded with an exchange of May baskets.

Programs Aid Nurse Shortage In Minnesota

by Robert Lee
'U' M News Service

By 1982, Minnesota will need between 4,100 and 6,300 nurses with master's degrees, according to a recent study for the department of health, education and welfare.

Currently, Minnesota has only 750 such nurses — one-sixth of the minimum number of the nurses with master's degrees needed for teaching, administration and nursing specialities.

But many of the state's registered nurses have jobs in small communities, and family obligations that keep them from continuing their education.

To answer the problem, the University of Minnesota school of nursing has taken its master's degree program on the road.

Practicing nurses in Rochester and Duluth areas can now earn more than half the required master's degree credits in their own communities. University faculty members teach four three-credit courses in communities around the state, and another 12 credits are available at the state universities.

Project coordinator Ruth Weise said the program's purpose is to produce qualified faculty members for the state's fifty nursing schools, to educate clinical specialists in nursing, and to prepare nursing administrators.

"RN graduates have a lot of beginning knowledge about a lot of things," Weise said. "This master's degree program gives nurses an opportunity to zero in on what they like. They get involved in problem solving through research, and they can provide well care and supportive care in cooperation with physicians."

Since 1976 175 nurses have taken classes and 38 nurses have completed all of the courses offered in Rochester, Duluth and St. Cloud. Eleven have completed all requirements and have received master's degrees in nursing. According to Weise, most of the 11 have accepted faculty positions in nursing education programs near their homes.

Dr. Mitzi Duxbury, professor and assistant dean for graduate studies in the School of Nursing, explained that only 40 per cent of the faculty members who teach at schools that prepare registered nurses have an advanced degree, which is required for accreditation by the National League of Nursing (NLN).

"Recently some programs preparing nurses in the state have either lost their NLN accreditation, are in jeopardy, or have delayed accreditation visits," Duxbury said.

Duxbury recently told the state House health services subcommittee that "there is a critical shortage of nursing administrators with the political, psychological and social management skills needed to cope with the complexities of modern health care agencies."

Nurses with master's degrees are also in demand in such fields as childbearing–childrearing, family nursing, nurse midwifery and psychiatric-mental health nursing.

University school of nursing has one of the 13 nurse-midwife programs in the country but must restrict the number of students it accepts because of a shortage of faculty members, Duxbury said.

Weise has crossed the state interviewing prospective students and is one of the 14 faculty members who commute to Duluth or Rochester to teach.

"Most of our students have full-time jobs and family obligatons; There is a world of difference between teaching 18-year-old freshmen and teaching these older adults."

The "off-campus project" has been financially supported by the Legislature and the University's Area Health education center.

Offer Training To Investigate Possible Arson

"This is one of the best courses we have ever put out. The response has been tremendous."

That assessment of an educational venture from Neal Johnson of the Minnesota bureau of criminal apprehension refers to the success of arson investigation training for local fire fighters and peace officers throughout the state.

Johnson, arson course supervisor, said six classes were completed last year and four have been offered through the first three months of 1980. More than 300 students, mainly salaried and volunteer people, have attended.

Minnesota is the first state known to have passed legislation which made available money for this kind of instruction. The law attempts to promote the "arson team" concept by providing expense reimbursement only for police officers and fire fighters from the same jurisdiction.

Specifically, each class includes 32 hours of instruction. Areas covered include legal aspects of arson, chemistry of fire, determination of fire origin and cause, fire scene search, evidence collection, scientific aids, fire scene photography and sketching, techniques of interviewing, case coordination and preparation and a session on explosives.

Instructors are from the BCA, state fire marshal's division and legal and fire service communities. Funding for the basic arson investigation course continues for another year. It is anticipated that an advanced arson investigation course will be developed for graduates of the current basic course.

More information about the arson course is available from: Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, Police Training Section, 1246 University Avenue, St. Paul, 55104, 612-296-6482.

Workshop On Nutrition Set Here June 5, 6

Northwest Minnesota nutrition education training (NET) program is sponsoring a two-day workshop called Nutrition Education: An Integrated Approach, for all teachers of every subject area, support staff and food service of the 12-county northwest Minnesota area, at Lon's restaurant in Thief River Falls June 5 and 6 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Expenses will be reimbursed, with number of participants limited.

Nutrition has changed a great deal in the last 10-20 years. Purpose of the N.E.T. program is to provide current nutrition information and to assist the development of integrated nutrition education. Education is a way of creating long-lasting learning and improved attitude. Integrating nutrition and relating it to other subject areas builds on current knowledge and keeps educational work load and classes at a current level.

Project CARE Utilized For Holiday Patrol

Minnesota State patrol, taking advantage of increased awareness of the 55-mile-an-hour emphasis, will saturate state freeways by participating in "Operation CARE" during the upcoming Memorial day weekend.

"CARE," which stands for "coordinated accident reduction enforcement," was started in 1977 as a cooperative effort among states to increase motorists' compliance with the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit on interstate freeways.

The first year only four states — Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Ohio — were involved. This year most of the 48 mainland states will cooperate.

Minnesota troopers will cover, in marked and unmarked cars, Interstates 94, 35, 494 and 694, which include Twin Cities freeways. The extra patrolling will begin Friday afternoon, May 23, and continue through midnight, Monday, May 26, which is Memorial day. CARE is also planned for the July 4 and Labor day weekends.

Roger Ledding, patrol chief, said the patrol will cover some 800 miles of state freeway. The patrol will meet with authorities in neighboring states to coordinate efforts. Regular patrolling will be maintained on other state highways.

Meanwhile, Project 20, the federally funded program supporting 55 MPH, continues. The Project 20 slate for the three weeks in Minnesota is: May 14-21, Hwy. 169, Blue Earth to Edina; May 21-28, Hwy. 75, Moorhead to Stephen; May 28-June 4, Hwy. 12, Benson to Wayzata. The above three routes are being covered for the first time since Project 20 was started in October.

Dear friends,
In developing healthy attitudes toward death, attention should be directed to the death education of children and youth, for that has been relatively ignored. Ideally, death education should develop from childhood thru maturity - sensible acceptance of death as a fact of life.

Pennington VA Expenditures Total $851,551

Expenditures by the Veterans administration in Minnesota during fiscal 1979 topped $359.3 million, an increase of $6 million over the previous year, and the highest in state history. Pennington county recipients received $851,551.

Morris Nooner Jr., director of the VA center at Fort Snelling, reported on the federal agency's estimated expenditures in the state. The largest portion, $166.2 million, represented disability compensation and pension checks to veterans, their dependents and survivors.

Approximately $47.6 million provided for GI bill educational and vocational rehabilitation programs for Minnesota veterans, and $117 million went toward VA medical services and administrative costs, he said.

The remainder was expended for GI insurance and indemnities ($22.8 million), direct home loans ($4.7 million) and construction and related costs ($906,353).

An estimated 558,000 veterans live in Minnesota. The VA has six facilities in the state, including medical centers in Minneapolis and St. Cloud, a regional office, data processing center and national cemetery, all at Fort Snelling, and recently-opened vet center to assist Vietnam-era veterans, located at 3338 University Avenue SE in Minneapolis.

In Hennepin county, disbursements totaled $161.6 million, of which $47.9 million was paid in the form of compensation and pensions, and $93.4 million for VA medical services and administrative costs. Another $13.6 million was expended for veterans' schooling and vocational rehabilitation programs, Nooner said.

In Pennington county the VA expended $851,551 with $566,712 for compensation and pension benefits, $162,251 for readjustment and vocational rehabilitation, $77,838 for insurance and indemnities and $44,750 for direct loans.

Totals expended in other area counties include: Beltrami, $1,810,715; Lake of the Woods, $256,063; Kittson, $381,999; Marshall, $614,881; Polk, $2,021,182; Red Lake, $199,283; Roseau, $606,399.

Hungry Tent Caterpillars Common Sight

It happens every spring. Some trees that have just sprouted new leaves lose them all to hordes of hungry tent caterpillars. A single web of tent caterpillars, containing more than 150 insects, can strip a healthy but unlucky tree, according to the current issue of Ranger Rick's Nature Magazine.

"Tent caterpillars are the larvae of a fuzzy, reddish-brown moth," explains the National Wildlife Federation's monthly publication for children. The moths never eat, living only a few weeks — just long enough to mate and lay eggs — but their offspring are devastating.

The female moth lays her eggs in a ring around a tree twig — often a wild cherry or apple tree. Then she covers the eggs with a bubbly liquid which soon hardens into a shiny, weatherproof covering that protects the eggs all winter.

When tent caterpillars hatch in the spring, they gather at a forked branch of the tree and begin to form their tent-like web with silk from glands in their mouths. "The web acts like a tiny greenhouse," says Ranger Rick, "storing heat and keeping the insects warm in chilly weather. It also keeps them dry during rainstorms and shades them from the bright rays of the sun." As the caterpillars grow, they add onto their tent, so it, too, gets bigger.

Tent caterpillars stuff themselves on leaves for almost six weeks. Then they crawl away from their food tree and find a protected place to spin their powdery cocoons. In two or three weeks they change into the months we see fluttering around street and porch lights in midsummer.

It's an unfortunate cycle for many trees, but a vital one for the birds and parasitic wasps that feed on tent caterpillars. So while control of the caterpillars is sometimes necessary, naturalists oppose wiping them out completely.

"Winter is the best time to control tent caterpillars," Ranger Rick advises. "Prune the twings that contain egg masses." Or, in the spring, spray the webs with Dipel, a bacterium that kills caterpillars without harming other creatures.

Ask Credentials Of Anyone Who Represents IRS

Taxpayers should request to see the credentials of any individual claiming to represent the Internal Revenue service, the IRS cautions.

Occasionally, persons pose as employees of the IRS to collect money for what the imposter refers to as unpaid taxes.

In almost every instance, taxpayers who owe money will receive written notification before being contacted in person by the IRS. In addition, every IRS employee who makes public contact carries distinctive identification, and is required to show identification when conducting official business.

Taxpayers who doubt the validity of the credentials offered can verify the person's employment by immediately contacting the nearest IRS office.

Vote On Tuesday

Thief River Falls school district voters should be able to find three candidates they believe worthy of their votes among the 11 men and women who have filed for election this year. If that many people were willing to make the effort to seek the job, the rest of us will be hard put to find an excuse not to go to the polls and cast our ballots.

The record vote cast in the school election in Thief River Falls is 2,170 in 1971. District voters came close to that record in 1978 when 2,150 ballots were cast — but there was a maintenance levy authorization on the ballot that year, which was defeated 1,162 to 978. But last year, with six candidates on the ballot, only 943 votes were cast.

In national and legislative elections we like to predict the outcome to see how close we can come to assessing public opinion. We are reluctant to do so publicly on local elections because of the relatively small number of voters involved. This year, with 11 candidates in the running, picking winners would be an almost impossible task.

But let's make a couple of general predictions and see how close they are when the votes are counted. We predict the total votes cast will be 1,725, that the three winners will receive more than 800 votes each and that the top vote-getter will be given 1,050 votes (the local record is the 1,223 votes received by Ken Murphy in 1978). Further, we'll speculate that three of the 11 candidates will get less than 200 votes each and that there will be at least one write-in candidate who finishes ahead of at least one candidate who filed.

Remember, there are four polling places in the district this year. A new one has been added for residents living north of the Red Lake river and east of the Thief river. They will vote at the area vocational-technical institute.

Wherever you vote, make the effort to get out and cast a ballot between 4 and 8 p.m. Tuesday. The people who are willing to serve deserve the support of the rest of us who have only to vote.

Bitter Medicine

Following editorial is from the Grundy (Iowa) Register:

The balanced budget envisioned by President Carter for fiscal 1981, even if achieved by a skeptical Congress, is no guaranteed solution to the nation's runaway inflation rate.

But no solutions will be found unless federal spending can be sharply reduced.

Economists generally agree that to cool the inflation spiral the country must spend less. It also must produce more.

Thus the tentative steps to stifle inflation by forcing consumer spending restraints through high interest rates are self-defeating. Government is in competition for the investment dollars attracted by record interest charges. Government, through its treasury bills, always has the last bid.

Money that could be used to create new plants and new jobs and more production is instead being shipped off to finance the deficit spending of government itself. Skyrocketing interest rates also lure money from abroad, which could result in lower prices for imported goods — including cars — and renewed consumer demand for import bargains.

And even the bid to eliminate the budget deficit through spending cuts may be illusory.

Probable hikes in unemployment rates could throw spending and revenues out of kilter again with mandatory outlays in benefits to relieve the jobless.

Revenues, correspondingly, could be reduced by the loss of income tax that accompanies a higher unemployment rate.

Congress is trying, however. The House Budget Committee has proposed a $16.4-billion slash from the figures submitted by the President in January. The Senate Budget Committee may focus on the same areas for trimming — or it may not.

Then appropriations panels in both houses must be convinced of the wisdom of the budget experts' work. The full membership of House and Senate must agree. Some special interests will be hurt. Individual lawmakers will feel their wrath.

The inflation remedy is bitter medicine.

Inflation's burden has fallen on the public. Government, because of its ability to borrow at will — and print new money at will — has been shielded.

The time has come for a balanced federal budget as a start to economic health. There will be no heroes in the effort — just agony to which nobody can be immune.

Marijuana Deadly

Marijuana users may find any number of reasons to attempt to legitimize their habit, even claiming therapeutic value from its use. But concerned medical people are convinced that marijuana smoking will cause far more physical harm than good in nearly all cases.

"Marijuana smoke contains 50 per cent more cancer-causing materials than tobacco smoke," states Donald P. Tashkin, M.D., in a recent issue of the bulletin published by the American Lung association, "so the potential for causing lung cancer is real."

Dr. Tashkin's research on healthy young adults indicated that chronic marijuana smoking may impair the large airways to an extent not observed in habitual tobacco smokers.

Of special concern is the increasing number of teenagers and young adults who smoke marijuana regularly and may continue for years ahead. Estimates are that four million teenagers between the ages of 12 and 17 are current users, and the figure is on the rise. Some people claim the incidence of use is far greater than the four million figure.

"Young people are making themselves guinea pigs, no doubt about it," says Dr. Robert L. DuPont, formerly director of the national institute on drug abuse. "They are skating on the thinnest of thin ice, and they hope they are not running a very severe health risk. I think they are going to lose their bets."

Clean Air Tips

Minnesota Lung association knows a thing or two about the results of air pollution. Here are some of the association's findings:

—Non smokers show a lower incidence of chronic bronchitis than smokers regardless of their exposure to air pollution.

—The particulates matter from diesel engines is 40 times higher than that emitted from engines running on catalyst-equipped gasoline.

—The matter emitted from diesel exhaust is extremely small and sticky, and therefore more likely to be taken deep into the lungs where it can become lodged.

—Wood-burning stoves may emit varying amounts of particulate, carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and other organic matter. About 50 per cent of this particular matter is estimated to be in the respirable range.

—Recent findings show that nonsmokers who work in a smoky environment have about the same risk of breathing impairment as smokers who inhale between one and ten cigarettes a day.

—People are exposed to air pollution indoors while at home and work. Cigarette smoke, gas appliances, wood burning stoves, and various building materials are sources of indoor pollution.

Tribute To Salesmen

Oftentimes salespeople become the butt of bad jokes and have to take the criticism which should more properly be directed toward where the fault lies in a company. As the immediate contact with the buyer, the salesman finds himself caught in the middle and needs the most careful diplomacy to satisfy the customer and still loyally represent the company.

Some years ago, Joseph Gentile, purchasing agent for Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., spoke for hundreds of thousands of consumers when he paid this honest and deserved tribute and challenge to all salesmen:

"I am a buyer. I need you, the salesman, as much as you need me.

"You perform an important function — you bring me the things I am looking for and need.

"I need you to tell me what's new, what's better, and what will fill my requirements.

"When you make the sale, I get as much satisfaction out of it as you do.

"Each of us gets something he wants and something he needs.

"I am on your side.

"Whether or not I stay on your side and whether or not I buy is pretty much up to you.

"Don't underestimate your role. I don't. I cannot afford to."

Another wit put the advice in verse:

"Tell me quick and tell me true, or else, my man, to heck with you—
not how this product came to be, but what the darned thing does for me."

Borrowed Nonsense:

The observation has been made that if you're not an adult when you go in to see a movie these days, you sure are when you come out!

TELEPHONE PIONEERS of America chapter in Thief River Falls recently provided handicapped youngsters in the area with two items of equipment. Sue Hartlep, regional program specialist for the hearing impaired, holds a special bear whose eyes light up when it is spoken to — thereby encouraging youngsters to develop their speech. Why I Supported an Alternative Budget

The First Concurrent Budget Resolution is unacceptable and will not receive my support. As an alternative, I supported and voted for a substitute budget amendment sponsored by Representative Del Latta of Ohio. Unfortunately, this substitute budget was not approved by the House.

The Latta Amendment attempted to balance the budget by reducing or eliminating unnecessary spending growth in the Federal budget. The budget proposed by the House Budget Committee and the Carter Administration takes the opposite approach and seeks to balance the budget by raising taxes and reducing the buying power of every American, particularly those who are retired, on fixed incomes and the needy. Much of the tax increase will be caused by inflation forcing people into higher tax brackets, but higher social security taxes, the windfall profits tax, excise taxes, and the President's new scheme to add 10 cents to each gallon of gas will also take their toll.

As a comparison, the Latta Amendment would have reduced spending by $14 billion over the Budget Committee budget, thus setting spending for 1981 at $597 billion instead of $611.8 billion. In addition, this substitute would have cut taxes in calendar year 1981 by $32 billion. This should have been sufficient to offset President Carter's new gas tax as well as make up for inflation related tax increases. Under the Latta Amendment, Federal spending would have grown by $30 billion over 1980, but taxes would have been $28 billion less than the Committee budget.

I was also discouraged with the defeat of this substitute because it provided for greater defense spending and offered this country an opportunity to expand and improve our military capabilities and preparedness. This is particularly important in light of the Soviet Union's recent military action in Afghanistan and the Iranian crisis.

In addition, I supported the Latta Amendment because it called for maintaining funding for veteran programs and medical care while the Committee budget seeks to reduce veterans benefits by more than $700 million. The budget committee also recommends reducing appropriations for the Postal Service which can be expected to result in the elimination of Saturday mail delivery. The Latta Amendment would have saved Saturday mail delivery.

Both budgets were reported to be balanced but the truth is the Committee budget is expected to have a deficit of several billion dollars by the time the final budget is approved next fall.

Even if this budget were balanced, I would not support it because it seeks to accomplish this goal by raising taxes and not curbing spending growth. The Committee calls for spending in fiscal 1981 that will be $118 billion higher than actual Federal spending in 1979 and $48 billion higher than spending in 1980. This budget also will increase the tax burden on the American public by $90 billion over 1980.

It is unfortunate that the Latta substitute budget did not pass. This was clearly a budget for the working American, those retired, on fixed incomes and the needy. It sought to secure a state of economic well-being by placing the burden on the Federal government and not on the backs of the American people. The Latta substitute would have meant more take home pay for each family and, in my opinion, it provided a responsible budgetary choice for Congress for fiscal 1981.

I am sure I will be criticized for voting against the Committee budget because it is falsely reported to be a balanced budget, but I cannot support the philosophy which attempts to balance the budget by asking taxpayers to pay more of their hard earned dollars to feed the rampant spending of the Federal government. I will only support balancing the budget by reducing and controlling the growth of Federal expenditures.

FFA Chapter Honored For Grain Drives

Minnesota Future Farmers of America, (FFA) chapters from Thief River Falls, Chokio-Alberta and Fertile were honored at the recent state FFA convention at the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

Thief River Falls and Chokio-Alberta chapters both received "100" awards, given for helping sponsor 100 children at Camp Courage by raising over $5,000 since each chapter's first grain drive for Camp Courage.

Fertile chapter earned a te-year-service award for 10 years of participating in the drives.

More than 200 chapters participated in the drives for Camp Courage last fall, raising a total of $115,000 for the specialized camping program for children and adults with physical disabilities and speech, vision and hearing disorders.

Camp Courage, near Maple Lake, and a second residential camp, Courage North near Itasca state park, are operated by Courage center, a United Way organization serving people with physical disabilities and headquartered in the Minneapolis suburb of Golden Valley. More than 950 people enjoyed sessions at the two camps in 1979.

The 1978-79 drives made history because the funds raised from those drives put the Minnesota FFA over the $1 million mark in funds raised for Camp Courage since the first drive in 1953.

FFA donations have built a speech therapy center and horticulture building at Camp Courage and a leadership activities building at Courage North, and have provided hundreds of camperships for children attending camp. FFA funds also paid for a film about Courage center called "Faces of Courage", which premiered in 1975.

Corn drives are part of the FFA commitment to "Living to Serve" projects, aimed at helping others gain richer and more meaningful lives.

Fertilizer And Chemicals Can Tempt Thieves

Stepped up farm planting season in Minnesota, necessitated by unseasonably warm weather, has prompted a reminder on security from Public Safety commissioner John Sopsic.

As in past years, farmers will again be victims of thefts unless precaution is taken. The incentive is greater this year because cost of farm fertilizers and chemicals has skyrocketed.

Sopsic suggests that the farm community use common sense precautions to minimize theft opportunities involving their seed, fertilizers and equipment.

Farmers often take delivery of seed and chemicals bought for this year's planting season and place them in a convenient storage place. "This becomes very convenient for the potential thief," said Ed Herman, assistant to the commissioner for rural affairs in the commissioner's office.

"With the highly inflated prices paid for necessities to plant the 1980 crop, it has become very attractive for thieves to prey only on those products, mainly because once they are stolen, there is no way to trace them," Herman added.

All products should be stored under lock and key, until they are used, Herman concluded.

Sopsic also reminds rural residents of the importance of exercising caution in eliminating the possibility of grass and timber fires during the critical period of drought and high winds.

For additional information concerning these problems, contact Ed Herman, assistant to the commissioner, rural affairs; area code 612-297-3250.

Hearing On Parking Set For May 20

To consider an improvement project which would involve acquiring and developing property for off-street parking and assessing benefitted property owners, a hearing will be held May 20 at 7 p.m. in the council chambers of the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Estimated cost of the project is $600,000, according to a notice of hearing prepared by Gerald Wigness, city clerk. Reunion At Mahnomen Part Of Celebration

Jubilee commemorating the 75th anniversary of the founding of Mahnomen will be held July 18-19-20, combined with the first all-school reunion for the over 3,200 Mahnomen high school graduates from 1913-1980. Official date of incorporation for the village of Mahnomen was April 25, 1905.

Planning for the jubilee and reunion began over a year ago and is now nearly complete, according to Wayne Longtin, jubilee chairman. He said, "We will have most of the traditional community celebration activities plus some added attractions. We extend an invitation to all of our friends and neighbors in the area to join us in marking Mahnomen's 75th birthday."

Saturday, July 19, will be the focal point of the celebration, beginning with the jubilee parade at 10:30 a.m. Parade co-chairmen, Dennis Vagle and Vernon Kuhn, are predicting that the parade will take two hours to pass the reviewing stand. Saturday's other main events are a beef feed, 4 to 7 p.m.; "Brothers of the Brush" judging, 3 p.m.; jubilee queen coronation, 8 p.m.; and a street dance featuring Johnny Holm and his traveling fun show, 9 p.m. The Nordeast 5 from Minneapolis will provide entertainment in the afternoon and during the beef feed, at which 5,000 people are expected to be fed.

Alumni registration and school tours are planned, 3 to 8 p.m., Friday, July 18. Registration and tours will continue on Saturday. There will be community bus tours available on Friday and Saturday. Friday evening dances will be hosted by several organizations and clubs. Friday evening will also feature the crowning of the senior citizen king and queen and the honoring of the oldest pioneer couple.

Sunday's schedule includes services at the individual community churches, school class picnics and a golf tournament at the Mahnomen country club.

Longtin said that other Jubilee special features will include the sale of a 120-page Mahnomen historical book. It will include sections on the community and county history; the school; organizations, pioneers and a complete listing of all Mahnomen graduates. Special Jubilee souvenirs will also be available.

Invitations and registration materials have been mailed to all alumni for whom addresses could be found. Any alumni who may have been missed and who have not yet been contacted are asked to write or call Mrs. DeeDee Ryan at Mahnomen. Dacamine herbicide is bad news for broadleaf weeds. And good news for western wheat growers. Dacamine is the hard-hitting post-emergence herbicide that gets the tough weeds others leave behind, including troublesome volunteer sunflower, thistle, velvetleaf and lots more. Dacamine is non-volatile . . . stays put, right where you spray it. There are no vapors to damage nearby crops, even in the hottest weather.

A Region 8AA trophy will be at stake Tuesday when Thief River Falls and St. Cloud Apollo tangle at 4 p.m. at Brainerd. But there's much more in it for the winner — like maybe a state championship.

The Prowlers, ranked No. 1 in the state coaches association Class AA poll, and the Eagles, ranked No. 3, will draw state-wide attention tomorrow. The winner will advance into next week's state tournament in Bloomington where they'll be the favorites.

"We should be playing for the state championship Tuesday," said Apollo coach Vance Stanoff. "It's just one of those years where we've (Region 8AA) got all the power. Most of the time its in the cities."

Thief River Falls breezed into the Region 8AA finals with a 4-1 romp over Moorhead in the North Half Region 8AA championship match last Tuesday. Apollo had a tougher time getting by cross-town rival Tech 3-2 Thursday.

Apollo has altered its line-up for the tournament, taking No. 2 and 3 singles players Tony Tillemans and Todd Smith to make a potent No. 1 doubles tandem. Tillemans and Casey Merickel were third place finishers in last year's Class AA state doubles competition.

That drops Dave Wieber and Neil Petersen into No. 2 doubles while throwing Al Rauschendorfer and Jeff Pflipsen into No. 2 and 3 singles where they'll have a tough time scoring against the Prowlers' Mitch Rustad and Paul Koppang.

That should give Thief River Falls an automatic 2-0 head start in the team score, meaning the Prowlers have to win just one of the three remaining matches to successfully defend their Region 8AA title while the Eagles must take all three.

"I had seven line-ups and each line-up had merit," explained Stanoff when describing his personnel decision. "Thief River is a little more solid than we are," he admitted. "We didn't have a prayer fighting them even up."

Stanoff confesses that Rauschendorfer and Pfilpsen have been made sacrificial lambs. "If we're going to win, we have to win No. 1 singles and both doubles. We don't have a prayer at 2 and 3 singles."

Both doubles matches would have to be rated toss-ups. Thief River Falls' Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins will have their hands full with Tillemans and Smith at No. 1, and the Prowlers' Bill Holmes and Mark Lundin will in essence be playing the Eagles' season-long top doubles combination at No. 2.

"We'll have a breeze at 2 and 3 singles," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson, who said Holmes and Lundin hold the key. "We've got to win at second doubles," he mentioned. "But I think we're capable of winning all five if we play well."

That leaves the top draw, a No. 1 singles shoot-out between Merickel and Thief River Falls' Bill Jury. In the latest ratings announced Friday, Merickel is No. 2 and Jury is No. 7, with Rustad, unranked all spring, vaulting to No. 5. Chris Coombs of Edina West has been the season-long No. 1 ranked player in the state. Jury was No. 2 and Merickel was No. 3 in the earlier polls.

Merickel is an eighth grader, having the won that medal in doubles last year as a seventh grader. He's leaving Apollo after this year to attend school in Florida where he'll schedule classes around his tennis.

Jury, in addition to battling Merickel, must overcome a back problem that first appeared during the hockey season. He reinjured his back during the North Half Region 8AA team tournament, which was a big part of the reason why he'll be playing doubles with Koppang in the individual portion of the Region 8AA tournament instead of going for his third straight singles title.

"If Jury were healthy Merickel wouldn't be able to stay on the court with him," insisted Olson, who grudgingly admits the match is a toss-up now. "Bill can serve and volley; Casey is a groundstroker, a base line player. Bill's success in the match will be whether he can serve well."

Thief River Falls and Apollo have run into each other twice this spring, but the head-to-head matches that will take place Tuesday never materialized in invitational tournaments at Hibbing April 26 and at St. Cloud May 3. The Prowlers won the Hibbing event and shared the St. Cloud title — with Apollo.

At Hibbing, Jury and Merickel both played No. 1 singles, but they did not meet. Rustad beat Tillemans 6-2, 6-4; Koppang was at No. 3 singles but did not face an Apollo foe; Wieber and Peterson defeated Bjorkman and Collins 6-3, 6-2; Holmes and Lundin stopped Rauschendorfer and Pflipsen 6-3, 6-7, 6-2.

In St. Cloud, Merickel edged Rustad 7-6, 7-6; Tillemans beat Koppang 7-6, 6-1; Bjorkman got by Smith 1-6, 6-4, 6-1; Jury and Collins handled Wieber and Peterson 6-0, 6-3; Holmes and Lundin downed Rauschendorfer and Pflipsen 6-1, 4-6, 6-0.

In the latest poll Thief River Falls held its season-long No. 1 status, followed by No. 2 Minnetonka, Apollo, Austin, Rochester Mayo, Hibbing, Burnsville, Anoka, Edina West and Fridley.

In first round Class AA state tournament play Wed., May 28, the Region 8AA winner will play already-crowned Region 6AA champion Edina West. The Cougars edged defending state champion Edina East 3-2 in the Region 6AA finals after East had knocked off No. 2 ranked Minnetonka 3-2 in the semifinals.

The same state tournament bracket will feature Region 5AA champion Minneapolis Southwest against Region 7AA representative Virginia. Southwest beat Minneapolis Roosevelt 3-2 for a state tournament spot while Virginia loaded up at No. 2 and 3 singles and No. 2 doubles to upset No. 6 ranked Hibbing 3-2. The Blue Devils edged the Prowlers 3-2 in an opening round Class AA state tournament match a year ago en route to a state runner-up finish.

In the latest Class AA singles ratings it was Coombs; Merickel; Bob Bateman, Edina East; Dan Shannon, Minnetonka; Rustad; Mel Chez, Hibbing; Jury; Steve Paulson, Northfield; John Mugford, Cretin; and Steve Fosdick, Alexander Ramsey.

Tennis Team, Individuals Will Compete In Region 8AA Event

Thief River Falls picked off both titles and advanced all four entries into Region 8AA competition Thursday in the individual portion of the North Half Region 8AA high school tennis tournament played at Crookston.

The Prowlers' Mitch Rustad won the singles title with a 6-3, 6-0 championship match victory over teammate Bill Holmes, while Thief River Falls' Bill Jury and Paul Koppang handled John Haukebo and Doug Mithun of Moorhead 6-4, 6-2 in the doubles finals.

Also advancing a notch in tournament play were Thief River Falls' Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins, third place finishers in the doubles competition.

Top four singles and top four doubles finishers in both the North and South Half competition earned berths in the Region 8AA tournament, scheduled to get underway at 9 a.m. Wednesday at Brainerd. Top two singles and top two doubles finishers there will advance to the 1980 Class AA state tennis tournament, scheduled to be played May 28-31 in Bloomington.

Wednesday's individual matches will be preceded by Tuesday's Region 8AA team finals, a 4 p.m. affair matching North Half winner Thief River Falls against South Half champion St. Cloud Apollo. The Prowlers are looking for their third straight state tournament trip and their fourth regional title in six years. They were Region 8 champions in 1975, Section 8 winners in 1978 and Region 8AA titlists in 1979.

Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson altered the Prowlers' team line-up for the individual competition, taking Jury out of No. 1 singles and into No. 1 doubles where he and Koppang, the Prowlers' regular at No. 3 singles for most of the year, are considered Region 8AA favorites. That moved Rustad from No. 2 singles to No. 1 and brought Holmes from No. 2 doubles where he played with Mark Lundin, to No. 2 singles.

Rustad and Holmes were seeded 1-2 for the North Half Region 8AA competition and they came through easily. Both received a first round bye. Rustad blanked John Gits of Bemidji 6-0, 6-0 and took care of Kyle Dufault of East Grand Forks 6-2, 6-1 to reach the finals. Holmes handled Scott Thomson of Detroit Lakes 6-3, 6-1 and sidelined Russ Dukart of Moorhead 6-3, 6-0.

Jury and Koppang received a first round bye, beat Mike Giese and Roy Teigland of East Grand Forks 6-0, 6-1; and defeated Paul Sullivan and John Erie of Crookston 6-0, 6-4 to reach the finals.

Haukebo and Mithun had beaten Thief River Falls' Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins, season-long doubles partners for the Prowlers, 6-1, 6-4 in the semifinals. Bjorkman and Collins bounced back to beat Dan Hoff and Jeff Mels in the third place match 6-3, 6-4. They had earlier beaten Phil Burke and Wayne Sayler of East Grand Forks 6-3, 6-3 and eliminated Phil Hatchner and Tom Johnson of Fergus Falls 6-3, 6-4.

Northmen Take Part In MJCAA, Region 13 Golf Tournaments

Five Northland community college golfers will be in Monticello Tuesday and Wednesday to compete in the combination Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) state and national junior college athletic association (NJCAA) Region 13 meet.

The prize for the Region 13 team champion and the top five non-championship team finishers will be a berth in the 1980 NJCAA national golf tournament June 3-6 at Ft. Meyers, Fla. While Region 13 features athletes from Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, its the Minnesotans who dominate.

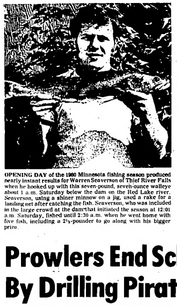
Northland coach Al Adams has high hopes for the Northmen, whose line-up features Gary Johnson and Dave Hanson of Mahnomen, Charlie Boyer, and Kurt Klosterman of Thief River Falls and Jeff Reese of Mahnomen. Hanson is the lone sophomore in the group.

"We hope to finish in the top three," noted Adams, who gives the favorite's role to Normandale. "They've got the most power. They've been under 310 most meets," he said. "Our best was a 311 at Brainerd."

North Hennepin, Lakewood, Inver Hills and Northland may be fighting for positions behind Northmandale, predicted Adams. "It just depends how well we play. We need a good performance out of four golfers."

Johnson is the best of the Northmen; a consistent shooter in the 70's.

"Gary is consistent," pointed out Adams. "He's got good control so he doesn't get into trouble. He's small, so he doesn't hit the ball a long ways, but he has a real good short game. He could possibly be a medal winner."



OPENING DAY of the 1980 Minnesota fishing season produced nearly instant results for Warren Seaverson of Thief River Falls when he hooked up with this seven-pound, seven-ounce walleye about 1 a.m. Saturday below the dam on the Red Lake river. Seaverson, using a shiner minnow on a jig, used a rake for a landing net after catching the fish. Seaverson, who was included in the large crowd at the dam that initiated the season at 12:01 a.m. Saturday, fished until 2:30 a.m. when he went home with five fish, including a 2½-pounder to go along with his bigger prize.

Ladies Stag Night Tonight

Stag night for the Thief River Falls ladies golf league will be held tonight (Monday) with a cocktail hour to begin at 6 p.m. and dinner to be served at 7 p.m.

A specially-arranged "fashion" show, expected to be particularly entertaining for all women present, will follow the dinner. Tickets at $6 per person.

Prowlers End Schedule By Drilling Pirates 12-0

Charlie Cornell and Des Sagedahl will be the opposing coaches Wednesday at 2 p.m. when Thief River Falls and Bemidji open the 1980 North Half Region 8AA high school baseball tournament at Detroit Lakes.

But before the game starts you can expect Sagedahl to offer Cornell a smile, a hand shake and a "thank you." That's because Cornell's Prowlers embarrassed Crookston 12-0 Thursday, eliminating the Pirates from the Northwest Athletic Conference title picture, allowing the Lumberjacks to win their tenth out right NWAC pennant over the past 12 years. They were already assured of at least a title tie for the 11th time in the past dozen years, with Crookston needing a three-game sweep over Thief River Falls and Fergus Falls (a rained-out doubleheader) to catch Bemidji.

But Thief River Falls, winless in five previous conference starts, decided the pennant issue early by exploding for seven runs in the top of the first inning en route to a two-touchdown victory. Nine days earlier the Pirates beat the Prowlers 6-5.

First five Thief River Falls batters of the game all reached base and scored off Crookston starting pitcher Rick Schmitz, who walked Kevin Sanders and Dave Odegaard, watched as an infield error put Jeff Ulrich on base, then served up singles to Mark Schmitke and Mark Harder before retiring a batter. Paul Drees, Tom Drury and Sanders on his second trip to the plate in the inning also collected hits before it was done.

Thief River Falls, finishing the regular season with a 9-7 record after a disastrous 4-9 campaign in 1979, tacked on single runs in the fourth and fifth innings before getting a ten-run rule decision with three in the top of the sixth.

Kelly Gutterud, Wayne Huseth and Ulrich all saw mound duties for the Prowlers, combining on a five-hit shutout. The Prowlers banged out 11 base hits, featuring a 3-for-4 day by Harder who had been battling a prolonged batting slump after a strong start. He also drove in three runs.

The loss dropped the Pirates to 6-5.

Prowlers Win Fourth Straight NWAC Crown . . .

Lincoln Golf Team Collects Three Trophies In Two Days

On Wednesday the Region 8AA golf meet will be held at Fergus Falls, and Thief River Falls coach Jack Boyer couldn't be happier with the timing. His Prowlers, you see, are apparently at the top of their game following a weekend blitz that saw them win three team trophies and take 22 of 28 individual medals.

The Prowlers, who hosted their Thief River Falls invitational this morning (Monday), won the Moorhead invitational Friday and pulled off a doubleheader sweep Saturday at Fergus Falls when they won both trophies in the combination Otter invitational and Northwest Athletic Conference meet.

It was Thief River Falls' fourth straight NWAC crown, an unprecedented feat in conference play since the first one in 1961. The Prowlers won the conference title in 1961 and 1963, but then waited until 1977 to win another, and Boyer's Boys have kept it going through 1978, 1979 and now 1980.

At Moorhead the Prowlers were easy 19-stroke winners, finishing with a six-man 484, followed by Bemidji 503, Detroit Lakes 506, Moorhead 523, Fargo South 538, Fergus Falls 547, Barnesville 552, Moorhead junior varsity 563, Hawley 565, Crookston 588 and Fargo North 595.

Thief River Falls' Dave Geatz was meet medalist with a 77, beating Bemidji's Daman Hearst in a playoff, with Bob Fitzgerald of the Prowlers placing third at 78.

Rest of the Thief River Falls scores included Jeff Imgrund 79, Tony Loeffler 81, Wade Hoppe 83 and Jim Geatz 86.

In the 17th annual Otter invitational, Thief River Falls edged Alexandria 401-402 for first place, followed by Bemidji 406, Little Falls 413, Melrose 415, Detroit Lakes 420, Cold Spring Rocori 421, Brainerd 424, Moorhead 440, Fergus Falls 442, Park Rapids 443, East Grand Forks 456 and Crookston 463.

Gordy Skaar was meet medalist with a 72, followed by Russ Amundson of Alexandria, 73; Jeff Anderson, Detroit Lakes, 75; and Fitzgerald, 75.

Rest of Thief River Falls' five-man team scores included Jim Geatz 79, Dave Geatz 81, Hoppe 82, and Loeffler 84, with Imgrund shooting an 88.

Using the same scores, Thief River Falls emerged a winner in the Northwest Athletic Conference meet with a 401, followed by Bemidji 406, Fergus Falls 442, East Grand Forks 456 and Crookston 463.

Skaar's 72 was good for the NWAC medal, with Fitzgerald's 75 placing him second.

Tee-off time Wednesday at the state tournament-qualifying Region 8AA meet is 9:30 a.m. The 1980 Class AA state golf meet will be staged May 27-28 at Majestic Oaks Golf Club in Blaine.

Spuds Dominate 1980 North Half 8AA Track

Moorhead dominated the competition Saturday in the first ever North Half Region 8AA high school track meet on the Alex Nemzek Field track at Moorhead State University.

The Spuds ran off with the boys' team title with 134 points, followed by Bemidji 107, East Grand Forks 69, Fergus Falls 66, Detroit Lakes 48, Park Rapids 30, Thief River Falls 22 and Crookston 20.

It was even more decisive in the girls portion of the meet as Moorhead accumulated 128½ points, followed by Park Rapids with 66, Bemidji 65, East Grand Forks 57, Detroit Lakes 50¾, Fergus Falls 39¾, Crookston 36 and Thief River Falls 22.

Top eight individuals in each event and the top four relay teams earned return trips to Alex Nemzek for the 1980 Region 8AA track and field championships where they'll be joined by South Half qualifiers. The state meet-qualifying event for boys and girls will be held Saturday beginning at 11 a.m.

Two Thief River Falls girls qualified for Region 8AA competition, with Stacy Ehrenstrom advancing in two field events. She placed second in the discus with a toss of 101-2½ and was fifth in the shot put with a throw of 30-10.

Lori Swanson ran a 5:52.61 1600 meter race to place fifth and earn a Region 8AA berth.

Bruce Johnson led Thief River Falls' boys who qualified for a Region 8AA spot by placing third in the 1600 meter run in 4:36, which will go into the Lincoln high school books as a new mile record, breaking a 4:38.8 set by Joel Headley in 1964, reported Prowlers coach Bill McGann.

Steve Hvidsten was fourth in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles with a personal best 42.0; Greg Ness with fourth in the 800 meter run in a personal best 2:02 and was eighth in the 400 with a 53.0; Keith Grochow was sixth with a personal best 6-0 high jump and the Prowlers' 1600 relay team was a surprising third as Ness, Mark Broadwell, Hvidsten and Kevin Grochow ran a 3:33.7.

"I felt it was about as good as we could have expected," said McGann in reference to the Prowlers' performances. "We had a number of kids who turned in their best performances of the year, and that's all we can ask for."

Lincoln girls coach Tom Schafer echoed McGann when he said, "I would guess most of the girls ran their best races Saturday. I felt everybody did pretty well."

DOE Withdrew Restrictions On Boating

U.S. department of energy withdrew its proposed standby restriction on weekend boating in a statement issued April 24 by the DOE's press officer, Philip Garon. The withdrawl means that when the final standby conservation plan is published in late May, it will not include any proposal on the use of boats or other recreational vehicles.

"I'm highly pleased with the result and very proud of our industry, the boating press, our customers and our many friends who helped greatly in achieving this victory," said National Marine Manufacturers association chairman George Good.

"There was no doubt in my mind that we could do it," reported the architect of the opposition, NMMA president Jeff Napier. "It took hundreds of witnesses at the public hearings — and they came forward; tens of thousands of letters had to be written — and they were written; we received the support of dozens of Congressmen who testified against the proposal on our behalf."

Boating purchasers concerned with energy availability need not have those concerns any longer. "We have established that national energy policy will not single out boating in times of energy shortage. We have established that boaters will get their proportionate share of fuel as a matter of government energy policy," Napier concluded.

At the state level, where lawmakers are dealing with their own energy conservation plans, the proposed boating restriction is finding little support because of boating consumer and trade group efforts. So far, 31 states have indicated that they will not discriminate against boating activity in their emergency energy conservation plans. The remaining 19 states are undeclared.

Opening round games were scheduled today (Monday) in the District 32 high school baseball tournament.

The matches found Marshall County Central playing Karlstad, Warroad vs. Kennedy, Roseau met Strandquist and Middle River tackled Lake of the Woods.

Semifinals and finals will be played Thursday and Friday at Kennedy, with the semifinals matching the Marshall County Central vs. Karlstad winner against the Warroad vs. Kennedy winner; and the Roseau vs. Strandquist winner against the Middle River vs. Lake of the Woods winner.

Marshall County Central finished a 10-4 regular season schedule last week with an 8-2 win over Lake of the Woods Wednesday and an 11-9 defeat at the hands of Middle River Friday.

Freshman Ted Thompson pitched a one-hitter, striking out 11 batters, in the Nordics' victory over Lake of the Woods. Marshall County Central did all of its damage in the fourth inning when the Nordics scored eight times by combing Lake of the Woods errors with singles by Jeff Dahl, Steve Boe and Dave Kragness.

Middle River scored four times in the top of the first inning to set the tone for Friday's high-scoring affair. Scott McKeever and Gene Kami both doubled in that first inning for the winners.

U-M Women Athletes Host Fund Raiser

Annual fun run, a fund-raising event to increase grants-in-aid for women athletes at the University of Minnesota, will be held Tues., June 3, at the Bierman athletic track (516 15th Avenue SE, Minneapolis) from 6 to 8 p.m.

Participants, both individual runners and non-profit groups, simply sign up sponsors for each lap around Bierman track that they can walk, jog, run in one hour.

For non-profit groups, the fun run provides an excellent opportunity to raise money for their own needs. Non-profit groups will receive 40 per cent of their pledges for their own organizations. The groups incur no expenses and the limit of proceeds they can earn is determined only by the number of sponsors they obtain. All proceeds from individuals will benefit the Patty Berg development fund (women's athletic scholarship fund). Prizes will be awarded to individual runners in several categories.

A special 26.2 minute marathon featuring some of Minnesota's finest men and women runners competing against the clock will begin at 8 p.m.

1980 marks the third year the University of Minnesota has sponsored a run for the women's athletic program. The past two efforts have enjoyed wide community support and participation.

Refreshments and entertainment by a local square dance group will be available to all participants during the fun run.

Additional information and sponsor sheets are available at the Women's Athletic Department, Bierman Athletic Building, 516 15th Avenue, SE, Minneapolis, MN 55455, (612) 373-2255.

You pack up your family, you spend a few hundred bucks on a two week vacation, you want a nice place to stay, you want the wife and kids to have fun . . . but you want to fish. So you pick a spot from the folders you have received that answers all the requirements. But you are a stranger to those lakes. The resort owner doesn't have the time to spend in the boat with you. Sure, he'll go out to the end of the dock point and tell you where the bluegills are hitting, but from then on it's a 'do it yourself proposition'. You still have a few bucks to spend so you want a guide. Now the question I'd like to ask: how many good guides do we have in the various areas in Minnesota? There are quite a few, but too few of them realize their responsibilities.

What is a perfect guide? A good guide should be:

+He should be a student of nature, without posing as an expert. He then could point out various aspects of wildlife peculiar to his territory.

+If he is not a biologist, he never should try to explain why fishing is better or worse in his area. In the first place he does not have the education to have the answers. In the second place he could have a political axe to grind. And in the third place he should be honest about his experiences and theories. If he has studied the reports of the biologists and still disagrees then he should keep his mouth shut and not hurt the area in which he makes his living.

+He above all should know how to run a motor, prepare a shore dinner, how to fish, when to use live bait or plugs and where the guy who likes to fish with surface plugs, bugs, casting, spinning or fly rods, can have his fun. But a good guide never blames his lake because he cannot produce a fish for his customer.

I have fished with several guides who could catch fish, but didn't know why they were catching fish. Yet they knew more than all the conservation departments in the nation. They were against anything they did not do. One of them told me a biologist was a man who didn't know how to fish and tried to tell everyone else how to do it. I'll guarantee I have never fished with that man again. He did not realize that a biologist is the mathematician of nature; he makes studies and he comes up with a scientific answer. A biologist does that with a microscope, dip nets, test tubes and years of education. Not with a fish pole. And he does not pass the laws.

What is a perfect guide:

He is a man who knows his lake, knows how to run a motor, and loves to be in the outdoors. He wants to be a hero to his guest with a perfect shore dinner. He has nothing but praise for his community. He never grinds a personal axe in front of strangers. The perfect guide can be the cause of many vacationists returning year after year just to visit him. He can be a student of nature without being a biologist. But above all he has to be an honest outdoorsman. In other words the good guide is a valuable part of a resort area. He should be paid well and should be a career man. He should be a man with pride and deep convictions, yet he should be a man who admits there are others who know more about nature and lakes than he does. The biologist should be his teacher.

Unique Opener

Nisswa Chamber of Commerce had a unique program for the opening of the fishing season. It was called Welcome Wannigan. Wannigan is the Indian name for supply boat. The Wannigan toured the Nisswa-Gull Lake chain giving free coffee and doughnuts to the early morning fishermen.

Muzzleloaders

A muzzleloader's rendezvous will take place in Shakopee May 24-25-26. Participants in pre-1865 costumes will demonstrate tomahawk throwing, rifle loading and other frontier skills. More information may be obtained by writing Margaret Mac Farlane, Director, Minnesota Valley Restoration Project, P.O. Box 275, Shakopee 55379.

Stu Mann Ill

Stu Mann, co-author of the Minnesota Outdoors columns with his wife Dee, is seriously ill in the University of Minnesota Hospitals, room 492, station 43. Dee will continue the columns. The Manns recently moved to 1383 Easter Lane, Eagan. Their phone number is 452-3575. Stu would appreciate cards.

Illegal Fish Takers Hit By Heavy Fines

Twelve men apprehended this spring by a state conservation officer for various violations involving taking of fish during the spawning season were fined a total of $4,700 when they appeared in court in Meeker county April 15.

Larry Allan Leukuma and Daviel D. Mattson, both of Dassel, received fines of $800 or 60 days in jail each for taking seven northern pike.

David L. Reed of Dassel and Mark R. Elliott of Annandale had taken two northern pike and were fined $350 or 35 days each. The same sentence was handed down to Gary Streich, Howard Lake; Richard R. Streich, Waverly; Dennis E. Marshal, Cokato; and Duane V. Helquist, Cokato for taking four northerns.

Two men from Hutchinson — Cory L. Piehl and Dale D. Schlueter — had put a seine in a state carp trap and taken one northern. They were each given a choice of a $600 fine or 90 days in jail.

Fined $100 each for having a spear in possession were Todd J. Hempel and Loren C. Webb of Cokato.

Fined $100 each for taking fish with a trap were Jeff L. Becklund, Waconia; Thomas F. Groschen, Waconia; Steven L. Nesgoda, Excelsior; and Michael M. Gothmann, Waconia.

The last four were tried in Madison April 11.

DNR enforcement director Richard Tarte said that in levying the heavy fines, judges are considering the detrimental effects on the resource caused by the illegal taking of spawning fish.

Girls Soccer Tournament Set Next Fall

Board of directors of the Minnesota State High School League has scheduled the first state girls soccer tournament during the week of October 27 — November 1, 1980.

Twenty-nine schools have currently registered to participate in girls soccer. When the 1980-81 registrations are completed, schools will be assigned to sections for tournament play.

In April of 1980, the MSHSL representative assmebly officially established the fall season for girls soccer by a vote of 65-21. Soccer becomes the eleventh girls sport to be developed by the league since 1970.

Hockey Hall Of Fame To Have Olympic Display

United States Hockey Hall of Fame executive director Roger A. Godin has announced plans for an "Olympic hockey weekend" to be held in Eveleth June 13, 14 and 15. Godin says members of the 1960 and 1980 gold medal-winning United States Olympic hockey teams will gather in Eveleth to witness the unveiling of a new Olympic gold medal display.

Mementoes from Squaw Valley in 1960 and Lake Placid in 1980 will be featured in the display along with audio and video taped messages. A $3,000 donation from the St. Louis Blues professional hockey team initiated construction of the large display.

Highlight of the "Olympic hockey weekend" will be the unveiling ceremony. The new display will be dedicated, and the 1960 and 1980 Olympic hockey team members will receive custom-made Swiss Quartz pocket watches. The watches, donated by Roventa-Henex S.A. of Bienne, Switzerland, have been inscribed especially for this occasion. Other weekend activities include a parade, an invitational golf tournament, a special polka Mass and a public picnic.

Wildlife Refuge System Names New Director

William C. Reffalt, 43, has been tapped by director Lynn A. Greenwalt of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to head up the world's largest network of public lands managed especially for the benefit of wildlife.

As chief of the division of national wildlife refuges, Reffalt will provide staff direction for the operation and management of 410 refuges, two unique wildlife monuments in Alaska and 135 waterfowl production areas located in the pothole country of the upper midwest. He will also be responsible for developing and recommending policies and objectives for the 83 million-acre refuge system.

"Bill Reffalt is noted for his intense dedication to the Fish and Wildlife Service and for an equally intense commitment to accomplishment," Greenwalt said. "His traits as an activist and a leader will make him an effective advocate in Washington for the interests of the national wildlife refuge system — a system rich in tradition that is the model for other wildlife preserves around the world."

Reffalt said his primary goals will be to help guide the refuges as a unified system, to stimulate public understanding and recognition of the function of national wildlife refuges, and to implement the policy recommendations for their operation approved last May by Secretary of the Interior Cecil D. Andrus.

"The American people can be proud of this system, which we pioneered," Reffalt said. "I want to instill in people's minds that refuges serve a public need and the national interest. It's also important for the public to know what our policies are in operating these multiple-value lands — and why."

Prior to accepting his new post, Reffalt spent eight years as the service's representative to the department on the Alaska natural resource and land planning effort and as Chief of the Alaska native claims settlement staff. Greenwalt commended him for his role in support of the president's decision to create two major national wildlife monuments — a new concept — and Secretary Andrus' recent decision to withdraw 12 new refuges in Alaska.

"These are exciting additions to the refuge system that add new dimensions — and demands — to the management of the nation's fish and wildlife in their natural habitat. Bill's role in this process has resulted in fish and wildlife resources being given equal weight for the first time with other natural resources in long range planning," Greenwalt said.

A native of Denver, Colorado, Reffalt received a bachelor of science degree in wildlife management from Colorado State University. Since joining the service in 1963, he has worked in refuge management at the Deer Flat and Minidoka national wildlife refuges in Idaho, Bear River migratory bird refuge in Utah and as refuge manager of the Bitter Lake national wildlife refuge in New Mexico. He was selected for the departmental manager development program and afterwards spent four years in the Albuquerque regional office with the federal aid program before becoming a regional refuge biologist.

Reffalt and his wife, Christine, live in Herndon, Virginia.

NORTHLAND COMMUNITY COLLEGE base runner Tony Smith scrambled back to the bag on a pickoff attempt by Crookston pitcher Scott Morse Saturday just ahead of the tag by first baseman Jack Kern. Smith was ruled safe on the fifth inning play in the opener of a season-ending MJCAA baseball doubleheader played in Thief River Falls. The Trojans won the first game 7-4, with the Northmen taking the nightcap 7-2, giving the two area rivals a four-game split during the 1980 season.

Northmen, Trojans Split Games

Final week of the 1980 season wasn't a particularly good one for the Northland community college baseball team as the Northmen dropped three of four Minnesota junior college athletic association (MJCAA) decisions.

Northland began the week in fine fashion at 11-5, but lost 11-1 and 3-2 in a Wednesday doubleheader at Fergus Falls and fell to rival Crookston 7-4 in the first part of a Saturday twinbill before bouncing back to gain a split and end the season with a win, 7-2.

Even at 12-8 it was the most productive season in Northland baseball history, bettering a 9-6 finish in 1973 — the first year the school sponsored an intercollegiate baseball program. But the Northmen still struggled in MJCAA play, finishing 4-8 in the Northwest Division. Crookston ended the year 2-10 in league play (both wins coming over Northland) and 6-12 overall.

First five Crookston batters reached base and scored in the top of the sixth inning to carry the Trojans to a 7-4 first game victory.

That wiped out a 4-2 Northland lead. The Northmen scored in the first inning on a long two-out single to the left-center field fence by Jim McCue that scored Lyle Johnson, who had singled to start the inning and outstanding 5-for-7 afternoon, from first base.

In the third, Joe Kraska walked, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on an error on a ball hit by Tony Smith. Vince Parker singled to left field to score Smith, who made things happen again in the fifth when he beat out a had hop infield single, stole second and third and trotted home on catcher Lance Olson's throwing error to third.

RBI's that inning went to John Hix, with a bases-loaded triple into the right field corner after a pair of walks and a fielder's choice put the first three men on base; a double to right-center by Jeff Ferguson and a single into short right field by Jack Kern.

Vince Parker pitched hitless ball for 4 and two-thirds innings while Lyle Johnson, sidelined through most of the year with a shoulder injury, and Morice Hendricks both went 3-for-3 at the plate to lead Northland to a 7-2 second game triumph.

Parker did all right for himself at the plate, too, as he stroked a two-run single into right field to give Northland a quick 2-0 first inning lead. He scored on an error on a ball hit by Bruce Williams for a 3-0 head start.

Brian Thomas and Hendricks were both hit by pitches to begin the second inning and they both scored. Joe Kraska's single to right made it 4-0 and a fielder's choice on a ball hit by Tony Smith upped it to 5-0.

It became 7-0 in the third when Johnson doubled to left field and went to third on a passed ball. Williams was hit by a pitch and then got himself intentionally caught in a rundown that ended up as a double steal and a run. Williams later scored on a single to right-center by Scott Chapman.

First Crookston hit of the game off Parker didn't come until John Livingston stroked a ground-rule double over the left-center field fence with two outs in the fifth. Parker then dropped Frank Dostal's easy infield pop fly that could have ended the inning and served up another ground rule double — this one to Jack Kern — for a run.

MSHSL State Track Records Converted

by Larry Larson, MSHSL

Some records may never fall. No, we're not talking about such marks as Garry Bjorklund's phenomenal mile run at the 1969 state track meet that is still more than seven seconds from peril 11 years later.

The records that were made to be broken but may never be topped are the Minnesota boys and girls high school marks in events run in imperial (yards) distances prior to converting to a metric track.

Now that American track is in step with the rest of the world in contesting races on 400-meter ovals, those distances are replacing the yard races at most meets.

What has happened is that races in many cases have been shortened by a few yards. Where the distance is comparable, records can be nearly judged equally.

Where the distance is wide or the metric distance is longer than the imperial distance, comparisons can not be made.

For example, the 100-meter dash is converted to 109.4 yards. Therefore, times for 100 yards and 100 meters can not be compared. Also, a mile is 10.22 yards longer than 1,600 meters, making comparisons impossible.

However, those who ran 220, 440 and 880 yards covered a distance somewhat longer than the present 200, 400, and 800 meters and those times can be lumped together.

In 1977, Ryan Lamppa of Benson ran the 440-yard dash in 48.1 seconds for an all time state meet record. The 400-meter race is shorter by 2.6 yards or 7.668 feet.

If Lamppa could run a longer distance faster than the present-day runners, his mark should be the all time state meet record even though he ran 440 yards. Confusing? Let an expert explain.

Says Orv Bies, MSHSL tournament director and chairman of the national track and field rules committee: "It's merely a response to the realities of the situation. To do it any other way would fly in the face of logic."

Bies also used the Lamppa mark to illustrate his point.

"He was not timed at the 400-meter point, so we don't actually have a 400 time for him," Bies continued. "However, even if he was moving at the speed of light, there would be some time differential between the two points (400 meters and 440 yards)."

"With the 440 time being slower (logically a longer distance), we therefore know that . . . if he ran 48.1 at the 440 point, he was certainly no worse than 48.1 at the 400 point. Obviously, he was faster, but 48.1 is a certifiable time for that distance."

It all means that Lamppa's 48.1 in the 400-yard dash in 1977 will stand as the all time state meet record until someone runs 400 meters faster than that. When that happens, Lamppa's 440-yard mark will stand as that event's record forever.

What the national rules committee is trying to do is preserve its top accomplishments and continue the tradition of its track and field meet at conferences, district, region and state meets.

Governor Fish Opener Spent In Fergus Falls

Governor Al Quie participated in the opening of fishing season by attending the Minnesota governor's fishing opener May 16-18 in Otter Tail county east of Fergus Falls.

The governor's fishing opener, hosted by the Minnesota department of economic development, is held annually to promote fishing and other recreational opportunities in the state. More than 70 outdoor writers, broadcasters and reporters from Minnesota and several other states and Canada began arriving Friday and fished all day Saturday. They stayed in several resorts on Otter Tail, Blanche and West Battle lakes.

"We host the event in different communities each year in cooperation with the local chambers of commerce and resorts," said Hank Todd, tourism director. "Two million anglers fish annually in Minnesota. Our purpose is to highlight the excellent fishing opportunities around the state with these fishing promotions."

The first governor's fishing opener was held in the spring of 1948 during the administration of Governor Luther W. Youngdahl. It was sponsored by the Minnesota department of business, known today as the Minnesota department of economic development. Planning for the event is handled through the department's tourism bureau. The governor's opener continues to be the state's largest state sponsored promotional event each year.

The disabled veterans Committee of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped is concerned with the job needs of disabled veterans.

OUTDOOR WOOD

Hints For Homeowners On Planning And Building

Be sure you get good lumber for your do-it-yourself jobs.

When planning a backyard, do-it-yourself project, choose a material that will blend with the surroundings and will be easy to work with. And choose one that lasts.

If you're thinking wood, think pressure-treated wood. There are good reasons why. It's virtually maintenance-free. It doesn't have to be painted or stained, although it can be if you want to add that finishing touch. It's rot- and termite-resistant, and it adds beauty and value to your home. It can be sawed, drilled or nailed like ordinary wood.

It's a good idea to learn all you can about the wood you plan to use. There are various kinds of treated woods on the market and they're not all alike. Here are a few things to keep in mind when buying this material:

- Look for the specific seal stamped on the wood. Make sure it really is pressure-treated wood.
- Select the wood treated for your intended use (above ground or ground contact). This is stamped on the wood.
- Lumber grades will vary. Pick grades suited for your application.
- If the stamp says Wolmanized® pressure-treated lumber or Outdoor® wood, it has been impregnated with preservatives that give it effective resistance to decay.

For more ideas and other information about using Wolmanized pressure-treated lumber, call toll free, 800-245-2708. In Pennsylvania, call collect 412-227-2441, and in Canada, 416-826-9648.

U of M "Daily" Fee To Be Refundable

Overturning a recommendation of one of its committees, the University of Minnesota board of regents voted eight to three Friday to make the student fee that helps support the student-run Minnesota Daily refundable during the first two weeks of each quarter on a one-year trial basis.

Thursday, the regents' student concerns committee voted three to two to continue the mandatory student fee for the campus newspaper. At Friday's meeting of the full board, West Concord regent Charles Casey offered the resolution for a refundable fee, essentially the same resolution President C. Peter Magrath proposed at the April regents' meeting.

Voting against Casey's resolution were regents Michael Unger, St. Paul; David Lebedoff, Minneapolis; and Mary Schertler, St. Paul. Duluth regent Erwin Goldfine was not present.

Casey's resolution included a number of "whereas" clauses affirming the regents' commitment to the First Amendment, but offering an option for students who wish to have a choice in the services they support.

Mary Schertler criticized Casey's resolution for "opening a 'Pandora's box'" for consideration of refunds for other mandatory student fees that certain groups may find objectionable.

Also opposing Casey's resolution, Michael Unger said that "even though we may have the best of interests in our hearts, many of the faculty may perceive this as a retreat from academic freedom."

The Daily has been the center of controversy since it published a humor issue last June that was criticized as obscene, anti-religious and racist. Despite the controversy, the student services fees committee, made up of students and faculty members, voted to retain the Daily's mandatory fee support this year.

After Magrath proposed a refundable Daily fee, the Twin Cities campus assembly voted 99 to 7 in support of the mandatory fee. TCCA is a student and faculty governing body for the Twin Cities campus.

Professor Rick Purple, chairman of the TCCA, told Magrath in a letter that many faculty members have " a very real fear that political pressures can be brought to bear on the president and the board of regents which might result in a curtailment of academic freedom and free expression."

Before the vote Friday, Magrath said in a prepared statement, "I have no emotional investment in this recommendation. If it is the judgment of the regents to retain the mandatory fee for the board of student publications without any refund options, I would be perfectly comfortable with this outcome."

Unger said that singling out the Daily for a refund will support the fears of members of the university community that political pressure might cause the university to compromise on issues like academic freedom.

"I hope this action is not misinterpreted by the faculty as any diminution of academic freedom," said Minneapolis regent Robert Latz, who voted for the refundable fee. "It was one of the toughest decisions I've had to make as a regent."

"I don't think this is the end for the Daily," said Paynesville regent Lloyd Peterson. "I think it has been an excellent experience for them. I think we'll see a better Minnesota Daily in the future."

The Daily fee was part of the annual consideration of student services fees for all five university campuses. Board approved the administration's recommendation for a $68.40 quarterly fee for students on the Twin Cities campus. A $5.05 increase over last year's quarterly amount, the fee includes $2 for the board of student publications, the group that acts as publisher of the daily.

A resolution to draft a plan for restructuring the publications board was also approved by the full board, after being recommended by the student concerns committee Thursday. Regents asked to see a plan by July 1.

After the initial wave of controversy over the Daily humor issue, a special regents' subcommittee asked the publications board to draw up a plan for its own reorganization.

Restructure resolution "is much more important than the question of funding the Daily," Latz said. "We've waited a year for significant structuring proposals to come forward from the board of student publications. Nothing has come forward. I've lost faith in the ability of the board to restructure itself."

In other business, Clint Hewitt, assistant vice president for physical planning, told the regents that his "best estimate" of the cost for necessary remodeling of Williams arena would not exceed $3 million.

Earlier this year, fire and safety code problems were discovered in the building, making its future uncertain. Unofficial estimates of the cost to bring the building up to code ran as high as $10 million.

At the meeting Friday, the regents approved preliminary remodeling, expected to cost about $200,000, that will allow the sports arena to be used this fall.

The "stop-gap" remodeling will be done this summer, and will include removing 444 seats in the basketball arena and 201 seats in the hockey arena and widening the aisles, Hewitt said. Bids will go out in June, and the first phase of remodeling is expected to be finished in September, he said.

Regents also authorized the administration to borrow up to $5 million to continue planning and working drawings for the proposed remodeling and rebuilding of parts of University of Minnesota hospitals.

FIRST FLEA MARKET of the season (there will be one held each month during the summer) was held Saturday at Floyd B. Olson park in downtown Thief River Falls and exhibitors as well as visitors turned out in large numbers. This Times photo was taken about noon and the crowd continued large throughout the day.

Weatherization Can Help Save Wasted Energy

A 44 per cent increase in the number of low income homes weatherized during the first quarter of 1980 could indicate a nine to 17 per cent savings in home heating fuels next winter, Gov. Al Quie reported today.

The governor said that 3,541 homes were insulated from January 1 to March 30 under a federal-state funded program, administered by the department of economic security. This compares to 2,455 homes that were weatherized under the same program in the first three months of 1979.

"The mild winter we have had this year coupled with additional federal and state funds have greatly increased our weatherization capacity," Quie said. "At this rate we should be able to weatherize 18,000 homes in 1980, resulting in a nine to 17 per cent savings in home heating fuel next winter."

The governor said Minnesota should receive an additional $9.5 million from the federal department of energy to be used in the program for the remainder of the 1980 calendar year. This money is expected by the end of May. In addition, $9 million in state funds, appropriated by the 1980 legislature, will be available to be used for the accelerated weatherization program this year. Federal funds are used for materials, equipment and operating expenses. State funds will be used for skilled labor.

Low income families may apply for the weatherization program by contacting one of the state's 26 community action agencies or by calling the program's state director Charles Wrobel at (612) 296-3885.

Quin Co. Meet Set May 27 At Newfolden

Quin county advisory committee will conduct a special meeting at the Newfolden community center May 27 at 8 p.m.

Legislature has appropriated $500,000 of state funds for special grants to develop programs to assist the elderly and physically disabled to reside in a family setting or home community.

Three letters of intent to apply for those funds have been filed in the Quin county area. Because of very limited time constraints, the May 27 meeting will provide the forum for comments from the public. Any interested persons are invited to attend and comment.

Letters of intent include one from Roseau county nursing service for funds to cover maintainance type care. From Marshall-Kittson nursing service for extending home care in selected circumstances to cover family support and bereavement counseling, and from the Pennington county board of commissioners to study the feasibility of a special housing project for the elderly and disabled.

Quin county board of health will meet June 4 at 8 p.m. for final consideration of the application. This meeting is also open to the public.

"Clean Water — Who Needs It?" was the title of the speeches given by seven regional representatives in St. Cloud that day. Previously, Karen had placed first at the district level and the area level. For placing second at the state contest she received a $50 savings bond.

Also participating in the state junior division from this area was Cindy Solem, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Solem, Thief River Falls.

State Funds Available For Heating Bills

State funds are now available to help low income households pay heating bills from this past winter.

Three million dollars were earmarked by the state legislature for emergency residential heating grants as part of the omnibus energy bill signed by Gov. Quie last month. Payments of up to $400 for each eligible household will be distributed through a priority system which favors the elderly and handicapped persons.

Households eligible for this state program may have income levels slightly above guidelines for a similar federal program which has been operating since November, 1979. Households that have received federal funds are not eligible for state funds.

Gov. Quie has designated the Department of Economic Security, Office of Economic Opportunity, as the administering agency at the state level. People may apply for help through Minnesota's 26 community action agencies, its seven largest Indian reservations, the Dakota County economic assistance agency, and West Hennepin human services.

Arctic Officials Express Optimism

Optimism for the future and a commitment to advancement of the snowmobile industry were expressed by Arctic Enterprises officers and executives at an Arctic Cat snowmobile press briefing held Tuesday at the Thief River golf club.

Present at the briefing were international, national and regional representatives of the snowmobile press, according to Karlyn Elgin, Arctic's director of public relations. They were introduced to the 1981 line of Arctic Cat snowmobiles and given a tour of the manufacturing plant and engineering department as well as viewing an Arcticwear style show.

Irwin Jacobs, chairman of the board, said the company will continue to be one which doesn't look back but always looks to the future. "Our highest priority will be quality excellence in our products," he said. "Arctic is the only stand-alone company in the industry. We have made our decision and are totally and absolutely committed to the industry with a dedication that doesn't exist in any other industry."

Jacobs said the company wants a dominant segment of the snowmobile business and wants to continue as a leader in sales and in product design and performance. "We want to be the Mercedes Benz of the snowmobile industry," he said.

Ken Severinson, president and chief executive officer, reviewed staff and company reorganization into snowmobile and marine product areas. He said that set-backs including lack of snow and downturn in the economy of snowbelt states had left the company with a smaller capital base and the necessity to make changes and consolidations.

"But we have the support of dealers, vendors, employees and financial institutions," he said. "We have always been visible and will continue to be highly visible to the public. One of our major objectives for 1981 will be to reduce inventory and carry-over bank debt. And while we are finding it necessary to consolidate people cost, we are not — I emphasize, we are not — backing off on design and engineering."

Severinson said that substantial losses had been predicted for 1980 operations and that those losses did materialize. Plans for 1981 are to operate on a small loss or break-even basis.

Arctic's president suggested that the snowmobile industry will have to "get back to basics and promote the fun of snowmobiling. Consumer recreational dollars are being squeezed," he said, "and the high initial cost of snowmobiles is a challenge. We feel it is imperative to have a lower priced machine for the first-time buyer."

Grant Oppegaard, recently named executive vice president of the snowmobile product group, noted that last year the company gained in both U.S. and Canadian share of the snowmobile market and had the best selling snowmobiles in the United States. He added that carryover was the lowest percentage of the three top-selling brands and that March retail sales were up 265 per cent over March of 1979.

"In 1981, with adequate snow, retail sales of snowmobiles should again increase to over 200,000 units," he said. "We are in a buyer's market. There is growth in snowmobiling as a sport and in winter recreation. Snowmobiling is a cost effective sport with the average snowmobile using only 80 gallons of gasoline a year. Population shift to rural areas should increase demand,

IRWIN JACOBS, chairman of the board of Arctic Enterprises, Inc., spoke optimistically of the company's future and commitment to the snowmobile industry at a meeting of snowmobile press at the Thief River golf club Tuesday.

KEN SEVERINSON, Arctic Enterprises president, outlined problems encountered by the company during the 1980 year (poor snow conditions and an economic slump) Tuesday at a press meeting preceding a tour of the plant.

He is shown above receiving a $50 check from Oliver Dahle, office manager for the watershed district, and Sharon Peterson, office secretary. The contest served the double purpose of providing the district with an attractive original cover for its report and creating an awareness of water management among students at schools within the district. Entry information pointed out that primary purpose of the district is to reduce flooding, but that activities include engineering, hydrological studies, building dams and dikes, repair and improvement of drainage systems, water conservation, irrigation, pollution prevention, wildlife conservation and erosion reduction. Wentzel's winning drawing was entry number 12 in the contest.

Properties Designated At Assessment Hearing

Approximately 50 property owners attended the special hearing last evening in the city auditorium in Thief River Falls for the discussion on an improvement project involving the development of property for off-street parking.

Presiding at the meeting were city council members; Jon Larson, chairman of the downtown parking assessment district committee; Jim E. Walker, city engineer, Don Stewart, of the former Stewart and Walker firm; and Robert Wurst, city attorney.

Opening the hearing was Mayor Bob Carlson who explained that the purpose of the hearing was the securing of properties for the downtown assessment project and stated that the intent of the city council was to take action one way or another on the issue at their next regular city council meeting May 27 — making this hearing the final one on the issue.

A similar hearing was conducted last July, following which options were secured on properties which could be used for downtown parking.

Jon Larson addressed property owners and council members with an explanation of the tax assessment district, which is bordered on the north by Fifth street, the west by Duluth avenue, the south by the Burlington Northern tracks (including all of the hospital area) and on the north by Atlantic avenue. The assessment district excludes the school district and properties on the east side of Atlantic avenue, as previously stated in the last project hearing.

Parking project is based on the assumption that the Sjoberg parking lot, Credit Union and the Bloomquist-Lind Motor properties would be acquired. Bloomquist-Lind Motor property would include everything but Hanson's Flower shop, Larson said.

Larson also indicated to those present that private property owners and churches would be exempt from special assessments.

Revised estimates presented were based on the land cost information provided by Robert Flynn, Larson said.

Project cost estimates include $181,175 for the Sjoberg-Credit Union lot, which includes $16,175 for improvements for drainage, paving and painting. Project cost for the Bloomquist-Lind Motor properties was set at $271,575 which includes $21,575 for the same improvements. Total project cost is set at $551,000 — a $101,000 increase from the last estimate.

City's in-kind services toward the project results in an amount of $114,000 based on contract prices. In-kind services include amounts for excavation and backfill, concrete removal and demolition.

Harley Kelly, one of the property owners expressing his opinions to the city council and parking assessment district committee, reminded members of each group that they had failed to tell the people when the amount would be paid off.

"I think the time element is very important here," he said.

It was stated that approximate time for the project to be paid back would be from 10 to 12 years, with a maximum of 15 years.

Of the total property owners and tenants present at the hearing, 16 property owners in the assessment district voted in favor of the project, while three were opposed; seven tenants either owning or renting in the assessment along with more disposable income among families with two wage earners."

Dave Rieke, vice president of snowmobile sales and marketing, said the company has a strong dealer network, sound financial picture and good 1981 product line. Dealer slogan for the coming year will be "When You Buy the Cat — Nobody Asks Why". He said engineering is geared toward problem prevention rather than problem detection.

Bob Gilbeck, director for snowmobile product sales, said that the attrition rate for Arctic Dealers last year was less than five per cent in an industry where a 40 to 50 per cent attrition had been predicted. He said the dealer network was the largest investment the company has and that about 40 per cent of the company's losses last year were due to the dealer support program.

Gilbeck said the company will seek more dealer input into company planning, particularly in the areas of development, sales aids and promotion. He expressed the view that Arctic's dealer network was the most sophisticated in the industry.

Information presented during a question and answer session with the snowmobile press indicated that 50 per cent of the snowmobiles in use are eight years old or older; and that 30 per cent of the rural households in Canada own snowmobiles; and that 80 per cent of Arctic Cat sales are made in counties with towns of less than 20,000 population.

Svendsgaard To Receive High USDA Honors

William Svendsgaard, urban 4-H extension agent in Hennepin county, has been selected to receive the superior service award of the U.S. department of agriculture, one of the USDA's highest employee commendations.

Svendsgaard is one of 72 persons to be honored in Washington, D.C. on Thursday. He will be cited for his creative work with minority, inner city and disadvantaged youth in Minneapolis as part of the agricultural extension service 4-H youth development program.

In his three and one-half years with the Hennepin county staff, Svendsgaard has helped tailor 4-H programs to the needs of inner city youths and their families. Under his leadership, 4-H membership within Minneapolis has grown from six clubs with 65 members to 25 clubs with 300 members.

In addition, Svendsgaard works closely with other neighborhood and community social service organizations to provide short-term programs, workshops and projects for inner city youths ranging in age from five to 18. Svendsgaard estimates that he has worked with several thousand young people through cooperative programs between 4-H and such organizations as girls and boys clubs, park and recreation departments, churches, schools, YWCA and YMCA.

As a result of Svendsgaard's success within Minneapolis, he has conducted workshops for other urban 4-H agents and other professionals in youth-serving organizations throughout Minnesota and in five other states.

Svendsgaard lives at 1436 Colorado Ave. S., St. Louis Park, and is a native of Thief River Falls where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Svendsgaard, still reside. His wife, Aljean, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Scholberg of Ortonville. From 1970 to 1973, Svendsgaard was an elementary school teacher in Montevideo. From 1969 to 1973 he was an instructor and student teacher at the University of Minnesota at Morris.

To mark the 50th anniversary of Rev. Keough Patnode's ordination into the priesthood, a golden jubilee celebration will be held June 1 in the Oklee high school auditorium. Mass will be offered at 2 p.m. and a program and buffet lunch will follow.

Born in Gervail township of Red Lake county on May 6, 1901, he attended elementary school in District 112 where his teachers were Carl Schusser and Viola Longtin. He entered St. Lawrence college in Mt. Calvary, Wis., in 1917 and after spending five years there he attended St. Boniface college in St. Boniface, Man., Canada, studying philosophy for two years. Four more years were spent in theological studies at St. John's seminary.

Ordained by the Most Reverend Joseph Busch, bishop of St. Cloud, on June 1, 1930, in St. John's Abbey at Collegeville, he celebrated his first solemn mass June 2 in Red Lake Falls.

Assigned to St. Philip's church in Bemidji, he served as assistant pastor there from July 4, 1930, to May 13, 1932. He then served as pastor for St. Francis Zavier church at Oklee until June 28, 1952, when he moved to Thief River Falls and became pastor of St. Bernard's church. On Sept. 1, 1971, he returned to Oklee to serve as pastor of St. Francis Zavier church.

Chief's Corner

by Ken Froschheiser
Chief of Police
Thief River Falls, MN.

Today's economy and lifestyle are contributing factors to a growing incidence of home burglaries throughout the country. This is increasing the national average of a burglary every 15 seconds, according to many law enforcement agencies.

And the same situation is true in Thief River Falls. That's why we are taking part in observing June as burglary prevention month.

As a rule burglaries increase when the economy levels out, and this is aggravated by the high cost of gold and silver that is stimulating home break-ins.

The increase in working wives has made empty homes and apartments on workdays easy targets for burglars.

We're noticing too that there is an increasing amount of garage burglaries, and we're reminding citizens to keep garage doors closed at all times," he added.

Failure to practice the fundamental techniques of home protection was largely responsible for the (51) burglaries committed in our city last year. Most people didn't intentionally invite intruders to ransack their homes, but some might as well have hung up a sign saying, "No one's home; burglars welcome."

A stroll around your neighborhood any day will tell you at a glance who's away: Porches will be cluttered with circulars, an accumulation of milk bottles on the step, an unkept, lawn, an empty garage with the door open or a bulging mailbox. All of these are tip-offs that will boardcast "no one's home" to anyone canvassing the neighborhood.

In the evening, most empty homes can be spotted too — just look for the dark houses. It's a known fact, light is one of the best deterrents to crime, yet most homeowners go out for an evening and leave their homes completely dark. Or, they'll go off for a weekend or vacation and leave the same light burning day and night. No light at all, or a light burning continuously, is a good giveaway "No one is home."

A simple, but effective means of having light in your home every evening, is by connecting an automatic timing device to one or two lamps. Such a timer will turn a lamp "on" early in the evening, then turn it "off" several hours later. With lights turning on and off during the evening hours it will give the appearance someone is home and may avert a possible burglary attempt!

Here is a list of precautions for homeowners:

(1) Close and lock all doors, including porch, basement and garage. Use pin-tumbler cylinder locks on outside entrances and safety latches on windows.

(2) Connect a lamp to an automatic timer to turn lights in the home on and off each evening. Since sound is a deterrant, connect radio or TV to a timer.

(3) Protect all doors and windows with an inexpensive; portable burglary alarm which sounds whenever someone attempts to break in.

(4) Light up your porch and yard with outdoor lights to increase the likelihood that an attempted burglary would be seen. These lights can also be timer-controlled, if desired.

(5) Be sure all screens are fastened from the inside.

(6) Never leave valuables lying around; keep them in a safety deposit box.

(7) Notify your police department when you'll be leaving and how long you expect to be away.

(8) Cancel all deliveries, such as milk, laundry, cleaning, etc. Also, be sure to discontinue the newspaper or arrange to have it sent to your vacation address.

(9) Have a neighbor, or your post office, hold all mail until your return.

(10) Arrange with a friend to mow the lawn and sweep your sidewalk once a week. Also ask him if he'll pick up any circulars or handbills that may be left on your porch.

(11) Leave your shades and blinds as you normally do; closed blinds keep the sun out, but also make an effective screen for burglars.

(12) Never advertise your departure with an item in the local paper. Give the story about your vacation to the newspaper after you've returned.

There is no such thing as a "burglar proof" home, but following the suggestions listed above will help protect your home whenever you're away.

New Transit Rules Set At Public Hearing

A Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn-DOT) public hearing will be conducted May 29 at 10 a.m. in room 81 of the state office building in St. Paul concerning the adoption of proposed amended rules and new rules relating to public transit.

Included among the proposed changes are changing program titles to conform to new legislation; adopting uniform performance, service and operating standards as well as funding procedures for private operators in the metropolitan taxing district; and adopting application, review and approval procedures for the public transit capital grant assistance program.

Both oral and written statements will be accepted at the hearing. Written statements will be accepted until June 5 and will become a part of the official hearing.

Written statements may be sent to Richard DeLong, hearing examiner, Office of Hearing Examiners, Room 300, 1745 University Avenue, St. Paul, MN 55104.

A copy of the statement of need and reasonableness, a summary of the evidence relied upon by Mn-DOT, is available for review in Room 419, Transportation Building, St. Paul, and at the office of hearing examiners.

Statement copies may be obtained from the office of hearing examiners at a nominal fee.

To Celebrate Ordination Of Rev. Lambert

A special Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated at St. Bernard's parish in Thief River Falls Sunday at 2:30 p.m. following the ordination ceremony of Rev. Richard D. Lambert of Thief River Falls, in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Crookston at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Lambert, 26, will be ordained by the Most Rev. Victor H. Balke of the Crookston diocese. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Lambert of Thief River Falls, and is completing his fourth year of theology at the Saint Paul seminary in St. Paul. He also attended Crosier seminary junior college for two years in Onamia, received his bachelor of arts degree at the college of St. Thomas in St. Paul, and received his Masters of divinity degree at the St. Paul Seminary in St. Paul, upon graduating from Lincoln high school in 1972.

Rev. Lambert interned at the Church of the Sacred Heart in East Grand Forks through last January. He has one brother and four sisters: James Lambert of Thief River Falls; Carolyn Bidleman of Seattle, WA; Mrs. Ronald (Patricia) Ueland of Newfolden; Irene Danielson and Kay Lambert, both of Fargo.

Priests celebrating the Mass of Thanksgiving with Rev. Lambert Sunday will be Rev. James Bernauer, pastor of St. Bernard's; Rev. John Kleinvachter, associate pastor of St. Bernard's; Rev. Keough Patnode, Rev. Clem Cloutier, Rev. Roger Grundhaus, Rev. Richard Rausch, J.S. and priests of the Diocese of Crookston. Rev. Gary LaMoine will be the deacon of the Mass.

Lambert has been appointed as associate pastor of the Sacred Heart parish in East Grand Forks beginning June 6.

Highway Cuts Prove Funding Solution Need

Announcement by the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) cancelling $130 million in state road construction projects confirms the need for long-term, permanent souces of road dollars which can accommodate inflation, according to Robert M. Johnson, executive director for Minnesota Good Roads, Inc. (MGRI).

"The hard-won two cents per gallon increase in Minnesota's gas tax is, in reality, a net decrease in buying power," said Robert J. McFarlin, former state legislator and MGRI legislative chairman. "The annual increase to Mn-DOT will be around $28 million (against a forecast need of $78 million just to preserve the road system as it exists)," McFarlin said.

"In the last year or so, inflation has wiped out approximately $40 million in the buying power of the highway user fund, whic, combined with the $28 million increase, reulsts in a $12 million net decrease in its buying power."

Johnson added that without some permanent accommodation to inflation, "Minnesota's road system will deteriorate to the point where our $16 billion dollar road investment will disappear down a pothold."

Minnesota Good Roads is intensifying its study of alternative funding sources, including putting all highway user dollars generated into the highway user fund. One such source is the 4 per cent sales tax on cars and trucks, dollars now lost to the general fund. Another possibility being studied is a variable motor fuel tax.

Minnesota Good Roads is an association of 2,400 conceened citizens working together to ensure adequate funding to maintain the quality of Minnesota's road system.

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

Urban Trees Threatened By Dry Weather

Most people are aware of the problems created in northern Minnesota forests by this year's unusually dry spring weather. However, it's also important to remember that the dry spring is hard on our urban forests as well. . . the trees in our yards, along the boulevards and in our community parks.

Although the dry weather isn't particularly hard on large trees with established root systems, the lack of rain threatens to damage or kill trees planted in the last few years.

If you have a recently planted tree in your yard or if your community has planted a tree along the boulevard, it's important to give these trees a good soaking once a week until moisture levels return to normal.

The best way to water your grees is to let your garden hose run slowly for an hour or so to insure a thorough soaking. Soaking — unlike a light sprinkling — will encourage your tree's root system to develop properly.

47,000 Member Labor Union Established

A more-than-47,000 member union has appeared on the Minnesota labor scene: PEM (Public Employees of Minnesota).

Purpose of PEM, according to its president, Donald C. Hill:

"To coordinate the activities and programs of affiliated labor organizations whose purpose is to improve the economic, political and social welfare of its members, promote educational interests, advance the standards of education, create and perpetuate ideals for civic and economic betterment, and engage in such other activities as may promote the social and economic welfare of its members and the affiliated member organizations."

PEM — an umbrella union — was established with the Minnesota Education Association (MEA) and the Minnesota School Employees association (MSEA — formerly the Minnesota association of auxiliary personnel) as its initial members.

IMAGE (Independent Minnesota Association of Government Employees), an organization of some 1,600, joined PEM in an agreement-contract signing ceremony at the MEA headquarters here. (MEA has more than 45,000 members; MSEA has nearly 1,000 members.)

The need for PEM was intensified, Hill explained, when the 1980 legislature reduced from 118 to 16 the number of bargaining units representing some 34,000 state employees.

"It became obvious to us," Hill continued, "that there would be thousands of workers who would be stripped of their independent-union status in maintaining adequate representation if something weren't done about it.

"PEM is that something."

Hill said he expects PEM to expedite negotiations with the state — "an often trying and frustrating process" — while providing valuable state employees with a "fair and democratic opportunity" to work toward mutual goals.

Stressing the democratic aspect of PEM, Hill maintained that the new labor organization "is not and will not be staff-oriented nor dominated by external organizations." It is, he continued, an organization initiated and developed by persons who know their needs and how to meet them.

Hill pointed out that, because PEM is available to all public employees in Minnesota, in addition to those in education, potential membership is in excess of 100,000.

Offer Handbook On Planting Shade Trees

A new, comprehensive planting handbook has been made available to the public free of charge by the Minnesota department of agriculture shade tree program.

Written in a direct, conversational style, the handbook presents a step-by-step approach to tree selection, planting and care, and was designed to make tree planting "less scary" to the novice.

Shade tree program in its 1980 Arbor month promotion is making a broad appeal to homeowners to consider the economic and environmental, as well as aesthetic, benefits of tree planting.

May is Arbor month and as the predicted summer energy crisis draws near, the shade tree program asks you to consider these facts:

+Shade for deciduous trees can reduce summer temperatures in your home by as much as 20 degrees Fahrenheit.

+ A single row of tall evergreens on the northwest side of your home can cut winter heating fuel use by 10 to 20 per cent.

For help planting new trees, interested members of the public can call or write us at the Arbot Month office, Minnesota Department of Agriculture, 90 West Plato Boulevard, St. Paul, Minnesota 55107, (612) 296-8580.

State Fair Art Exhibit Has New Location

Minnesota state fair's fine arts exhibition will have a new home for the 1980 fair. After 26 years in the grandstand's third floor art gallery, the fine arts show will move to the newly-remodeled arts center, formerly machinery hall.

The 73-year-old structure has undergone extensive renovation during the past two years, focused on transforming the interior into an art gallery and restoring the exterior to its original appearance.

To celebrate the opening of the arts center, the state fair is offering a special award of $1,000 to the artist with the winning proposal in the fair's first conceptual art competition. Conceptual art is defined as art that falls outside traditional artistic media. It may be an event or unique use of space that does not necessarily result in a finished artwork, as do conventional artistic media.

Artist submitting the selected conceptual art proposal to the state fair's judging panel will have the artwork in place or stage the event on fine arts day, August 21. Artwork or event can be set up or take place anywhere on the fairgrounds, as long as it does not interfere with the normal operation of the fair.

Judging panel will be made up of fine arts superintendent Bob Lesch, secretary-general manager Mike Heffron, competitive exhibits coordinator Steve Pooch, Jerry Allen of the Minneapolis college of art and design, and Donald Celender, professor of art at Macalaster college in St. Paul.

Conceptual art competition is open to all Minnesota residents. Interested artists may send proposals and resume materials to Competitive Entry Department, Minnesota State Fair, Falcon Heights, Minn. 55108. Resume materials cannot be returned. Deadline for submitting proposals is June 20.

Entries for the 69th annual fine arts exhibition will be accepted 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. August 1-3 at the arts center on Randall avenue and Cosgrove street. From an estimated 1,500 entries, independent jurors will select 400 artworks for display in the arts center during the fair, August 21 — September 1. Categories include oils, acrylics, mixed media; sculpture; watercolor, pastel, gouache, casein, tempera; drawings, prints; ceramics (excluding sculpture); textiles; jewelry; and photography. For more information, contact the competitive entry department at the above address, or call (612) 642-2217.

Steps Given To Prevent Water Contamination

In an effort to prevent possible contamination of local water supplies, state health officials are again asking farmers and water supply operators to be careful when they add water to herbicide or pesticide mixing tanks this year.

"The problem we're concerned about is called backsiphonage," said Tom Klaseus, of the state health department's environmental health division. "It can happen any time you allow the water supply pipe or hose to make contact with the liquid in the mixing tank. Under certain circumstances, say a drop in the water pressure, the herbicide or pesticide can be drawn back up into the water supply. Fluid can even flow uphill.

"The result can be a contaminated water supply," said Klaseus. "It happens to one or two municipal water systems and a lot of private wells in Minnesota every year." Klaseus recalled an incident two years ago in which a herbicide was backsiphoned from a farmer's tank truck into a city water system. Health authorities had to restrict use of the water until the entire system could be flushed out and refilled.

Contaminated private wells must be pumped out until the amount of pesticide or herbicide in the water falls below acceptable levels, according to Klaseus. Although the state health department does not test private wells for herbicide or pesticide contamination, that service is available for a fee from a number of private laboratories.

Klaseus had some suggestions for preventing backsiphonage. One solution is to attach the water pipe or hose to a mechanical support, so the end of the supply line is held above and away from the body of the mixing tank. An adequate "air gap" between the end of the supply line and the tank's filler opening is essential. An alternative solution is to fill each supply line with a "backflow prevention device" approved by the state health department.

More information about backflow prevention devices and private well testing is available from the Minnesota Department of Health at (612) 296-5227.

Public Favors Controls On Gov't. Spending

Die-hard advocates of mandatory federal controls on wages and prices seldom miss the opportunity to mention that public opinion polls show popular majorities favor use of controls to fight inflation.

But when given a choice, according to a new Gallup survey, American consumers - by two to one — favor lower federal spending and deficits as a more effective way of dealing with inflation than imposition of wage-price controls.

The Gallup organization conducted the survey in March by interviewing a scientific sampling nationwide of 1,583 consumers. The survey was made for the U.S. Chamber survey center in Washington.

The question was asked — "Looking to the future, which would be a more effective way to reduce inflation: Slow down federal government spending and deficits or put mandatory controls on wages and prices?

Forty-eight percent favor a slowdown in federal spending and deficit financing, compared with 27 per cent who support controls. Thirteen percent wanted both actions.

"These results are rather dramatic findings that the American consumer recognizes that government is the prime source of inflation," Dr. James Morris, director of the survey center, observed.

With inflation running over 18 per cent the last three months, it is easily understood why some Americans still believe controls or ceilings on prices and wages might prove helpful.

But most economists and President Carter's economic advisers steadfastly oppose controls because they fail to attack the underlying causes of higher prices and higher wager. Neither of these is a cause of inflation. They are simply the painful symptoms.

The deeper the spin (as in double-digit inflation), the more likely we are to search out the real causes of our problems. This may well explain why consumers — the public most affected by inflation — are ready to turn to spending restraints in Washington as one of the key moves to fight inflation.

Panel To Set Construction Unit Prices

Municipal screening committee will meet May 29 and 30 to establish unit construction prices, according to the Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT). Beginning at 1 p.m., Thursday, the meeting will continue through Friday at Brainerd.

Construction unit prices will be applied in updating the annual needs study. The needs study will be used in determining the 1981 municipal state-aid street (MSAS) apportionment to cities with 5,000 or more population.

Apportionment to the MSAS system is nine per cent of the Minnesota highway user tax distribution fund, which is composed of monies from the state motor fuel tax and motor vehicle registration fees. The MSAS system covers 1,889 miles.

The committee is composed of a city engineer from each of the nine Mn-DOT construction districts and an engineer from Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Duane D. Aden, Marshall city engineer, is the committee chairman. The vice chairman and secretary are Paul Baker, Mankato, and Charles Honchell, Roseville, respectively.

Research Made On Air Bags, Nuclear Safety

Federal mandate requiring all American cars be equipped with air bags or their equivalent beginning in 1981 is based on faulty test data, according to a special report in the May issue of "Consumers' Research" magazine.

In the same issue, CR reviews official data on the accident at Three Mile Island and concludes that most of the public fears about the accident, concerning radiation hazards and possible explosions, were based on misconceptions.

On the air bag question, the publication presents in detail the findings of the general accounting office, the investigative arm of Congress, concluding that official interpretations of air bag tests imply "a degree of certainty (about the benefits of air bags) not fully supported by the data."

According to the DOT's national highway traffic safety administration, (NHTSA), if every American car were equipped with air bags 9,000 traffic deaths would be prevented each year. But, in response to the GAO inquiry, the safety administration admitted these figures were uncertain. The NHTSA, the report found, would have preferred not to specify figures, but the regulatory process required a specific estimate of lives saved.

The report also discloses that more than 75 per cent of laboratory air bag crash tests simulated full head-on crashes, although such crashes account for only 20 per cent of highway fatalities.

It was found that almost no tests were done for side, rear or rollover crashes. Some evidence suggests that air bags may occasionally be hazardous or ineffective in such crashes, and may be dangerous to unsecured children or out-of-position occupants.

Against these possible hazards, actual field tests of air bags, as opposed to laboratory tests, indicate they provide only slightly more protection than other safety systems.

In the story on Three Mile Island CR highlights some of the lesser known official findings on the subject, including:

+ Despite frightening media reports, "the danger was never — and could not have been — that of nuclear explosion."

+ The nuclear regulatory commission was incorrect in its warning that the so-called "hydrogen bubble" might explode. Concern about the hydrogen bubble was a "groundless fear, an unfortunate error. . . the NRC made no effort to inform the public it had erred."

+ The average dose of radiation received by a person living within five miles of the plant was 10 per cent or less of annual background radiation (the amount of radiation a person could pick up in a year from environmental sources).

+ The amount of radioactivity released during the accident was so small "that there will be no detectable additional cases of cancer, developmental abnormalities, or genetic ill-health as a consequence of the accident at TMI."

+ "The most serious health effect of the accident was severe mental stress."

PROVIDING ASSISTANCE at the North Country Auto Showtime in Thief River Falls Saturday and Sunday were a number of local girls outfitted as the "TRF Cargirls". Four of the young ladies are pictured above with one of the more than 90 entries received in the show. The Cargirls sold and collected tickets, assisted with awarding of prizes, answered questions about the community and chatted with show exhibitors and visitors.

Letters to the Editor

(Lincoln Musical)

For those who missed the Lincoln vocal, orchestra and band music concert presented Monday, May 19, I can only say you missed a good one.

I don't wish to pass over the vocal and orchestra performances; it's just that Mr. Morken and Mrs. Solsten and their respective groups turned in a great performance in a manner that we have come to expect from quite a few years of great performances; so my real reason for writing is to commend the Lincoln band groups for their outstanding production.

It started with the 65-piece Lincoln concert band, a group of younger musicians from grades nine and 10. Their concert was well presented and would be the envy of many high schools in Minnesota. Part of this concert was directed by the student director, 12th grader Dave Lewis, who lost no time in establishing his command of music.

This was followed by the stage band, an obvious crowd pleaser, with up-beat music and some very clever solo work by Hal Swanson, trombone, and Bob Purdy, saxaphone.

The best was yet to come from the 70-piece wind ensemble of mostly 10th, 11th and 12th grade students. This band drove a rather sparse audience to a standing ovation in what can only be described as an "electrifying performance". Three of the numbers presented — "Chorale and Shaker Dance," "Dance Prelude," and "Alleluias" are such difficult music that many college bands would hesitate to try them, yet our Lincoln group did them. . . and very well indeed.

There is a point I would like to make of this. With all the problems of finance faced by our schools today; with teacher problems, school board problems and building and real estate problems, we need to encourage our school board and administrators to keep the priorities straight.

Teachers like Doug Engstrom, band director; Jim Solsten, orchestra director; Dave Morken, vocal director; and a lot of preparatory instructors like Mike Lehrer and others from junior high school — these people prove that this community has no lack of good raw talent. Their ability to put it together as they have done should prove that we need to give top priority to good teaching. Whatever the problems about real estate, buildings and equipment, it takes good teaching and good coaching to bring out the kind of talent that was presented Monday evening.

Sincerely,
Ormond Johnson

Older Citizen Month Noted During May

Senior citizens are the fastest growing segment of the population, according to the Minnesota board on aging. More than 454,000 state residents (11.4 per cent) are age 65 or older and another 160,000 are age 60-64. Minnesotans have the second longest life expectancy in the nation (almost 73 years) and the 18th largest number of senior citizens.

To honor older state residents, Governor Al Quie has proclaimed May "Older Americans Month" and urges state residents to "demonstrate recognition and appreciation of the vital role played by Minnesota's older adults as builders of this great state and nation."

Available from the Minnesota board on aging is a list of suggestions to help communities celebrate Older Americans Month. List includes holding special tournaments, senior olympics, old time craft shows, rock-a-thons complete with rocking chairs, open houses at senior centers, etc.

'79 Fire Loss Corresponds To '78 Figures

"Dollar loss from fewer fires in Minnesota last year was about the same as in 1978, according to preliminary figures compiled by the state fire marshal's office from about 70 per cent of the state's fire departments.

Dollar loss was $68,871,818 in 16,082 fires reported in 1979 compared to $65,488,864 for 16,142 fires reported the previous year.

Reduction in fire number did not mean correspondingly fewer fatalities. There were 91 deaths in 67 incidents, according to Fire Marshal Wes Werner. Forty-six were in one and two-family homes, 17 in mobile homes and 10 in apartments. One firefighter died and more than 200 were injured.

In 1978 the Minnesota fire death toll was 85. The 1977 figure was 125.

One of the most serious problems is mobile home fires, Werner said. Of the fires reported lat year 4,509 were in mobile homes, almost as many as in conventional homes (4,810).

Werner said of the known fire causes, careless use of cigarettes and careless discarded smoking materials led the list, killing 24. The increased use of wood burning heating systems has accounted for a rise in the number of fatal fires caused by wood burning systems.

Minnesota is among 13 states that joined the national reporting system in 1977. Werner said because of it fire officials have more information for improving fire prevention programs, fire and arson investigations, fire safety ordinances and budget planning.

Werner cautioned, however, that the 70 per cent reporting figure still means an incomplete picture of fire loss in Minnesota. Reporting fire departments submitted 32,063 reports, up 3,000 over 1978..

'Elderhostel' Registration Deadlines Set

Senior citizens who are interested in attending "Elderhostel" programs scheduled for four college campuses across North Dakota this summer, are reminded that registration deadlines are quickly approaching.

New Record Membership In MN. Legion

With the enrollment of 124,028 members for 1980, a new all time high membership has been achieved by the American Legion in the state of Minnesota, it was announced by Vern "Sarge" Carstensen of Mankato, state commander.

New all time high was set on April 26 when the 1980 enrollment surpassed the state organization's final 1979 total of 123,462. According to Commander Carstensen, that achievement assures the Minnesota Legion of continuing as at least the sixth largest department in the Legion's national organization. Last year only Pennsylvania, Illinois, New York, Ohio and Indiana had more members.

With attainment of the new goal the Minnesota American Legion has added to the national record the state holds for 16 consecutive years of membership growth.

While increasing its membership each year for the last 16 years, the Minnesota Legion has added more than 27,000 members to its rolls. "That" said Carstensen, "is both the largest numerical and largest percentage increase for any Legion department."

Minnesota Legion's 124,028 members belong to 604 posts in 530 cities throughout the state. Of the 604 posts, 131 have attained new membership records this year.

According to Carstensen, Vietnam era veterans, the youngest of the four groups of war veterans who make up the Legion's membership, now represent about 24 per cent (30,000) of the organization's total membership.

American Legion membership is open to honorably discharged wartime veterans of World War I, World War II, Korean conflict and Vietnam conflict.

SBA Loans To Help Increase Employment

Paul W. Jansen, director of the Minneapolis district office of the Small Business administration, announced this week that $6,600,000 in SBA loans had been approved for 57 Minnesota companies in the month of April. Projected additional employment created as a result of these loans is 476 jobs.

Direct management assistance counseling was provided to 174 Minnesota firms through the Small Business Administration's inhouse counselors or through the Small Business administration's inhouse counselors or through support groups like the service corps of retired executives and the 12 colleges participating in the small business institute program.

Five loans, amounting to $289,000, were made to minority owned firms; making the minority component of the April loan portfolio 8.8 per cent of the total loans and 4.4 per cent of the total loan dollars.

Bill To Limit Taxes On Coal Is Introduced

Senator Dave Durenberger and a group of senators have introduced a bill to limit the amount of taxes states can add to the price of coal. The legislation will set a ceiling on the windfall some states are collecting at the expense of consumers in non-coal producing states like Minnesota.

The bill will limit the states' severance tax on coal produced on federal lands to 12.5 per cent of the selling price. Montana and Wyoming, which provide Minnesota with most of its more than eight million tons of coal each year, currently charge 30 per cent and 17 per cent respectively.

"These excessive taxes on a product as vital as coal is like asking the people of Minnesota to pay for their own economic ruin. Last year, for example, Northern States Power customers in Minnesota paid more than $14 million in taxes to Montana alone," said Durenberger.

Durenberger, in a speech to the senate, cited statements by President Carter over the past three years in which he said the U.S. must use more coal to decrease consumption of foreign oil. Durenberger also pointed to a 16-nation world coal study released Monday that said the consumption of coal must triple by the year 2000 if there is to be real economic growth.

"Montana and Wyoming, which charge the highest severance taxes, have one-half of all the U.S. coal reserve and three-fourths of it is produced of federal land. Western coal is also the cleanest-burning. We can't keep paying outrageous taxes to a few states that are taking advantage of the energy shortage," said the senator.

Durenberger compared the coal states' severance taxes to Minnesota's tax on taconite. "Two-thirds of the nation's iron ore is taken from taconite mines in northeastern Minnesota. Minnesota's iron range is the foundation of America's steel industry. However, Minnesota charges a tax of about four per cent of the value of the ore extracted. At this level, the tax provides fair compensation to the state and local communities for the impact of the mining industry. Minnesotans to not object to production taxes that are reasonably designed to offset the burden that an extraction industry can impose.

"We do object when a vital resource is being held hostage. Minnesota and other non-energy producing states can't keep paying millions of dollars into other states's treasuries. The people of Minnesota can't finance the social programs and tax cuts of other states that are then used as lures to steal our businesses," Durenberger said.

Joining Durenberger in introducing the bill were Senators Dale Bumpers (D-Ark.), Henry Jackson (D-Wash.), Carl Levin (D-Mich.), Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) and Donald Reigle (D-Mich.).

Info-Line Is Helpful For Senior Users

Since last November, senior citizens all over the state have been getting their questions answered by calling the Aging Info-Line, a new service of the Minnesota board on aging.

Questions about fuel assistance, health insurance, finances, housing, legal matters, medicaid, and chore help have been asked most often. Info-Line attendants either answer the questions directly or suggest places where senior citizens should call for help. Callers are also given the phone numbers of information and referral programs in their area for future use.

Although the Info-Line is aimed at senior citizens in isolated or rural areas who don't know where to turn with problems, many metropolitan seniors have used the service as well. Currently the Info-Line aids at least one caller daily.

Open weekdays between 10 and 2, the Info-Line number is 1-800-652-9747.

Coaches gave Moorhead the No. 1 seed and a first round bye for today's (Wednesday) scheduled start of the 1980 North Half Region 8AA high school baseball tournament. But nobody is handing the Spuds the championship trophy — yet.

Back on April 28 when Moorhead lost a 1-0 decision to Thief River Falls, coach Jim Hurley of the Spuds was talking about this week's tournament at Detroit Lakes when he said, "Any one of the seven teams can win it this year."

And apparently he's right. Ralph Anderson of the Detroit Lakes Record wrote Monday, "If the coaches of the seven schools would have waited until Fri., May 16, to make their ratings — instead of submitting them by the previous day — it's possible that Detroit Lakes and not Moorhead may have been rated first."

The Lakers edged the Spuds 2-1 in eight innings Thursday and finished with just one loss against North Half Region 8AA competition, while Moorhead was tagged with a pair of defeats. It was Detroit Lakes' first baseball win over Moorhead since 1974, snapping a string of 14 consecutive wins by the Spuds over the Lakers. That earlier Thief River Falls victory over Moorhead marked the Prowlers' first win over the Spuds since 1968 and ended an eight-game Moorhead win streak over Thief River Falls.

And if the Moorhead losses make the Spuds' No. 1 status shaky, how about Park Rapids? The Panthers, seeded No. 7 for the North Half Region 8AA tournament and a cellar dweller in the Mid State Conference race this spring, stunned Brainerd, the South Half Region 8AA favorite, 6-5 last week.

The Warriors, carrying a 12-game winning streak and already-crowned champion in the tough Central Lakes Conference, led 4-2 until giving up three Park Rapids runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Coach Lowell Searcy of Brainerd felt the game's key play came in the seventh when the Warriors' Mike Brown singled but was thrown out trying to steal second. Brainerd, successful on four previous stolen base attempts in the game, hadn't had a runner caught stealing all year.

Today's North Half Region 8AA match-ups had Thief River Falls vs. Bemidji; Crookston vs. Fergus Falls; and Detroit Lakes vs. Park Rapids. The semifinals Friday will have Moorhead playing the Bemidji-Thief River Falls winner at 1 p.m. and the Crookston-Fergus Falls and Detroit Lakes-Park Rapids winners meeting at 3. Championship game will be played at 6 that night.

MSB Too Late For Cooperative Program

Marv Helling, associate executive director of the Minnesota State High School League has said it is too late for a cooperative sponsorship athletic program for the 1980-81 school year between Crookston Central and Mount St. Benedict high schools.

Mount St. Benedict, facing financial problems and a declining number of athletes, had announced plans to ask permission from the Crookston public school and from the MSHSL for cooperative athletic programs for hockey, golf, tennis, cross country, basketball and swimming.

But Helling told Ralph Anderson of Detroit Lakes that it is too late for cooperative sponsorship between Mount St. Benedict and Crookston Central to be approved during 1980-81, adding that application could be made for cooperative sponsorship for 1981-82.

"Our school board will act on the request for the 1981-82 season," said Bob Rasmus, Crookston Central high school principal.

Loss of Mount St. Benedict will drop Section 8 hockey membership to 16 teams and will eliminate the need for a special post-season playoff game between the No. 16 and 17 finishers in the regular season Section 8 point standings that was needed this year before Sub Section 8 tournament games could get underway. Crosby-Ironton and Brainerd met in that playoff game this winter.

Miscellaneous

+It's been a good year for Thief River Falls teams in the Northwest Athletic Conference. The Lincoln high school basketball team shared the NWAC title with Bemidji this past winter while the Prowlers continued to dominate conference golf and tennis meets this spring. Thief River Falls has won four straight NWAC golf meets and three straight conference tennis tournaments.

Prowlers Win Region 8AA Title With 3-2 Victory Over Apollo

Bill Holmes and Mark Lundin, season-long teammates at No. 2 doubles, pulled out a dramatic three-set 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 victory over Dave Wieber and Neil Petersen Tuesday to clinch a 3-2 Thief River Falls win over St. Cloud Apollo in the finals of the 1980 Region 8AA high school tennis tournament played at Brainerd.

It was the third straight regional title for the Prowlers who were Section 8 champions in 1978 and Region 8AA winners last spring. In addition, they won a Region 8 trophy in 1975. They'll be making their fourth state tournament appearance in six years next Wednesday when they face Edina West of Region 6AA in a first round Class AA matching beginning at 12 noon in Bloomington. Playing at the same time in the same bracket will be Region 5AA champion Minneapolis Southwest and Region 7AA winner Virginia.

Things followed the pattern predicted by both coaches last week after the Prowlers, rated No. 1 in the state tennis coaches association poll, won the North Half Region 8AA team title and the Eagles, rated No. 3, took the South Half crown.

"For us to win," said Apollo coach Vance Stanoff, "we have to win at 1, 1 and 2," meaning a victory at No. 1 singles by Casey Merickel and sweep in doubles by Tony Tillemans and Todd Smith at No. 1 and by Dave Wieber and Neil Petersen at No. 2

Stanoff didn't have any other choice but to take those matches because he had practically guaranteed a 2-0 Thief River Falls start by throwing Al Rauschendorfer and Jeff Pfilpsen to the lions — Mitch Rustad and Paul Koppang in singles. They had been playing second doubles and were badly outclassed on their own yesterday at Rustad took care of Rauschendorfer 6-1, 6-1 in 37 minutes and Koppang handled Pfilpsen 6-0, 6-1 in 48 minutes.

Merickel, a Florida-bound eighth grader, came through for the Eagles with a 6-2, 6-4 win over Thief River Falls' Bill Jury, the two-time defending region singles champion.

Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson had admitted beforehand that Jury, bothered by a back injury, would have trouble with Merickel. Olson also knew that Stanoff's line-up alteration would give the Eagles a hard-to-beat Tillemans-Smith combination at No. 1 doubles. They beat the Prowlers' Tom Bjorkman and Mark Collins 6-4, 7-5.

"We've got to win at second doubles," acknowledged Olson. They did. In grand fashion. Rustad had beaten Rauschendorfer, Koppang had beaten Pfilpsen, Tilleman and Smith had beaten Bjorkman and Collins and Merickel was beating Jury when Holmes and Lundin bounced back from that second set loss to dominate play in the final set against Wieber and Peterson, who played No. 1 doubles for the Eagles all year.

"We played okay, but I was disappointed in No. 2 doubles," said Stanoff afterwards. "They were No. 1 all year and they should have won at No. 2. They made too many errors — unforced mistakes."

"Thief River is tough. They're more solid than we are," admitted Stanoff. "We had to give up two points right at the beginning to try to stay with them. We couldn't beat them even-up."

"We beat them at their own game," smiled Olson. "We did what we had to do. We played well. The kids who ~~lost~~ played their hearts out. Our second doubles sucked it up in the third set when they had to."

Stanoff, by his own admission a poor loser, still had to admit the Prowlers' state tournament chances were better than what the Eagles might have hoped for."

"Thief River would be a better team than us from here on in because they're more solid," pointed out Stanoff. "They're tough all the way through. I think they'll win the state tournament."

"I hope he's right," offered Olson, "but we've got to take them one at a time, beginning with Edina West Wednesday. Apollo is a good team; we were fortunate to win."

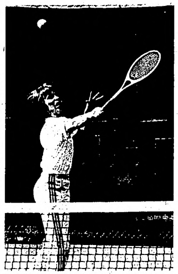
Individual portion of the Region 8AA tournament was scheduled to be played today (Wednesday) at Brainerd, with the top four singles and top four doubles finishers in both the North and South Half tournaments vying for the four available state tournament berths — two singles and two doubles.

For the Prowlers today, Rustad and Holmes will play singles while Jury and Koppang, along with Bjorkman and Collins, compete in doubles.

TRF 3, Apollo 2

1. Casey Merickel (Apollo) def. Bill Jury 6-2, 6-4.
2. Mitch Rustad (TRF) def. Al Rauschendorfer 6-1, 6-1.
3. Paul Koppang (TRF) def. Jeff Pfilpsen 6-0, 6-1.
1. Tony Tillemans, Todd Smith (Apollo) def. Tom Bjorkman, Mark Collins 6-4, 7-5.
2. Bill Holmes, Mark Lundin (TRF) def. Dave Wieber, Neil Petersen 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

REACTING TO A championship-clinching 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 victory over St. Cloud Apollo's Dave Wieber and Neil Peterson at No. 2 doubles, Thief River Falls' Mark Lundin and Bill Holmes congratulated each other seconds after Holmes' shot at the net wrapped up the match and the title for the Prowlers in their 3-2 Region 8AA championship match decision over St. Cloud Apollo Tuesday at Brainerd. It was a classic confrontation between North Half Region 8AA winner Thief River Falls, rated No. 1 in the state, and South Half Region 8AA champion Apollo, rated No. 3, and most observers felt the outcome would ultimately be decided at second doubles. It was. The victory moves the Prowlers into state tournament play for the third straight year next week in Bloomington.



PLAYING AT the net, Thief River Falls senior Bill Holmes used the backhand to return a shot against St. Cloud Apollo Tuesday in the 1980 Region 8AA tennis tournament finals played at Brainerd. Holmes and teammate Mark Lundin clinched the Prowlers' 3-2 victory over the Eagles with a 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 win over Dave Wieber and Neil Peterson at No. 2 doubles. Individual portion of the Region 8AA tournament was scheduled to be played today at Brainerd.

Prowlers Lose 8AA Contest To Tech 30-1

St. Cloud Tech, St. Cloud Apollo and Sauk Rapids won opening round games Tuesday in the 1980 Region 8AA softball tournament played at Whitney Memorial Park in St. Cloud.

Tech clobbered Thief River Falls 30-1, Apollo defeated defending champion Brainerd 15-5 and Sauk Rapids decisioned Little Falls 12-2.

"We had a terrible first inning," pointed out Sharon Stauss, coach of the first-year Prowlers who found themselves facing a quick 12-0 deficit. "Those kids were scared to death that first inning."

Thief River Falls' first year of interscholastic softball featured just a four-game regular season schedule, plus the tournament appearance. The Prowlers lost all five starts, dropping a doubleheader to Alexandria 13-1, 17-1 and losing in a Wadena-hosted tiangular event to Wadena 16-9 and Glenwood 17-3.

Region 8AA semifinals and finals will be played Thursday. In the 2 p.m. semifinals Sauk Rapids meets Tech and Apollo tackles top-seeded Alexandria.

Prowlers Edge Fosston For TRF Golf Meet Title

Golf is an individual sport, but it required a complete team effort Monday for the host Lincoln high school golf team to pull out a victory in the regular season-ending Thief River Falls invitational.

Regulation round competition ended in a 484 first place tie between Thief River Falls and Fosston. The deadlock was broken by comparing scorecards for first hole scores of all six players on both teams that showed the Prowlers with a 28 and the Greyhounds with a 29.

By that slim margin Thief River Falls extended its late season winning streak to four titles, in their final five outings, including three in a row at the end.

Behind the Prowlers and Greyhounds' 484 Monday were Detroit Lakes 487, Bemidji 489, Roseau 493, Fergus Falls 506, Grand Forks Red River junior varsity 518, East Grand Forks 530, Crookston 550 and Moorhead 550.

Thief River Falls' Bob Fitzgerald was meet medalist with a 71. Jeff Anderson of Detroit Lakes and Rob Hyslop of Fergus Falls shared runner-up honors with 73s.

Rest of the Prowlers included Dave Geatz with a 75, Tony Loeffler 83, Wade Hoppe 84, Jeff Imgrund 85 and Jim Geatz 86.

Despite the win, it wasn't a particularly good day for the Prowlers, who had a junior varsity team on the course that bested everybody with a six-man 481 but wasn't eligible for a trophy finish.

Other Lincoln golfers on the course Monday included Jeff Storhaug 78, Jim Hellie 79, Jon Onkka 79, Mark Isaacson 80, Murray Jorde 80, Tom Kenville 85, Bob Evans 87, Chris Jorde 88 and Mark Thune 89.

The Prowlers were scheduled to golf today (Wednesday) in the 1980 Regin 8AA meet at Fergus Falls. It was a 9:30 a.m. tee-off for the event which will send qualifiers to the Minnesota Class AA state golf meet May 27-28 at Majestic Oaks in Anoka.

MEET MEDALIST in Monday's Thief River Falls invitational high school golf meet was the Prowlers' Bob Fitzgerald, shown here chipping onto the green at No. 8. The Lincoln senior shot at 71 for a two-stroke edge over Jeff Anderson of Detroit Lakes and Rob Hyslop of Fergus Falls. The Prowlers, using a tie-breaking procedure, edged Fosston by one shot for the team title.

TRF Women's Slow Pitch Is Now Underway

Ridge Runners edged Roseau Transport 7-6 and Hydra-Mac out-scored Credit Bureau 14-11 Monday on the opening night of the 1980 Thief River Falls women's slow pitch softball league season.

Rest of the scores weren't so close as Pizza Hut handled the Mush-a-Rettes 19-11, Ekeren Drug belted the Legion 19-5, St. Hilaire Saints drubbed NEA 15-5, the Schmidt Stealers routed the Barbers 17-1 and the Health Hustlers whipped Walseth Construction 21-2. Great Northwest Agency picked up a forfeit win over Dwight's Hartz.

Boating can be fun if you know these important safety rules. Always check the weather forecast before setting out, and make sure everyone on board wears a life jacket. Carrying too many people or too much equipment can cause your boat to overturn. If someone does fall overboard, toss him or her a life jacket or anything that will float, such as a beach ball. Extend an oar, fishing pole or other long object, and pull the person to the boat.

TOM BJORKMAN RETURNED the shot, with Thief River Falls teammate Mark Collins ready with the backhand for Insurance Tuesday during the Prowlers' Region 8AA high school tennis championship match against St. Cloud Apollo at Brainerd. Tony Tillemans and Todd Smith of the Eagles defeated Bjorkman and Collins 6-4, 7-5 at No. 1 doubles, but the Prowlers came out a 3-2 winner in the final count to earn a berth in the 1980 Minnesota Class AA state tennis tournament next week in Bloomington.

A SHOWCASE IN the lobby area at First Northwestern State Bank displays the 1979-80 Thief River Falls Region 8AA Sportsmanship Award trophy and part of the community participation in the state-wide Minnesota State High School League sponsored activity. Looking over the display Monday were Chris Lawrenz, Lincoln high school student senate president, who officially began Thief River Falls' involvement in the program by accepting the MSHSL challenege on behalf of the school and community; and Lincoln athletic director Russ Smith, the project coordinator. It's the second straight year the Prowlers and their fans have earned the prestigious award.

County Board Proceedings

Official Proceedings
Pennington County, Minnesota
May 6, 1980

Pursuant to adjournment the County Board met in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 A.M., May 6, 1980.

Members present: Grabanski, Koop, Stenberg, Tasa and Hoffman. All present.

Doug Dehnert appeared and asked about the status of the St. Hilaire Bridge. County Engineer Arvid Olson advised Mr. Dehnert that the West approach to the bridge would be revised directly West to T.H. 32 at the time of the construction of the bridge and that the East approach would be left much as it is with a small amount of work to be done very near the bridge. Construction time depends upon when funds are available and that could be as early as toward the end of this year.

Mr. Dehnert urged the Board to consider a relocation of the bridge site in the interest of providing access to more people.

The minutes of the meetings of April 8 and 24th were read and approved as read.

The Engineer discussed with the Board the bridge program that is scheduled for this year. Those that had funds available appeared to be on schedule.

The Board then discussed a matter that has provided concern for some as a part of the State, City and County Signal project. It appears that signals will be installed directly in front of a business establishment just across the 1st Street Bridge and this may cause a disruption of the store's traffic. It was mentioned that on several occasions the operators had discussed the project with the Board representative from that area and the project was considered a welcome solution to the traffic problem. The Board was reminded that they should attend a Special Meeting of the City Council at 8:30 P.M., May 7th as a part of the Committee responsible for the signal project.

Moved by Hoffman seconded by Stenberg that the Road Committee and the Bridges and Culvert Committee inspect roads, bridges and culverts at 9:00 A.M., May 12, 1980. Motion carried.

Les Sabo representing the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Assoc. (TRFAHA) spoke to the Board relative to a project that the organization had undertaken to provide additional facilities for the youth of the community by a rehabilitation project in the old Arena which has been substantially complete except for the artificial ice machine. Mr. Sabo asked for consideration of an appropriation to assist in completion of the project. The Board determined that they would discuss it more completely later in the day.

Marv Enerson and Fr. James Bernauer representing the Historical Society presented a financial statement, indicated the level of the program of operation for 1980 and asked that the Board consider an appropriation of $7,000. for this 1980 operation. The Board reviewed the Revenue Sharing Fund budgets and found that an adjustment had been made at the last hearing to provide for additional funding and upon motion by Stenberg seconded by Koop the sum of $6,000. was appropriated from Revenue Sharing to be paid to the Pennington County Historical Society to assist with the 1980 operation. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Sheriff Richards then discussed the 911 Emergency Telephone Program which has been substantially planned but is awaiting the naming of a Committee to complete the Plan. Upon suggestion of Sheriff Richards the Board named the following County residents to the 911 Planning Committee representing various segments of the County, as follows: Charles R. Richards, Sheriff; Al Bacon, Northwestern Bell; Ken Froschheiser, City Police; Dewey Noel, City Fire Dept.; Capt. Lloyd Rudd, Highway Patrol; Dennis Mills, St. Hilaire Council; Bernard Huot, St. Hilaire Fire Dept.; Bruce Bjerklie, Goodridge; Roy Daniels, N.W. Hospital Emergency Services; and Ray Nelson.

At 2:00 P.M. the Board proceeded to open bids for Grading and Surfacing CSAH 12-7-13 under project numbers 57-612-03, 57-607-04, 57-613-01 and 57-607-05. Two projects tied as one Contract. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Drewes Constr. Co. Detroit Lakes	$289,067.42
Donald Conroy Dumont	$343,175.16
Stan Morrill Fergus Falls	$362,458.47
Holthusen Const. Grygla	$296,381.54
Strom Const. Moorhead	$333,320.63
Sellin Bros. Hawley	$377,267.20
Anderson Bros. Fosston	$344,233.50

The bid of Drewes Constr. Co. in the amount of $289,067.42 appeared to be the lowest and best bid received, subject to final audit, and upon motion by Koop seconded by Hoffman it was voted by said Board of Commissioners to recommend to the Commissioner of Transportation as Agent for the County, that said contract be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

Moved by Hoffman seconded by Stenberg that the sum of $25.00 be appropriated to the Lion's Club of the City of Goodridge and the sum of $250.00 be appropriated to the VFW Post 2793 for proper observance of Memorial Day in Pennington County and the City of Goodridge. Motion to approve and pay appropriations unanimously approved.

The request for financial assistance for the Occupational Development Center that had been laid over from the meeting of April 24 was again taken up and it was determined that the request for annual maintenance in the amount of 30 cents per capita was properly a block grant item and was referred to the block grant administrator. The request for assistance in the Building Fund was discussed and upon motion by Koop seconded by Stenberg the sum of $2,000.00 was appropriated and ordered paid to the ODC to assist with the Building Fund. Motion declared unanimously carried.

The request for assistance in providing facilities for the Youth by improving the old Arena was discussed and upon motion by Stenberg seconded by Koop the sum of $500.00 was appropriated and ordered paid to the TRFAHA to assist in providing a new artificial ice machine. Motion declared unanimously carried.

A request was presented for approval of allocation of Housing Funds in the amount of $39,175.00 with the County share being $13,711.00 (excluding the City of Thief River Falls). Commissioner Stenberg moved the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, THE MINNESOTA HOUSING FINANCE AGENCY, State of Minnesota, has been authorized to undertake a program to provide grants of funds to property owners for the purpose of housing rehabilitation; and

WHEREAS, Northwest Minnesota Multi-County HRA has developed an application as an administering Entity for the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Home Improvement Grant Program; and

WHEREAS, Northwest Minnesota Multi-County HRA has demonstrated the ability to perform the required activities of the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Home Improvement Grant Program,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that Northwest Minnesota Multi-County HRA is hereby authorized to make application to the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency for a grant of funds pursuant to the Home Improvement Grant Program;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Northwest Minnesota Multi-County HRA is hereby authorized as an entity to be charged with the administration of funds made available through the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency Home Improvement Grant Program, in the County of Pennington.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Koop and upon vote declared unanimously adopted.

AT 8:30 A.M. the Soo Line engine, along with its 57 cars from Noyes, rolls into the Thief River Falls yard office with gas, sulphur, potash and lumber — all products from Canada. Gas Supplies Appear Good For Weekend

Gasoline supplies look good for the first holiday weekend of the summer; however, nearly half of the 63 stations surveyed reported they would be closed on May 26 for Memorial day, according to The Minnesota State Automobile association (AAA). Two-thirds of the stations reported they would be open on Sundays.

The slowdown of gasoline prices is continuing, and prices rose only 1.2 cents per gallon in the past month, according to Minnesota AAA. Gasoline had been increasing at the rate of nearly two cents a week earlier this year. Minnesota AAA noted that the court ruling against President Carter's 10-cents per gallon import fee on gasoline has helped stabilize prices. Minnesota AAA opposed such a fee, since it is estimated that it would only reduce consumption by about one per cent, and Minnesotans have already cut their gasoline use by approximately 11 per cent so far this year.

However, Minnesota AAA does expect that prices will continue to increase. The recent $2 per barrel price increase, retroactive to April 1, by Saudi Arabia will probably add a two or three cents per gallon increase by companies supplied by Saudi Arabia. In addition, an OPEC price hike meeting is set for June in Algiers. Decontrol of domestic crude oil continues to cause monthly price increases of about a penny a gallon, added Minnesota AAA.

Currently, the average price per gallon at full-service stations is $1.276 for regular, $1.336 for premium, $1.318 for unleaded, $1.361 for premium unleaded and $1.094 for diesel.

At self-service pumps, the average price per gallon is $1.195 for regular, $1.27 for premium, $1.244 for unleaded and $1.292 for premium unleaded.

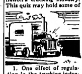
Because there is a substantial price difference between full and selfservice stations, Minnesota AAA reminds motorists who are pumping their own gas not to neglect under-the-hood maintenance. Check the oil and other fluid levels and look for loose belts. Also check the air pressure in your vehicle's tires, advised Minnesota AAA.

The motoring organization also asked that motorists buckle their seat belts, and avoid driving after drinking alcoholic beverages.

"Over 50,000 people are killed on highways every year, and the department of transportation estimates that 15,000 to 20,000 of those lives could be saved if people buckled their lap and shoulder belts. And don't forget to put infants and toddlers in federally approved child restraints," said Diane Nelsen, public relations associate.

QUICK QUIZ

Congress may soon vote on whether to deregulate the nation's trucking industry. How could that affect us? This quiz may hold some of the answers.



1. One effect of regulation in the trucking industry has been poor productivity. True or false?

2. Under deregulation, the chief losers would probably be smaller, outlying communities. True or false?

3. The cost of shipping has risen at just about the same pace as wholesale prices? True or false?

4. Deregulation can be expected to contribute to safety on our highways? True or false?

ANSWERS: 1. False. In the past two years alone, the trucking industry's productivity increased an average of eight percent per year. 2. True. The International Brotherhood of Teamsters believes that thousands of shippers serving outlying communities might go out of business as those who remain rush to serve only the more lucrative big cities. 3. False. While wholesale prices have gone up 94 percent in the last ten years, the trucking industry has increased its ton-mile revenues only 69 percent in the same period. 4. False. A recent study showed that nonregulated owner-operators had nearly 3.7 times as many reportable accidents as regulated common carriers and 3.2 times as many moving violations.

MN. Ag Women Elect Officers At Convention

Minnesota Women for Agriculture (MWA), an action organization concerned about the future of agriculture, recently held its second annual convention in Elrosa.

Congressman Arlan Stangeland presented some farm-related legislation that was recently passed or coming up for a vote and also gave some personal views on farm-government and farm family relationships.

A film, "Great Grandmother — A History and Celebration of Prairie Women", depicting the physical, mental and political hardships of the early prairie women, was shown.

The president of American Agri-Women (AAW), Evelyn Landis, of Larimore, N.D., discussed some of AAW's concerns and held a brief question and answer period. The convention adjourned after the business meeting and election of officers.

Those elected were Norma Hanson, president, Goodridge; Myrna Evenson, first vice president, Climax; Mary Haub, second vice president, Alexandria; Sue Anderson, treasurer, Belgrade; and Marion De Boer, secretary, Climax. Appointments were Treasure Omdahl, editor, Warren; Sandy Waschek, public relations, Oak Park; and Audrey Grechling, legislation, Rockford.

Resolutions included such topics as land ownership, land use planning, renewable energy, parity and education on rural life. People interested in more information on NWA may contact Norma Hanson, Goodridge.

RDC Funds Of $200,000 Are Now Available

Minnesota rural development council will consider applications for grants for demonstration projects designed to improve the quality of life for rural citizens.

Approximately $200,000 are available for grants in 1980. Deadline for submitting applications for this grant cycle is June 1. Eligible applicants for these grants include government agencies, public or private non-profit organizations, and other institutions which have an interest in or provide public services to rural residents in Minnesota.

Types of projects not eligible for funding under this program include research or studies not directly integrated with an action program; ongoing projects already beyond the demonstration phase; and construction of physical facilities.

In the January funding there were several farm alcohol demonstration projects funded. If you have a project you would like to submit contact the rural development council staff, Shirley Rutherford, 550 Cedar Street, St. Paul, MN 55101, 612-296-2145 or toll free 1-800-652-9747.

Views On Dental Health®

IMMEDIATE DENTURES

One of the cosmetic miracles of modern dentistry is the "immediate denture". These are constructed BEFORE all remaining natural teeth are removed and inserted as soon as the final teeth are extracted. Naturally, they will need some adjustments as your swollen gums recede back to normal, but it's a darn sight better than facing the public with no teeth while your dentures are being constructed in the laboratory.

In this procedure, the back teeth are removed but the front teeth are allowed to remain. When the gums are healed, impressions are taken with the front teeth still in place and dentures are prepared. When the day of reckoning arrives, the front teeth (and perhaps a few others which may have remained) are extracted and your "immediate dentures" are inserted at the same appointment.

Healing beneath the immediate denture is usually uneventful. One might expect pain to result from wearing a denture over an area from which teeth have been extracted, but just the opposite occurs. The immediate denture acts as a protective covering for the jaw as it is healing.

Life's roughest years

Being a teen-ager can be torture . . . a lot of the time. And the early twenties don't flatten out that smoothly. There's a desperate loneliness about having problems your kid-brother hasn't encountered and your parents must have forgotten.

The loneliness is worst if your folks gave you nothing to believe in — or if they turned you off when they tried to share their convictions with you.

No one has to stay away from God. Many a young searcher has found his faith, found himself, and found his family in his quest for spiritual certainties.

Sunday morning there's more to do than lean on a tree.

Demand For More Nurses Still Rising

by Ralph Heussner
'U' M News Service

"Nurses are leaving the profession in great numbers and are heading into more lucrative fields. . ."

This warning, issued in 1923 by the president of the American Nursing association, rings just as true in 1980, advised an officer of the Minnesota Nursing association (MNA) at a conference recently on the University of Minnesota St. Paul campus.

"Today, we're talking about the same thing we were talking about 60 years ago," MNA lobbyist Linda Sandvig told the 75 nurses gathered at the Earle Brown center for continuing education. "Every year we're talking about facing a shortage of nurses."

The traditional approach to solving the nursing shortage has been to open more nursing schools, Sandvig said. If more and more nurses were trained, it was believed, eventually the supply would be sufficient to meet the demand.

But while there has been a steady increase in the number of nursing professionals trained, she said, the demand for nursing help has also risen dramatically. As a result, the solution to the nursing shortage in the 1980s will not be found through education alone. Instead, a way must be found to keep nurses in the profession, she said.

In the view of the MNA, the number of trained and licensed nursing professionals in 1980 is adequate, but the majority are not working full time. "What we lack is effective demand," Sandvig said. "We have more nurses than ever, but we lack the willingness to bring forth the supply" into the marketplace.

Drawing on a statistical analysis of students who attend nursing schools, Sandvig said that of every 100 students who enter, 80 will eventually be licensed, but only 70 will go to work in the health care field. And of that group, half will be working only part time.

"That means only 35 to 45 per cent of the nurses are working full time in the labor market," Sandvig said.

Failure of health care administrators to recruit and retain nurses is the result of many forces and pressures, she said. "In the past decade, there has been a dramatic increase in the use of technology which has placed more demands on (nurses') time and efforts," she said. "Patients are also demanding more and requiring more of nurses."

The result is more pressure and responsibility, which leads to a higher "burnout rate." The average stay of nurses working in intensive care units is 18 months, Sandvig said.

Looking to the future, the MNA official predicted that the problem of nurse shortages will continue. "Meantime, we have to prepare ourselves to cope with the situation," she said.

Sandvig said nurses must "stop blaming themselves for the shortage. Get rid of the guilt feelings which some have called the rape victim mentality. This is not nursing's problem alone."

She called on nurses to become educators. "Tell the public why there is a shortage," she said.

Finally, she said, there are a number of strategies that institutions can use to attract and keep nurses, including going to flexible hours, involving nurses in policy-making decisions, and providing pay incentives.

"Some say money won't solve the problem. Well, let's try it and then say it didn't work," Sandvig said to applause from her fellow nurses.

The day-long conference was sponsored by the Department of Continuing Nursing Education at the University of Minnesota.

Quies To Have Unique Party On Anniversary

On June 5, Governor Al Quie and his wife, Gretchen, will celebrate their 32nd wedding anniversary. Five days later they will be throwing a party of sorts for themselves.

Gretchen Quie has established an unusual invitation list as part of her eighth "Overnight at the Mansion".

Among the invited guests will be: A Hennepin County couple who also celebrated their thirty-second wedding anniversary on June 5; a women who milks cows daily and her husband; a cat-loving person who has a maple tree in his-her yard; and a curly-haired little league coach and spouse.

Minnesotans who fall into one of the special categories (there's one for each of the guest bedrooms) are asked to send a postcard, before June 2, indicating their name, address, phone number and special category to: Gretchen Quie, 1006 Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota 55105.

One card will be selected from each category. Activities will include dinner, square dancing, breakfast and a state capital tour.

Mrs. Quie has calculated that one person in 50 who qualifies and sends in a postcard will be selected.

Citizens interested in the program can secure further information by calling the project chair, Sue Dahl, (612) 938-4779.

Wheat Growers Dissatisfied With Purchase

"Effort on the part of spring wheat producers in Minnesota and other spring wheat producing states to market their grain to the government is the best indication of the severe financial constraints that are plaguing producers in the upper Great Plains area," Jorgen Knutson, president of the Minnesota Wheat Growers association, told agriculture secretary Bob Bergland in a recent letter.

Knutson added, "This also explains our concern when the Minnesota Wheat Growers association protested to the department of agriculture and to our Congressional delegation last month when spring wheat was not included in the initial tenders — protests that were successful in opening the CCC purchase program to spring wheats."

Knutson told Bergland, "We are still very disappointed that spring wheat was not included in the first two rounds of purchasing when a total of about 60 million bushels of hard winter, soft winter, and white wheat were bought by the Commodity credit corporation from grain dealers. In the third purchase, when spring wheat was finally made eligible, 30 per cent of the wheat purchased was hard red spring wheat. If the USDA had not prohibited spring wheat from being offered during the first two purchases and this percentage was true, then an additional 23 million bushels of spring wheat could have been taken off the market and an additional $80 million made available to the spring wheat producing area."

Knutson advised that, although the credit crisis appears to be peaking and interest rates should be declining, the problems for the wheat industry will continue. Referring to recent USDA reports, Knutson said there was a projected 11 per cent increase in U.S. wheat acreage for harvest in 1980 over 1979, including a 9.6 per cent increase in spring wheat acreage and a 37 per cent increase in durum. He also indicated that the crop outlook is favorable in all major producing areas except Australia and reports indicate an additional six per cent increase in wheat acreage in Canada. Knutson warned, "If good conditions continue to prevail, we could again see a build-up of carry-over stocks in the U.S. during the 1980-81 season and continued depressed markets."

Knutson urged Bergland to "take whatever steps within your power to assist the producers in the spring wheat area." Among the actions Knutson recommended was to purchase the remaining 6.4 million bushels of hard red spring wheat that was offered against the recent CCC tender, but not accepted. He also recommended that the farm support programs should be increased to stop the decline in domestic wheat prices, and urged that a much greater emphasis should also be made to move wheat supplies out of the U.S. into the export market.

Knutson reminded the Secretary of his own remarks at a recent meeting of U.S. Wheat associates and the national association of wheat growers that there is no lack of demand for U.S. agricultural products, only a lack of available financing to purchase food needs and a lack of facilities in developing countries to handle the grain. Knutson emphasized that, "with less lip-service to the problem and more immediate action, the United States has the ability to assist in rectifying both of these problems."

Knutson concluded his letter to Bergland by indicating that "a viable export market with open and free access to all importing countries is the only good long term solution to our problems, but additional support programs are needed now to bolster our prices in the short run. We urge you to take action immediately in both of these areas."

TIPS FOR TRAVELERS

Knowing how to read a map can help put you on the right road to more fun and less cost.

It may come as a surprise to some, but there's more to know about using a road map than just the best way to fold it. A good road map can be among the most helpful and least expensive travel guides available for business and vacation trip planning. Now that gas stations have mostly stopped giving them away, however, you want to get the best map for your money, as well as the most benefit from your map. The experts at Rand McNally have some suggestions.

1. Know what you need. If you're going long distance, a regional map of several states showing the Interstate System may serve, but if you want to take in interesting things along the way, you'll want larger scale city and state maps with secondary highway detail and "points of interest" coverage.

2. Get an up-to-date map. Thousands of changes are made to keep road maps up-to-date each year. Many travelers have found it safer and even cheaper in the long run to get the Rand McNally Road Atlas with state and local maps of the U.S., Canada and Mexico, and the copyright on the title page so you know how new it is. The 1980 edition is now available.

3. Use the legend. Symbols and type of information will vary. A quick look at the legend can help avoid mistakes.

4. Plan ahead. Collect the maps and guides you'll need. Plan your route, side trips, travel times and distance, meals and overnight spots.

5. Orient your map. North is the top of most maps. Turn the map upside down when driving south so left and right are correct.

6. Know how to use the index. If coordinates "0-24" are given for a town, it does not mean the town can necessarily be found where lines drawn between "0" and "24" intersect. The coordinates define a square section of the map, and the town (Beech Grove, Ind.) may be anywhere within that square as shown in the illustration. (Map copyright Rand McNally)

Agricultural Chemicals A Threat To Eyes

If you work with fertilizers, pesticides and other agricultural chemicals, you are risking a serious eye injury and possible blindness unless you wear the proper eye protection, warns the national society to prevent blindness (NSPB).

"Reports from hospital emergency rooms over several years show that chemicals have been responsible for nearly two-thirds of all agricultural eye injuries," Virginia S. Boyce, executive director of the society, said.

"For the sake of your sight," Mrs. Boyce urged, "use appropriate protective eyewear whenever you handle agricultural chemicals. With eye protection and proper safety precautions, 90 per cent of eye injuries could be prevented."

All farmers working with fertilizers, pesticides, chemical cleaners and solvents should wear goggles fitting snugly around the eye area, with hooded vents to keep out liquids, to shield the eyes from harm. A face shield fitting over the goggles provides maximum protection from these caustic, toxic and often flammable substances.

The society also offers the following general safety tips:

—Study the product's label for correct use and observe listed precautions.

—Thoroughly understand how to operate any equipment prior to use.

—Avoid direct contact with dust, spray mixes and vapors.

—Always store pesticides in original containers, keeping them tightly closed.

—Carry at least five gallons of plain water on tractors and other farm equipment.

If an accident occurs, flush the eyes with water instantly, continuing for at least 15 minutes, with the eyelids held open. Then seek medical attention immediately.

"Waiting for treatment increases the chances for sight loss," Mrs. Boyce cautioned. "Never put salves or ointments in the eyes; they tend to complicate first aid and later medical treatment."

Liquid (and gaseous) forms of fertilizers are highly concentrated and can cause serious injuries. Of special concern is anhydrous ammonia, a gas pressurized to liquid state and used very effectively to increase crop yields. One of the most damaging substances affecting the eye, anhydrous ammonia begins destroying cells and tissues within seconds of contact. In addition to carrying at least 5 gallons of water on the tractor, nurse tank and applicator, the Society urges all anhydrous ammonia users to keep a plastic squeeze bottle of water in a shirt pocket to flush the eyes immediately, in case contact with anhydrous occurs.

Many eye injuries occur during the transfer of pressurized anhydrous ammonia from bulk containers to smaller tanks, a process repeated several times between production source and field application.

"Be sure to check all hose fittings and connections on equipment carefully every day," Mrs. Boyce said. "All it takes is a minor defect — a weak point in a hose, a faulty valve, a worn fitting — and eyesight may be threatened."

Potentially blinding effects of anhydrous ammonia are graphically presented in a film called "For the Rest of Your Life." A dramatization of an accident with anhydrous ammonia demonstrates the dangers as well as safe handling procedures and recommended eye and face protection devices. The film is available on loan from the National Society to Prevent Blindness, 79 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016.

"To safeguard your sight during farming season," Mrs. Boyce concluded, "use safety eyewear, maintain and operate equipment properly and have water — plenty of it — available at all times.

National society, established in 1908, is the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through community service programs, public and professional education and research.

Entries For All-American Band Sought

High school band directors throughout Minnesota are taking part in musical search for 102 outstanding high school seniors to represent their states in the 1980 McDonald's All-American high school band.

The only music recognition program of its kind in the U.S., the All-American band brings together 102 musicians to perform in the Macy's Thanksgiving day parade and Carnegie hall in New York City and at other concert performances. For band directors, the program provides recognition for top musicians at a price in line with their budgets: all expenses for band members are paid.

Annually, high school band directors are invited to nominate their most talented students to the band. From the thousands of nominees, 102 musicians — two from each state and the District of Columbia — are chosen by a selection committee of music educators. The final 102 for the 1980 band will be announced in early October.

In addition to performance opportunities, the program also provides members the chance to audition for scholarships and instrument awards. Scholarships to the New England conservatory of music in Boston, the national music camp at Interlochen, Michigan, and Livingston college at Rutgers university are awarded to selected members.

FANCY THAT!

CONGRESS
AIR CARGO COSTS

Deregulation of the airline industry has turned out to be a "bitter pill" for many congressmen and consumers to swallow. Instead of trimming costs as billed, deregulation has seen the cost of air cargo rise by 40 percent, and a cutback in insurance and liability.

In the past ten years, regulated truck transportation costs (measured in constant 1967 dollars) have actually declined. Nevertheless, some determined congressional deregulators now want to deregulate trucking. The International Brotherhood of Teamsters points out that to do so could result in higher insurance costs, wasted fuel, and higher freight rates.

More Government Help

Current edition of "Congress Today" points out another vital service of the U.S. government, this time a booklet prepared by the department of health, education and welfare. How would our nation ever function without such help as indicated in the following:

What would you do if your furnace ran out of oil and your woodpile ran out of logs? How would you keep warm? Well, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is worried about us in the latest of the agency's pet public projects (a brochure entitled, "No More Heat? A Self-Help Booklet"). Several very important "self-help" steps are outlined in case our homes go cold. Really important advice, mind you, like "don't get wet."

But one of the best ideas in the booklet is the suggestion to wrap newspaper about the body and place a paper bag over the head in order to keep warm. Just to make sure that paper-stuffed Americans don't wander around their chilly homes blind, HEW's brochures adds, "Cut out eye holes in the paper bag."

In addition, the HEW officials warn that hypothermia — the potentially fatal lowering of body temperatures — can occur in rooms as warm as 65-degrees, which also just happens to be the temperature the bureaucrats have told us to keep our thermostats set in our homes and offices.

According to Rep. Ron Paul (R-Tex.), this very valuable brochure cost the American taxpayers $75,000 to print. Of course, the energy shortage in this country was fueled by the reams of red tape legislation proposed by these federal bureaucrats. And now the federal officials are spending more money to tell us how to handle the problems they created.

Paul thinks that maybe the bureaucrats should follow their own advice and wear paper bags over the head . . . and just forget about the eye holes.

Sweaty Palms, Heavy Hearts

Staff writer Ole Peterson of the Land O'Lakes Mirror makes a strong point on farm safety — or safety in any field, for that matter — with his column in the May issue of the publication. His column is as follows:

Your palms are sweaty, cold. There's a big lump in your throat and your mouth is dry. You find the water fountain.

Why doesn't someone come and tell you how he is? Why does it take so long? You pace some more, up and down the hallway, searching the faces of passersby. No one gives you a hint of hope. They all seem so detached.

Then it's back to your chair in the waiting area. "Waiting" is the right word for it. Seems as if you've been waiting an eternity. Wondering. Worrying. Crying. Praying.

Will he be able to walk? Will they have to amputate? Is he in terrible pain? "Dear Lord, please let him live; bring him back to me. He is part of me and I don't see how I could go on living without him."

You think about the kids at home. You know they're frightened. And you know they're praying, too. But are they OK? Knowing that Josie, that generous neighbor of yours, is caring for them comforts you somewhat. But what about Bobby, your man's little tag-along pal? He's only 4, far too young for such a traumatic experience. But aren't we all?

Back to the water fountain. Why, oh why, doesn't someone bring some news — a doctor, a nurse, an aide? Back to the waiting room.

Your mind spins. You remember when you were first married and moved to the farm. What fun the two of you had. You, a city girl, putting up hay with the most wonderful man in the world, the man who taught you how to milk a cow, care for calves, help out at farrowing time. The man who for 21 years now has been holding you tight, caressing you gently with calloused hands, telling you that he loves you beyond all measure.

Then the big swinging doors in front of you open. A man dressed in a surgical gown walks through and over to you. The lump in your throat swells even more. Now that the time has finally come you're afraid to hear what he has to say. You try to stand but can't. Your knees have gone weak. You just sit there, in a kind of stupor, as the man identifies himself as a staff doctor.

"Your husband got off lucky," he says. "Only a broken femur and severe lacerations, but he'll be fine, eventually. Yes, you may see him now."

Scenes such as this are common in our hospitals. Yes, Mr. Farmer, even in the hospital that serves your community. However, some wives don't get such good news.

When accidents happen, wives, children and other loved ones are as torn emotionally as the victim is physically. All suffer pain and anguish unnecessarily.

You're now into a busy season, Mr. Farmer, at the control of heavy tractors and other machines. Gears, belts and blades are flying over, under and all about you. You're handling potentially lethal chemicals, fertilizers, fuels and electricity. Don't get so busy, so wrapped up in getting the job done, that you take short cuts by neglecting good safety practices.

A friend of mine, the mother of five and widow of another friend, one of the smartest farmers I've ever known, asked that I bring you this message.

Shouldn't They Work?

Following editorial is from the Canby News:

Recently the United States House of Representatives voted to guarantee a national minimum welfare payment to poor families with children and to make other, more modest changes in the welfare system.

But, the Republicans had a good idea. They tried. Unfortunately, they failed.

The Republicans wanted states to require welfare recipients to "work" and would have set up pilot welfare projects in eight states and three counties. The measure was defeated though, 205-200.

Passage of the Republican motion may have delayed the welfare payments for another year. So what?

All 148 Republicans who voted supported the motion — they were joined by 52 Democrats. The opposition to the motion came entirely from Democrats.

The Republicans had the right idea. Certainly, welfare recipients should not be exempt from working — whenever or wherever possible. When the country and taxpayers are continually faced with a spiralling budget, due partially to government "hand out programs", requiring recipients to work, although not the complete answer, is one measure, that will at least, help reduce the federal budget.

If they are good enough to receive taxpayer's money — certainly the recipients ought to be "good enough to work". The sooner the Democrats realize it, the sooner taxpayers will be better off.

The main provision of the approved welfare payment would establish a minimum welfare payment for poor families regardless of where they live. In the past, such a concept has been called a guaranteed minimum income, or a negative income tax.

With the House approval of the national minimum welfare payment, the minimum would be set at 60 per cent of the Census Bureau's official poverty level as of Jan. 1, 1981 and 65 per cent of the poverty level after Oct. 1, 1981. Sixty-five per cent of the poverty level for a family of four in 1979 dollars is about $4,650.

The administration has estimated the cost of the bill at $3 billion a year, but such estimates often change. More realistic economists have estimates that run as high as $20 billion.

If the Democrats would have considered having welfare recipients working, as the Republicans proposed, that $20 billion could possibly have been reduced considerably.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Teacher to student: "Billy, why are you writing so slowly?"

Billy: "This is a letter to my little sister, and she can't read very fast."

Gems from the classroom: "A circle is a round line with no kinks in it, joined up so as not to show where it began." "Universal suffrage was when the whole universe was made to suffer." "Savages are people who don't know what wrong is until missionaries show them." "An antique is something no one would be seen with if there were more of them, but which everyone wants when no one has any."

"Don't throw away that empty seed packet," advised the neighbor to a man planting his garden. "If it stays this dry, you'll be able to use it to store your crop this fall."

Wife to Husband: "I have good news for you, dear. You haven't been paying those auto insurance premiums for nothing."

Washington wants to know

Deregulation?

Legislation that is intended to be a blessing to the consumer may turn out to be a burden in disguise.

Some politicians are urging that the nation's trucking industry be deregulated. Because the bulk of our food, supplies and services are provided by truck, any such legislation will have far-reaching repercussions — and demands close scrutiny.

Regulated since 1935, our truck distribution system — the finest in the world — continues to get more efficient, due in part to better equipment, better roads, better productivity of workers — and sometimes, better regulations!

In the past two years, for instance, productivity of the trucking industry increased an average of eight percent per year. Productivity and efficiency gains have been returned to the consumer in the form of lower costs.

While wholesale prices have gone up 94 percent in the past ten years, and the value of the dollar declined nearly 50 percent, the trucking industry increased its ton-mile revenue by only 59 percent. Thus, in terms of real 1967 dollars, truck transportation costs have dropped: for each 1967 dollar a shipper spent on truck transportation then, he spends only 77.5 cents now.

Some regulations have been allies in our fight against inflation.

America may also have to pay for deregulation with highway safety. The International Brotherhood of Teamsters points out that nonregulated owner-operators had nearly 3.7 times as many reportable accidents per 100,000 miles as regulated common carriers, and over 3.2 times as many moving violations.

The outcome of the debate on deregulation can be expected to affect both our safety and our budgets. Legislators who may soon have to vote in this vital issue want—and need—to know your opinion.

Red Lake county social services received $5,776 as partial funding for the expansion of their transportation services for the elderly for medical services to include transportation to meal sites and other activities within Red Lake county. Urges Caution In Handling Farm Chemicals

Eight people were hospitalized the evening of April 23 at Waseca after an ammonia hose broke at a fertilizer plant there.

The Waseca incident is one of at least six reported in Minnesota during April, pointing up the need to "slow it down, take your time and do it right" when handling farm chemicals and fertilizer, said Commissioner John P. Sopsic of the Minnesota department of public safety.

In another case, reported to the Minnesota department of agriculture, 150 residents of Walters, near the Iowa-Minnesota border, were evacuated from their homes after a tanker truck carrying 18 tons of ammonia overturned in a ditch.

The most publicized incident was a 27-car train derailment in March near Buffalo in central Minnesota. Seven of the cars contained ammonia and traffic had to be diverted off highway 55 while the problem was corrected.

Another problem occurring because of fertilizer and pesticide mishandling is extension loss of livestock. At Peterson, in Fillmore County, 14 cows and 18 calves died April 21 of apparent pesticide poisoning on the Jaymour Lee farm. The report said a bag of pesticide kept from the previous year and being stored in the feed area was the cause.

Sopsic said the additional few minutes it takes to observe precautionary measures can avoid loss of time, expense and possible human life. Also, in this era of high inflation, farmers can ill afford more financial loss due to accident.

Sen. Boschwitz Opposes $613 Billion Budget

Opposing a $613.1 billion budget adopted by the Senate Monday, Senator Rudy Boschwitz said, "the budget is balanced only for the moment and that balancing act is based on an expected tax increase which should not come."

"During the course of debate," Boschwitz said, "I opposed several amendments which sould have increased spending without making corresponding cuts. Yet, the Senate did add $300 million to the budget recommended by the budget committee. Those funds were taken from money set aside for a tax cut next year."

"The balanced budget," Boschwitz said, "assumes an increase of $110 billion in revenues to the government through new taxes and inflation. We simply cannot count on that increased revenue during a recession. And, we cannot be sure that projections of 12 per cent inflation are adequate when the inflation rate for the first three months of this year rose at an annual rate of 18 per cent," he said.

"Included in those revenue figures," Boschwitz said, "is the $10 billion to be collected from the oil import fee which will raise the price of gas by 10 cents a gallon. However, it is entirely possible that those funds will not be available as opposition to the fee is building in Congress and it may be repealed. If we are successful in repealing the import fee," he said, "the budget will more than likely assume a deficit.

"We could have balanced the budget," Boschwitz said, "If we had taken a more realistic approach to spending. Holding spending to 21 per cent of the gross national product or $596 billion for 1981 would have provided a cushion to assure a balanced budget and adequate funds for a significant tax cut.

"This budget is balanced only on paper," Boschwitz said, "and as inflation steams along the government will demand increases during the year which will imbalance it. We gave the government three raises in 1980," he said, "and I expect they will be asking for raises in 1981. It is a cruel deception to declare a balanced budget to the tax payer today, only to present him with deficits down the road."

Army Offers Guarantee Of Skill Training

The army guarantees that qualified young people will receive the skill training of their choice and wants to be sure high school students get the message.

"That's the reason behind a national and local campaign being launched this spring by the U.S. army recruiting command," says Sergeant Rich Krantz, the army recruiter in Thief River Falls.

"Thrust of the campaign," he adds, "is to reinforce what recruiters have been telling high school students — that, if you qualify, the army gives you a written guarantee that you'll receive the training of your choice."

Because not all types of training are available when a prospect first decides to enlist, the army's delayed entry program offers several options for qualified male and female high school seniors or recent high school graduates.

"Under this program," says Sergeant Rich Krantz, "if you qualify, you have up to 12 months to go on active duty from the day you enlist. Thus, if the training you want isn't immediately available, you can wait until it is." More than 200 different types of skill training opportunities are available in the army.

DOT Head Says Gas Tax Hike Is Not Enough

"There's a regular smorgasboard of road funding proposals under consideration by the legislature, but no single course of action will satisfy even minimal state road needs," said Richard Braun, commissioner, Minnesota department of transportation (Mn-DOT) at a meeting recently with officers of Minnesota Good Roads, Inc. (MGRI).

According to Mn-DOT estimates, the minimum amount of additional funding needed during fiscal 1981 for state road work alone is $78 million. Of the various proposals being considered, a two-cent per gallon increase in Minnesota's gasoline tax would bring only $26 million to the state during fiscal 1981 for road work. Other sources include a gradual transfer from the general fund to the highway fund of excise taxes paid on the sale of motor vehicles ($18 million to the state); interstate and bridge bonding ($41 million to the state); and transfer of the department of public safety from the highway fund to the general fund ($32 million to the state).

"What we're looking for from the legislature is a combination that will bring in enough to meet minimal needs," said Robert M. Johnson, executive director of MGRI. "Without the $78 million, Minnesota will be unable to match federal dollars and will probably see more road projects deferred in 1981."

Critical shortfall in highway funding is the result of decreased fuel consumption coupled with steadily increasing construction costs. As fuel consumption diminishes, income to the highway user fund from the gasoline tax is expected to plunge as much as 10 per cent in the coming year while construction costs are likely to increase by about 21 per cent.

Minnesota Good Roads is an association of 1,500 concerned citizens working together to ensure adequate funding to maintain the quality of Minnesota's road system. In recent years the group supported the 1975 increase in the gasoline tax as well as successful bridge bonding measures.

TURKEY DELI SLICES LIVEN LUNCH BAG

The way to a man's heart is through his lunch-bag. And it's easy to pack a lunch with nutrition and variety that will keep your mate happy both in body and spirit. Many traditional luncheon meats are high in fat and calories. But the new deli slices made from turkey, now available at most supermarkets from Louis Rich, make it possible to enjoy a hearty and interesting lunch with about half the fat and calories found in most beef and pork luncheon meats. The turkey meats are lower in price too.

There are lots of ways to make the lunch bag a pleasant surprise package. Use thin-sliced party loaves of bread to build festive sandwich creations. Or put your sandwich filling into a stalk of celery for a crunchy change of pace. Pack an apple or pear with a slice of cheese for dessert as an alternative to last night's chocolate cake.

Enclose a dinner-size paper napkin in a bright color to add a touch of luxury that's very practical for desk-top lunching. And tuck in an occasional note that's romantic, humorous, or both, to set your mate's mind on you during lunch. Everyone needs a break from business during the day, and what could be a better subject of distraction?

As a starter, try these creative combos, made from Louis Rich deli slices and other nutritious ingredients.

- Mix chopped turkey pastrami and chives with cottage cheese, packed into celery sticks.
- Halve a cucumber, scoop out seeds, and fill with a mixture of chopped turkey and plain yogurt, seasoned with dried dill weed.
- Atop thin slice of French bread, place a slice of smoked turkey, tomato and a dollop of French mayonnaise (flavor jar mayonnaise with prepared Dijon Mustard and finely crushed dried tarragon to taste) and close with another slice of bread.
- Fill a pita bread pocket with julienned turkey salami, chopped lettuce and tomato and drizzle a teaspoon of Italian dressing over the filling.
- Skewer bite-sized squares of turkey bologna, a cherry tomato and a cucumber slice on toothpicks.
- Mix crumbled bleu cheese into cream cheese, spread on turkey ham slice, roll up and skewer with toothpick.
- Chop lettuce and black olives, toss with sour cream to moisten and spread on turkey slices on party rye bread.

(To receive a free recipe booklet, plus a special offer for the Year Round Turkey Cookbook by Slim Gourmet Barbara Gibbons, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Free Turkey Recipes, Louis Rich, Inc., P.O. Box 44, West Liberty; Iowa 52776.)

Keep wheat fields cleaner with non-volatile DACAMINE.

Dacamine herbicide is bad news for broadleaf weeds And good news for western wheat growers. Dacamine is the hard-hitting post-emergence herbicide that gets the tough weeds others leave behind. Including troublesome volunteer sunflower, thistle, velvetleaf and lots more. The powerful action of Dacamine penetrates waxy weed leaves and travels all the way down to the roots. Tough perennials are less likely to grow back.

Dacamine is non-volatile... stays put, right where you spray it. There are no vapors to damage nearby crops, even in the hottest weather.

Dacamine is the herbicide farmers use when their normal broadleaf weed control program fails. It's great for general weed control in fencerows, roadsides and around buildings, too.

Dacamine herbicide — bad news for broadleaf weeds. Good news for you.

Says Futures Help Stabilize Sunflowers

Sunflower futures trading on the Minneapolis grain exchange will help bring economic stability to the sunflower farmer and strengthen the upper midwest's lead position in sunflower production, according to Gov. Al Quie.

Speaking at the sunflower futures opening day ceremonies at the Minneapolis grain exchange, the governor said that a sunflower farmer who sells a sunflower futures contract has his price guaranteed, and thus "has greater access to borrowed funds — a factor that is of special relevance in this era of tight money."

Bankers tend to more readily loan money to farmers who utilize the futures market to guarantee a profitable return over their production costs, Quie said.

Before the opening of the sunflower futures trading today, sunflower farmers have not had the opportunity to trade in the futures market. The Minnesota grain exchange is the first and only sunflower futures trading in the country.

In sunflower futures trading, farmers will be able to sell individual futures contracts of 100,000 pounds. That amount equals slightly more than two semi-truck loads. The average farmer, therefore, will have little difficulty in producing the amount of sunflowers necessary to participate in futures trading, the governor said.

Quie said locating the sunflower futures trading in Minneapolis is important because the upper midwest leads the nation in sunflower production.

"Of all sunflowers grown commercially in the United States, 98.8 per cent are in our own three-state area of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota," he said. "Overall, the production of sunflower seeds in the United States topped seven billion pounds last year."

Sunflowers are a high growth commodity, he said. The 1979 level of production increased by 90 per cent over the 1978 figure of 3.85 billion pounds.

Quie also said that the geographic location of the Minneapolis grain exchange makes it the appropriate site for sunflower futures trading.

"Minneapolis-St. Paul is at the hub of the distribution and marketing system for sunflower producing and transportation systems makes this flower producing and transportation systems makes this the ideal location to establish trading."

The governor pointed to the sunflower processing plant planned by the I.S. Joseph company for Breckenridge, Minnesota; the ports of Duluth-Superior that handle 80 per cent of the U.S. sunflower exports; and the rail, truck and barge transportation outlets of the Twin Cities as reasons why Minneapolis is an ideal location for the sunflower futures trading.

The official trading of sunflower futures at the Minneapolis grain exchange was scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. today.

big Big BIG BURGER

Summertime is barbecue time. And Big Burger—ten inches wide and large enough to serve six hungry appetites—is an exciting change of pace from the usual hamburger.

Instead of bread crumbs, ground beef is mixed with flavorful Potato Chipsters or Corn Diggers Snacks. The surprise filling is tangy Swiss cheese and fresh salad vegetables—diced scallions, tomatoes and green pepper.

Get into the spirit of casual outdoor eating. Serve a sumptuous Big Burger!

BIG BURGER

2 pounds ground beef
4 cups whole Potato Chipsters or Corn Diggers Snacks, finely rolled (about 1 1/2 cups crumbs)
2 eggs
2 tablespoons Dijon-style mustard
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1/4 cup sliced scallions
2 medium tomatoes
1 medium green pepper
1 1/2 cups grated Swiss cheese (6 ounces)

1. In a large bowl, blend together beef, crumbs, eggs, mustard and Worcestershire sauce. On a cookie sheet, press half of beef mixture into a 10-inch circle. On a piece of waxed paper, press remaining beef into a 10-inch circle.
2. Reserve 1 tablespoon scallions and half of a tomato, cut in wedges, for garnish; dice remaining tomatoes. Cut and reserve a few slices of green pepper; dice remaining pepper.
3. Combine diced tomatoes and green pepper, scallions and Swiss cheese. Leaving a 1-inch border, spoon cheese mixture onto patty on the cookie sheet; press lightly. Place second meat patty onto cheese mixture; remove waxed paper. Press edges together.
4. Slide burger onto grill. Cook over medium coals 10 minutes. Turn burger.* Cook an additional 5 minutes, or until cheese has melted and meat is cooked to desired doneness.
5. Garnish with reserved scallions, tomato wedges and green pepper strips. Serves 6.
6. To prepare in oven, place burger on a lightly greased broiler pan. Bake in a preheated 350°F. oven 25 to 30 minutes. Turning is not necessary.

*Turn burger by sliding cookie sheet between meat and grill. Cover with second cookie sheet; turn so cooked side is uppermost. Gently slide burger back on to grill.

Safety Makes Sense

Many energy and money-conscious Americans are turning to the motorcycle as a way to save fuel and funds. As the number of cyclists rise, it becomes more important to be aware of safety rules for sharing the road with the two-wheelers. Here are a few questions to test your safety sense:

1. When following another car or motorcycle, you should allow (a) one car length for every 10 m.p.h. (b) a two-second interval (c) either of these?

2. To shake a tailgater, (a) brake fast and frighten the offending driver (b) speed up to get away from him (c) maintain normal speed and let the driver pass?

3. When your car and a motorcycle reach an intersection at the same time (a) assume you have the right-of-way and proceed through (b) turn left in front of the cycle (c) regard the motorcycle as another car and act accordingly?

4. When passing a motorcycle be sure to (a) check oncoming traffic (b) signal properly, (c) allow plenty of room when you return to your lane (d) all of the above.

ANSWERS: 1. (c) The best way is to allow at least a two-second interval. To set it, select an object along the road ahead. When the vehicle in front of you passes it, begin counting, "one thousand-one, one thousand-two..." You should reach the object just as you finish saying "one thousand-two." 2. (c) 3. (c) According to the Motorcycle Safety Foundation, most car-motorcycle accidents occur when a motorist turns left in front of a cyclist. 4. (d)

Frozen Raspberries Sparkle Atop Elegant Ice Cream Dessert

Fragile, feather-light meringue shells cradle vanilla ice cream and glistening red raspberries in this exquisite dessert. Frozen raspberries are a luxurious food, having a memorable taste and color.

To "give ice cream the raspberries" in this lovely dessert, simply place scoops of vanilla ice cream in meringue shells and freeze. If meringue shells are unavailable, sponge cups may be substituted. The sauce is a quickly prepared blend of raspberries and lemon juice thickened with cornstarch. At serving time, spoon the sauce over ice cream and serve at once.

Frozen raspberries can be enjoyed any time of year in sauces, salads or spooned over waffles as a tempting breakfast treat.

Raspberry-Sauced Ice Cream Meringues

4 individual meringue shells
4 large scoops vanilla ice cream
1 package (10 oz.) frozen raspberries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Fill meringue shells with scoops of ice cream. Freeze. Thaw and drain raspberries, reserving syrup. Combine 1 tablespoon of the reserved syrup with lemon juice and cornstarch; stir until blended. Stir in remaining syrup. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Stir in raspberries. Chill. At serving time, spoon about 1/4 cup of the raspberry sauce over ice cream in meringue shells. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Packaged sponge cups may be substituted for meringue shells, if desired.

Commencement At Northland Thurs.

Commencement exercises will be held at Northland community college in Thief River Falls on Thursday beginning at 2 p.m. in the college gymnasium. Past exercises were always an evening ceremony but this year in order to avoid high school graduation conflicts it was decided to move commencement to the afternoon.

Graduation exercises will honor 128 students who will be receiving an associate in arts degree. Within this list are 34 associate degree nursing students and four students from the Grand Forks air force base.

Commencement welcome will be given by Joe Ranum, sophomore class president, which will be followed by a musical selection by the Northland community college choir.

Presentation of the class of 1980 will be made by President Alex Easton who will invite the graduates to receive their associate in arts degree from Gene Beito, chairman of the college advisory board.

Following the awarding of degrees, an expression of student appreciation will be given by Mark Johnson, student association president.

Danica Bergland, freshman class president who opens the commencement program with the invocation, will close the 1980 graduation ceremonies by giving the benediction.

Recessional with piano music by Phyllis Dalager will follow the benediction.

Graduates, parents, relatives and friends are invited to a reception in the college commons hosted by the Northland faculty wives.

Kremer Decides To Seek Office In DFL Primary

Jim Kremer of Thief River Falls announced that he would be a candidate in the DFL primary for the State House seat in District 1B. Kremer said that since the DFL's March endorsing convention," which went six ballots and was only decided in the early morning hours when some people had to leave," he has received a great deal of pressure to run.

In announcing his candidacy, Kremer said, "I have put off announcing in the hope that the DFL endorsed candidate would begin to speak out on the issues. We only have to look around and see that every segment of our economy is facing disaster. I had hoped that by this time the voters of the district would have seen what the other candidates are suggesting for solving our problems. It looks like the DFL and IR endorsed candidates want to take a 'business as usual' approach.

"I think we need to start working on solutions for the problems of high interest rates, skyrocketing land prices, high fuel costs, poor transportation systems and on and on. It is for this reason that I am announcing my candidacy. My campaign will be issue oriented and I want to let the people know where I stand so we can get down to solving our problems," he said.

"It is only in sharing ideas that we find compatible solutions for all citizens in our district. We are a unique area of the state and relying on urban oriented solutions leaves us in a vacuum. Our area needs a representative who works for and with the people of northern Minnesota."

In concluding, Kremer said he will continue to have an open campaign. "If people have ideas I want them to feel free to call me. We need to take the government out of the hands of a few and give it back to the people. We are going to have to solve our problems together. The politicians whom the party bosses have picked in the past haven't done a very good job. We, the people, need to freely exercise our right to choose our candidate, and further elect the person best suited to serve us."

Kremer can be reached at 681-2946; 515 No LaBree, Thief River Falls, 56701.

THE DAVID BROWNS of Goodridge, were honored Thursday evening at a recognition program honoring Dr. Brown for his 27 years of service as superintendent of the Goodridge school system. Dr. Brown, whose contract expires June 30, announced his retirement several weeks ago. He is shown with the plaque presented by the Goodridge board of education and an engraved pocket watch from the Goodridge education association, two of the items he received at the recognition program.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT at the Goodridge school beginning June 1 will be Dr. Donald J. Langan, who was hired Friday at a special meeting of the Goodridge board of education. Dr. Langan, who has been director of instruction in Kalispell, MT., since 1977, will succeed Dr. David M. Brown, retiring this year after 27 years in the Goodridge school system. The new superintendent will also serve in the dual role as principal of the school.

Hire Goodridge Superintendent

At a special meeting held Friday, the Goodridge board of education hired Dr. Donald J. Langan of Kalispell, Mont., as superintendent-principal to succeed Dr. David Brown as school administrator at Goodridge. Dr. Brown is retiring following 27 years of service to the district.

In recognition of his long-time service, a program was held Thursday evening in the school gymnasium under sponsorship of the Goodridge education association. Dr. Brown was presented with an engraved plaque from the board of education, an engraved pocket watch from the education association and several other gifts to commemorate the event.

Dr. Langan is a native of the Park Rapids area and since 1977 has been director of instruction at School District 5 in Kalispell, a district with an enrollment of 4,700 students. He had previously been an assistant high school principal for administration at Flathead high school in Kalispell for one year and a high school principal in Rockaway, Ore., for three years.

He was in the teaching field for six years, teaching and coaching wrestling at Brookings and Florence, Ore., where he was teacher of the year in 1971. He holds a BS degree in English and psychology from Bemidji state university and received his PhD in human communication studies from Washington state university. He has administrative credentials from the Universities of Montana and Oregon.

Dr. Langan is married and he and his wife Sharon have two daughters, Jennifer 15 and Lisa 11, and a son, Jeffery 14.

Outdoor Fire Permit Needed

Although the burning ban for Pennington county has been lifted, permits are still required for outdoor open fires, according to the Pennington county sheriff's department.

Permits may be obtained from Gordon Saul at the forestry office in Grygla (294-6115) or in Sanders and Rocksbury townships only from Rubert Wolfgram, route 1, Thief River Falls (681-3828).

To Draw Blood Wednesday And Thursday Here

United Blood Services of the Upper Midwest, supplier of blood service to the laboratory at Northwestern hospital here, will conduct a blood donor campaign at the CNC chapel of Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls Wednesday and Thursday.

Members of the local Business and Professional Women's club chapter are conducting a telephone campaign to arrange for donors during the two-day period. Persons not contacted but who would like to donate blood may also participate and will have blood drawn as the schedule permits.

Donors are scheduled to donate blood on Wednesday from 2:20 to 6:20 p.m. and on Thursday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

It has been emphasized that more than 90 per cent of all people who live to age 72 will need blood or blood products at one time or another during their lives. However, approximately three per cent of this area's population donates blood. Doctors use blood only to sustain life, making a blood donation one of the most important service acts a person can provide.

United Blood Services notes that blood collected must be tested before it can be used, a process which requires at least six hours. Blood must be donated before it is needed so it can be used when it is needed.

The organization will draw blood in Thief River Falls periodically.

VFW Arranges Memorial Day Services Here

Memorial Day services for the Thief River Falls community are scheduled for Monday at 11 a.m. at the Veterans Memorial Gardens on Oakland Park road.

Guest speaker will be Col. Robert White (retired) of the U.S. Marine Corps. Observance this year is under the direction of Post 2793 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which alternates annually with Ecklund-Holmstrom Post 117 of the American Legion.

Following the service, lunch will be served at the VFW club rooms, where the program will also be held if bad weather forces the planned outdoor ceremony indoors.

THE NOYES DEPOT rests silently during the early morning hours, with only a clerk, operator and customs officer performing their regular duties throughout the night. It is 6 a.m. Sunday morning. In half an hour, the Soo Line train, now composed of 57 cars — 46 of them full of gas, sulphur, potash and lumber — will begin its journey to Thief River Falls.

Joint Effort Formed By Soo, Canadian Railroads

by Bonnie Reed
Times Reporter

At 1 a.m., the Soo engine, pulling its load of 60 cars, began rolling down the tracks headed for Noyes to pick up 57 other cars — 46 of them full of gas, sulphur, potash, and lumber — all products from Canada to be used in the United States.

Paperwork and air tests on the brakes were completed before leaving the Thief River Falls yard office. The jolt we witnessed from the end of the train, in the caboose, told us we were well on our way.

There were four crewmen aboard — the average number of workers on a trip such as this one — including an engineer, a rear and head brakeman, and a conductor.

Two trips are made daily to Noyes to get products from Canada and to deliver our products to Canada (a day train which originates in Chicago, and a night train out of Minneapolis), according to Winton Forsberg, transportation supervisor-agent of the Soo Line railroad company in Thief River Falls.

We sat up in the cupola of the caboose while the conductor carefully marked down arrival and departure times as stops were made a Newfolden, Strandquist, Karlstad, Lake Bronson and Lancaster to set-off cars. He would inform the engineer when the air brake gauge reached 60 pounds, thus releasing the brakes and setting the train in motion.

"The brakes are released... O.K., she's movin'," he's utter over the radio, and we would move down the tracks, 40 miles per hour — the speed designated by the Soo company. Inspections are made regularly on the train, making sure there is nothing that could cause a derailment.

We arrived at the Noyes depot at 4 a.m. with 45 cars left to be delivered and 57 others to pick up. The sky was beginning to brighten, and a dim light was evident in the small Noyes depot.

Customs officer Dallas Johnson leaned back in his chair in his office at the depot during the early morning hours and answered questions during the Times interview.

Inspectors at the border get invoices of all cars coming into Noyes and what each one contains, he bagan. Each car has to be inspected, making sure it has in it what the list says. And, problems are few, according to Johnson.

"Once in a while we get a car in claimed to be empty and it's loaded with something," he said. "A penalty has to be filed against the railroad when that happens."

Verification of cars coming into Noyes is done at Emerson, Manitoba, with acutal clearing of cars done at Winnipeg. All trains coming into the United States from Canada are inspected by United States customs.

Johnson, who has been customs officer since 1960, has been employed at Noyes since 1965. He enjoys his work, he said, although he added, "I don't especially care for the late hours."

DALLAS JOHNSON, who has been customs officer at Noyes since 1965, enjoys his "interesting" job, he said, although the late hours can become tiring.

WCTU Studies Channels Of Family Living

"Channel of Family Living," was the theme of the devotional meditation given at the May meeting of the Alice Mae Stuart Thief River Falls Women's Christian Temperance union held at Our Saviour's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Olga Larson led the meditation, reading Ruth 2:1-7. She stated that the book of Ruth not only presents a picture of life in Israel in the time of Judges, but it depicts one of the greatest love stories of all time, revealing the love and concern found in the home of Naomi and Ruth. Children who grow up in a home where parents reflect true love and faithfulness, are living in a spiritual laboratory where theory is tested in daily practice. In today's world, where both parents are generally working, the child is often left in the care of someone else. The memories that the child carries with him into adulthood will be those imparted by the parents before and after work. Loving memories will be based on the quality of love given and not on the quantity of time that is spent together. She concluded the meditation by reading Ephesians 5:21, 25-32, and saying, "as families grow strong in the love of Christ and each other, so will the nation grow strong and be blessed by God."

Individual prayers followed with special prayers for the protection against drug pushers of Wilderness camp retreat, east of Grygla with Rev. James Koch as director.

The program included several readings with Mrs. Hildur Lian reading "Channels of Family Living" from the "Union Signal", Mrs. Ruth Haugan read "I Am Alcohol," by Ann Landers, and "Is Alcoholism a Disease". The radio releases were read by Geneva Overum, Agnes Longren, Valborg Hanson and Olga Larson.

During the business session plans were made to obtain someone to take the young people to the Youth Temperance Camp at Paynesville for June 9-15. Plans were also made for future meetings of the unit. The next meeting of the unit will be held June 17 at Oakland Park Nursing home with the YTC campers giving their reports. The July meeting will be held at the Longren home and the August meeting will be at St. Hilaire at the Martin and Alice Mosbeck home.

The meeting concluded with the Lord's Prayer and the table grace. Lunch was provided by several members.

No Gas Tax, Jimmy

A constituent recently asked me, "What do you think about President Carter's plan to add 10 cents to the price of each gallon of gasoline?" The answer is simple — I am opposed to it and I think the idea is totally irresponsible.

In recent columns I have addressed my concerns on inflation and balancing the Federal budget, and my philosophy on this proposal is no different. The American people are tired of rampant inflation and the polls indicate that people believe inflation is our number one problem today. Prices are rising faster than salaries and the buying power of the average American family is rapidly decreasing. When raises are given to offset the effects of inflation, most people are forced into higher tax brackets and the raise is erased. No one is able to get ahead.

Now, on top of these economic problems, President Carter wants to impose an import fee on oil of $4.62 on each barrel of crude oil, and $4.20 on each barrel of gasoline. The Administration's intention is to raise the price of all gasoline in the country, whether made from domestic or foreign oil, by about 10 cents a gallon. The theory behind the fee is that the increase in gasoline prices will force the consumer to reduce gas consumption and result in a theoretical reduction in gasoline sold, thus reducing the need to import.

I am all for reducing foreign imports and I have sponsored legislation to further the development of gasohol and other energy alternatives, such as solar, wind, and fusion. I also have encouraged greater use of coal. This proposal, however, would only reduce foreign imports by only 30,000 to 100,000 barrels a day. When compared to total U.S. consumption of petroleum products of approximately 17 million barrels a day, of which 8 million are imported, it becomes evident that this important fee would have very little impact on reducing imports.

The greatest impact would be to the American consumer. Adding an additional 10 cents to gasoline prices would only add to inflation and punish those people who have no other choice but to drive, particularly those who are required to drive to work or live in rural areas.

Curbing the ills of inflation cannot be done by raising taxes and decreasing the take-home pay of workers which could be spent on food, clothing, housing or possibly placed into savings or investments. We cannot encourage economic growth if the productive side of our economy is continually threatened with new taxes.

A subcommittee to which I belong has been studying the issue, and this tax has received criticism from almost every member, both Republican and Democrat. One of the main concerns is that it would not only affect gasoline, but also home heating oil, and diesel and aircraft fuel. The Administration and the Department of Energy argued that this was not the case, but when asked to supply certain documents to prove otherwise, they were hesitant and only after threatening to hold the Secretary of Energy in contempt of Congress were the documents made available.

Furthermore, I cannot support this tax because it appears it was contrived to provide revenue for the Federal government to balance the budget, not conserve energy. I voted against the budget resolution because I cannot support increasing taxes to balance the budget, and I think this demonstrates that the Administration is going about producing a balanced budget in the wrong way. I'm sure if this tax is denied, the budget would suddenly have a $10 billion deficit.

President Carter is totally off-base with this proposed tax. We should be proposing measures to reduce taxes instead of increasing the tax burden on the working class, the retired and the poor.

DID YOU KNOW?

A BOY WANTED

I want a boy at my saloon
A man has died and now there's room.
For a new boy to start right in
To live a life of shame and sin.
I want a boy from a fine home,
A boy who has a good income.
I want a boy with many friends,
For without boys my business ends.
I want a boy, some mother's boy
Who is her comfort and her joy.
Such boys to me are worth the most—
For they are leaders of a host.
I want a boy who is not afraid.
To start right on the downward grade;
A boy who's always brave,
For he must fill a drunkard's grave.

Followup For Census Begins Here This Week

Followup census enumeration has begun locally, Bemidji district manager Carole Wilson said today. Kris Kremer and Leah Thompson, crew leaders from Thief River Falls, will supervise 11 enumerators each in the local area.

For the next two weeks, 236 census takers will fan out across the northwest 16-county area, collecting census questionnaires from houses that were missed in the April canvass, rechecking vacant houses, and clarifying some questions. Some of the followup can be done by telephone; the rest will require personal interviews at home. People whose questionnaires have not been picked up are urged to keep them until an enumerator comes during the followup operation.

The manager emphasized the confidentiality of all information given in the census. No individual or household can be identified in the published statistical reports of the census. By federal law census information cannot be given to any other government agency. The information obtained during the census is used for statistics only, and cannot be used for investigations, taxation or regulation.

The census bureau is the nation's fact-finder, but the only facts it reveals are totals, averages, percentages and trends. The information is used for reapportionment of seats in the House of Representatives, for the allocation of more than $50 billion each year from the federal government to state and local governments, and for planning by private business and government.

Joint Effort Formed By Soo, Canadian RR

to week, the customs officers never know when they'll be on duty, he said.

A routine inspection of cars usually takes from two to three hours, he said — if there are no problems. The customs station at Noyes inspects five different railroads daily including the Canadian National.

Canadian Pacific, Soo Line, Burlington Northern and Midland. Although it varies, around 200 to 300 Soo cars pass the customs daily at Noyes, Johnson said.

At the depot, two night clerks were busily roving about working on their computers — keeping track of trains coming and going throughout the area. Three operators and three clerks were usually at the station daily. Outside, crewmen were again inspecting the air brakes on the cars and switching the cars to be brought back to Minnesota.

Average time for crewmen for the entire trip is from 10 to 12 hours (158 miles round trip to Noyes) with a two-hour trip there and a two-hour trip home, depending upon the tonnage on the way back. Normally, three to four hours are spent at Noyes. There are usually 100 cars or more destined for Noyes and 110 coming back, with all trains dispatched out of Minneapolis, Forsberg said, during a recent interview.

A typical example of one train trip to Noyes to better understand the operation of hauling products to Canada was stated by Forsberg, who cited the time when 72 cars left Thief River Falls — nine cars loaded and 63 empty, resulting in 2,757 tons. Upon leaving Canada, the train had 120 loaded cars and 27 empties, or 14,950 tons. Horsepower of each engine ranges from 1,500 to 3,000, with 3,000 being the largest, Forsberg said.

"I usually check what they have coming down from Winnipeg so I know what to send to Noyes," he said. "We work quite a bit with the CP (Canadian Pacific) coordinating trains. By checking what is coming down from Winnipeg, we determine how much power we need to send to Noyes. The key is to have the engines and the horsepower to transport more cars. We try to get the power here because if you're short here, you're short all over."

Average tonnage for 100 cars going to Noyes is 3,000 tons, with 10,000 tons coming back — per day, he said. Tonnage depends on what is being transported, with the largest product from Canada being potash, along with newsprint, propane (butane), lumber and various miscellaneous items.

"Right now," Forsberg said, "Potash movement is slow and, since this is the major product out of Canada during the summer months, at times only one train is sent to Noyes daily. September to May are the major months for potash movement."

"The United States' biggest commodity is grain," he said, "along with fertilizer, pulpwood, scrap and farm machinery."

Forsberg likes to stay within an average limit of cars and tonnage transported to and from Noyes, he said. The largest tonnage out of Noyes was 19,000 tons, he said, which is, in his opinion, too great a load. At one time, too, 220 cars were sent through the yard to Noyes.

Approximately 150,000 cars go through the yard office at Thief River Falls yearly, according to Forsberg.

Forsberg has, for 10 years, acted as transportation supervisor-agent in which he handles the supervision of trains and station operations in northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota. He is also responsible for hiring employees and for sending the engines through the Soo line yard office, and determining how many cars should travel to a specific location, and where they are going.

He was trainmaster at Enderlin, ND and at Stephens Point, WI and train operator at various places before coming to Thief River Falls.

And, during the Times interview, Forsberg stressed the importance of railroad operations, as he sat comfortably in his office at the Soo Line depot in Thief River Falls. The Soo Line railroad covers approximately 5,000 miles of track, he said, and is primarily a Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin railroad. It also reaches Illinois (Chicago), South Dakota and Wyoming, but touches these states only slightly, he added.

Eight years ago, the Thief River Falls Soo Line yard office became the service center for 500 miles of surrounding territory, including trips from Detroit Lakes to Noyes; Thief River Falls to Bemidji; Thief River Falls to Devils Lake; and Fordville, ND to Egeland, ND. Six traveling agents are employed in the 500-mile service area, Forsberg said, but the Thief River Falls yard office is the main center in the service area for switching cars.

"There are 150 employees working through the Thief River Falls yard office," he said, "and the annual payroll for those 150 members is $3 million."

It was 6:30 a.m. when the sun began to peek over the horizon and the trip home was to begin that day during out trip.

"We see a lot of sunrises, moons and stars on this job," one employee laughed.

We unwrapped our hearty breakfasts of cold roast beef sandwiches prepared the day before and drank hot coffee. The train began running, the brakes had been checked, the bookwork all complete.

As we traveled home, we noticed the green grass and black fields distinctive of northwestern Minnesota.

"There's another beautiful day comin' up," one of the workers said as he scanned the clear blue sky of an early morning in May.

And it was.

VETERANS MEMORIAL at the Thief River Falls regional airport is progressing rapidly. Concrete walkways with textured stone finish are complete and benches have been installed. Further additions will be a monument erected at the end of the walkway in the center of a circular landscaped area, a flagpole on which the flag will be illuminated at night and a military aircraft which will be mounted outside the circle. The project is being constructed with contributed funds from organizations and individuals as a tribute to military veterans and is located east of the terminal building at the regional airport. Plantings will be made at the memorial soon and the plane will arrive about June 10.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS have been in the news in Thief River Falls for the past several weeks. While most of the conversation had involved where and how new signals are to be placed, the situation pictured above created a different problem. A semi-trailer truck, turning east onto Eighth street after going north on Main avenue, took the corner a little too short last Monday afternoon. Not only did the trailer run over the curb, it broke the base and toppled this signal light against a utility pole. State and city crews were inspecting the damage and attempting to determine what course of action to take when this Times photo was taken.

Mrs. Handegaard was active in both church and community affairs. In 1958, she received the Distinguished Service award in the field of horticulture from the State Horticulture society. She was a lifetime honorary member of that society and a member of the Norman County Historical society.

Dear friends,
Memorial Day is that special day of reminiscing on the memories of our loved ones who have passed on. With relatives and friends to recount the cherished anecdotes - a visit to the cemetery to tend the graves and offer a quiet prayer - it can be a very satisfying day.
Sincerely,
Belmont Funeral Home

Boy, Did We Miss!

Except for coming close to the total number of ballots cast in the school election in Thief River Falls Tuesday, we missed by a mile on all of the other predictions we made in advance of the balloting.

Our guess was that 1,725 voters would go to the polls and the official vote count was 1,699.

We speculated that the three winners would have more than 800 votes each with the top vote getter to receive 1,050 votes. When the votes were counted, the three winners had 675, 653 and 632 votes in an extremely tight race.

Our guess was that three of the 11 candidates would get less than 200 votes each. Only one received less than 200 votes (188) with the next lowest at 276 and 298.

And we predicted at least one write-in candidate who would finish ahead of at least one candidate who filed. No write-in candidate received more than two votes.

If we had to pay off on a dismal prediction record like that, it would take a long, long time to recoup the losses!

Many of the people we talked to after the election expressed surprise at the results — the closeness of the total results and the vote-getting ability of what might have been considered weaker candidates. Apparently we talked to the wrong people; others must be considerably less surprised.

It was good to see the active participation of the voters and the interest of a large field of candidates. There will be huge tasks ahead of the board of education before the terms of the members elected Tuesday expire three years from now. We wish them well in rising to meet the challenges.

Jackpine Savage Logic

Harry Davey, former publisher of the International Falls newspaper, is a self-professed supporter of the jackpine savage and proud of it. He is tempted to go along with a northern Minnesota school superintendent who, more than 40 years ago, said: "Minnesota should be two separate states. . . The interests of northern Minnesota differ so much from those of southern Minnesota. . . even the people are different."

Davey points out in an article in the current issue of the Minnesota Press that the state was settled by different groups with different backgrounds and that some of the early attitude and opinion exists today.

The superintendent in question had come from a southern Minnesota school to a million-dollar Iron Range school and seen his salary doubled from $2,500 to $5,000 a year.

Asked about his job, he would tell his south-state (not to be confused with out-state) friends: "I sit with my feet on my desk, counting the ore cars go by; every one meant another thirty thousand bucks in the school treasury. My job is not how to get more money but how to spend what we get."

We suspect some major exaggeration there, but the point made was that circumstances vary from one end of the state to the other. Then writer Davey takes off on one of his pet topics — the "help" northern Minnesotans get from everyone everywhere in regard to how their land and resources should be used. Here is what he says as only he could write it:

When it comes to THINKING and ATTITUDES, there is a great gulf between south-state and north-state citizens. Let me give you an example:

If northern people (banded together as the Sierra Club), were to suggest that the whole of Brown County (in southern Minnesota) be bought by the federal government and set aside as a national park and its entire acreage used for the growth of the prairie grass that greeted its first settlers, can you imagine the hue and cry?

Anyone with such an idea would be hustled off to St. Peter.

Or what if a jackpine savage from Kooch County suggested that the farmers of Brown County refrain from harvesting their corn, grain and soybeans so that tourists could enjoy the sight of the amber fields of grain waving in the autumn breeze? Egad, what damphoolishness!

Yet, there are southern Minnesotans who go along with the idea that northern Minnesota's trees — Minnesota's tallest crop — should be left untouched until they die, topple over, and turn to duff and dust on the forest floor.

And then some of these so-called nature lovers, misguided environmentalists and other nature-fakers use the term "virgin forest," I get sick. It's like talking about an 80-year-old virgin prostitute. There jest ain't no such thing — no more than there is such a thing as a free lunch in the field of economics. So some people think that the trees of northern Minnesota have been standing since the last Ice Age? And should be left untouched until the next?

I am referring mainly to the current controversies between northern Minnesotans and people not only of the south half, but of people throughout the nation, regarding the Boundary Waters Canoe Area (BWCA) and Voyageurs National Park. Prior to establishment of the BWCA and VNP, the people of the region were doing quite well on their own. They were managing (read that "farming) the forests, using the lakes, and entertaining the tourists. They certainly weren't fouling the nest in which they lived and made their living, but were careful of the natural resources. This applied to industry as well as individuals (Here I will acknowledge that the dumping of taconite tailings in Lake Superior was no damn good and had to be stopped). Neither of us is without sin — consider the foul condition of most of southern Minnesota's lakes and rivers.

Perhaps this gives you an idea of the differences — and sometimes downright animosity — that exist between northern and southern Minnesota. Badly needed is a better understanding by both sides, plus more knowledge about what makes the citizens of each section think and act as they do.

Just one more little example and then I'll shut up (there's nothing worse than a reformed drunk, a reformed smoker, or a converted jackpine savage):

Some years ago when Voyageurs National Park was being studied, a plane-load of down-state backers was being flown over the Kabetogama Peninsula, main area of the present park (The natives called the area "the rock pile"). One of the observers in the plane looked down at a bright green bit of landscape below and remarked, "My, the people down there certainly keep their lawns nice."

He was looking at a bright green, algae-covered, mosquito-infested swamp into which no self-respecting moose would wander! And he was promoting that as a prospective national park!

Thou Shalt Restore!

A coal company in Wyoming is scratching its head over an order from the Wyoming department of environmental quality asking the company to spend $150,000 to restore the scrubby sagebrush to a tract of land it surface mined, according to Rural Minnesota News.

The sagebrush was there when mining started and there must be sagebrush when the land is restored, said an official of the environmental agency. In the meantime, ranchers in Wyoming don't want sagebrush and the federal bureau of land management is aerially spraying wide areas of the state to eradicate sagebrush.

Regional Primaries

Writing in U.S. News and World Report, Marvin Stone notes that Republicans in Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana are introducing bills in their state legislatures to change their primaries to coincide in the future with that of Illinois.

"They believe a five-state regional primary would force candidates' attention to the area's broad problems, among them energy costs, unemployment, a flight to the sun belt and common agricultural concerns," he writes.

"They are on the right track. Regional primaries, together with changes in the funding laws and a greater sense of responsibility by the media, would help bring a semblance of sanity and reason to our quadrennial circus," Stone asserts.

Borrowed Nonsense:

The old-timer in the Okefenokee swamp sported a necklace that attracted the attention of a tourist. "Alligator teeth," the native explained. "More valuable than pearls." "Why is that?" queried the tourist. "Well, lady," the native drawled, "just about anybody kin open an oyster."

One of the easiest lessons to learn is that if you want to be the toast of the town, you need a lot of bread.

Highway Death Total Reduced During 1979

Minnesota drivers have made substantial progress since 1978 in reducing deaths from traffic accidents. The Minnesota safety council urged continued efforts during the Memorial day weekend.

In 1978, the worst year for traffic fatalities since the beginning of the 55 mph speed limit in 1973, 14 Minnesotans were killed during the 78-hour Memorial day weekend. In 1979, Minnesota reduced traffic fatalities by 10 per cent; that year, there were 10 fatalities during the Memorial day weekend.

Citing a 12 per cent reduction in traffic deaths to date this year, the safety council anticipates fewer holiday fatalities as well. It is estimated that between 7 and 9 Minnesotans will die, and approximately 450 will be injured during the 78-hour period.

According to the safety council, simple techniques of defensive driving can help to keep the downward fatality trend — and you — alive this Memorial Day weekend:

(1) Buckle your safety belt and be sure that all your passengers do, too

(2) Start trips early enough or late enough to avoid rush hour traffic. Plan your route to avoid roadways under construction or repair.

(3) It's not a good idea to drink and drive. If you do drink, allow one hour to pass for each drink consumed before you take the wheel.

(4) Practice defensive driving. Be prepared to react to other drivers on the road.

(5) Most important, observe posted speed limits. Increased speed results in more fatalities and more severe injuries from crashes. Increased speed uses more fuel, too. The safety council urges you to remember to be independent — drive 55 mph to save gas and lives.

If you are looking for the most authoritative source of information on accidents, it is available to you in the form of a 96-page booklet called "Accident Facts."

Published by the National Safety council, it is available locally from the Minnesota Safety council.

"Accident Facts" is indispensable to a wide range of businesses, government agencies, libraries, driver education agencies and others because it is considered the Bible of the safety industry with facts covering every type of accident and fatality, says Robert L. Anderson, safety council executive vice president.

The booklet provides facts on accidents and fatalities involving Americans at work, in motor vehicles, at home, on the farm or ranch, at school and in all types of public activities, he said.

Copies, at $7 each, can be obtained by contacting the Minnesota Safety Council, 145 Hamm Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55102 or by calling 291-9150.

AIC Offers Driving Facts For Motorists

With gasoline and driving on the minds of many motorists, the Automotive Information council (AIC) has compiled a list of items of interest to car owners.

—Automobiles use only about 28 per cent of petroleum. (Department of Transportation and Energy Administration). This is likely to decline when the new 10-cent-a-gallon tax goes into effect May 15.

—New car of today gets 60 per cent better gasoline mileage than the average new 1974 car. (Environmental Protection Agency data).

—On the average, a tuned-up vehicle gets 4 to 12 per cent better gas mileage than one that has not been properly maintained (Environmental Protection Agency).

—Demand for gasoline was off 8.6 per cent in February and March from a year earlier. Gasoline stocks now are at 277 million barrels, 10 per cent above normal and 37 million barrels above the previous record. All storage tanks are full. (American Petroleum Institute).

—Seven of 10 motorists said they were driving less this year than a year ago, while three of four said the price of gasoline has forced a change in driving habits. Some 63 per cent said they had cut down on weekend or social trips; 49 per cent had reduced shopping by car and 18 per cent said they were taking shorter vacation trips by car. Another 12 per cent said they had stopped using the car for vacations entirely. Twenty per cent said they had stopped solo commuting to work. (Gallup poll for Highway Users Federation conducted in February and March).

—Almost 42 per cent of passenger car travel is for earning a living, 5 per cent is for educational-civic-religion, more than 19 per cent for family business and 33 per cent is for social and recreational. (Federal Highway Administration).

—Seventy per cent of American workers drove to their jobs and an additional 15 per cent rode in car pools in 1976. (Bureau of Census).

—Auto travel during the third quarter of 1979 was down 17.3 per cent compared with the same period of 1978. The trend toward shorter trips continued through the summer, with many choosing to stay closer to home. (American Automobile Association).

Arvilla Hastad Honored For State Service

Mrs. Henry (Arvilla) Hastad, unemployment compensation clerk, was honored on May 19 by the department of economic security for recently completing 10 years of exemplary service to the department and people of northwestern Minnesota.

Mrs. Hastad began her service with the department as a seasonal clerk in the Thief River Falls office on January 5, 1970. She was promoted to her present position as unemployment compensation clerk in September of 1976 due to her expertise in the field of unemployment insurance benefit payments.

Robert Gustafson, district counseling supervisor, St. Cloud, presented Mrs. Hastad with a key ring bearing a replica of the state of Minnesota and expressed his thanks to Mrs. Hastad for the years of dedicated service she had given to the state. He also brought best wishes from commissioner Rolf Middleton and David Maday, district supervisor. Her co-workers and husband honored her at a coffee party following the award presentation.

Vocational Ed. Board Remains In Operation

Minnesota state board for vocational education will operate for another four years as the approval agency for the state's 33 area vocational-technical institutes (AVTI's), according to the recommendation of the U.S. office of education, which evaluates state reviewal procedures.

Federal approval means that Minnesota's AVTI students can continue to benefit from various state and federal loan programs. "The public can also be sure about the quality of the education received by students attending AVTI's, said Charles Coskran, interim assistant commissioner for vocational education.

State reviews each AVTI every five years. It brings in a team of evaluators, from education and business, to check such areas as course offerings, teacher qualifications, administration, student personnel services, sex equity, financial aids, equipment, and facilities. After two days of observation, interviews, and checking records and other documents, the team presents its report to a subcommittee of the state board, which then follows up on the report's recommendations.

Periodic state review of vocational instruction is mandated by the 1976 Congress to determine whether the states' vocational graduates find jobs, meet their employers' needs, and are satisfied with their training.

"U.S. Office of Education officials praised the state's review process for bringing in business people and working toward the elimination of bias in the AVTI's," said Coskran. They also praised the follow-up on the evaluation reports. Each report, and the school administration's plans to remedy any deficiencies, are heard by a subcommittee of the state board. "That degree of interest if fairly unusual among state boards," said Coskran. Federal government sought further information on the board's self-review and complaint procedures.

Inter-County Gets Grants

Senators Dave Durenberger and Rudy Boschwitz have announced that the Inter-County community council has received $10,000 grants and $2,729 from the community services administration.

Mine Tours Are Underway At Tower-Soudan

Underground mine tours at Tower Soudan state park in northeastern Minnesota resumed May 13, the Department of Natural Resources announced.

The facility has been closed for two years in order to complete a major rehabilitation costing nearly $400,000. An elevator takes visitors 2400 feet below the surface of the ground to the 27th level in the abandoned iron ore mine where they board a narrow gauge train for a ride through a 3000 foot tunnel carved out of solid rock.

There, a circular stair case allows visitors to climb to the "stope" — a large area where the ore was removed. Guides explain how the mining operation was carried out in what was Minnesota's first underground iron mine.

Tours take approximately one hour. The first tour of the day starts at 9 a.m. and the last one at 4 p.m. The cost is $3 for adults and $1.50 for persons under 17 years of age.

Park officials advised visitors to wear a jacket because the temperature in the mine is 52 degrees the year round.

High CCC Loan Rates Rejected By Farm Bureau

Higher commodity loan rates aren't the answer to the current farm income problem, according to the president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation.

Merlyn Lokensgard, St. Peter area cash crop and livestock farmer, says low grain prices have, "traditionally led to calls for higher price supports as one way to help farmers." However, he adds, a computer analysis recently conducted by American Farm Bureau federation economists concludes that higher loan rates aren't the answer. "In fact," Lokensgard reports, "our studies show the effect (of higher loan rates) on both domestic and export demand would be dramatic and detrimental."

The analysis, the assignment of John K. Hosemann and Ross C. Korves, compared domestic use and exports of corn, soybeans and wheat under current loan rates to domestic use and exports should loan rates be increased to near the national average cost of production.

The study indicates wheat use during the marketing year beginning this June 1 would be 11 per cent less with a $4.25 per bushel loan rate (assumed to be the rate July 1, 1980) than with the current $2.50 loan rate. In addition, the AFBF analysis shows that feed use would be 35 per cent lower, food use five per cent less and exports would be down 13 per cent. And, Lokensgard points out, wheat carryover at the end of the 1980-81 marketing year would be up 21 per cent. Projected wheat carryover under the current $2.50 loan rate, he says, is 1.10 billion bushels, with a 300 to 400 million bushel carryover considered adequate.

The computer analysis shows a $3 per bushel (now $2.10) loan rate for corn would mean an 83-million bushel carryover next September 30, end of the current marketing year. There would also be a five per cent decrease in corn usage in the marketing year beginning Oct. 1, 1980. Added to that, says Lokensgard, would be "a drop of four per cent in domestic feed use — and our economists estimate a 10 per cent decline in corn exports."

Soybeans at $6.50 per bushel, the computer analysis projects, would experience a 37 million bushel carryover to 658 million bushels as of Aug. 31, 1980, end of the current marketing year. With the present $4.50 loan rate, Lokensgard says, carryover stocks are estimated at 485 million bushels. He notes around 150 million bushels is an adequate carryover.

As estimated 15 per cent increase in total net farm income higher loan rates would mean in 1980 would benefit grain producers only, Hosemann and Korves report. Higher feed costs would mean reduced net income for livestock producers, the AFBF computer analysis shows. With higher loan rates, 1981 net farm income would increase 24 per cent, or to a projected $33.1 billion. "By this time, though, the price of feed will have caused livestock farmers to cut back on production." Lokensgard adds, "Meat prices in the grocery store will go higher and we'd see an increase in the Consumer Price Index for all food."

Implementing loan rate increases used in the study, Lokensgard maintains, would, "bring government feet first" into production agriculture. He predicts higher loan rates would encourage farmers to produce more and more domestic and overseas buyers to use less. Resulting supply buildup, he says, would mean major government production control programs or "huge subsidies" to exporters — or a combination of both. In the wake of this, livestockmen would demand relief from higher feed costs and consumers would resist paying more for meat.

Nor would exports escape unharmed, notes the Minnesota Farm bureau official. Farm Bureau economists, he says, explain that higher support levels would set the world market price for most grains. "all other grain-exporting countries would have to do," Lokensgard says, "is sell slightly below our level, plus or minus the transportation cost difference."

Should that happen, Lokensgard foresees the U.S. becoming the world's residual supplier of grain — "Just like we were back in the 1950s and 1960s."

The Soviet grain embargo has impacted American and Minnesota agriculture, Lokensgard acknowledges. "We may be in a hole because of it (grain sales suspension), but we aren't going to get out of that hole by digging a deeper one," he says.

And, Lokensgard is certain, "that's what we'll be doing if loan rates are set at levels that will encourage production and discourage consumption."

Heart Ass'n. Chairman Asks Public Support

Jean Teasley, newly elected chairman of the board of directors of the American Heart association, Minnesota affiliate is urging Minnesota residents to make this Memorial day a day on which to strike a blow against this country's leading killer.

"Heart disease kills more people in Minnesota, and the rest of the United States, than all other causes combined. Far too often, our family and friends are taken from us by heart attack or stroke years before they should have been," Teasley stated.

"Heart fund memorials offer a means for us to turn our sense of personal loss into positive action against heart disease through supporting heart research, education and community service," he added.

Teasley is urging all Minnesota residents to take the occasion of Memorial day to remember those friends and relatives killed by heart attacks by making a memorial gift to the Heart association. Persons wishing to do so should send their name, address and gift along with the name and address of the person (usually next of kin) to whom an acknowledgement card is to be sent and name of the person being honored to: American Heart Association, Minnesota Affiliate, 4701 West 77th Street, Minneapolis, MN 55435. All heart fund memorial gifts are tax deductible.

For more information, call the Heart association at 835-3300 (or toll free 1-800-862-6044).

COMBINATION OF HIGH WINDS and warm dry, weather Thursday evening prolonged a fire that began at 5:28 p.m. at the alfalfa pellet plant located on highway 32 north of Thief River Falls. Fire began when sparks from a cutting torch used by welders at the plant were swept by strong winds into the hay around the plant buildings, setting the hay on fire. Thief River Falls fire department had the fire under control in approximately two hours, according to Duane Noel, Thief River Falls fire chief. Minimal damage was caused to the buildings and an undetermined amount of hay was destroyed in the blaze, Noel said.

Quie Promotes Participation In Task Force

Governor Al Quie urges interested residents from all parts of Minnesota to apply for membership on the Governor's Task force on highways for economic vitality that will assess Minnesota's highway needs.

"For this task force to accurately represent the people of this state it is important that we have statewide representation on this panel," Quie said. "A good highway system is essential to the stability and growth of our state economy, and I hope we receive many applications from Minnesotans wanting to serve on this task force."

Task force, coordinated through the department of Economic Development, will examine the highway needs of the Minnesota economy in relation to agriculture, business and recreation.

The executive order creating the task force stipulates that the panel must begin work by July 1, 1980 and submit its recommendations to the Governor and legislature by January 1, 1981.

Durenberger Discloses More Than Law Asks

Senator Dave Durenberger (R-Mn.) went beyond the loose requirements of the senate's financial disclosure law by announcing today that his net assets in 1979 were $221,000.

The ethics in government act requires all members of Congress to disclose their net worth and their sources of income. However, the official document requires only that senators list most of their liabilities and assets in broad categories. For example, the section on income from dividends, interest, rent, capital gains and trusts and estates includes seven categories, ranging from $101 to $1,000 to $100,001 and above.

"The public should be given a better understanding of what financial holdings may influence their elected officials," said Durenberger. "You can't tell anything from a category that is a vague as $100,001 and above. Elected officials have an obligation to the public to be more specific."

Durenberger's major assets were homes in McLean, Virginia, and Minneapolis, and miscellaneous personal property. His assets totaled about $300,000.

His major liabilities were mortgages on the two residences, leaving his net assets at $221,000.

Durenberger's salary in 1979 was $58,290. The salary of senators was increased from $57,500 to $60,662 on Oct. 1, 1979. Other income included $11,000 in honoraria for speeches (with none higher than $1,000); $10,995 from the sale of H. B. Fuller stock; $453 in interest net of borrowing from a 6-month certificate of deposit; and, $181 in dividends on his H. B. Fuller stock.

Congratulations, Prowlers

Congratulations must be extended for the third straight year to coach Whitey Olson and his Lincoln high school tennis team following the Prowlers' 3-2 win over St. Cloud Apollo in the Region 8AA championship match.

Thief River Falls played superb tennis that day to earn a third straight state tournament appearance. But even though they find themselves entering state tournament play for the fourth time in the past six years Wednesday, the Prowlers are in an unaccustomed position this time around — they're the favorites.

Ranked No. 1 in the Class AA state coaches' association poll from the very start, Thief River Falls will meet No. 9 Edina West Wednesday at 12 noon in Bloomington to start Class AA state tournament play.

That'll be a major hurdle for the Prowlers. A win over the Cougars, who defeated defending Class AA state champion Edina East 3-2 in the Region 6AA finals, would put Thief River Falls in good shape for Thursday's matches, which would begin with a 9 a.m. semifinal encounter against either Minneapolis Southwest or Virginia. Championship and third place matches are scheduled for 1 p.m. that day.

Olson isn't discounting his team's chances; in fact he likes them. But he has deaf ears when asked if the Prowlers' No. 1 status makes them a pre-tournament favorite.

"We're going to try to win three matches," was the limit to Olson's forecasts. "We'll take 'em one at a time. I do think our bracket is the toughest bracket."

It's Litchfield vs. Anoka and Austin vs. Sibley in the other Class AA bracket.

The Prowlers, if they can do it, would become the first Thief River Falls state championship team since the Lincoln hockey team did the trick in 1956. The Prowlers also won the state hockey title in 1954 and took home state basketball tournament titles in 1932 and 1938.

Individually, the Prowlers' Billy Jury and Paul Koppang in doubles, along with Mitch Rustad in singles, could also fare well in state tournament competition this week. Jury and Koppang must be considered title contenders and Rustad is rated No. 5 in the coaches' player poll.

"I think they have an opportunity to go a long ways," says Olson about his individual entries who will be on the courts Friday and Saturday following the completion of the team matches.

Good luck Prowlers!

Northland Football Recruiting

New Northland community college football coach John Helley reports good success this spring in his recruiting efforts that he has confined to northwestern Minnesota.

Of the 38 freshmen who have enrolled as of May 20 at either Northland ~~or the~~ Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school, 33 of them are area products. The recruits come from Thief River Falls (10), Badger (5), Mahnomen (4), Roseau (3), McIntosh-Winger (3), Plummer (2) and one each from Hallock, Marshall County Central, Kennedy, Lancaster and Lake of the Woods.

The other freshmen who have indicated they plan to play football here are from Princeton and Cokato, along with Drayton, N.D., Miami and New York. After a much-publicized influx of Miami area players under now-departed Northland coach Irv Smith, the only Florida freshmen expected to be here next fall is Jose Blanco, the highly regarded quarterback who injured his elbow in preseason practice last August and was sidelined for the entire year.

Helley also expects to have 19 returning sophomores on hand for the start of practice, including four from Inkster, Mich.; two from Thief River Falls, McIntosh-Winger and Warren; and one each from Twin Valley, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Lancaster, Hallock, Fosston, Miami, Rutherford, N.D. and Deer Park, N.Y.

"I'm optimistic," reports Helley about his first recruiting efforts. "The response from the area players and coaches has been very favorable."

Helley, a navy veteran and a Plummer resident, served as an assistant coach under Smith last year.

Northland opens its 1980 football season Sat., Sept. 13, against Crookston here in Thief River Falls.

+ Monty Peterson was named the outstanding senior athlete at Middle River during the recent school awards banquet.

IT WAS A close play at the plate in the seventh inning of Wednesday's opening round North Half Region 8AA high school baseball tournament game played at Detroit Lakes when Bemidji catcher Daryl Strunk jumped in the air to pull down a high throw from first baseman Jeff Beaulieu and then managed to catch the corner of the plate with his foot for a bases-loaded force play on Thief River Falls base runner Jim Hallamek. The Prowlers, however, had scored moments earlier in a bases-loaded walk issued to Tom Drury that forced in the game-winning run in the 3-2 Thief River Falls victory. The win made amends for two regular season losses the Lumberjacks administered the Prowlers.

Baseball Semifinals . . .

Prowlers Lose To Spuds 5-1

Moorhead withstood a Thief River Falls threat with a minimum amount of damage in the bottom of the seventh, then broke a 1-1 deadlock by pushing four runs across in the top of the seventh for a 5-1 victory in the semifinals of the 1980 North Half Region 8AA high school baseball tournament played at Detroit Lakes Friday afternoon.

Thief River Falls faced a 1-0 deficit until the sixth when the Prowlers loaded the bases with nobody out. Lead-off batter Kevin Sanders started it by beating out an infield hit behind first — just the second base hit of the game off stocky right-hander Wayne Schultz. Dave Odegaard sent a soft single into right-center field and Jeff Ulrich walked to fill the sacks with the Prowlers' No. 4-5-6 batters — Mark Schmitke, Mark Harder and Jim Hallamek — coming up.

But Schultz struck out Schmitke on three pitches, and although he walked Harder on a full count pitch to force in the tying run, he got Hallamek on an infield pop-up and induced Paul Dress to hit into an inning-ending fielder's choice play.

"We dodged a bullet," acknowledged Moorhead coach Jim Hurley. "Even if they would have gotten just one more run it would have made a big difference; it puts you in a pressure cooker situation when you only got three outs left."

Not only did the Spuds avoid a pressure cooker situation, they turned around and put the heat on Thief River Falls in the seventh. Mark Rice's ground ball went through second baseman Jeff Mongoven to kick things off. A sacrifice bunt by Dave Lein moved him to second. A walk given to Brad Schwab and a single to right field by Jim Laske loaded the bases.

Unlike the Prowlers, the Spuds did not settle for just one run. An infield single to deep short by Jeff Miller made it 2-1. Bob Thom drew a bases loaded walk for a 3-1 game before Dan Hertel popped out in foul territory near first base. But John Hajostek was hit by a Jeff Ulrich pitch and a pinch hitter Kraig Koriwer walked for a 5-1 bulge.

"It was a tough game," mentioned Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell. "We didn't capitalize when we had the chance. We thought about the squeeze, but I don't like to squeeze with left-handed hitters, and we had the guys up at bat who we wanted. We just didn't get the base hit we needed."

The game's only other run was scored by Moorhead in the third inning when Lein, the Spuds' No. 9 batter, walked and later scored on an infield single behind second by Miller. The Spuds collected three of their seven base hits that inning, but lost two runners at the plate — the first on a force-out and the second when Schwab tried to score from second on the ball hit by Miller and was chased down by the Prowlers' Tom Drury, who was playing second at the time.

"We played well in the field," pointed out Cornell. "That's what held us in there."

Thief River Falls, a 3-2 opening round tournament winner over Bemidji Wednesday, closed out its season with a 10-8 record. Moorhead, the tournament's top seed and recipient of a first round bye Wednesday, took a 9-8 record into Friday night's championship game.

State, Region Titles Are Won By Normandale

Normandale lived up to its role as pre-tournament favorite to win the combination state and region community college golf titles Wednesday at Monticello.

The two-day event featured competition among Minnesota schools for the state MJCAA title and also included golfers from Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota and Upper Michigan who were battling the Minnesota entries for the Region 13 crown and a berth in the 1980 NJCAA national golf meet June 3-6 at Ft. Meyers, Fla.

Normandale won both trophies with a 608 team final, followed by Rochester 615, Inver Hills 617, North Hennepin 628, Lakewood 640, Anoka-Ramsey 648, Northland 657, Willmar 674, Waseca 681, Western Wisconsin Tech 686, Hibbing 688, Fergus Falls 702, Austin 702, Rainy River 716 and Brainerd 743.

Joining the Normandale team members as NJCAA qualifiers were Jim Motl, Worthington, who finished with a 145; Kevin Culligan, Inver Hills, 149; Eric Flen, Rochester, 151; Scott Banton, Austin, 152; and Todd Anderson, North Hennepin, 152.

Team and individual hopes for Northland received a jolt when Gary Johnson, the team's top golfer, suffered a badly cut hand when a shaft on a club broke in hands during a warm-up round Monday.

Johnson, a freshman from Mahnomen, played despite a painful hand full of stitches and still nearly earned himself a trip to the NJCAA event. He was third after first day competition Tuesday with rounds of 39-35 for 74. But he struggled to a 42 at the start Wednesday — his poorest round of golf of the season — and came back with a 37 for a 79 and a two-day total of 153.

That put him ninth in the final standings, but just one stroke behind a handful of golfers who were deadlocked at 153 for a position among the top five Non-Normandale NJCAA qualifiers.

Northland's success followed Johnson. The Northmen were just three strokes out of third after Tuesday's competition, but fell off the pace Wednesday.

Rest of the Northland team-counting scores Tuesday included Charlie Boyer with rounds of 40-39 for 79; Jeff Reese 40-41 for 81; and Dave Hanson 42-42 for 84.

On Wednesday it was Boyer with a 45-40 for 85; Reese 41-44 for 85; and Kurt Klosterman 45-45 for 90. Hanson was disqualified Wednesday on a rules violation when he inadvertently played the wrong ball.

Hole-In-One Recorded By Elton Cummings

Elton Cummings of Thief River Falls started the 1980 season with a bang at the Thief River Country Club by recording a hole-in-one Wednesday.

Using a 4-iron and shooting into a stiff wind, Cummings aced the par 3, 146-yard No. 4 hole.

He was playing in a foursome that included Darrel Bakke, Don Goodrich and Bill Hogan.

It was the first hole-in-one recorded here since Jay Moum of Thief River Falls did the trick in August of 1978.

Prowlers Win Tournament Opener 3-2 . . .

Three TRF Pitchers Have Hand In Win Over Bemidji

It was a baseball diamond and not a boxing ring, but Thief River Falls knocked out Bemidji 3-2 Wednesday with a right-left-right combination in the opening game of the 1980 North Half Region 8AA high school baseball tournament played at Detroit Lakes.

By design Thief River Falls coach Charlie Cornell went with three pitchers: right-hander Kelly Gutterud going the first three innings; left-hander Wayne Huseth pitching the middle two; and right-hander Jeff Ulrich working the final two frames for the win.

Cornell looked like a candidate for coach-of-the-year honors when those three seniors limited Bemidji to just three base hits and two unearned runs. Gutterud pitched no-hit, no-run ball; Huseth was tagged for three base hits and two runs in the fourth, but could have gotten out of the inning without any damage if the Prowlers wouldn't have committed two infield errors; and Ulrich was most impressive as he struck out the side in the sixth and put the Lumberjacks down 1-2-3 again in the seventh.

"I think it kept them off balance," said Cornell about his pre-planned pitching rotation. "They were completely off balance when Ulrich came in there."

Bemidji coach Des Sagedahl agreed. "The kids played well, but I think it (the Prowlers' use of three different pitchers) did make a difference. They hit Gutterud and Huseth, but they couldn't catch Ulrich."

It was a fine high school baseball game; scoreless until both teams put two runs across in the fourth.

In the top of the inning, sophomore Kevin Sanders led off by bouncing a single over second base, ending three perfect innings by Bemidji left-hander Bryan Hickerson. A perfect sacrifice bunt by Dave Odegaard moved Sanders to second and he scored when Mark Schmitke drilled a two-out double to the fence in left-center field. Mark Harder hit the same hole on a full-count for an RBI triple and a 2-0 Thief River Falls lead.

Bemidji got those back in the bottom of the inning when Jeff Beaulieu copied Schmitke and Harder by finding the gap in deep left-center field for a one-out double and Daryl Strunk bounced a single into right field to put runners on the corners. Thief River Falls catcher Jim Nyland caught Strunk trying to steal second and the Prowlers looked like they were going to get out of the inning when second baseman Tom Drury made a brilliant play by going far to his right to backhand a hard-hit ball by Howard Orgon. But Drury's hurried throw to first pulled Schmitke off the bag and gave the Lumberjacks a run. Galen Nagle singled down the right field line and Harder couldn't come up with Tom Buckanaga's ball hit to third as the second run crossed the plate.

"It was a good win. Outside of that one inning I thought we played very well," mentioned Cornell.

Thief River Falls won it in the seventh on a bases-loaded walk issued to Drury. Harder started the inning with a single to right-center. Jim Hallamek's intended sacrifice bunt put two runners on base when Bemidji tried to go to second on the play. It was close, but Harder was ruled safe. Gutterud loaded the bases with one out when he legged out an infield single that he topped and nubbed in front of the plate.

Then Hickerson, who beat the Prowlers 4-1 and 4-2 during the regular season when he posted a 7-1 won-lost record, walked Drury on four straight pitches. It was the only walk the Bemidji sophomore gave up all day, but it was costly. A force play at the plate and an infield pop-up got the Lumberjacks out of the inning, but the damage had already been done.

"I said before that the three best teams were in the same bracket and nothing has changed my mind," said Cornell, whose Prowlers earned a semifinal berth against top-seeded Moorhead, recipient of a first round bye.

Bemidji, the Northwest Athletic Conference pennant winner, ended the year 10-7.

1980 MSHSL Spring State Meets Start This Week

During the last week of May and the first week of June individual and team state champions will be determined in five spring sports when the Minnesota State High School League conducts its annual state tournaments.

The MSHSL report following is a capsule look at each of the various state tournaments:

Boys, Girls Golf

First to begin state tournament play are the young men and women who qualify for state golf tournaments, which once again will be conducted in two classes — AA and A.

Class AA tournament for boys and girls will take place at Majestic Oaks Golf Club in Anoka on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 27 and 28. Eighteen holes will be played each day with first round play getting underway at 10 a.m. on May 27. The final round on May 28 starts at 8 a.m.

Boys and girls in Class A will play at Forest Hills Golf Club in Forest Lake on Thursday and Friday, May 29 and 30. Play on May 29 begins at noon with action commencing the next day at 8 a.m.

In Class AA, eyes are expected to be on senior Chris Perry of Edina West, two-time defending individual state champion who could become the first player in the 53-year history of the boys tournament to win three consecutive state championships. Perry, of course, must first qualify for the state meet thru region tourney play. Perry is one of eight individuals who has won two state titles. In team competition Austin is the defending champion.

Waconia, the three-time defending Class A boys titlist, could become the first school to ever win four consecutive state titles should they capture the 1980 crown. Waconia also boasts last year's individual champion, senior Stu Oftelie, who like Perry covered Majestic Oaks' terrain a year ago with a 145 total score, one over par on the testy 6,337 yard course.

Like in the boys competition, both individual winners from a year ago in the Class AA and Class A girls tournaments are expected to be back for a shot at the 1980 individual titles. Senior Jody Rosenthal of Hopkins Eisenhower in Class AA and senior Kris Hanson of Granite Falls won individual gold meals in 1979. The defending girls team champions are Chaska in Class AA and Albany in Class A.

There were 306 boys high school varsity teams and 181 girls teams competing throughout the state this spring.

Tennis

This year's fifty-second annual state boys tennis tournament will take place at a new site — the 98th Street Tennis Club in Bloomington. Previously held at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis, the 1980 Class AA and Class A tournament will bring together the state's top tennis players from among the more than 3,700 young men and 179 high school varsity teams that took part in this spring's program.

Team portion of this year's tournament, scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, May 28 and 29, will begin at 10 a.m. (Class AA) on Wednesday. Class A competition starts at 2 p.m. that day. Finals in the team competition on Thursday will find the Class A title match at 1 p.m. with Class AA set to begin at 3. Edina East is the defending Class AA champion, while Blake of Minneapolis won last year's Class A crown.

Singles and doubles play in both Class AA and Class A is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31. Friday's first round and quarterfinal action begins at 9 a.m. Saturday's semifinals action starts at 9 a.m. The doubles title matches in both classes will start at noon with singles title matches in AA and A scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

New singles and doubles titlists are certain in both classes as last year's victors have graduated.

Boys, Girls Track

For the first time ever the annual state boys and girls track and field championships in Class AA and Class A will be held at one site. Bloomington Lincoln Stadium will be the location for the 1980 meet on Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31. Previously Class AA was held at one site with Class A at another.

Activity on May 30 will be devoted to preliminaries in all but one running event. Some field event finals will take place also on Friday. But most of the individual champions will be crowned Saturday. Action starts with field events at noon. Finals in the running events begin at 1 p.m. The Class A portion of Friday's preliminaries for boys and girls will take place beginning at 10 a.m., while the Class AA division will begin action that day at 4:30 p.m.

ALTHOUGH THEY were on different sides of the fence in the team portion of the 1980 Region 8AA tennis tournament Tuesday at Brainerd in a 3-2 victory over St. Cloud Apollo, Lincoln high school teammates Bill Jury (left) and Paul Koppang got together Wednesday to win the doubles title in the individual portion of the event, also played at Brainerd. The Prowlers' No. 1 and No. 3 singles players in the team tournament, Jury and Koppang will get added duty in this week's Minnesota Class AA state tennis tournament when they go after a doubles title in the individual competition beginning Friday. The Prowlers face Edina West in opening round team play Wednesday.

THREE LINCOLN high school pitchers combined on a three-hitter Wednesday as Thief River Falls edged Bemidji 3-2 in the opening game of the 1980 North Half Region 8AA baseball tournament played at Detroit Lakes. Kelly Gutterud, (top photo) was the starter and pitched three hitless innings. By design, Wayne Huseth (middle) came on in relief to pitch the fourth and fifth innings and was tagged for three hits and two unearned runs. Jeff Ulrich (bottom) struck out the side in the sixth and retired the Lumberjacks 1-2-3 again in the seventh to pick up the win.

DNR Selects 1980 Deer Season Dates

Season dates and other regulations for the 1980 deer season were announced recently by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Some changes have been made from last fall's regulations, wildlife officials note. Additional details of the rules will be announced later when they have been made final.

Three changes in the 1980 regulations are:

+Hunters who wish to apply for an antlerless permit will have to buy a license before entering the drawing.

+In Zones 1 and 2, antlerless permits will be valid throughout the season instead of only during the last two or three days of the season.

+An adjustment in the boundary between zones 2 and 4 in the far northwestern corner of the state will be made.

Following is a summary of the season dates:

Zone 1 — legal buck and antlerless deer by permit, Nov. 8-23; Zone 2 — legal buck and antlerless deer by permit, Nov. 8-16; Zone 3 — legal buck, Nov. 8-16 or legal buck and antlerless deer by permit, Nov. 22-24; Zone 4 — legal buck, Nov. 8-10 or legal buck and antlerless deer by permit, Nov. 15-16; Zone 5 — legal buck, Nov. 8-10 or legal buck and antlerless deer by permit, Nov. 15.

Bow and arrow — statewide, Sept. 27 - Nov. 24, either sex, except legal bucks only within a firearms zone when there is an open firearms deer season therein.

Firearms deer Zone 3 and that part of Zone 1 south of U.S. Hwy. 2, Nov. 29 - Dec. 14 (either sex).

Muzzleloader — designated areas, Nov. 29 - Dec. 14 (either sex).

Officials said the deer hunting regulations were being announced earlier this year because of the change requiring hunters to purchase a license in order to enter the antlerless drawing. The other hunting and trapping seasons and other deer hunting regulations will be announced about July 1 as in previous years.

Girls Softball Sponsored By TRF Park Dept.

Beginning Wednesday, June 4, the park department will again sponsor softball for all girls in the Thief River Falls area.

These softball games will be held every Wednesday and are for girls ages of 9 through 16. Any girl interested in playing softball should come to the Eastside diamond on Wednesday at 10 a.m. or 1 p.m.

The park department will furnish all the equipment except for the gloves. There will be two playground directors to supervise and umpire the games.

All girls in Grade School and Junior High are urged to attend. The program will run for ten weeks.

Bemidji Tips TRF 313-315 For Region 8AA Golf Title

Dreams of a state tournament berth came up two strokes short Wednesday for Thief River Falls as Bemidji edged the Prowlers 313-315 in the 1980 Region 8AA high school golf meet at Fergus Falls.

The results marked the fifth straight year the Region 8AA title has changed hands since the first two-class golf competition in 1976. Bemidji won it that year, followed by Moorhead in 1977, Alexandria 1978, Detroit Lakes in 1979 and Bemidji again this spring.

Alexandria finished third behind the Lumberjacks and Prowlers with a 319, followed by St. Cloud Tech 323, Brainerd 325, Detroit Lakes 325, Little Falls 326, Melrose 326, St. Cloud Apollo 327, Fergus Falls 328, Cold Spring Rocori 333, East Grand Forks 343, Park Rapids 345, Moorhead 351, Crookston 360 and Sauk Rapids 374.

Gordy Skaar of Bemidji was meet medalist with a 73. That locked up one of the spots for individuals trying to join the Bemidji squad as qualifiers for the 1980 Minnesota Class AA state golf meet Tuesday and Wednesday at Majestic Oaks in Anoka. The other spots went to Rob Hyslop, Fergus Falls; Steve Stoxen, Brainerd; Pat Herzog, Alexandria; and Joe Lang, Cold Spring Rocori. They all shot 78.

It was a disappointing day for the Prowlers, winners of four straight Northwest Athletic Conference meets, who were shooting for their first regional golf title since 1963. Five meet wins in six starts over the final two weeks of the 1980 regular season schedule had made Thief River Falls a pre-tournament Region 8AA favorite.

"We played well, but not well enough," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Jack Boyer. "It (315) was good enough all year long, except for the one meet."

Wade Hoppe led the Prowlers with a 78. He was one of nine golfers hitting that figure, with Hyslop, Stoxen, Herzog and Lang getting the state meet berths in playoff activity.

The Prowlers' Bob Fitzgerald, Dave Geatz and Jeff Imgrund all shot 79, Tony Loeffler had an 84 and Jim Geatz finished with an 85.

"I just needed one 75," mentioned Boyer. "One 75 and we would have been in there. We've been getting it all year, but not this time."

Bob Navotny Grand Slam Wins Slow Pitch Contest

Bob Navotny hit a two-out grand slam home run in the bottom of the seventh inning Thursday to give Tony Dorn a dramatic 13-12 win over the Wagon Wheel in Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball. The game-winner was Navotny's second homer of the game.

The outcome kept Wagon Wheel from gaining a doubleheader sweep after the Middle River ball club had routed Arnold Realty 31-9 in an early game. Mike Carriere went 4-for-4 in that one, hitting two home runs for the winners. Mike Peterson and Kenny Blazek also had perfect nights at the plate for Wagon Wheel with 3-for-3 games while Gordon Nelson and Delray Beito homered in the 25-hit assault.

Elsewhere Thursday, Wilson Brothers defeated the E.T. Bees 16-4, Sound Level-Holthusen out-scored Wilson Brothers 23-16, Bridgeman surprised Tony Dorn 8-4 and McDonald-Dallmann edged Hobo Haus 8-6.

On Wednesday it was Consumer's Co-op 14, The Club 5; Schumacher's Tireland 12, First Northwest Insurance Agency 9, First Federal 11, Thorp-KKAQ 5; E.T. Bees 10, Sound Level-Holthusen 6; Wilson Brothers 14, Sparby-Johnson 8; Dallmann Athletic 25, E.T. Bees 11; and Hardees 18, Dallmann Athletic 8.

Moorhead, Apollo Play For 8AA Title

Moorhead and St. Cloud Apollo will meet Tuesday at Moorhead in the 1980 Region 8AA high school baseball tournament championship game.

The Spuds took the North Half Region 8AA title with a pair of wins Friday, beating Thief River Falls 5-1 in the afternoon semifinals and out-scoring Fergus Falls 7-6 in the title game later that night. The Otters edged host Detroit Lakes 3-2 in the other afternoon semifinal.

Apollo surprised top-seeded Brainerd 4-3 Friday night in the South Half Region 8AA championship game at St. Cloud. Brainerd, finishing 16-2, surrendered three first inning runs when Apollo loaded the bases with no outs.

Moorhead will enter the Region 8AA finals with a 10-8 record while Apollo, a 2-1 first round tournament winner over defending state champion Little Falls even though the Eagles were held hitless in that one, is now 15-4.

The Region 8AA champion will meet the Region 5AA winner in first round Class AA state tournament play Thurs., June 5, at Midway Stadium in St. Paul.

Region 8A Will Be Played On RLF Diamond

Red Lake Falls will host the 1980 Region 8A high school baseball tournament Tuesday and Wednesday.

First round games Tuesday will match Bagley against Roseau at 6 p.m., with defending champion Fertile-Beltrami meeting Red Lake Falls at 8.

Championship game will be played Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Bagley won the District 29 pennant with a 10-4 title game victory over Redlake last week; Fertile-Beltrami shut out Ada 3-0 for the District 30 title; Red Lake Falls got by Mount St. Benedict 3-2 for the District 31 crown; and Roseau blanked Karlstad 10-0 in the District 32 finals.

Bills Proposed To Prohibit Use Of Steel Traps

House subcommittee on transportation and commerce has scheduled a hearing for May 29 to consider two bills that would, in effect, prohibit the use of steel traps, according to the Wildlife Management institute.

The bills, H.R. 953 and H.R. 1297, are being discussed in the transportation and commerce subcommittee allegedly because proponents believe there are more anti-trappers there than on the fish and wildlife subcommittee. The bills were drafted so as to discourage steel traps and trapping by prohibiting trap and trapped fur shipments in interstate commerce. Similar bills got nowhere in the fish and wildlife subcommittee after hearings in 1975.

Of the two bills, H.R. 1297 by Congressman Clarence Long (MD) is the more simple and straightforward. It would prohibit interstate of foreign shipment of any fur or leather from any animal trapped in any state or foreign country which has not banned the manufacture, sale or use of steel traps.

H.R. 953 by Congressman Glenn Anderson (CA) is a more complicated measure but it would accomplish the same goal as H.R. 1297 by usurping state authority and creating an abundance of red tape and bureaucracy that a genius couldn't maneuver, the institute maintains.

It is the more dangerous of the two bills because conservationists may be led to believe that it can be cleaned-up before passage. Experience teaches that such is definitely not the case, and therefore neither bill is nor can be in the best interest of wildlife conservation, the institute reports.

H.R. 953 begins by asserting federal authority over wildlife on federal lands. It makes unsubstantiated accusations, posed as fact, the institute says. For example, it claims, "the wildlife resource is being wasted by inefficient trapping and capture methods which kill large numbers of non-target species. . ."

H.R. 953 seems to federalize trapping. It apparently calls for a federal tag on each federally-designed and federally-approved trap used by federally-licensed trappers. It appears to require the federalized trapper to sweat that he has been federalized before the federal government would give him a federal certificate to ship his furs.

And if the thoroughly confused and federalized trapper should happen to miss one of the numerous federal hoops he must jump through, he may be fined $5,000 and federally incarcerated for one year. That reportedly is more than a Congressman was fined a while back for stealing $50,000 in taxpayers' money, the institute notes.

MSHSL Spring Tournaments

representing more than 250 high schools throughout Minnesota will have qualified for the state championships through their efforts at district and-or region meets held earlier this spring. This year's state meet will be the fifty-eighth for boys and ninth for girls.

A number of outstanding individual performers from last year's state meet are expected to gain berths once again this year. Among the top boys participants that should be on hand are Minneapolis Central senior Jeff Byrd, who last year won both the 100 and 200 meter dash races in Class AA, and 1979 Class A two-mile run titlist John Gathje of Rochester Lourdes. In the girls field look for Lani Granowski of Owatonna to return to defend her 1600 meter run championship, and also Ann Klein of Hill-Murray, who won last year's 800 meter run race. Both girls are Class AA participants. In Class A Denise Bullocks of Mt. St. Benedict in Crookston is a likely qualifier in the 400 meter race. Last year she won the state championship in the 440 yard dash event.

Softball

Now in its fourth year of state tournament play, girls fast pitch softball for the second year will have competition conducted in classes — Class AA and Class A. This year's Class AA tournament is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, June 5 and 6, at Dred Scott Field in Bloomington, while the Class A tourney is set for the same two days at Whitney Field in St. Cloud.

Thursday's action will be devoted to quarterfinal and semifinal play. The Class AA event starts in Bloomington at 10 a.m. and activity in St. Cloud on Thursday will start at noon. Both championship games on Friday are scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m.

Eight region champions will advance to the Class AA state event while sevel other region Kingpins will play in the Class A tournament. Region tournament championship games are scheduled for the week of May 25.

State tournament team pairings in Class AA look like this: Region 1 vs. 2; Region 5 vs. 6; Region 7 vs. 8; and Region 3 vs. 4. In Class A: Region 1 vs. 2; Region 5 vs. 6; Region 7 vs. 8; and Region 3 vs. 4.

Defending champions are Rosemount in Class AA and Wadena in Class A. Through play of May 20 this year Rosemount was undefeated and Wadena had suffered but one setback.

A total of 5,819 girls representing 184 high schools participated in girls fast-pitch softball this spring.

Baseball

Thirty-fourth annual state baseball tournament, to be conducted for the fifth time in classes — Class AA and Class A — is the final spring sports event to be staged by the MSHSL.

This year's tournament is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, June 5 and 6. The Class AA event will be conducted at Midway Stadium in St. Paul, while the Class A tourney will be at Municipal Stadium in St. Cloud.

Thursday's action in both classes will be devoted to quarterfinal play with action starting at 10 a.m. at both sites. Play will continue all day until four winners are named. The day's final game is scheduled to start at 5:30 p.m. On Friday semifinal games are set for 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. with championship games slated for 7:30 p.m.

State tournament team pairings in Class AA look like this: Region 2 vs. 4; Region 1 vs. 3; Region 5 vs. 8; and Region 6 vs. 7. In Class A: Region 2 vs. 4; Region 5 vs. 8; Region 6 vs. 7; and Region 1 vs. 3.

Defending champions are Little Falls in Class AA and St. James in Class A.

A total of 13,252 boys representing 410 high schools participated in the interscholastic baseball program this spring. There are 286 Class A schools and 124 in Class AA.

Reports Indicate There Are 600 Active Volcanoes In The World

While residents of Washington state may have been surprised by the volcanic rumblings of Mount St. Helen's, which startled them this spring after a silence of more than a century, geologists have been keeping their eyes on it and other volcanoes for years. For no matter how long a volcano has been quiet, explains the current issue of International Wildlife magazine, "There's no such thing as an 'extinct' volcano."

"There are some 600 known active volcanoes across the globe; even more are hidden beneath the seas," reports the National Wildlife Federation's bimonthly publication. Volcanic eruptions take place all the time, all over the world, usually without inflicting much damage or injury. But sometimes the unexpected eruption of a volcano — which happens when extreme pressure in underground reservoirs of molten rock and gas force their way to the surface through cracks in the earth's crust — is deadly and destructive. And the most violent volcanoes usually give little warning of their impending explosions.

"Over the past two centuries, volcanic activity has taken more than 100,000 lives and the dangers are not like to disappear with advances in predicting eruptions," according to International Wildlife.

Ancient history abounds with examples of havoc wrought by volcanoes. The name itself comes from Vulcan, the Roman god of fire who forged thunderbolts for Jove and weapons for Cupid. Here are some of history's more disastrous volcanic eruptions:

+ One of the earliest known explosions occurred about 1470 B.C., when the Aegean island of Thera erupted. Its violent effects were felt throughout the Mediterranean world.

+ In A.D. 79, after many years of inactivity, Mount Vesuvius buried two thriving Roman towns, Pompeii and Herculaneum, so completely that their remains lay undiscovered for another 1,700 years.

+ In 1669, some 100,000 Sicilians were left homeless and a few thousand were killed by Mount Etna's greatest eruption.

+ By far, one of the most powerful volcanic explosions in modern times occurred in 1883 on the island of Krakatoa, west of Java, in the Indian Ocean. "Unleashing a force equal to that of about 26 powerful H-bombs, the tremendous roar stampeded sheep as far off as Australia, more than 1,000 miles away," reports International Wildlife. Krakatoa's eruption and subsequent tidal waves killed 36,000 people.

+ A more recent catastrophic eruption was Mount Pelee's on the Carribean island of Martinique in 1902. It demolished the town of St. Piere, with a loss of about 30,000 lives.

Even today, volcanic eruptions remain an ever-present threat to millions of people. In Guatemala alone there are ten active volcanoes, and three are currently in eruption. In Ecuador, the 19,347-foot snow-capped volcano named Cotopaxi has erupted more than 50 times in the past 250 years, killing many in floods and mudslides.

Iceland has had three major eruptions in the past decade. Indonesians sit on 128 active volcanoes, including Merapi, which erupts virtually every year. Japan is the home of 72 active volcanoes.

Until Mount St. Helen's, there had been no eruption in the continental U.S. since 1971, when California's Mount Lassen subsided after three years of activity. But there are three potentially active volcanoes in northern California, and six in Washington's and Oregon's Cascade Mountains.

Just last year, 20,000 people were evacuated from the northern end of St Vincent in the Caribbean, and just in time. LaSoufriere exploded, sending up a great cloud of hot gasses and steam, showering the countryside with ash and lava fragments. At one point, the volcano blew a mushroom-shaped cloud more than 40,000 feet into the sky.

Volcanoes create themselves out of the lava, ash and dust they spew out of the ground explains International Wildlife. The simplest type of volcano is the cone, which may appear overnight. For example in 1943, a farmer plowing his field about 200 miles west of Mexico City watched as the earth opened and material poured out of the fissure. By next morning the volcano was 30 feet high. After a week it was 460 feet high. Eventually, the volcano, named Paricutin, rose to a height of 1,300 feet.

Another type of volcano is the composite cone which is composed of successive layers of lava flows, ash, and cinders. These volcanoes may rise 8,000 feet high. Washington state's Mount St. Helens is a composite cone, as are Mount Rainier, Japan's Mount Fuji and Ecuador's Cotopaxi.

Less steep-sided and more gentle in behavior is the shield volcano, formed almost entirely of lava flows that spill out in all directions from central and lateral vents. Hawaii's Kilauea is an example.

A fourth type of volcano is the lava dome, says International Wildlife, which is formed out of highly pasty, viscous lava, "like toothpaste squeezed out of a tube." When the lava hardens, it forms steep, craggy knobs. Examples are Lassen Park and the Mono domes in California.

Vulcanologists — geologists who study volcanoes — can sometimes issue reasonably accurate warnings by monitoring such signs as seismic activity and increasing water temperature.

"But too often," warns International Wildlife, "the clues are ignored — a small earth tremor may be dismissed as a passing truck — or not understood. And there are still many areas, including parts of the U.S., where there is not adequate monitoring of volcanoes. The danger from large volcanic explosions is far greater today because of increasing populations."

As for Mount St. Helens, which last erupted during the 1850's, geologists can not explain why it is active again, nor can they be sure the mountain won't erupt again without warning. So they, along with the rest of the country, watch and wait.

Elect Officers At Advisory Council Meet

At a recent meeting of the St. John's hospital lay advisory council in Red Lake Falls, officers were elected for one-year terms. Saetre Travels To Norway With St. Olaf Choir

William A. Saetre, a St. Olaf college freshman from Thief River Falls, will be on tour with the St. Olaf choir in Norway May 27 to June 17.

Choir, directed by Kenneth Jennings, has performed abroad three times in the last decade, but it has been 25 years since the group has toured Norway — the birthplace of its founder, the late F. Melius Christiansen.

In Larvik, where the young Christiansen played the church organ before his immigration to America, the choir will sing a concert June 13. Program will include works by Christiansen, who founded the St. Olaf music department in 1903 and the choir in 1908 and became famous as both a composer and a pioneer in unaccompanied choral singing.

Other historic stops on the choir's itinerary are Trondheim, where the choir will sing a concert in the centuries-old Nidaros Cathedral; and in Stiklestad, where the college's namesake, King Olaf Haraldsson, was killed in battle in 1030.

Choir also will sing a major concert at the International Bergen Festival in Grieg Hall June 1 and in the new Oslo Concert House May 28. Crown Prince Harald and Princess Sonja will attend the Oslo concert.

State Safety Conference In St. Paul Thur.

Minnesota safety conference for 1980 will be May 29-30 at the St. Paul Radisson hotel, according to the Minnesota safety council, sponsor of the two-day event. The conference theme is "Focus on Safety and Health".

Conference occupational sessions will include topics on occupational medicine, labor's role in occupational safety, bringing employees back to work, and using preplacement physicals as a safety tool. A public employees section will look at industrial health and at personal protection programs for government employees. A one-day basic first aid course and nine-hour modular cardio-pulmonary resuscitation course, both of which meet OSHA requirements for employee training in first aid, will be taught and certified by the American Red Cross.

Sessions for the transportation industry will cover fuel conservation for professional drivers, vehicle visibility and training programs for company drivers, as well as a special in-depth session on U.S. department of transportation regulations for interstate carriers.

A small business safety section is aimed at assisting Minnesota's small businesses and industries to understand Minnesota occupational safety and health act (OSHA) regulations, workers compensation obligations and basic elements of small business safety programs.

In-depth conference sessions will look at developing skills in committee management, at identifying sources of help for small business safety programs, and on managing off-the-job safety programs.

Sessions of general interest will include an in-pool water safety demonstration and topics on heating safely with wood; ventilation, insulation and conservation; and safety and solar energy. A health risk analysis program will address stress management and will analyze health risk programs now operating in five major Minneapolis companies.

The governor's traffic safety conference, sponsored by the Minnesota department of public safety and MSC featuring sessions on speed, occupant restraints and alcohol and driving and a youth traffic safety conference co-sponsored by the newly formed Minnesota student traffic safety organization will be held concurrently with the Minnesota safety conference.

A special feature of the conference will be an exposition of safety products and services, the largest in Minnesota.

The Minnesota safety council invites all interested people to attend the conference. Complete details and conference programs are available by writing or calling the Minnesota Safety Council, 145 Hamm Building, St Paul Minnesota 55102 (291-9150) or its northern area service office at 318 Missabe Building Duluth, 55802 (722-1453).

Local Resident In Volcanic Ash Area

"IT WAS KINDA SCARY" is Mrs. Cindi Johnson's summary of her experience with volcanic ash from Mt. St. Helens while visiting her in-laws at Spokane, Wash. Although the many unknowns about the ash and its potential harm made people very apprehensive, she said, she considers herself fortunate to be among those who experienced the phenomenon. Mrs. Johnson and her husband, Dr. Elwood Johnson, recently moved to Thief River Falls from Nebraska. The appropriate "T" shirt was selling big in Spokane the day she left.

"It looked something like snow — but it didn't melt," is the way Mrs. Cindi Johnson described the volcanic ash which fell on Spokane, Wash., during her visit there recently. "When the cloud came it got as dark as midnight and about an hour later the ash started to fall just like a fine snowstorm. That was at 3:30 in the afternoon."

Dr. and Mrs. Johnson of Thief River Falls and their two sons, Eric, age one and Chrissie, age three, were visiting his parents in Spokane for a few days when Mt. St. Helens volcano erupted Sunday morning, May 18. Dr. Johnson left on a plane for Thief River Falls early Sunday and escaped the experience which befell his wife and children.

"Woody left just a couple of hours before everything started happening," Mrs. Johnson said. "There was a lot of talk about the eruption and the cloud of ash on radio and television, so it was no surprise that it was coming. Still, nobody knew much about how harmful it might be and everyone seemed pretty apprehensive."

Cindi said the cloud of volcanic ash moved in from the west at mid afternoon and completely blotted out the sun. The "black as midnight" statement was no exaggeration, she said. The ash which settled over everything accumulated to half an inch thick and blew into drafts several inches deep, although the volcano was 280 miles away.

Ash hung in the air for 24 hours, she said, and only emergency vehicles were moving in the city which resembled a metropolitan ghost town. Whenever a car would drive by it would create a cloud of dust which totally obscured vision and hung in the air for many minutes.

Residents of the area were advised to stay indoors and if they had to be outside in an emergency to wear facial coverings to keep from breathing the ash. Mrs. Johnson, who wears contact lenses, said it was impossible to wear them — even indoors — because of the abrasion caused by ash in the air. She was thankful she had regular glasses with her.

On Tuesday the youngsters got sick and she had to take them to a hospital emergency room since all medical clinics in the city were closed. This necessitated about a 15-mile drive. Downtown was completely deserted, she said, with only a couple of police cars on the streets. At intersections where a car had passed recently a heavy cloud of ashes hung in the air. Air filters on cars lasted for only 75 miles, she said, and police vehicles carried spare filters with them.

"At the hospital there were doctors working and I was able to get medication from the hospital pharmacy because everything else was closed," she said. "Thursday was the first day people

Longren Family Observes 75 Years On Farm At TRF

Alfred Longren

Times Editor

Alfred Longren, 80, took his three older sisters for dinner a week ago Sunday. The reason for the ceremonial act was the 75th anniversary of the Longren family's arrival on their farm located on the east edge of Thief River Falls.

"My father (John Longren) and mother (Mary) drove to Thief River Falls from Edinburg, N.D., with a team and buggy to be here for the land sale when the Red Lake Indian reservation was opened for settlement in 1904," Alfred said. "They made it to Argyle the first night and drive to Thief River the next day. They had good horses in those days," he quipped.

The quarter section purchased by John Longren for $21 per acre was the highest priced land sold at the sale — and indeed the price was high by 1904 land sale standards. Generally the prices paid were higher for land closest to Thief River Falls and less as the distance east increased. Bids had to be increased by a minimum of 10 cents an acre, Alfred was later told by his parents, and all land not sold at the auction was later available at $4 per acre.

On May 17, 1905, the Longren family moved to Thief River Falls, taking with them a team of horses, one cow, some items of farm machinery and household goods. They came on the Great Northern railroad and all recall that they ate their first meal here at a hotel restaurant downtown.

During the first summer the family lived in a 16x18 frame building where all the cooking and eating was done and where all members except for the four daughters slept. The girls stayed overnight at the home of their friends, the Myrins, who lived only a short distance away near what is presently the Eighth street bridge.

A large farm house was built during that first summer with lumber from the sawmill then operating in town. A crew of men was hired to do the building and the same house is still in use, unchanged from its original size.

Currently living on the farm with Alfred are Anna Bjorge, 85, who returned in 1965 when

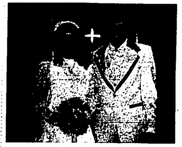
SOCIETY and CLUBS



Kathryn Dawn Olson And Bradley Krantz Are Wed

Miss Kathryn Dawn Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Olson of Holt, and Bradley Krantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Krantz of Karlstad, exchanged marriage vows on April 10 at 2 p.m., at the Nazareth Lutheran church at Holt.

Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. Rick Lund. Rev. Nancy Lund presided at the piano and organ. During the ceremony, Claudell Strandberg, a friend of the bride, sang, "The Wedding Song," "You Needed Me," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Preceding the ceremony, the bride's twin sisters: Kim and Kelly Olson, lit the candles on the altar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her parents, was attired in a gown of dacron polyester organza, fully lined with acetate taffeta. The gown was styled with a modified stand-up collar, high-rise waistline, and long, sheer sleeves gathered into wide cuffs. Wide Venice lace enhanced the bodice and trimmed the deep flounce that encircled the skirt at the hemline. Matching lace edged the attached chapel-length train and framed the nylon mantilla that flowed from a Camelot headpiece trimmed with sequin clusters and Venice lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, blue carnations, yellow mums and babies' breath, accented with blue satin streamers.

The groom's only attendant was his brother, Randy Krantz. He wore a light blue tuxedo with dark blue trousers and a white carnation boutonniere, tipped in blue.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Olson selected a blue, empire fashioned floor-length gown topped by a sheer floral cape. The mother of the groom wore a pink street-length dress. Both mothers wore identical corsages of yellow mums, as did the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Thea Peterson. The fathers' boutonnieres were corresponding yellow mums.

Following the ceremony, a reception for approximately 100 relatives and friends was held in the church parlors. For the occasion, the dining area was decorated with blue and yellow streamers and blue and white wedding bells. Centering the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with blue and yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Reception host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Larson, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. Sue Larson, a sister of the bride, presided at the guest book, as Mrs. Tammy Martin and Kristy Krantz, sisters of the couple, served the punch. Joan and Wayne Krantz, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, were in charge of the gifts.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Tillie Johnson, a relative of the bride, and Mrs. Orlin Magner, a close friend. At the coffee service were Mrs. Duane Larson and Mrs. Ellen Spilde, godmothers of the bride and groom. Kathy Mercell, sister of the groom, was the bride's personal attendant.

Those attending the reception were from Newfolden, Holt, Viking, Middle River, Thief River Falls, Halma, Karlstad and Fargo, N.D.

her husband died; Olga Larson, 87, who returned from East Chain in 1956 after being gone about 50 years; and Agnes Longren, 90, who has stayed on the farm.

In the 75 years that Alfred has lived on the farm, the longest he has been gone at any one time is one month — that was to attend the national convention of the soil conservation service in San Diego, Calif., in 1955. When he was 75 he had to spend a couple of weeks in the hospital. Other than that, he has stuck to the farm like the proverbial tick to a dog.

Alfred isn't one to jump quickly from one thing to another. He served on the board of directors of the Bray Mutual fire insurance company for some 30 years. And this spring he was reelected as clerk of North township and is now serving his 55th year as clerk, having served continuously since 1928.

"I wrote out the check when they built Long's bridge," said Alfred, a walking encyclopedia of local historical information who recalls that the bridge was named after William O. Long who lived nearby.

Does Alfred remember when the bridge was built? "In 1922," he says without hesitation. "And the check was for $4,369."

Alfred has missed only one primary and one general election as election clerk since 1922 — during the short span he wasn't in office. He remembers one general election when 499 ballots were cast in North township and the ballot counting continued — allowing an hour for exhausted sleep — until noon the next day.

The Longren farm consists of only 18 acres now, most of the remainder having been sold to School District 564 for its vocational-technical institute and future use and to the city for construction of Northland community. It is enough for Alfred, however, who claims he has now cut down to 12-hour days which he says are "long enough".

When the farm was being cleared, however, it was a down to dusk job most of the time with axe and grub axe. All of the wood cut was kept for firewood as openings were enlarged and fields began to emerge. For the most part the farm had been heavily wooded. Some of the work was done by hired labor. "You could get a good man for a dollar a day and meals," Alfred said.

John Longren wanted the particular land he bought so that his seven children would be close to a school — an opportunity they did not have in North Dakota. They walked to the Central school located where the parking lot east of Northwestern Bell telephone company is now, sometimes even walking home for dinner. They were given an hour and a half during the noon dinner period at that time.

The county fair was a major attraction in those early days with harness racing providing the biggest excitement. Indians from Redlake would come down with horses and wagons and camp at the fairgrounds during the fair.

"And right down the river there was the most beautiful place to fish," Mrs. Larson added. "The bank was high to break the wind and the sun would shine down there. It was just beautiful." The fishing was good, too, with people able to catch all the walleyes they wanted to eat in a short time. Fish was on the Longren's menu often and always enjoyed.

"Thief River Falls wasn't much of a town then," Alfred recalls. "It had a dozen saloons, two grade schools, the high school and a few stores. And of course there was the sawmill. They say the Red Lake river was the best in the whole United States to drive logs down because the land was so flat and there were so few rapids."

John Longren quit farming in 1918 and Alfred took over the farm the following year. His dad had bought the quarter section to the north in 1912 and they farmed that in addition to the initial land bought in 1904. They had milk cows on the farm until the 1960's.

"We had heard stories about the Indians but we never had a bit of trouble with any of them" Mrs. Bjorge recalls. "One of our neighbors was married to an Indian woman and families would occasionally come to visit. They would walk single file through our yard. We were never afraid to go anywhere around here, even late at night. It isn't that way any more."

Next to the county fair, basketball games provided the height of recreational interest. Special trains would run to take fans to games in Warren or Fosston — the two powers in high school basketball in those days. A highlight in the Longren girls' youth was when the Thief River Falls team beat Fosston.

Other members of the Longren family still living are Mrs. Ellen Hilde (89) of Grafton, N.D., and Mrs. Arnold (Esther) Windahl — the baby of the family at 74 — who lives with her husband in Fergus Falls. Ed and Carl Longren are the only two of the eight children to have died.

When we visited with Alfred, Anna, Agnes and Olga the day before the 75th anniversary of their arrival here, Alfred was having second thoughts about his largesse in offering to take his sisters out for dinner.

"I was wondering," he said with a twinkle in his eye, "Is Johnnie's Hamburger shop open on Sunday?"

Local Resident In Volcanic Ash Area

started to get out of their homes. Many were running out of food. It looked strange in the stores to see everyone wearing surgical masks, cold weather masks or just plain bandanas over their faces."

Mrs. Johnson said that so many people were attempting to wash the ashes off their property that the city ran out of water and had to impose restrictions on water use. Road graders used rubber blades to try and push the accumulated ash off the roads. At the airport Thursday when she was able to leave for home, fire trucks were out trying to wash the ash off runways.

Only Northwest Orient airlines was operating out of the Spokane airport, and was flying contrary to FAA directives, she said. On the flight home she was able to see that mountains as far east as Montana were covered with gray ash instead of the normal summer green.

Confusion at the Spokane airport was further aggravated by the preparations being made for the arrival of President Jimmy Carter later in the day, Mrs. Johnson noted. The President's plane was due to arrive shortly after departure of her commercial flight.

"It was kinda scary," Cindi recalls, "but now I consider myself fortunate to have been able to experience something so unusual. I almost wish the kids had been a little older so they would be able to remember it more."

VOLCANIC ASH from Mt. St. Helens in Washington resembles gray powdered sugar and seems heavier than wood ashes. Mrs. Elwood Johnson scraped this sampling from patio furniture at the Elwood Johnson Sr. residence in Spokane, Wash., with a spatula last week. Ashes accumulated to a depth of half an inch in Spokane, 280 miles east of Mt. St. Helens which erupted the morning of May 18.
